Roosevelt Jr. Pushes Seaway

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10 (AP) Representative Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr. (Dem. Lib., N.Y.), Thursday introduced a bill to authorize construction of the St. Lawrence seaway and power project.

The bill, fifth such measure to be introduced this session in the House of Rperesentatives, is identical to that sponsored in the Senate by 22 Senators.

"In time of crisis it is mandatory that we utilize our limited reources wisely," Roosevelt said in a statement.

"The St. Lawrence seaway and power project will provide the least expensive means of providing necessary transportation of iron ore and other critical materials and the least costly way of providing additional power—so badly needed in New York, New England and Eastern Canada."

Hearings on St. Lawrence legislation will start Feb. 20 before the House public works committee.

Amateurs' Verse "Lousez", As Scott And French Put It

By JACK SCOTT

VANCOUVER—A lady has just sent me a verse of 40-odd stanzas, or enough to fill most of this entire page, and I sent it back to her with a short note that expressed none of my true feelings about poetry. This I hasten to correct.

I feel it is high time I said something nice to the ten thousand amateur poets who keep sending in their homeless brain children to this department where they are interred gently in a large desk drawer, reserved for the purpose, and become a kind of compost pile of verse.

I do not know why so many poets pick on me. It may be because I have a kind face. In any event they come in, they come in like a flash flood, and a good 99 per cent of them are unspeakably bad. I am able to give this blunt opinion, man to man, because my own verse is—or was, until I conquered the habit—as the French so aptly put it, "lousez."

Sold For $10

Still, the fact is, I am a professional poet, which automatically gives me some rights as a critic. In 1945 I wrote a rousing little stanza, which was eagerly snapped up for the sum of $10 (not bad, as poetry goes) by a sensititve oil company. This quatrain was sung to the tune of "Little Brown Jug," and went as follows:

Super Service with a smile!
There's a station every mile!
Drop in tomorrow and you will see,
We are as super as super can be!

The verse never got on the air (I was told that the tenor hired to sing it had a bad lisp) but it established me. And yet, while I look down with loathing on so much of the verse submitted to my desk, especially those which welcome the first fool robin, I do want the poets to know that I feel kindly to them. A world without amateur poets would be a sad place, indeed. A lot neater, but sadder.

I am moved partly to make these comments by the words of a fellow columnist, Sydney Harris, who beats his brains out for the Chicago Daily News, and is apparently just as inundated with poetry as I am. The difference is that Sydney, who has a mean face if I ever saw one, has finally lost his temper in a burst of indignation.

Berserk Snarls

"Practically anybody who can arrange alphabet blocks to spell 'c-a-t' thinks he is an embryonic poet," Sydney snarls, clearly having gone berserk with too much rhyme, "and I have learned through bitter experience never to suggest that their literary efforts stink, which they do. Only God can make a tree, but any fool thinks he can write a passable poem.

"The dunderheads who bombard editorial offices with their hideous hexameters forget — if they ever knew—that poetry is a craft before it is an art, and that a skilled poet requires as much training and preparation as a journeyman plumber or carpenter. You can no more write by sheer inspiration than you can fix a leaky faucet by inspiration."

There may be a kernel of truth in this astonishingly bitter tirade, but, dear me, Sydney, it is such a waste of energy. It is like complaining about people whistling on the street or yodelling in the bathtub. For amateur poetry is something special. It does not seriously pretend to be craftsmanship or "literary." The amateur does not submit it asking for payment or fame, but simply because he hasn't anything else to do with it.

It must be remembered, too, that the poor boob seduced by the Muse has no way of knowing he has given birth to a monster. It looks exquisite to him, blinded as he is by the bittersweet joy of creation, and so he sends it off to the editor—or me— and that is the end of it for him.

I take it from its envelope. "Thoughts in a Spring Garden," it says, or something like that. I put it tenderly in the drawer. And that is the end of it for me.

What Sydney has completely overlooked is that while the poetry may be terrible, the motive that produced it is a shining, wonderful thing, and should be encouraged, not kicked in the dentures.

Vile Verse

These "dunderheads" and their vile verse are struggling to express some personal conception of beauty, trying to pin down a transient emotion or some imagined glimpse at the deeper meaning of life, groping to put down in words something mysterious and lovely, desperately striving to pass on the feeling of being suddenly aware of immortality in a garden.

They flop horribly, of course. As Sydney says, inspiration isn't enough. Earnestness is not enough. The more you work with words the more you are aware of their limitations and their obstinacy. The poor, eager amateur, made with desire to fashion some image of his thoughts, might just as well be working with Ready-Mix.

But it's his trying that counts. For so long as a large number of people are moved by beauty or tenderness, so long as they react with humility and passion to the wink of a changing season, then we have people around who are civilized.

100,000 Red Troops Smash Wedge 7 Miles In UN Lines

Hundreds Homeless As Floods Hit Fraser Valley

VANCOUVER, Feb. 12—(CP) — British Columbia's Fraser Valley became a vast skating pond today as freezing temperatures descended on the flood-covered land. The province counted three flood deaths as the vast clean-up job began. Hundreds of persons had been forced to evacuate flood damaged homes. Volunteer sandbag crews today won their first fight to save a key dike protecting 10,000 acres of reclaimed farm land near Sumas, about 50 miles east of here near the United States border.

Across the border, a state of emergency was in effect in western Washington and five National Guard units were called out as rampaging rivers crashed through dikes and spilled out over lowlands.

Governor Langlie proclaimed a state of emergency after about 4,600 persons had been driven from their homes in northwest Washington.

3-Day Downpour

A three-day downpour, virtually unprecedented, inundated an estimated 40 per cent of the Fraser valley, which extends east from Vancouver for 100 miles.

The rain ended Sunday and, in some parts of the valley, it was followed by a snowfall of six inches. The weather office said the outlook is for dry weather.

The Fraser went on a rampage in 1948, causing $30,000,000 damage, but this time the mighty river's tributaries were the villains.

The number of homeless stood high in the hundreds. B.C. was still without rail communications early today and the Trans-Canada Highway was cut.

Water was four or five feet deep in some parts of Chilliwack, a city of 7,000 which was 58-per cent inundated.

Never Seen It As Bad

Jack Moran, 31-year-old Chilliwack taxi-driver, described the floods this way: "I've never seen so much water in Chilliwack, not even during the Fraser River flood in 1948. Then, the dikes held the water back. This time it came straight out of the sky."

The death toll rose to three Sunday near Abbotsford, east of Vancouver, when an automobile slipped into a ditch filled with seven feet of water.

Two men were drowned, while three other occupants swam to safety. Dead are Wilfred H. Hill, 38, of Vancouver and Remy Maurice De Fosset of Hope.

The first flood victim was Wilda Foreman, 7. Her body was found floating in her flooded home at Chilliwack.

The water supply was threatened at Chilliwack, 60 miles east of here two of the three streams from which the city takes its supply were contaminated. Buses

Brain Expert Says Sullivan Death Natural

OTTAWA, Feb. 12—(CP)—Dr. J. E. Pritchard, Montreal brain expert, today stated that Frances J. Sullivan died of a brain haemorrhage which probably occurred spontaneously and not by the application of blunt force.

The pathologist director at Montreal General Hospital gave evidence for the defence in the Ontario Supreme Court trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of her husband.

The trial is in its ninth day.

Several times Chief Justice J. C. McCruer cautioned the witness to base his opinion on evidence already before the court, not what he was given to understand in discussions with counsel or with other persons.

Convulsions Possible

Dr. Pritchard said his experience with brain tumors indicated that Mr. Sullivan, 52-year-old Toronto lawyer, might have been injured in thrashing about in convulsions before he died.

That, he said, would account for the 60 injuries found on Mr. Sullivan's body when it was discovered in a Chateau Laurier bedroom last Nov. 18.

Previously evidence by two other medical experts, testifying for the defence, was to the effect that Mr. Sullivan had died of natural causes.

Dr. Pritchard said the brain disease — angioma — from which Mr. Sullivan suffered might have caused him to lose sense of balance.

He could have fallen to the bathroom floor "after pitching about."

The Chief Justice asked whether Dr. Pritchard believed the injuries were consistent with the spontaneous rupture, "forgetting that there was a tiled bathroom in the area."

Dr. Pritchard believed they were. However, the injuries also could be consistent with those suffered, say, had a series of heavy blows been struck.

Robert Stanley Dies In New York

TORONTO, Feb. 12 — (CP).— Robert C. Stanley, 74, chairman of the board and president of International Nickel Company, died today in New York, a spokesman for the company said.

Mr. Stanley was born at Little Falls, NJ, and educated at Columbia University, New York. He joined International Nickel in 1901, becoming general superintendent in 1914, first vice-president in 1918, and president in 1922.

His company now provides the greatest single output of copper in the British Empire and the world's largest supply of the platinum metals. Under his guidance metallurgists successfully separated nickel and copper contents from company ores which previously defied them. Monel, a white alloy of nickel and copper, was discovered in 1905 by Mr. Stanley. He conceived and developed the process for producing the alloy direct from ore.

In addition to directorships in International Nickel and its associated companies, he was a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, a director and member of the Finance Committee of the United States Steel Corporation, director and member of committees of the Chase National Bank of New York, as well as other big companies.

ERP Economic Aid Will Be Cut Sharply

PARIS, Feb. 12 (Reuters). — United States economic aid to Western Europe for non-essential civilian purposes soon will be stopped altogether or reduced to a mere dribble, William C. Foster, Marshall Plan administrator, said here today.

Discussing th changed emphasis of US foreign aid from recovery to rearmament, Foster told reporters "purely economic recovery assistance will certainly be considerably smaller than in the past."

At the same time, Foster inferred that the supply of essential raw materials to needy countries will depend on the effort they put into rearmament.

No Crossing Of 38th Attlee Asks

Demands General Halt Advance Till Full Consultation

LONDON, Feb. 12— (AP)— Prime Minister Attlee told Parliament today General MacArthur should refrain from sending troops across Korea's 38th Parallel until there has been "full consultation with the United Nations."

Such consultation should be held particularly "with those member states who are contributing forces to Korea," the Prime Minister said in a foreign affairs debate in the House of Commons.

"We must remember the 38th Parallel is in no sense a military line," the prime minister said. "There is no greater mistake than in thinking that a political line or even, sometimes, a physical line is a military line.

"We are hoping that we may get negotiations leading up to a settlement in the Far East," Attlee said.

Had Experience

He said Britain had no intention of backing down on its policy of supporting the UN police action there. But, he remarked, Britain has had "great experience in Asiatic affairs."

"Without condoning in any way the action of the Chinese in Korea," Attlee said, 'we understand some of their reasons, however misguided they may appear.

"Equally, we understand and sympathize with our friends in the United States."

Attlee explained to the Commons that Britain refused to go along with the American idea of sanctions against Red China because the British government does not think such action "was likely to achieve the objective we had in view." This objective, he said,

London Dockers Delay Walkout

LONDON, Feb. 12 — (AP) — Striking London dockers voted at a mass meeting today to take an eight-day "recess" and then walk out again next Tuesday.

That is the day when seven men accused of conspiring to incite illegal strikes in British seaports come before a judge in Bow Street Police Court.

"When the seven go into the dock, we come out of the docks," shouted Ernest Thomas, member of the unofficial committee runing the strike.

After the men have had their court hearing, the 7,190 London strikers will hold "further demonstrations of a new character." The nature of the demonstrations was not specified in the resolution adopted at the meeting.

COMMENCEMENT of brigade formation training for members of Canada's Special Force got underway last week at Fort Lewis, Wash. This followed an intensified six months training period. The exercise was opened with troops of the Royal 22nd Regiment in action in company strength followed later by the Royal Canadian Regiment and the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. The enclosed National Defence photo depicts flame throwers of the "Van Doos" going into action to soften up the "enemy" position before riflemen attack the objective.

Some U.S., Korean Units Said Cut Off In Unexpected Enemy Trap

Chinese With White Flags Shake Hands Then Hurl Hand Grenades; Strive Desperately To Rally South Koreans

TOKYO, Feb. 13—(Tuesday)—(AP)—Combining 100,000 man power with fake surrenders, white flags and handshakes, Chinese and North Korean Communists thrust a wedge seven dangerous miles deep into the Allied Central Korean front Monday, isolating some Ameracn and South Korean units. On the east coast, latest American reports said a patrol of the South Korean capital divisions, advancing northward, ran into a Red company almost on the 38th Parallel and was forced back south after a fight less than a mile below the old political boundary.

Earlier South Korean official reports had credited the South Korean patrol with a five-mile penetration into North Korea. The American advisers' report early Tuesday to Eighth Army Headquarters said they never crossed the line at all.

The savage Red counter-drive in the mountainous central sector was launched Sunday midnight and pushed by an estimated 60,000 troops throughout Monday on a 10-mile-wide front.

2 U.S. Units Trapped

Two American units of undisclosed size were reported cut off north of Hoengsong. They were fighting to crack enemy road blocks that extended two miles along the road south of them. An American relief force was battling up from the south. A South Korean regiment also was reported cut off northeast of Hoengsong.

That town is 55 air miles east of Seoul, Red-held former Korean capital.

United Nations troops were massed south of Seoul, just across the Han river from the capital. But a South Korean patrol that had made another probe into Seoul was forced out again late Monday by sharp enemy fire.

Shortly before minight Monay, Reds charged south across the ice-clogged Han River and attacked U.S. 25th Division elements in Seoul's industrial suburb Yongdungpo. AP Correspondent William C. Barnard reported from that town that the attack was beaten back in about 15 minutes.

Under Heavy Fire

At the same time, Red artillery subjected the Allies south of the Han to heavy fire from 120-mm guns, presumably Russian-made.

The critical position, however, was on the central front.

At one point on the central front, an American patrol reported Chinese who spoke English came up with white flags, shook hands as if offering to surrender, then cut loose with hand grenades.

American officers were striving desperately to rally the South

Feared Draft, Confesses Setting Fire

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 12 (AP) —A husky, 19-year-old father Sunday confessed setting a $4,000,000 fire in the Michigan State office building here to avoid the draft, Prosecutor Paul C. Younger said.

Richard C. Shay, a state highway department employee, signed a formal statement admitting he set the fire Thursday noon, Younger said. He will be charged with arson.

The prosecutor added that Shay confessed to touching a match to a map just before leaving for lunch. The youth, he said, worked on the "M" floor where the fire originated.

The 45-hour blaze gutted the upper floors of the eight-storey structure. It temporarily paralyzed almost all state government operations and devoured priceless state records.

Young said that Shay, married and the father of a 7-months-old baby, told him he had received an order to report for a preinduction draft physical.

Took A Chance

The youth, who was in the navy for two years after the Second World War and is now an eagle Scout, claimed to have heard that the army would not take persons on probation, the prosecutor said.

Younger quoted Shay as saying that he intended only to set a small fire. The youth then intended to admit the offence and hoped for a probationary sentence.

"I did it not because I was afraid," the youth said, "but because I didn't want to leave my family."

Shah Orders Simple Wedding

TEHRAN Iran, Feb. 12 (AP)— The thunder of a 21-gun salute boomed out the news of the Shah's wedding today to lovely Soraya Esfandiari, 19-year-old granddaughter of a once-rebellious Persian tribal chief.

Seated before two chief mullahs, Iran's highest religious leaders, the once-divorced Shah and his European-educated, half-German bride were wed in a simple Moslem ceremony at Marmar Palace.

By order of the Shah, the traditional splendor of Persian court fetes was lacking in the celebration of the wedding. Iranian flags flying over snow-covered streets and a prancing squadron of lancers provided the only spots of color as the new Queen's limousine carried her to the palace for the ceremony.

The Shah, 32-year-old Mohammed Reza Pahlevi, waited at the palace while his sisters, Princess Ashraf and Princess Chams, escorted the bride to the wedding scene.

Two small daughters of court functionaries held the long train of Soraya's silver-lame wedding gown as she walked up the palace staircase to the Shah's study, where the ceremony took place.

A few moments later, the royal newlyweds emerged and walked into the glittering Hall of Mirrors to receive foreign diplomats and high government officials.

Curbs Festivities

The serious-minded Shah — deeply concerned with international war fears and social unrest and poverty in his country— ordered celebrations stripped of the customary regal frills and limited to one day.

The snow fitted into the color scheme for the wedding. The court ordered women guests to wear gowns of white or light colors. Dark colors were banned as a symbol of bad luck.

Truman Asks US Send Grain To Starving India

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—(AP)—President Truman asked Congress today to authorize sending 2,000,000 tons of grain to famine-threatened India, and to appropriate funds now for the first 1,000,000 tons. In a message to the legislators, Truman suggested they defer appropriation of money for the balance "until the situation has been further clarified."

That left the implication that possibly the second 1,000,000 tons might not be needed or sent, although Truman asked authorization for the full 2,000,000 tons which India has asked because of a threatened famine.

Truman's message said:

"Human lives depend upon our taking prompt action. Shipments must begin by April if this food is to reach India in time to meet the present emergency."

State Department sources have estimated it would cost about $200,000,000 to supply 2,000,000 tons of grain to India. That includes estimates for transportation.

Congressional opposition to the project has been based chiefly on India's opposition in the United Nations to the U.S. move to brand Communist China an aggressor in Korea.

Truman recognized this situation in his message. He said there had been "important political differences" between his government and India over "the course of action which would most effectively curb aggression and establish peace in Asia."

He added:

"However, these differences should not blind us to the needs of the Indian people."

Avalanches Trap 26 At Airolo

AIROLO, Switzerland, Feb. 12 (AP).—At least four persons were killed and 22 others were believed buried by avalanches which crashed into two villages in southeast Switzerland Sunday night.

Continuous snowfall in the area renewed the threat of slides in the section where 75 persons were killed by avalanches in a single weekend last month. Many villages previously hit were again being evacuated.

One avalanche early today hit Airolo, at the southern entrance of the St. Gotthard tunnel. Four bodies and five persons still alive were dug from the ruins of their homes. At least six persons were believed still buried. Little hope was held for them.

At Frasco, a hamlet 20 miles north of Locarno, resuers dug out 10 of the 16 persons—half the population—buried by a giant avalanche.

The Airolo disaster cut the rail line through the St. Gotthard Pass, one of the principal railroad links between Italy and Central Europe.

Careless Driving

WAKKANAI, Japan, Feb. 12 —(AP). — Sixteen careless whales were cruising along today, not paying much attention to the hazards of sea travel. They bumped into a cluster of small icebergs off the northern tip of Kohhaido Island. Every one of the whales was knocked cold. Along came some Japanese fishermen and bagged all 16. The whales, 20 to 30 feet long, were valued at $10,000.

15 Fur Plants Face Shutdown

MONTREAL, Feb. 12 (CP). — Fifteen major fur companies in Toronto, Winnipeg and Montreal are faced with a possible shutdown Feb. 24 when some 1,400 workers in dressing and dyeing shops are scheduled to strike to back their wage and hour demands.

Officials of the International Fur and Leather Workers' Union Canadian District, at a weekend meeting voted on the strike deadline because, they said, "no serious offer has been made by any of the employers."

The union and companies began negotiations for a new collective labor agreement last November. The old contract expired at the end of 1950.

The workers seek a 25-cent hourly wage boost, three additional paid statutory holidays each year and a second week's vacation with pay after three years' service.

Yugoslavia Plays It Safe

Tito Supports Communism But Not Russian Brand

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Feb. 12 (AP).—Yugoslavia still is walking down the middle of the world with Russia and cockily independent toward the free west.

Yugoslavs are eating the first instalment of American food and getting other western aid today—and more is promised—but Yugoslavia's policy of no-surrender to either camp hasn't changed.

In one testing-place, the United Nations, the Yugoslavs recently have voted either with the free west or against them. Often they have not voted for either side.

The Yugoslavs still speak out for Communism—but against Russia's brand.

No longer is there a Slavish "me-too" position for the Russian stand as there was before the Cominform expelled Premier Tito nearly three years ago.

The Yugoslavs now even take oral swings at Russian and bloc pressure in attacks that bring Russian cries of "slander"—just as if Yugoslavia were a western country.

Has Own Problems

Many in the U.N. do not agree with the Yugoslav's refusal to go to the end of the line with the countries they'll have to get help from if Russia tries to crush Tito. But they make these points:

The Tito brand of nationalism has to try for a position of leadership in the Communist world.

It tried to get across to the Red Chinese and the Korean Communists that the Russians were not their only friends in the U.N.

One keen observer of the Balkans in the U.N. adds this comment:

"In addition to trying to convert other Communist countries to their brand of Communism, the Yugoslavs have a domestic problem. Theirs was the only country in the Cominform built up on the personality of one man—Tito. If he falls, the coalition of old Bolsheviks, some Trotskyists, and converted present day Communists may easily fall.

"But if Tito should veer too much to the west, there are large groups inside Yugoslavia that would start hollering for him to restore press freedom, religious and other individual freedoms, abolish land collectivization, do away with other Communist institutions.

Three Fleets Staging Biggest Manoeuvres

VALETTA, Malta, Feb. 10 — (Reuters).—The United States Sixth Fleet and British Home and Mediterranean Fleets today are staging their biggest post-war air-sea manoeuvres in the central Mediterranean.

The present phase of the operation called "Period Able," is a convoy escort exercise. Others this week will include night search, surface action, air attack interception and defence.

The ships taking part include the 45,000-ton U.S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt and Britain's biggest battleship, the 42,500-ton Vanguard.

UN China Resolution Halts Negotiation Try

NEW DELHI, Feb. 12 (Reuters) —Prime Minister Jawaharlal Nehru told Parliament today the United Nations resolution branding China an aggressor put an end, temporarily at least, to any attempts at negotiation or settlement.

Nehru said, "We hope still it may be possible for events to take a better turn in the future, but I must confess that at the moment hope has grown very dim."

He said India's friendly relations with China had been "very helpful" in attempts for a negotiated settlement of the Far East problem. In spite of a difference of opinion India would continue to try to maintain her friendly relations with the United States.

Might As Well Be Prepared

Urge Canned Water Stocked In Case Bomb Hits Main

BOSTON, Feb. 12 (AP).—Better stock up on canned water just in case an atomic bomb bursts the city's mains.

Yes, canned water is here. And it's held in high regard in civil defence circles. Water was quite a problem in the Second World War when the A-bomb was dropped on Hiroshima.

Dr. Myer Selby, Boston chemist who invented a way of canning the stuff, says:

"So far as water supply is concerned, this seems the best solution in atomic warfare."

Under an atomic attack, Dr. Selby noted that there is a new complication: the water supply may pick up deadly materials from the exploded bomb, tiny particles of plutonium, and other poisons.

"It's sterile and lasts for years" says the chemist. And he adds:

"The cans are of convenient size and they can be tossed around without breaking. Each can will have a can-opener attached to it."

Dr. Selby recommends that a supply of cans be kept in each firehouse and that the firemen carry them in their pockets and on the trucks. Monitoring stations and schools which are to be set up as first aid stations should also have buried stockpiles, in the opinion of the chemist.

French War Reporter Killed On Patrol

U. S. EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS, Korea, Feb 12—(AP)—Jean-Marie de Premonville, 30, war correspondent for Agence France Presse, was killed today on a patrol with United States Rangers on the Central Korean front.

De Premonville fell with three machine-gun bullets in his body. He bled to death on the way to an army aid station.

The Frenchman was killed with a patrol on a ridge northwest of Chipyong, 35 miles east of Seoul. He was in a lookout post when hit.

He was a resistance fighter in France in the Second World War.

7 Fatalities Reported At Weekend

Car Turns Over Near Belleville Man Bleeds To Death

By The Canadian Press

Seven persons died violently in eastern Canada over the week end, four of them in accidents involving motor vehicles. A drowning, a fall and a shunting train accounted for the other deaths.

Ontario led with three of the fatalities, while Quebec, Nova Scotia, New Brunswick and Newfoundland each had one.

Worst traffic accident occurred on the Montreal-Quebec highway when a carload of hockey players collided with a snowplow head on. Seven members of the St. Raymond intermediate hockey club were injured, Guy Vezina, 19, of Quebec City, fatally.

Roy Morgan, 20, West Huntington, Ont., bled to death after a shard from his shattered windshield pierced his throat. He is believed to have dozed off at the wheel, his car entering a ditch and turning over. A companion escaped unscathed in the accident, which occurred about 20 miles north of Belleville.

Over Embankment

Alex MacGregor, 32, Nyanza, N.S., was killed and a companion injured when their car went over an embankment.

Thomas Lackey, 17, died in hospital after being struck by a truck Sunday near Perth. He was the town's first traffic fatality in six years.

In Newcastle, N.B., Albert Graham, 40, was crushed to death under the wheels of a train he was believed trying to board.

In Toronto, John Graham, 39 (no relation) was killed by a 15-foot fall from a hydro pole on which he was repairing a transformer.

Eleven-year-old Michael Devereux was drowned when he went through thin ice of a pond police had warned was unsafe. It was the season's first skating fatality in St. John's, Nfld.

Canada's Income Reaches Record High During 1950

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 (CP)—Canada's income smashed records in 1950 as the value of production of goods and services soared to a record high. The Bureau of Statistics Sunday reported 1950 national income at $14,164,000,000, an 8 per cent increase over the previous high of $13,167,000,000 in 1949.

Salaries, wages and other income by Canada's labor force swept to a peak $8,300,000,000, a six per cent gain over the 1949 total of $7,800,000,000.

All signs pointed to unprecedented economic activity, with the gross national product—sum total of all goods and services produced—chalking up a $1,300,000,000 gain to a record $17,700,000,000 from $16,383,000,000 the previous year. About half the eight per cent climb was sparked by actual production volume increases; the remainder by price spreads.

Shared By Industry

This spectacular increase in production and income was shared by most industry with the exception of farming. Lower initial payments for wheat and increased operating costs pulled down net farm income six per cent to $1,424,000,000 from $1,513,000,000.

Economic splurges in 1950 had both their dark and bright sides. Spending by consumers and governments made gains; indirect tax collections were higher; personal savings were down, and international trade in goods and services, while hitting history-making heights, produced for the first time in recent years, deficits instead of usual surpluses.

Here is what these various economic trends developed:

1. Consumer spending, sparked by import control relaxations and bigger earnings, swelled to $11,810,000,000—a rise of almost $800,000,000 from $11,086,000,000 in 1949. Aptomobile buying increased 60 per cent.
2. Indirect tax collections increased to $2,001,000,000 from $1,829,000,000. The rise of 9 per cent was attributed partly to the tax boosts announced in the federal government's baby budget in September last year.
3. Governments increased their spending to $2,333,000,000 on goods and services, an advance of about $200,000,000 from $2,128,000,000. The Korean campaign and the need for more defence equipment was partly responsible.
4. Personal savings declined to $769,000,000, down from $802,000,000 in 1949 and $869,000,000 in 1948.

Koreans.

The Reds were fighting hand-to-hand with Allied defenders in the key road centre of Hoengsong. One-and-a-half miles south of Hoengsong, the Communists had set up a road block. A Red column was sweeping toward that area to cut the Hoensong-Wonju road.

Field dispatches said the situation was confused and serious.

Trying To Cut Road

The greatest immediate danger came from elements of three Red regiments apparently trying to cut the main road from Wonju, Allied supply and Communists' hub, to Hoengsong.

If the Allied line is breached in this sector, it may force withdrawals by UN forces stretching from recaptured Inchon, Seoul's port on the west coast, to Chipyong, 18 miles west of Hoengsong.

The front-line intelligence officer said the situation is "serious" but not as critical as believed at first.

Pound Seoul

Allied artillery and planes pounded Red-held Seoul. The fire-blackened city was reported bristling with Communist defences. Patrols entered the city during the weekend but were forced to withdraw.

Inchon, Seoul's big port 19 miles to the west, and Yongdungpo, Seoul's industrial suburb, were securely in Allied hands. Kimpo, the capital's big airport 15 miles to the north-west, also was recaptured from the Reds.

Allied forces were mopping up in the big triangle formed by Yongdungpo, Inchon and Kimpo —a triangle west of the curving Han River.

Successful Week

The northward crossing of Parallel 38 on the east coast climaxed the most successful week for United Nations arms since Red China entered the Korean conflict in November.

The Eighth Army reported more than 4,600 casualties inflicted on the Reds Sunday. The estimate included 2,135 killed, 2,255 wounded and 255 prisoners.

Red casualties have been estimated at more than 70,000 within the last three weeks.

Heavy enemy fire from the ruins of Seoul was poured on UN troops south of the Han River in that sector. Allied artillery and Fifth Air Force planes plus Navy and Marine Corsairs replied with an intense bombardment.

A US 25th Infantry Division task force swept 18 miles northwest of Yongdungpo while other units of the division consolidated their positions around captured Inchon and Yongdungpo.

Fail To Reinforce

All efforts Sunday to reinforce a South Korean patrol in Seoul itself were repulsed by enemy small arms. Two platoons trying to cross the Han near the outskirts of Yongdungpo were driven of. The reinforced platoons were supported by artillery and anti-tank fire. South Korean elements reported the Reds were bringing up tanks to the river for a showdown fight for Seoul.

The enemy threat on the centran front grew by the hour. Few Allied gains were made against steady enemy pressure.

A South Korean force which took high ground eight miles north-west of Hoengsong lost a half-mile Sunday night when it was hit by a Red battalion.

A South Korean regiment 14 miles north-northwest of Pyongchang, which is south-east of Hoengsong, was forced to back up by 3,000 Reds.

200 Skiers Out On Bethany Hills

Excellent skiing conditions drew skiers not only from the Peterborough district but from Toronto, Lindsay, Oshawa and Cobourg to fill the Bethany and Kemp's ski sites to capacity on the week-end. Mild weather changed the conditions from Saturday's excellent to just good Sunday.

Some 200 skiers used the two tows at Bethany on Sunday morning and afternoon. George Cook set up a course on the slalom hill and 30 skiers tried the run. On Saturday the skiing was excellent for 60.

Among the visitors were Douglas Hall and son, formerly of Peterborough and now of New York state. Mr. Hall is one of the originals of the Peterborough Ski Club. A bus load of Toronto skiers arrived on Sunday.

Kemp's hill on the Warsaw road was crowded. Skiing was reported excellent for a large crowd on Saturday afternoon but was "very slow" for 75 people on Sunday.

Watch Hitch-Hikers

TORONTO, Feb. 12 — (CP).— Provincial Police today warned motorists not to pick up hitch-hikers following the escape of what they described as a dangerous patient from the Ontario Hospital at nearby Whitby. Police said the man, 45-year-old Ashton Simpson, a Jamaican, may be headed for Toronto or Hamilton.

Flyer Hits Freight

ROSENBERG, Tex., Feb. 12—(AP)— Sixteen persons suffered cuts and bruises when the Southern Pacific's Sunset Limited crashed into the rear of a 73-car freight train just west of here Sunday. The freight train caboose was smashed and an empty oil tank car and a loaded gravel car were tossed astride the main line and a siding paralleling it. All 13 passenger cars remained on the track undamaged.

Remand Driver As 8th Victim Dies Of Injuries

SUDBURY, Feb. 12 — David Martin, 45-year-old smelter worker, died in St. Joseph's Hospital here at 3 a.m. Sunday morning to bring the death toll to eight in the bus-train crash Friday at nearby Coniston.

Mr. Martin's chest was crushed and his skull was fractured as a through CPR passenger train struck a Nickel Belt Coach Lines bus, hurling the bus into the ditch beside the right of way.

Mr. Martin, who was reported to be riding in the section of the bus where the train struck, is survived by his wife, two sons and three daughters. He had worked at the smelter of the International Nickel Co. at Coniston for 14 years.

Saturday afternoon Edouard Carriere, 24-year-old driver of the bus, was released on $3,000 bail on a manslaughter charge laid by Chief A. F. Runciman, chief of the International Nickel Co's. police force. The village of Coniston is entirely owned by the Nickel company, and under the jurisdiction of its police force.

Perhaps Not Negligent

Chief Runciman stated that the fact a charge had been laid did not necessarily imply that the driver had been negligent. The accident took place in a dense fog at a temperature of 47 degrees below zero. The driver claimed he stopped his bus before crossing the intersection, which was without a wig-wag or a flasher, and obscured by the fog.

"In cases like this, where loss of life is so great, it is customary either to lay a charge or hold an inquest. We believe there is sufficient evidence to warrant laying a charge, though our investigation is not yet complete. Further evidence may contradict the impression the driver may have been negligent," Chief Runciman said.

A mass funeral was held for four of the victims at Coniston this morning. Herbert Conlon, 58, Eugene Leclair, 62, Primo Cerma, 34, and Alex Beauparlant, 51, were buried following requiem high mass at Our Lady of Mercy Roman Catholic Church.

Massey-Harris Dips On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 12 — (CP).— Massey-Harris Ltd. dipped $2.50 to $61 on the Toronto Stock Exchange today on announcement that a five-for-one split is planned for its shares, subject to approval of shareholders.

It was announced that the new shares would be put on a quarterly dividend basis of 12½ cents a share. This is equal to $2.50 a year on the present shares as compared to the $2 they have been paying. But in view of the fact that the old shares last year paid an extra dividend of $3, the new rate apparently did not come up to the expectations of some traders.

Consolidated Smelters, another stock rumored for a stock split, advanced $4.50 today, but following the Massey-Harris news, dropped back for a net gain of $2. CPR, which controls Smelters, gained $2 which was trimmed to $1.50.

Steels were strong and most of them ahead. Liquors were strong with Distiller-Seagrams up $1.50.

In the base metals International Nickel and Noranda were ahead fractionally; Torbrit gained 40c, and Steep Rock 15c.

Western oils were mostly ahead.

Golds were quiet. Bralorne added 25 cents and MacLeod 5 cents.

US, Japan Agree On Defence Plan

TOKYO, Feb. 12 (AP).—The United States and Japan have agreed on the basic points of a defence agreement to be guaranteed by American power after a peace treaty is signed.

This was apparent Saturday in carefully-worded statements issued separately by special ambassador John Foster Dulles and Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida.

Dulles said "provisional security arrangements between the United States and Japan" were discussed during his two weeks' stay. The Japanese, he said, have convinced him of an "overwhelming desire" to accept American protection in the immediate post-treaty period.

Yoshida said his government and "a preponderant majority" of the people "warmly welcome" a security arrangement which includes "stationing of United States armed forces in and about the country."

Dulles offered the Japanese, after they become free, the backing of American might to prevent "a vacuum of power" in unarmed Japan. No time limit will be specified. The arrangement will depend upon willingness to undertake her own defence.

Other Problems

Following Anthony Eden, former foreign secretary, who advocated a western declaration of aims on the defence of Yugoslavia Attlee said the main question facing the world today is whether the Communist bloc would reduce its armed forces to reasonable proportions and abandon "imperialist policies."

He dealt at considerable length with the question of re-arming Germany—a subject on which some of his followers are lined against him.

"If we could get a real and genuine settlement with Soviet Russia, the matter of German re-armament would fall into its proper perspective," Attlee said.

If not, the defence of Germany had to be considered as part of the defence of the west, he said. If the Germans were not allowed to defend themselves, the occupying powers must undertake the job.

Firemen To Inspect Oil Heating Units

Pats Learn Brigade They'll Join

Ready To Line Up With Troops From Commonwealth

WITH THE CANADIANS IN KOREA, Feb. 12—(CP)—English, Scottish, Australian and New Zealand troops will be the battle companions of Canada's ground force in Korea when it goes into action.

Lt.-Col. J. R. Stone, commander of the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, broke the news to his men Saturday at their last battalion parade before they move north from their South Korean training headquarters.

The Patricians will line up with the 27th Commonwealth Brigade —a true Commonwealth outfit that already includes the 1st battalions of the Middlesex Regiment and the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, an Australian infantry battalion and a New Zealand field artillery brigade.

The Patricias' assignment is temporary. They were originally scheduled to join the 29th Commonwealth Brigade, but Eighth Army headquarters advised Col. Stone of the switch last week while he was at the front-line headquarters of the 29th discussing the impending move.

Have Reputation

Stone told his men Saturday that he is confident that they will acquit themselves in a manner worthy of Canada "and incidentally live up to the reputation we have already been given by the press of Canada."

The battalion's advance party moved north Sunday under Major Gordon Henderson of Calgary. Stone flew back to Eighth Army headquarters and will also confer with 27th Brigade officers. Major Pat Tighe of Victoria, B.C., will command the Patricias in the absence of Stone, who is not expected to rejoin the battalion before it moves north.

Stone's speech to the battalion, a few hours after his return from the front, was brief and pointed.

"We will fight alongside two British battalions of the line," he said. "They have a wonderful fighting tradition and have always stood their ground, even though outnumbered as much as 100 to one."

He said the Australians are volunteers like the Patricias themselves and also boast a good fighting record.

PC's Meet, Elect Executive At Campbellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 12 — (ENS)—The Campbellford Progressive Conservative Association held their annual meeting in the Legion Hall on Friday evening, with a large attendance despite extremely cold weather.

Mrs. Wm. C. Tatham, president of the Ladies' Association, gave a brief address after the meeting was opened by the president of the local association, Ralph J. Locke. Major R. Earle Drope, of Harwood, carried out the election of officers for both associations.

The following is the result of the elections: Men's Organization president, Ralph J. Locke; vice-president, N. Alex MacColl; secretary, Arthur K. Loucks; treasurer, C. H. Davidson; ward chairmen and vice - chairmen, Ward 1, Harold Smith, George Vice; Ward 2, Fred Clark, Jim Heathcote; Ward 3, Percy Melville, Wm. Nicholas ; Ward 4, Oscar Mason, Jack Storie. Ladies' Association, president, Mrs. W. C. Tatham; ward leaders and vice-leaders, Ward 1, Mrs. F. G. DeCarroll, Mrs. Dave Ness; Ward 2, Mrs. A. J. Armour, Mrs. George Tarsey; Ward 3, Mrs. George Nicholls, Miss M. Winstanley; Ward 4, Mrs. Douglas Maybee, Miss Ellenor Allen.

Major Drope said the time had come for the means test for old age pensioners to be abolished. He said he beleived that Ottawa's price-freezing threat was largely responsible for the present soaring cost of living. Canadian business was racing to get prices as high as possible before a move was made freezing prices at their present levels.

Hon. W. A. Goodfellow, Ontario Minister of Welfare, stated that when he took his portfolio there were 55,000 old age pensioners in the province. This total has now skyrocketed to 98,000. He agreed also that the means test must be abolished. Mr. Goodfellow also expressed the opinion that Ottawa should take immediate steps to abolish collections from estates of old age pensioners. He said that the Frost government would co-operate with Ottawa on any matter of national importance, and for the common good of the nation as a whole.

At the conclusion of Mr. Goodfellow's remarks, Ernest Irwin, of Seymour township, spoke a few words, after which the meeting was brought to a close. A social evening was enjoyed afterwards, with the ladies serving sandwiches and tea. George Nicholls was pianist for the evening and Miss Ellenor Allan acted as secretary.

STURDY, 84-YEAR OLD Cecil Platt Newman—one of Quebec's fruit pioneers—braved a recent snow and bluster storm to celebrate the birthday of an organization he helped found 57 years ago. When Mr. Newman reached Montreal from his Ville Salle farm, he found the Quebec Pomological and Fruit Growing Society deep in the first-day business of its annual convention. But none of the members were too busy to recall that their group first came into being on Feb. 8, 1894, or that this straight-backed apple grower was the only one left of their number who was there to see it born.

Couple Observe Golden Wedding

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 12—(ENS)—A bride and groom of 50 years, Mr. and Mrs. Isaiah Boyd of Campbellford, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Sunday at their home on Sebastopol St.

Mr. Boyd has worked for the town of Campbellford for more than 35 years as an electrical operator, and is now a guard at the town firehall. He and his wife have lived in Campbellford for 44 years.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd were married in Stirling on February 12, 1901. Both were born in Rawdon township near Springbrook. One daughter, Mrs. Bert Adams, lives in Belleville, a son, Harry I. Boyd, lives at Tavistock, Ontario, while another son, George David Boyd, resides in Toronto. All were on hand to help their parents celebrate on Sunday. The Boyds have ten grandchildren, two of them in Scotland, and three great-grandchildren.

On Sunday afternoon, Mr. and Mrs. Boyd cut a beautiful three-tiered anniversary cake, produced especially for the occasion. During the day, friends and neighbors called to offer congratulations, making it a day that will live long in the memory of the happy couple.

Steel Union Asks Price Roll-back

KINGSTON, Feb. 12 (CP)—A roll-back of prices to the levels of Sept. 1 last with continued rental controls was advocated Sunday at the conference of the Eastern Ontario Council of the United Steel Workers of America.

Delegates from 18 locals, including Oshawa, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Trenton, Gananoque, Smiths Falls, Renfrew, Pembroke, Ottawa and Kingston, attended the meeting which also dealt with the problem of steel shortages and effects on working schedules in various Ontario plants.

Delegates agreed that steadily rising costs necessitated a prices rollback an destablishment of a Federal tribunal with boards such as those set up during last war to deal with applications for price increases.

Judge Awards $615 As Accident Damages In Cobourg

COBOURG, Feb. 12 (ENS).—Judge M. A. Miller, in a judgment handed down in connection with a damage action brought by James Dixon and Nancy Dixon of Cobourg against Donald Henderson and the town of Cobourg awarded James Dixon $404 and costs, and Nancy Dixon $150.

In connection with Henderson's action against the town, Judge Miller awarded $56 and costs of action. The case was the outcome of an accident on King Street, west, last year involving cars driven by Dixon and Henderson.

Judge Miller, pointed out that the right wheel of the Henderson car hit a hole in the road and went out of control, colliding with Dixon. Dixon had had no occasion to be aware of danger until the Henderson car swung over into the path of his car. The hole which Henderson struck was not large in area but was in the travelled portion of the road and was big enough to be dangerous.

The hole was the result of ordinary wear and tear but had not been repaired.

"I must find that the defendant municipality had failed in its duty to keep the road up," said Judge Miller.

Further in his judgment, he said that Henderson must have seen the holes in the road in time to avoid them or slow down had he had his car under control. However, he could not be blamed entirely. Liability was fixed at 60 per cent to Henderson and 40 per cent to the town.

Harry Deyman acted for Dixon; H. R. S. Ryan for Henderson and Arthur Greer for the town of Cobourg.

Exorbitant Cost Of New Old People's Home

Belleville, as Hastings County seat, is getting a new home for the aged. The Provincial Government, through the Department of Welfare, is sharing half the cost. We in this district are not concerned particularly with the amount of money Hastings and Belleville put up, but we claim the right to scrutinize the money which the Ontario Government subscribes. It is our money. This new public institution for old people is, according to reports, to cost $1,300,000. The Government has authorized first payment of $258,903 for the construction. What kind of grandiose place is this being built in Belleville? It is to house only 175 people; yet it is to cost $1,300,000. That sum would provide every one of the 175 with a $7,000 house each and leave $75,000 over for equipment.

* * *

Why should an old people's home, to house only 175 and staff, cost so much? It is not a hospital with numerous elevators, equipment, diet kitchen, offices, X-ray rooms and the like. True, the new place is, happily, not designed on the old factory or three-storey school plan, with warrens of rooms. It is of one-storey construction on two wings, with a two-storey administrative and staff unit linking the two wings. But, as reported to us, the new county house, now well under construction, is still an institutionized, barrack type of place, with separate quarters for men and women, and some rooms for couples. It is not to have the privacy which English alms-houses and the newest American homes give, of separate apartments with little separate kitchens and the like. There are to be communal dining-rooms. So the new building is not designed to provide, even expensively, real homes for the elderly. There is not even that excuse to justify the $1,300,000.

* * *

It will be said that the place, when planned, was to cost five or six hundred thousand dollars, and high prices of the times have forced the costs up. But even today, we wager, a multi-millionaire could build himself a palace on a Belleville estate to house himself and wife and 175 servants for less than $1,300,000.

* * *

Is the Department of Welfare of Ontario, whose plans the Hastings people had to accept, provided with a bottomless pork-barrel? And is it never going to give the worthy old people of small means, whose welfare it supposedly has at heart, real homes they can enjoy? Since 175 $7,000 houses could have been built for the same money that is rearing this new institution, could not a series of modest cottages, along the new American lines, or like the cozy, decent alms-houses in England, have been built for much less? Surely some explanation is in order from Belleville, Hastings, and the Department of Welfare?

Are The Reasons Good Enough?

A bill has been introduced into the House of Commons by Mr. J. L. MacDougall, the member for Vancouver-Burrard, which would change Dominion Day from July 1 to the first Monday following June 30, and Victoria Day to the first Monday following May 23.

The Toronto Star writes with enthusiasm of this bill. It points out that many people now have a whole holiday on Saturdays, and that a Monday holiday makes it possible for them to enjoy a weekend away from home. It also points out that a Monday holiday means less disruption of the business week.

Well, these are reasons of a kind. But are they reasons good enough for disturbing historical holidays? The Fathers of Confederation did not see the culmination of their work on the first Monday after June 30, and Queen Victoria was not born on any day other than May 24.

We must point out that a majority of people still work on Saturday, and that a majority of people spend holidays at home, and not elsewhere. As for the disturbance of the business week, what about the disturbance of housewives, who have to buy supplies for an extra day when these long weekends turn up? Are they of any less importance than the timekeepers and accountants who find a midweek holiday a nuisance?

The passion for neatness in matters of time can nibble away all the historical significance of a holiday. Victoria Day and Dominion Day are something more than mere days off, when considerable numbers of people draw pay for doing nothing; they are days of particular significance in our history—the day upon which our separate existence as a nation began, and the birthday of the great queen under whose reign our nation made its beginning. If we are to forget these things, let us forget the holidays altogether, and cease to celebrate them. That would be much more convenient than the scheme suggested by Mr. MacDougall. Holidays are always a nuisance to business and industry, and if they have no fixed place on the calendar let us get rid of them.

Duplessis Bridge Enquiry

The Quebec Legislative Assembly is now in session. One of the first matters brought up for discussion was the collapse of the Duplessis bridge at Three Rivers on the last day of January. The Opposition leader, George C. Marler, demanded that a public inquiry be made by competent persons not known for favoring the Government and not drawing any benefits from the Government.

Certain facts are clear, which warrant a very searching and impartial inquiry. The bridge was completed at a cost of between two and three million dollars only two and a half years ago. Yet it now lies in ruins (four spans have been carried away); four people have lost their lives; traffic has been much affected and the public has been made apprehensive about all Quebec bridges built under Quebec government supervision.

What are Premier Duplessis and his government going to do? The Premier has announced that some sort of inquiry will be made and he still charges that saboteurs must have been at work. (Did sabotage cause the two ominous breaks in the steel of the same bridge a year ago this month?) The short debate on Mr. Marler's request for an impartial inquiry was ended when a government bencher moved that it be adjourned. This means that it will not re-open until the Government is ready to re-open it.

The collapse of Duplessis bridge is more than a provincial calamity. It is a reflection on the engineering skill or integrity of all Canadian engineering firms and men working under government contract. It suggests, until an inquiry dispels the suggestion, that graft is rank in Quebec government projects. It brings into question the safety of all other Quebec government bridges and puts the whole, fine Quebec road system and plans under suspicion. If Quebec is to continue to attract Ontario and other tourists in their tens of thousands, a public inquiry on the Duplessis bridge must reassure them that the roads and bridges are sound.

Who Is Crazy?

It has been glaringly apparent, in this country and in the United States, that the general taxpaying consumer is a triple loser in the matter of agricultural subsidies. First, some of his taxes go to pay the subsidy. Second, he has to pay an artificially maintained price, higher than it would be were there no subsidy. Third, the excess product his money buys is in some cases destroyed or left to rot. To many people, this seems daffy economics, although it admittedly does not present the entire picture.

In the United States, however, the agricultural subsides program has evolved still a fourth way to tap the taxpayer's pocket. During the latter half of last year, the Production and Marketing Administration destroyed more than twenty-two million dollars' worth of potatoes. During the same period, the Commodity Credit Corporation gave away or sold abroad seventy-five million pounds of butter; the butter sold was below market price. These commodities, of course, were purchased with taxpayers' money.

While this was going on, the United States Army was also doing some buying, and also was paying for its purchases with the taxpayers' money. One of the items was about five million dollars' worth of potatoes. Another was some twenty million pounds of butter, for which the U.S. Army paid the full market price. And a similar game of left hand, right hand was played with cheddar cheese.

It should be pointed out that the United States Department of Agriculture was helpless as far as the potatoes were concerned. The subsidization law required it to buy pctatoes when the market price was below parity, and giving potatoes to the Army would merely depress the market price further: It was not helpless in the other instances, however, and helpless or not, we feel sure Americans will feel, like The Washington Post, that anyone reading about such things must ask himself who is crazy?

It is a summary of the events, statements and policies, particularly those affecting Canada, from the Cairo Declaration of December 1st, 1943, when the "three great allies," U.S.A., U.K. and China expressed their resolve to liberate Asia—including Korea—from Japanese domination, to the draft of the twelve-power resolution put to U.N. last January 24th, aimed at obtaining a "peaceful settlement of the Korean and other Far Eastern problems."

Musical Notes

by
PETER PIPER

LAST Wednesday evening I listened in to the CBC performance of Benjamin Britten's comic opera Albert Herring. The story is based on Maupassant's famous short story, Le Rosier de Madame Husson. The scene is changed from Normandy to rural Suffolk. The lady of the manor decides to hold a fete in her gardens on May Day, and the most virtuous of the village maidens is to be crowned Queen of the May at the celebrations. Unfortunately none of the village maidens can be found worthy to qualify. In desperation her ladyship chooses Albert Herring, a repressed and molly-coddled youth who works in his mother's shop, as King of the May. Albert has up to the present been perfectly docile, but he has just reached the stage when he has begun to resent his mother's domineering ways and hanker after a more adventurous existence. At the fete a pair of mischief-makers spike his lemonade with rum. Albert, who has been presented with £25, retires incoherently, "borrows" a bicycle and rides off secretly to the nearest market town, where he works off his repressions by a night of drunken debauchery. Meanwhile the villagers, fearing that some terrible calamity had claimed his life, sent out search parties, and the whole place buzzed with rumours. While the company is bewailing his untimely end Albert unexpectedly reappears. They ask for explanations in angry tones, and he tells them exactly what happened. The opera ends rather weakly with Albert rejoicing in his newly-won independence.

✧ ✧ ✧

ALBERT Herring is the third of Britten's essays in the field of opera. The first, Peter Grimes, a grim drama of life in a little fishing town, was conceived on a fairly lavish scale, with chorus and good-size orchestra, plenty of changes of scene, and so on. It has become popular in many countries, but in spite of this Britten felt that there was a better future in what might be called "Chamber Opera", with no chorus, just a handful of instrumentalists and no knotty problems of staging. His next two operas, The Rape of Lucretia and Albert Herring were written in this manner. While I admire the dexterity with which Britten has marshalled his slenderer resources in these two later works I still feel that they are vastly inferior to Peter Grimes. In Albert Herring the music seems spread on far too thinly, and the lyrical moments are few and far between. Every composer of opera, from Monteverdic to the present day, has come up against the difficulty of when to bring the dramatic element to the fore, and when to allow the music to take precedence. Up to Wagner the solution was to divide the opera into recitative and aria. The recitative is sung rapidly, to a bare accompaniment of chords. The music takes a back seat, and the words are of primary importance. In the aria, on the contrary, the action "freezes", and the music asserts its ascendance. The aria is always a self-contained piece of music. Wagner upset this scheme by obliterating the distinction between recitative and aria. Instead he aimed at a continuous musical texture throughout, without separate "numbers". That is why excerpts from Wagnerian opera are so often unsatisfactory. They are like bleeding hunks of flesh torn from the living tissue. Wagner did another important thing: he shifted the focus of interest from the voices to the orchestra, which he made to glow with a thousand iridescent colours.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE Italians, with a sounder instinct, rejected this tendency to make the orchestra the star performer, and continued to keep the human voice in the middle of the picture, but they were mostly content to maintain the status quo at a time when music was undergoing far-reaching developments in other countries. The French also rejected Wagner, but they incorporated much of his technique. Britten, too, does not subscribe to the Wagnerian theory of "permanent melody", but in Albert Herring he has been much too timid about holding up the action for the music to crystallize the emotion of the dramatic situation. Nor has he been too well served by the librettist. What this opera needs more than anything is a scene at the inn, with all its possibilities, dramatic and spectacular. The ending, too, as I have already remarked, is singularly tame. I have seen the opera in the flesh, and it seemed to me how much more striking it would have been to finish a little sooner, while all the character were on stage, with a racy Finale in the operatic tradition. As it is, it ends, not with a bang, but a simper.

✧ ✧ ✧

I HAVE nothing but praise for the very fine performance, by Canadian artists, of this difficult work. It would be easy to single out certain individual performers, but to my mind the most striking feature was the excellent team-work which prevailed throughout. At no point did one feel that one singer was trying to take all the limelight; there was a smoothness and assurance that told of careful study and rehearsal. The diction was of a high order throughout, and I had no difficulty in following the story. This is the sort of opera which a company like the CBC opera company can do so much better than a collection of international stars scooped together for the occasion. There is little opportunity for the display of bel canto, but so much depends on coordination, teamwork and timing, which can best be secured by a group of performers in close association with each other for a considerable period.

✧ ✧ ✧

LAST week I was quoted as saying "this business of sitting back and listening to gramophone records (with nice explanations) can be overdone—like living on candles all the time." This is an error; I would certainly not compare Musical Appreciation to a diet so unpleasant and expensive. The word was "candies". I hope that this explanation will clear up the obscurity, for which I am sometimes to blame, but not on this occasion.

Banana Belt

(Lethbridge Herald)

Lethbridge, of course, is in the banana belt. It's true that at times we have to light the smudge pots to keep the frost away from the bananas. But generally speaking, our weather is not so salubrious that we don't bother talking much about it. We're not like Southern Californians who have to talk about their weather continually to keep themselves convinced that the Chamber of Commerce is not lying about it. Lethbridge, with more sunshine than any city in Canada, takes a sunshine view of life.

RHYMED PLEA FOR BUSMEN

Sir: In view of the letter about buses and bus drivers in the city which appeared in the Examiner Thursday evening, you might like to print the enclosed verses from an operator's point of view. They were published in the current issue of "The Motorman", a magazine for conductor and motor coach operators.

Yours, etc.,
CITY BUS DRIVER.

Operator's Eulogy
By Inez Beville

Of all the things I'd like to do
I'd rather drive a bus;
To be the guy who has the cinch,
No worry and no fuss!

You hear a widow weep and mourn,
And listen to one's woes;
You try to keep your head and drive
In spite of women's clothes.

You must not hurt youth's vanity,
Yet keep yourself in place;
Just warmly smile and urge the folks;
"Move back. There's lots of space."

A lovely snuggles close behind,
She's seen by your dear wife;
It's bound to be a dark affair,
And so, domestic strife.

When you are running on schedule
A lady saunters in,
I've waited for you half an hour;
Oh, where could you have been?

You force a smile of nonchalance,
She fumbles all about
A satchel sixty seconds, then,
Her pocketbook comes out.

Then digging in the depths of it,
"I only have a five";
But whereupon you grin and say:
"I'll change it, sakes alive."

Here's to the ever-patient man
That drives the city bus;
Resists the flirts and gripers soothes,
Returning smiles for a cuss.

INCREASED BUS FARES

Sir: Included in the columns of Main St. Topics of Wednesday, Feb. 7th appeared the following: "New Fares Thursday. The new bus fares come into effect Thursday. They received the approval of the Council on Monday. Tickets now are three for 25c." This should not be any surprise to us citizens who walk, have no automobiles, but still should have some rights. Have we a Council who would give away not only our rights, property or privileges to satisfy their friends?

I intended to ask for a copy of the bylaw which was passed at the time the bus company took over, and learn if possible if the first five cent raise was justified or permissible. Was there a bylaw passed or was it a tissue paper agreement? Was the first five cent raise to pay for new buses? If it was (and I have good reason to believe such was the case) then John Public is making the Bus Co. a nice present.

Now, this latest raise is something else, what are we giving the Bus Company this time?

I am writing the City Council to give me a copy of agreement or bylaw such as was passed by them, with the Bus Company, using our Peterborough streets. If I do not get this within two weeks, I will try some other way of getting it.

If the agreement does not give the Bus Company rights such as raising the price of fares as was stated when they received their franchise, I intend to resort to the courts with an injunction which will involve both the City Council and the Bus Company.

What we as citizens should know why the price of fares has been raised, or franchise extended, without the approval of our citizens, when the citizens had to, in the first place, vote to give the Bus Company their franchise.

The following letter has been posted:
The Mayor and Members
Peterborough City Council.

Gentlemen: I hereby request you furnish me with a copy of the franchise agreement that our city has with the Peterborough Bus Company. I would be pleased to receive this within two weeks.

Thanking you, I remain,
MAURICE E. KETCHESON.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

Bless the Lord, O my soul. O Lord my God, thou art very great; thou art clothed with honour and majesty. Who coverest thyself with light as with a garment: who stretchest out the heavens like a curtain....

O Lord, how manifold are thy works! in wisdom hast thou made them all: the earth is full of thy riches. (Ps. 104: 1, 2, 24.)

✧ ✧ ✧

How excellent is thy lovingkindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light. (Ps. 36: 7-9.)

✧ ✧ ✧

For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will be withhold from them that walk uprightly. (Ps. 84: 11.)

Any Wolf Trouble?

(Winnipeg Tribune)

The Manitoba game department has found that the most effective weapon against wolves is the cyanide gun. This works on the same principle as a rifle. The instrument is about as thick as a candle and is five inches long. Set inside are a trigger, firing pin and the fatal shot. The gun is two-thirds buried in the ground or in snow and firmly attached is a rabbit or squirrel skin on which is put two or three drops of pungent scent which canines cannot resist. The wolf grabs the fur and fires off the fatal shot of cyanide into his own throat.

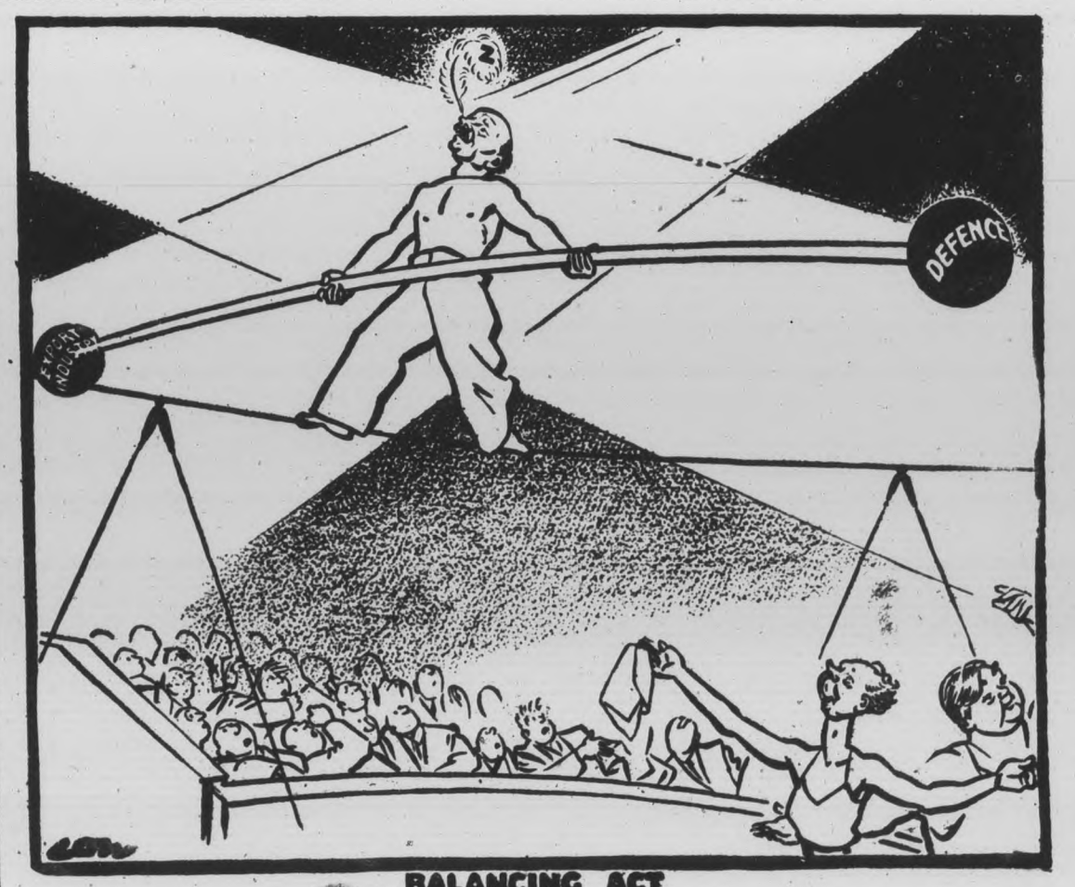
But even this method has its drawback. A farm dog is just as liable to find the scented rabbit fur and commit suicide as is a wolf. It has this merit, however. Only canines are in danger whereas poison bait may kill many birds and other animals.

ALL DEPENDS

"Now, sir," defending counsel said to the witness, "you have known the accused a long time?"

"Twenty-odd years," was the reply.

"And you think him perfectly honest?"



"Perfectly!"

"Would you trust him with your own money?"

"I certainly would."

"Then, tell me, sir — do you consider it likely he would have stolen this sum of money, as the prosecution alleges?"

"I consider it most unlikely—impossible—that is—er—well, how much was it?"

BALANCING ACT

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Cecil McCooey, game 24-year-old Ottawa musher, didn't win any of the top prizes in the 100-mile international dog derby; but he wasn't forgotten entirely. He won a special award for sheer courage.

McCooey started the race along with 19 others with a handicap that would discourage most persons—an artificial leg. His right leg was amputated below the knee after an automobile accident when he was seven.

Before the race McCooey said he would buy a new leg if he copped the $1,000 first prize. He finished 11th.

However, he will be able to buy a new leg anyway. At a banquet, he was presented with a $200 cheque as the "greatest driver in the race." The award was made by W. R. (Bob) Ballard, Toronto sportsman.

Willie Shoemaker, the taciturn Texan, will receive the second annual George Woolf Memorial Award at Santa Anita today as the outstanding jockey of 1950.

The Southern California turf writers conferred the honor to Shoemaker, who tied with Joe Culmone as the country's leading rider last year.

At Davos, Switzerland, Hjalmar Andersen, powerful 29-year-old Norwegian truck driver, skated through snow and slush Sunday to win the world speed-skating championship for the second straight year.

Andersen clinched the title by winning the 10,000 metre event after finishing second in the 1,500-metre race in the morning. The Norwegian star won the 5,000-metre grind Saturday.

At Columbus, O., two world swimming records were broken Saturday as Ohio State defeated Iowa 52-32 in the dual meet.

Dick Cleveland, lanky Ohio freshman, churned the 100-yard free-style in :49.6, one-tenth of a second under Ford's accepted record, set in 1944.

Jackie Taylor of Ohio did the 100-yard backstroke in :56.5, compared to world mark of :56.8 set by Adolph Keifer in 1944.

Ruth Lilly captured the $50,000 Santa Susana Stakes Saturday when hard luck struck wealthy Alfred G. Vandervilt for the second straight weekend at Santa Anita.

Ruth Lilly racing against 10 rival three-year-old fillies, was awarded the victory and its rich net prize of $41,7000 when Vanderbilt's fast-closing Sweet Talk was disqualified out of first place and moved back to third.

Just a week ago Vanderbilt's prize four-year-old Bed o'Roses went lame just as it appeared she might burst into the lead and capture the $205,700 Santa Anita Maturity.

Paul Kelley's Gangway, running last at the half-mile mark, roared up on the outside in a great finish Saturday to win the $25,000 McLennan Handicap at Hialeah racetrack before a crowd of 21,337.

Gangway, in the Mutuel field, covered the 1⅛ miles in 1:49 2-5 and paid $20.80, $8.20 and $4.50.

A 28-year-old Montreal housewife, Mrs. Rhoda Wurtele Eaves, led a Canadian women's ski team to victory Saturday over a United States team at Lake Placid, N. Y.

The Canadian team won the Kate Smith Trophy at the 15th annual women's ski tournament sponsored by the Lake Placid Sno Birds.

Combined time for the Canadian team in the events was 28:50.4 compared with 34.44.7 for the U.S. squad.

New Zealanders Have Track Star

AUCKLAND, N.Z. — (CP) — Yvette Williams, 21, has broken so many local track and field records that New Zealanders believe she could be a big star at the 1952 Olympic Games. She would need to spend some months under an expert coach in Europe however to threaten the marks set at the last Olympics by Fanny Blankers-Koen.

In an exhibition here this season she equalled the world long jump record for women of 20 feet 6 inches. At an Australian meet she set an Australian record of 41 feet 8⅛ inches in the shot put, and added three feet to the Australian discus throw mark. Since returning she has hoisted the discus throw to 119 feet 8¼ inches.

She was winner of the long jump in last year's Empire Games and was second in the javelin throw. The year before that she was approaching 5 feet in the high jump. And some judges believe she should concentrate on sprinting, after her good performances in relay races.

New Zealanders, hoping that she will get a chance to shine in the next Olympic Games, claim she may be the world's outstanding woman athlete.

Frank Selke Approves 70-Game Schedule

MONTREAL, Feb. 12 (CP). — General manager Frank Selke of Montreal Canadiens said Saturday he thinks the National Hockey League should keep its present 70-game schedule.

Selke made known his stand following reports that a return to the 60-game schedule is being studied in view of slumping attendances in the United States end of the circuit.

Selke said that, from the Montreal viewpoint, the players want the present system because of increased salaries and also the fans, in a survey, have shown they are in favor of the extra games.

He said the smallest increase in pay as a result of the extra 10 games is $1,000 and the players wouldn't want to take cuts and spend further spare time at practices or exhibition games.

Toronto Marlies Cool Teepees, St. Michael's Down Biltmores

By The Canadian Press

The in-and-out Toronto Marlboros, a pretty good hockey club when the spirit moves them, scared the daylights out of their Ontario Hockey Association Junior A opposition Sunday.

For a club that is equally capable of scaring the hometown customers right out of the rink on an off-day, Marlboros raised a few eyebrows as they cooled off the up-and-coming St. Catharines Teepees 6-2, to move into a second-place tie, just one point behind the idle Barrie Flyers.

Guelph Biltmores, who had lost only one of their last 12 starts and were two points behind the Dukes before the day's hostilities, were so impressed by the hometowners' performance that they promptly dropped a 6-3 verdict to the ninth-place Toronto St. Michael's College club in the second game of the Maple Leaf Gardens doubleheader.

Good Weekend

It was a good weekend for the underdogs. Oshawa Generals, winless in eight previous tries, arose in their wrath and smote Windsor Spitfires 5-4 Saturday night, dropping the startled Spits into a second-place tie with Marlboros.

And Waterloo Hurricanes, an increasingly bad-tempered bunch of last-placers, murdered the seventh-place Stratford Kroehlers 5-3.

Their fellow-townsment, Kitchener-Waterloo Flying Dutchmen of the OHA Major group cellar, tried hard to do the same at the expense of the league-leading Toronto St. Michael's Monarchs, but lost out 5-3 in overtime.

Sam Kennedy and Ken Watson were the extra-time heroes who put the game on ice after Billy Flick of the Dutchmen had sent the game into overtime. Mickey Roth and Dinny Flanagan were the other Kitchener-Waterloo goal-getters, while Gord Hannigan, Bill McCracken and Johnny Arundel completed the Monarch total.

Plenty of Finesse

The Junior Marlboros, who showed neither fight nor finesse in dropping a 5-2 decision at Windsor Friday, had plenty of both on display against St. Catharines. Ten major penalties were imposed in the last two periods for an assorted collection of brawls, but the Dukes took time out to sew up the game with a three-goal effort by Eric Nesterenko, plus single tallies supplied by Earl Balfour, Don Peart and Ron Stewart.

Bud Boone and Wayne Brown sniped Teepees tallies in the game's opening minutes.

Second-period goals by Bill Dineen, John Weldrake and Willie Marshall gave St. Mike's juniors their victory. Dineen and Bill Lee completed their total, while Ron Murphy, Andy Bathgate and Herb Dickenson counted for the Biltmores.

Oshawa Defenceman Ted O'Connor and Windsor Centre Erwin Grosse fired two tallies each as the Generals edged the Spitfires. Lou Jankowski, Bill Berwick and Herve Dejordy were other Oshawa marksmen, while Martin Korica and Earl Johnson completed the Windsor scoring.

Waterloo's sixth victory in 44 tries was fashioned by goals from the sticks of Fred Pletsch, Warren Godfrey, Murray Dunnette, Charlie Macdonald and Roger Maisonneuve, Gord Myles, George Aitken and Guy Henri lit the lamp for the losers.

Omemee Wins, 14-4 Over Oakwood Team

OMEMEE, Feb. 12 (ENS)—In their second encounter with Oakwood the Omemee Black Hawks more than made up for Omemee's edge of 6-5 Wednesday night. Oakwood hadn't been beaten this year until the Black Hawks thrashed them Friday night 14-4.

The first period closed 2-2, Armstrong and H. Fox scoring for Omemee and Oakwood's Squires after serving three penalties slipped in two goals in the last minute of play. G. Parsons, O. Crawford and R. Crawford of Omemee got penalties and Jenkins for Oakwood.

In the second, the Hawks got away, Jamieson scoring three and Parker two, with Armstrong, R. Crawford and Deyell getting assists. Parsons and Parker each served a penalty. Ellis scored Oakwood's only goal.

Omemee increased their lead in the final period, only allowing one goal by Jenkins. Armstrong got three, Parker two and an assist, Fox one, O. Crawford one and two assists, and R. Crawford an assist. Parker was given a penalty.

Oakwood — Goal, McConnell; defence, M. Squires and A. Eady; centre, G. Abercrombie; wings, J. Goard, J. Growden; alternates, M. Davidson, M. Ellis, R. Jewell, G. Jenkins, Vic Jewell.

Omemee—Goal, W. Fisher; defence, G. Parsons, D. Crawford; centre, W. Parker; wings, O. Crawford, R. Crawford; alternates D. Armstrong, A. Jamieson, J. Deyell, J. Evans, H. Fox, Elliott.

Peewees Go At Keene

KEENE, Feb. 12—(ENS)—The Otonabee peewees played their weekly doubleheader at Otonabee rink in Keene on Saturday as Team 1 lost to Team 2 in the first game by 4 to 1, Houle scoring twice with Lorrie Shearer and Ellison one each for the winners; Webster scored the lone goal for the losers. Ellison, Grant, Shearer and Godfrey received assists. The second affair ended 4 to 0 for Team 1 over Team 3 with the latter weakened due to illness of players. Wayne Adamson, Don Webster and Norm Godfrey (twice) scored in this one and Don McCarthy got his second shutout of the season.

Team 1—Goal, Don McCarthy; defence, Gary Nelson, Norm Godfrey, Don Webster; forwards, Wayne Adamson, Barry Comrie, John McIntyre, Pete Shearer, Harry Wismer, Bill Anderson, Jim Gall, B. Shearer.

Team 2—Goal, Pete Nelson; defence, M. Mather, G. Ellison, W. Nelson; forwards, Paul Houle, Grant Shearer, Paul Nelson, Lorrie Shearer, Don Hawkes, Paul Dickson, Bill Renwick, Bill Stillman.

Team 3—Goal, Houle; defence, Cec. Edwards, Doug. Redpath; forwards, Fred Elliott, S. Davidson, B. Bamhour, S. Mitchell.

The big game this week will be the first of the second round Ontario playdown bantam C series in which the Otonabee Wolves tackle Campbelford at Keene on Tuesday at 7:30 with the return game in Campbellford on Friday, total goals to count.

Havelock Juves Win

HAVELOCK, Feb. 12 (ENS)—Havelock juveniles scored a decisive 9-5 victory over Hastings on Saturday night before a large crowd in the deciding game of a best of three series. They thus earned the right to continue on in OMHA playdowns. It was a hard blow to the Hastings supporters, after watching their boys go through the regular schedule without a defeat, but Havelock earned the win on the night's play. It was a fast, clean game all the way.

Montgomery, unprotected time after time, played a fine game, while Stevenson, Calby and McMillan were best up front with Isaacs and Condon best defensively. For Havelock the line of B. Laing, R. Pollock, J. Laing really had it and were a constant threat. Chase, McCabe made up for lack of size with plenty of go.

J. Laing and B. Laing scored from Pollock for Havelock in the first as Condon and Stevenson counted for Hastings. Herrington and Stevenson each had a goal and an assist for Hastings in the second, with J. Laing counting from Pollock and the latter scoring one also for Havelock. Dodd from Calby was the lone Hastings' marker in the third, while Chase, Heath, B. Laing and J. Laing clinched it for Havelock, Pollock having two assists, and Heath, Chose and B. Laing one each. Teams:

Hastings: Goal, Montgomery; defence, Isaacs and Condon; centre, Stevenson; wings, McMillan and Herrington; alternates, Dodd, Colby, Selleby, Gummer, Cobbledeck, J. McMillan.

Havelock: Goal, Southward; defence, Kumpf, B. Pollock; centre, B. Laing; wings, R. Pollock, J. Laing; alternates, Smith, Heath, Chase, McCole, Bales, Patterson, Thompson, Ruttan, McLean.

Pewee Hockey

NORWOOD, Feb. 12 (ENS). — Bruins beat Leafs 2-1 and Hawks blanked Wings 4-0 in peewee hockey here Saturday morning. M. Millett scored both Bruins' goals, Bland aiding on one, while Cassidy counted from Rusaw for Leafs. D. Smith scored three for Hawks, H. Scott helping once. The latter got the other goal from Johnson. Which is Canada's largest bear?

The polar bear is the largest in Canada. An adult polar bear increases his weight 800 times from the time of birth.

The polar bear may attain a weight of over 1600 pounds. But at birth, the tiny young weigh only two pounds. His diet consists mostly of seals, but is supplemented with fish.

East York Gets Hoop Win Over The Bruins

East York Grads swept an exhibition basketball game from the intermediate "A" Clapper's Bruins 58-43 with a four-minute drive in the second half Saturday. Three weeks ago the Bruins swamped the senior Grads at the local YMCA 64-44.

Bruins jumped ahead 11-3 before Grads settled down in the first five minutes. They then tried long shots and tied the score The lead changed hands several times until half-time when Grads went up 24-22. The Toronto cagers checked closely in the second half and stayed well out for set shots, finally sweeping ahead in the last four minutes.

Grads' Fries and Woollacott, both experts on long field attempts, bombarded the Bruins. Fries drifted in 18 points while Woolacott sank 14. Ruiter netted nine points, six of which came in the second half with Woollacott's 12 points to win. Purcell was effective on the defence.

Gets 14 Points

Ab Stewart was the Bruins' lead man in the first half as he dropped in 14 points. He slackened and finally left with five personal fouls and then brother, Joe Stewart, took over the leadership in the second for 10 points. Ab Stewart led the total scoring for the Bruins with 16 points while his brother had 14. Joe Stewart also was strong on the Bruins' defensive play along with Chum Gillespie.

Next week the Bruins will enter the OABA intermediate "A" playdowns against the winner of the Hamilton and district league, one of St. Anthony's, Latvians and the Mormons. Last year the same team, then called the Marines, went to Ontario finals against Sault Ste. Marie Algos.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

Seven mixed rinks from Bobcaygeon motored down Saturday evening and enjoyed two 6-end games with local curlers. This is an annual affair. They played at seven o'clock and again at nine. At the conclusion of the games the visitors were entertained at lunch in the club parlors. We believe the Bobcaygeon friends have invited our boys and girls back next Saturday evening for a return game. These games were arranged jointly by Mrs. R. Morgan and T. Doughty.

Augmented by two rinks from Deloro and two from Smiths Falls, our club had a big time at the Saturday afternoon bonspiel. They played the usual three 5-end games. The winning skips were: J. Adams, R. Williamson, F. Patterson, and J. Richmond.

Hockey's Big Seven

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe's thunder was stolen last week in the National Hockey League's individual scoring race, by one of his own Detroit teammates. Howe still is running ahead of the pack with 65 scoring points made up of 29 goals and 36 assists.

But Sid Abel catapulted from fourth place right into undisputed possession of second. Abel combined 20 goals and 30 assists for 50 points, three ahead of Detroit's Ted Lindsay, Montreal's Maurice Richard and Toronto's Max Bentley.

Richard retained his top goal-scoring position with 32 but Howe is creeping closer. Richard tallied only one goal last week against Howe's four.

Lindsay makes up his 47 points with 20 goals and 27 assists and Bentley, who got no scoring points last week, with 16 goals and 31 assists.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

With predictions Saturday of another real cold wave to hit this way by Sunday night, the Petes decided to postpone their Monday eve exhibition with Ottawa RCAF flyers. They want a full house for this game and figured frigid weather would cut the crowd down considerably. But they expect to stage this tilt again. We note where Flyers have Johnny Quilty, formerly with Canadiens and Bruins, Tony Licori (once with Red Wings), a number of ex-Allan Cuppers and, in fact, a packed senior "A" squad. The 26-year-old Bob Greenlaw (a flying officer who made many bombing missions over Germany) is second high scorer now and led at Sydney last year. The Flyers of '48 were world's amateur champs.

* * * * * *

Top sniper for the Petes at present, in 29 games, is Arn Dugan. He scored 28 goals and 31 assists for 59 points. Jake Wade is next with 29 and 15 for a total of 44. Junior West has come up fast lately to garner 42, with Chum Fryia and Freddy Garvey also bagging a bunch recently with 38 points apiece. Just two more than Honey Tompkins, who has been playing quite a bit back on defence. Curly Mason, who has been hitting his stride the past month or so, and Gus Leonard—out of action for a spell—have two dozen points apiece. The team has taken part in 29 loop contests up to date.

* * * * * *

Speedy Bill In Front

Still leading the Eagles is Bill Crowley. He has taken part in 26 of the team's 30 league matches, has banged the puck home 37 times and helped on 23 more for a total of 60 points. Line-mate Joe Rochetta has collected 55 out of 25 goals and 30 assists in a playmaking role. Hard-shooting Andy Milne is third high with 50 points, 10 more than Bert Hill. Dootch Vitarelli is approaching his old form and has accounted for 37 points so far, three more than Freddy Mortimer. Defenceman Keith Montgomery has clicked for 13 markers and 15 assists for a bag of 28, and Bob Parnall — now sidelined for the season—has 26 on the list.

A chap told us the other day that there are a number of families in the district which could ice full hockey teams. He mentioned the Grahams, the Wassons and the Cains, as examples, and felt there might be more here and around about. It is a fact that many district teams carry brother and cousin combinations. Anyway, this fellow wondered if an interesting "family tourney" might not be lined up before spring arrives in this frozen country. Any such families interested might contact us and perhaps such a tournament could be arranged. A little digging might even unearth a trophy for the occasion.

"Man Of The Year"

B'nai B'rith here has started an annual event of naming a "man of the year" for one judged to have contributed most of the community. An illuminated scroll and banquet goes with the honor. Don McGillis Sr. has been named "man of 1950", for his backing of sports in the city. We are glad to see sponsors of amateur sports getting some recognition for the large amounts of money they often put out to aid athletics. While some sponsors get some advertising for their businesses out of it, many backers do not require this publicity. Mr. McGillis backed the grid Orfuns last fall, the OHA Eagles, a minor Trojans' puck club, and a bowling team—as well as contributing to other sports ventures. City sports could stand more men like him.

Faulkner topped the losers (who had a couple of absentees due to sickness) with 21 points. East York Grads took the intermediate "A" Clapper Bruins 58-43 in a Saturday exhibition. Ab and Joe Stewart led the local snipers and Chum Gillespie went well defensively. The Bruins take on Hamilton district winners this coming week-end in playdowns. La Motta Hits Weight Limit

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP). — Jake La Motta, haunted by a weight-making problem, has finally shaken off the ghost.

He has pared down to the 160-pound limit for defence of his middleweight crown against Sugar Ray Robinson Wednesday.

The Bronx Bull now says his only worry is "conserving my strength."

As early as last Saturday — five days before he tangles with the welterweight champion in Chicago Stadium—thick shouldered Jake hit upon how to stockpile his energy. He would simply rest.

He called off his Saturday sparring session and went on a shopping tour for loud neckties in the loop. It will be just light drills today and not even that Tuesday.

Old-time ringbirds say that a five-day vacation before a title fight is unprecedented.

Tom C. Grattan, a contender from the start of the second heat was rated close to the pace in the early part. Going down the back stretch he was in close quarters but Hodgins bided his time and entering the home stretch was sent between horses and with a thrilling rush won in a photo over Senator Pointer. Peter K. Lee set all the early pace and lasted to be third.

Marines Take First One Over Belleville

A 17-point edge in the first half Saturday night in Belleville decided the opening game of the Ontario Intermediate "B" playdowns in favor of the Peterborough Marines. The locals turned back the Eastern Ontario league winners, the Belleville Pappas, 65-46, for a 19-point lead in the two-game points to count series, the return game Saturday at the YMCA.

Starting with a fast-breaking game the Marines went in front early and led by the well-known combination of Jim Thorburn and Doug MacPherson swept their way through the Belleville defence. Thorburn, the hook-shot artist, clicked for 16 baskets and two foul shot points in the first half while Fred Plato, a newcomer this year, sent in 10 points with four field baskets and two foul shots.

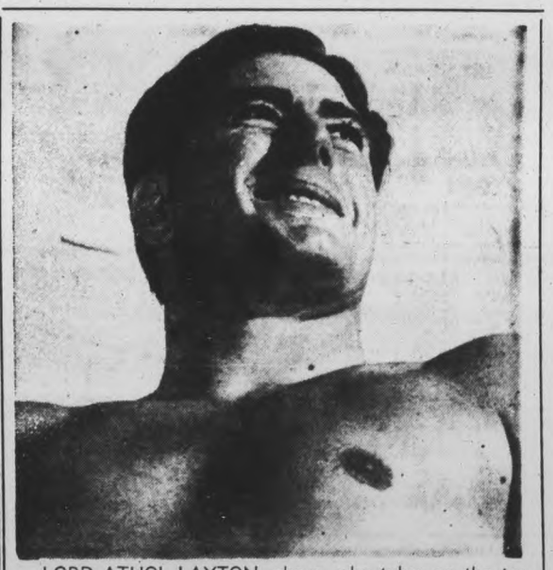
Ted Payne, currently leading the Marines scoring, opened up in the second half for eight points as Plato cintinued his first half pace enabling the Marines to rack up 26 points. Faulkner who had nine points for the Pappas in the first half, netted 12 points in the second and with help from Ketcheson's eight points led the Pappas for 24 points in the half.

Led Scorers

Jim Thorburn led the game's scoring with 24 points. The Pappas' Faulkner controlled the Belleville scoring with 21 points. Fort Erie's gift to Peterborough's basketball Fred Plato had 18 points.

Coach Gord McIntyre said after the game that the Marines worked as a team and to single out anyone for honors would not be fair. Although Ted Payne and Bill Dadson, he said, were not high scorers this game they checked and passed well. MacPherson and Rocky Kidd stood out on the defensive work.

Forty-four personal fouls were handed out, the Marines earning 21. The locals cashed in on 12 of the 23 personals handed out to the Belleville team while the Pappas scored eight out of the 21 attempts.



Kidd and Plato of the Marines and Summers and Lockyer left the game with five personals. Thorburn had four against him at the final whistle.

The Belleville Pappas recently downed Brockville in the Eastern League finals, winning handily in the second game of the points-to-count series. Kingston Monarchs, who led the league and lost to the Clapper's Bruins 43-38 in an exhibition game early this year, forfeited the right to enter the finals when they failed to meet league regulations.

Detroit Wins Two Games Courtesy of Leafs, Bruins

By MEL SUFRIN,
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

It looks more and more as if Dick Irvin, coach of Montreal Canadiens, was right when he said Detroit Red Wings were better than Toronto Maple Leafs.

Detroit which has been carrying on a season-long feud with Toronto for the National Hockey League's No. 1 spot, scored two victories during the weekend, one of them over the Leafs, the other over Boston Bruins.

Both were done in neat fashion and both were by the score of 2-1. The Toronto game gave Detroit a season's edge over the second-place Leafs of five victories against three losses with three ties.

Other weekend games saw Montreal Canadiens drop a pair, one to New York Rangers at Madison Square Garden 3-1 Sunday night; the other to the Bruins in Boston 6-0 Saturday night; and Chicago Black Hawks take a 5-3 beating from Toronto.

Detroit On Top

Result of the five games leaves Detroit on top, seven points ahead of Toronto, Boston and Montreal tied for third place 19 points behind; New York two points back in fifth and Chicago well down in the cellar 11 points beneath the Rangers.

The consistency of Detroit play was apparent to the 14,577 Toronto fans Saturday night as the Red Wings held a margin in the first two periods when they scored both their goals, then staved off desperate Leaf thrusts in the final period.

Left winger Ted Lindsay and rookie Glen Skov scored for the Wings, their two goals coming about four minutes apart in the second period.

Tod Sloan got one for Toronto with less than four minutes in the game.

Howe In Top Form

In Boston Sunday night, Gordie Howe, brilliant right winger and league leading scorer, came up with both Detroit goals as Bruins took their first home-ice loss since Dec. 17. Howe, who now has 28 goals, scored one, 41 seconds after the game started. Vic Lynn tied it up at 12:58 and the teams played fast, scoreless hockey until only two minutes and 33 seconds remained when Howe got the winner on a pass from Sid Abel.

A crowd of 9,680 fans saw Jack Gelineau make 29 saves in the Boston nets, two more than Sawchuk.

The largest crowd of the season in New York — 15,163 fans—watched the Rangers pull to within two points of Canadiens in a game which evened the series between the two teams at three wins and four ties each.

Maurice (Rocket) Richard got his 32nd goal of the season for Canadiens in the second period. Rangers set a goal-a-period pace, Eddie Kullman, Buddy O'Connor and Ed Slowinski beating Gerry McNeil.

Big Ovation

In Boston Saturday night 10,068 fans gave Gelineau a big ovation as he earned his fourth shutout of the season.

The game was fairly close for two periods, Paul Ronty scoring in the first and Ed Sandford in the second.

However, in the space of three minutes and 23 seconds of the third period Dunc Fisher, Pete Horeck, Bill Ezinicki and Johnny Peirson beat McNeil for a four-goal barrage.

In Chicago, Tod Sloan got three goals for Toronto and was also prominent in the penalty parade with 14 minutes, including two minors and a misconduct.

Ray Powell, Don Morrison, Pete Babando scored for short-handed Black Hawks who suffered their 22nd defeat in their last 27 games. Best they have been able to do in that period is four ties and one win.

Harry Watson and Flem Mackell were the other scorers for the Leafs who gave goalie Marcel Pelletier a busy night, forcing him to make 43 saves against 24 for Al Rollins.

Parks Defends 'Liz' Taylor From Critics

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12 (AP)—Now comes gallant Larry Parks to the defence of Elizabeth Taylor, selected "the most objectionable ingenue in motion pictures" by the Harvard Lampoon.

Since luscious Liz made no rebuttal after the humor magazine's onslaught, I sought some words from Parks, who recently finished a picture with the actress. His reply:

"I suppose the selection was meant to be good clean-college-boy fun, but I think it was in rather bad taste, particularly at this time when she is having personal troubles. Furthermore, I think their selection is incorrect.

"I had only met Liz once before we started the picture and I expected not to like her. I thought there must be something wrong with anyone that beautiful. But I must say I was agreeably surprised. I have never worked with anyone as co-operative.

Great Talent

"Aside from being conscientious, she has a great talent. I am convinced of that. Will she ever win an Academy Award? I don't see why she couldn't, if given the right kind of material."

Parks remarked that he found other surprising things about the girl.

"I naturally expected a girl with a face like that to have piano legs," he said. "I thought she'd probably have to wear long skirts all her life. But this picture shows more of her than has been seen on the screen before, and her figure is just as perfect as her face."

The picture bears the highly-debatable title of "Love is Better than Ever."

Support For Women As Lay Delegates

BUCKHORN, Feb. 12 (ENS)—St. Matthew's congregation, Buckhorn, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Shearer for their vestry meeting. Canon Fife presided and gave a report of the year's activities in the parish, visits made to the homes, church services held and the result of the every member canvass.

Minister's warden, John Fawcett, commented on the recent, and most satisfactory, decoration of the church, also the parish hall, thanking the ladies for their generous support of the project.

The peoples' warden, Thomas Gordon presented the financial statement, which showed all obligations met and a balance on hand. The every member canvass makes it possible for this congregation to assume a share of the transportation costs in the parish.

There was unanimous approval of a resolution submitted to the meeting, which proposed to ask the general synod that legislation be introduced making it possible for women to act as lay delegates to synod.

A vote of thanks was passed, thanking Mr. and Mrs. Shearer for their hospitality.

Vestry. Wallace Shearer, Charles Ireland, John Hill, Rollo Stockdale, Harry McIlmoyle, George Ireland; minister's warden, John Fawcett; peoples' warden, Thomas Gordon; lay delegate, John Fawcett; alternate delegate, Charles Ireland; organist, Mrs. Fulton.

To Visit Pacific

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 — (CP) — Another Canadian warship, the cruiser Ontario, will visit the South Pacific shortly for a three-month training cruise. Three destroyers now are in the Pacific, serving with United Nations naval forces off Korea. For 10 days, between March 29 and April 7, the 8,000-ton Ontario will engage in exercises with Royal New Zealand navies off Sydney, naval headquarters said Sunday in a statement.

Approve Increase

CHICAGO, Feb. 12 (AP)—Representatives of two big packing-house unions Sunday approved a wage increase of nine cents an hour expected to set a pattern for 225,000 workers in the industry. The Packinghouse Workers Union (CIO) voted its leadership "full power and authority to take strike action" if the boost is not approved by the Wage Stablization Board. The other, the Meat-Cutters' Union (AFL), did not take such action.

Open Memorial Hospital

PORT COLBORNE, Feb. 12 — (CP). — A new 70-bed memorial hospital was opened here Sunday by four mothers whose sons fell in the Second World War. The $1,000,000 structure stemmed from the will of the late Donald McGillivray, local merchant, who left his estate for the purpose, and public contributions.

Undertaker Released $5,000 Bail

Charged With Rape Port Hope Man Case Set For Friday

Ralph Carey, 25, partner in an undertaking business in Port Hope was charged with rape on Saturday and released on bail of $5,000.

Police Chief C. W. Graham said Carey broke into a woman's home between 5 and 6 o'clock Saturday morning and that he was arrested later as he walked toward his own home.

He will appear Friday before Magistrate R. B. Baxter.

Carey is a son of the chief of police of Cobourg.

Fourth Victim Of Crash Dies

After lying unconscious for three days, Mrs. Newton Gostlin, 75, injured Thursday in the level-crossing accident at Manilla, died Saturday in Lindsay hospital. This brings the death toll to four.

Others who were instantly killed when the Lindsay-to-Midland CNR train struck their car were: Newton Gostlin, 77, husband of Mrs. Gostlin; Tim Strachan, 75, and Mrs. Strachan, 73.

The four were on their way to a funeral when the accident occurred. The car was struck in the rear, carried more than 100 feet up the railway track, and finally smashed against a telegraph pole.

Bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Strachan were found in the rear seat of the car while Mr. Gostlin, believed to be the driver, was hurled to one side of the tracks. He was killed instantly. Mrs. Gostlin, who was riding in the front seat with her husband, was fatally injured and lived for three days.

Mr. Gostlin apparently saw the oncoming diesel-electric locomotive because he swung the car a split second before the collision.

Farrow Arrives In Windsor

Carl W. Farrow, former OPP inspector of No. 8 district, arrived in Windsor today to begin his new duties as chief constable. He was appointed by the Windsor police commission two weeks ago.

The former police chief, Claude Renaud, was fired after an extensive inquiry into gambling and racketeering in Windsor. Inspector E. V. McNeill was appointed acting chief until the permanent appointment was made.

Now Inspector McNeill is coming to Peterborough and will be in charge of this OPP district until headquarters makes a permanent appointment.

Presentation Made

Before Inspector Farrow left Peterborough he was presented with a wrist watch. Included in the list of donors were the crown attorneys, chief constables of No. 8 district, the RCMP, and members of the district staff.

Mrs. Farrow was the guest of honor at the home of Mrs. Price Morris. Local friends and wives of the district OPP staff presented her with a hammered aluminum tray.

New Puppy Just Another Baby

"When you bring a new puppy into your home, make preparations for its arrival," said Dr. R. W. Ford at the first annual meeting of the Kawartha Kennel Club on Friday evening. The puppy is just another baby, he continued, and the first 24 hours with him are very important.

In feeding a new pup, Dr. Ford advised that fresh water and a clean dish should always be available and utensils should be washed after each meal. Fresh milk, Pablum, eggs, and sparing helpings of fish and meat should be fed during the first few weeks.

Talking further of training, Dr. Ford said that patience on the part of the trainer is most essential, especially if the dog is inclined to nervousness. A dog should know to come when called, to "heel" while walking, to stop barking when told to do so and to lie down when bidden.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brayley of Toronto, breeders of Afghans and members of the Oshawa Kennel Club, were also present at the meeting to arrange for a dog show to be held in Peterborough this summer The meeting was concluded with the showing of two films by Clifford Brian and Bud Lloyd.

Alec Baptie of the Peterborough YMCA swimming club won a first and a third at the Toronto West End YMCA's Open Ontario swimming meet Saturday night. Four local swimmers competed.

Holder of several Ontario championships, Baptie outdistanced 20 other Ontario swimmers in the under 14 years, 40-yard free style swim. In the 40-yard breaststroke he finished third.

Brian Bell, another YMCA club member, in the 40-yard free style, finished in third place. In the 40-yard backstroke swim for the same age group Bell was fourth in a field of 16 swimmers.

Ross Dobbin and Terry Reid also competed. The swimmers were accompanied by the coach, Gordon Minty, and by Gordon Dobbin.

Ask For Three More Outdoor Skating Rinks

Three additional outdoor rinks will be added next winter to this year's five if the recreation commission's recommendation to the parks' department is acted on. Alex Sinclair, recreation director, said the new locations are in the vicinity of Queen Mary school, on McKellar street and at Confederation school.

With good ice-making conditions this winter the parks department has had both skating and hockey cushions at four of the five locations. Inverlea park's rink alone serves for both skating and hockey.

$5,000 Fire Razes 2-Storey Home At Cambellford

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 12 — (ENS)—A $5,000 fire destroyed a two-storey frame house about two miles north of Campbellford on Saturday afternoon. The house was located close to the town power house and was owned by the Campbellford Public Utilities Commission. Harry Abernethy, operator at the power house, occupied the dwelling. He and his wife escaped uninjured. The fire started from an overheated stovepipe passing through an upstairs partition. The fire smouldered in the partition during the night and was not discovered until the morning.

Volunteer firemen from Campbellford answered the call and fought the flames for more than four hours. Huge clouds of white smoke billowed from the building and attracted spectators from the district.

Firemen and neighbors managed to save almost all the furniture from the downstairs portion of the building, but some of this was damaged in the hasty exit.

A 75-gallon drum of fuel oil was removed from a garage at the rear of the house at the height of the fire, when it was feared flames would cause an explosion.

Three lines of hose were brought into play. Water was taken from the nearby canal and forced through a booster system on the truck, giving firemen plenty of water under pressure.

Coffee was served to the firemen during their long battle with the stubborn blaze. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Keith Bailey, of Campbellford, who was one of the first on the scene, aided in removing furniture from the lower floor. He praised the action of Mrs. Abernethy, who worked hard at assisting the men.

The Abernethys are reported to have lost all their clothing in the blaze.

Graudan Piano-Cello Recital Refreshment of The Spirit

By ROBERTSON DAVIES.

When Nikolai and Joanna Graudan appeared before the audience of the Community Concert Association on Saturday night they were at some disadvantage; a concert by the Loewenguth string quartet and the pianist Marisa Regules was scheduled for this date, and although the audience fully understood why that engagement could not be kept, a certain natural disappointment was evident. By the end of the first part of the program this sense of disappointment had been completely dispelled, for the concert given by Mr. and Mrs. Graudan was on a high level of musicianship, and gave the audience something to chew on which was unfamiliar.

The repertory of the violoncello is not a particularly large one, but it includes some works of remarkable interest. Two of these were played by Nikolai Graudan on Saturday night. Beethoven's Sonata in G minor (Opus 5, No. 2) is a vigorous work, filled with emphatic statement and eloquent melody. We must, by the way, question the statement in the program that this was written in 1776, for at that time Beethoven was only six years old. It might be suggested to the New York management of Community Concerts that their program notes need a thorough overhaul; they vary in quality from excellent to downright bad.

Chopin On Cello

The second big 'cello work which Mr. Graudan played was the Introduction and Polonaise in A, by Chopin. This is a moving and high-spirited composition, demanding the big tone which only first-rank 'cellists can produce without coarseness. Mr. Graudan's performance was fully equal to its nobilities and difficulties, and when he finished it the applause made it plain that the audience had been freed from any regretful yearnings for the Loewenguth quartet.

Joanna Graudan is a pianist with a highly individual and expressive style, and she showed a gift for making well-known music seem fresh. Her playing of a familiar Song Without Words by Mendelssohn, of the brief Prelude in A by Chopin, and of a very familiar waltz and equally familiar mazurka by the same composer showed what this music can be in the hands of one for whom familiarity does not include contempt. Not that all her pieces were familiar. She played a Rondo by the neglected Hummel which made us wish to hear more of this pupil of Mozart and teacher of Czerny.

The program ended with a group of 'cello solos — an enchanting melody by Gluck, a charming rondo by Boccherini (who, like Hummel, is unfairly neglected), an unusual 'program' piece by Turina, and one of those bee - in - a - bottle compositions, called the Dragon Fly, by Delune. It was especially pleasing to hear something of Turina's, for his strongly individual music is still little known here.

What a pleasure it is to hear the piano and the 'cello played together by musicians who do not seek to astound us by their virtuosity, but only to reveal what is noble in the music itself! The Graudan concert was a refreshment of the spirit at a time when we sorely need it.

Cattle Bring $325, Once Sold At $25

Prime Baby Beef $36 a Hundred Week's Top Price

Any steak-eating townsman can recognize a broad margin between $25 and $325.

Those figures are approximately the present limits of John Mervin's memory of prices of beef on the hoof, and Mr. Mervin, buyer at Canada Packers, has yet the memory of only a comparatively young man.

Cattle that are right now bringing from $300 to $400 each, are no better than the very same kind that changed hands at $25 each, as Mr. Mervin recalls the price contrast.

Retired farmers hearing of such a market change, and juniors that yielded to the lure of commercial and industrial jobs in town are probably dismayed by such largesse.

Top Price $33.50

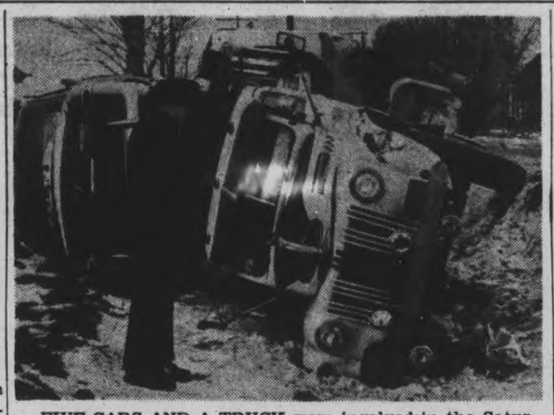
The top price in Ontario last week was $36 a hundred pound for a prime baby beef that got into the headlines of the commercial section of the newspapers. Peterborough didn't have one critter at the level, and allowing for freight differential the comparable top price here may have been $33.50.

Most of the business ranged around $31, with a fair volume of supply that may turn a little lighter this week.

When the consumer thinks of the meat prices he has to pay, he might as well make mental note of the corresponding, or thereabouts, prices in the cattle market. If he ever knew a $25 steer, it should amaze him to look on it today as worth $350.

Effect On Milk Price

That spread explains more or less the present price of T-Bone and Porterhouse on the plate, and "a-oozin'" gravy, and beyond that it could have a boosting effect on the price of milk.



Gilbert McMillan, head of the Dairy Farmers of Canada, told Ottawa Rotarians the other day, that milk producers have continued to operate and bring milk to the city because they could see no alternative.

"This is changed now," he said. "With veal calves selling at 35 cents a pound, live weight, or cows at 22 to 25 cents, the dairy farmers have a new way out, and many of them are taking it."

If you had a ranch back in Anstruther or some place, you could have a soft time this summer just watching a couple of hundred steers grazing and putting on fat—that is if you had the steers.

POSTPONE ARBITRATION

Illness to W. H. Bosley, special adviser to the city, has caused the indefinite postponement of the Hughes' arbitration case scheduled to be heard Tuesday. The city wants the property on Monaghan Rd., south, now owned and occupied by Tommy Hughes, to build a collegiate. As the two parties have been unable to come to terms the dispute was taken to arbitration.

FIVE CARS AND A TRUCK were involved in the Saturday accident which caused this car transport to overturn a mile east of Cobourg. Four of the cars were on the eastbound transport, which was driven by Archie Campbell of Thamesville. The fifth was driven by Roland Gagne of Cobourg, who was driving west at the time of the collision. Neither driver was hurt, and the crash was investigated by Provincial Constable F. Clough and W. Baluk of Cobourg.

Shot Elk, Hunter Fined $50 'Doesn't Pay To Be Honest'

"I guess it doesn't pay to be honest," Herb Payne, Romaine St., said bitterly as he paid a $50 fine and court costs in police court today.

He was found guilty of killing an elk or wapiti Nov. 13. It was Payne himself who reported that he had shot the elk after mistaking it for a deer near his camp about two miles south of Apsley.

"I did all I could to save the meat of the elk instead of leaving it there to rot," he said.

"The elk certainly looked like a deer to me and that's why I shot," he added. He pointed out that many times men hunting in the bush have been mistaken for deer and shot.

He said that while hunting he had taken up a stand on a runway in the bush. He heard some shots and then saw the elk come out of the runway. It was snowing, and he saw only the horns and head of the animal. The elk seemed to stumble and he shot it between the eyes. He believed he shot twice, but was not sure of the second shot

"If I had left it alone it would have died from the shots I found in dressing it," he stated

Two Shots

Game Overseer Robert Trotter testified that when he examined the carcass the day after he found two bullet holes bout an inch apart through the left shoulder and another on in the neck just above the backbone as well as the shot in the head

The officer said the elk could not have travelled far with the wounds which were all in vital spots. That was why he laid the charge, he said. He said either the hunter who fired the shots must have been an exceptionally fine shot or fired at close quarters.

Shot To Kill

"They were all deliberate shots to kill," he added. It was not a case of man shooting at an animal running through the bush or running away from the hunter. He thought the elk must have been standing still for the shots to have been made so accurately.

Payne charged that Officer Trotter was angry because he had reported the shooting to Game Overseer Stanley Windsor instead of him.

"I didn't try to sneak this thing out, did I?" he asked, and Officer Trotter replied no.

Officer Windsor said he was told of the shooting by Corporal Lloyd McLure of the provincial police, who reported that Payne had told him of the affair and asked him to relay the message to Mr. Windsor.

Consulted Fellows

Payne said when he saw that he had shot an elk instead of a deer, he consulted his fellow hunters on what to do. He decided to dress it and hang it up. He then drove to Burleigh where he thought there would be a road block operated by the game officers. There was no block there and he drove on to Peterborough. Here he phoned Officer Windsor, but he was out on patrol.

He then phoned Cpl. McLure and reported it to him and asked him to relay the information.

Officer Windsor described the elk as similar to a deer, but much larger and lighter in color. He said the head was a little larger than that of a deer. He thought the elk Payne shot was about two years old.

Bigger Than Deer

Payne said the elk dressed to between 500 and 600 pounds. A large buck deer would dress at between 300 and 350. But he said the elk was not taller than a deer only heavier through the body.

The meat was distributed to various institutions in the city.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C., said that the section of the Game and Fisheries Act said simply that an elk shall not be shot, apparently no matter what the circumstances. Because of Payne's action in reporting the shooting, the fine would be $50 instead of $100, the amount another hunter was fined earlier this year for shooting an elk.

7 Accidents On Icy Roads None Hurt

Despite Bad Surfaces On City Streets Car Crashes Minor

Only a mild rash of minor accidents in which no one was hurt broke out over the weekend as a result of icy roads. Although in one accident, the whole front of a car was wrecked, most of the damage was banged-in fenders. Liberal sanding by the city board of works helped to lessen the dangerous surfaces.

Four accidents were reported to police Saturday and three Sunday.

A car driven by Ernest Thompson, RR 11, Peterborough, skidded on ice into the rear of a car ahead driven by Gerald Courneyea, 63 Olive St., on George St. north of Lake St. Courneyea had stopped and no damage was done to his car. The Thompson car suffered a dented left front fender and a broken grill. Traffic officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

Skid On Ice

The rear end of a car driven by Kerwood Lazure, 746 Fairburn St., skidded on ice and struck a car travelling in the opposite direction as Lazure was trying to avoid another car Saturday afternoon. Driver of the car struck was Donald Conway, 338 Reid St.

Lazure was driving east on McDonnel St., near Stewart St. The left front fender of the Conway car was damaged and a bumperette was pulled off the rear of the Conway car.

Two cars collided when one started to turn left off Park St. south of Parkhill late Saturday afternoon. Driver of the first car was Gerald Rylott, RR 6, Peterborough. Driver of second car was William Malowney, 654 Park St. The right front fender on the Malowney car and the left rear fender, running board and left rear door of the Rylott car were damaged. Traffic officer Gordon Trennum investigated.

Two-Car Collision

Saturday evening another two cars collided as one was making a left turn. They were travelling in opposite directions on Park St. at King St.

John Duncan, 553 K[illegible] said as he drove south he [illegible] his left hand to signal a tu[illegible] began to turn. But in the middle of it he was struck on the right side by a car driven north by James Leeson, 584 Park St.

The front of the Leeson car was completely wrecked and the right front door and right front fender of the Duncan car were damaged. Traffic Officer Trennum investigated.

Shortly after noon Sunday two cars collided at George St. and Parkhill Rd., as one car driven by Maxwell Chambers was starting to drive out into George St. and Dr. Samuel Graham started to turn left in Parkhill Rd. The grill of the Chambers car and the left front fender of the Graham auto were damaged.

Charged Failed To Stop

One driver, A. Williams, 194 Sherbrooke St., charged that another, T. P. Begley, 512 Charlotte St., failed to stop at Sherbrooke St. as he was driving north on Rubidge St. Williams was driving west on Sherbrooke St. The two cars collided and the Begley car skidded 48 feet after the impact and ended on the northwest corner sidewalk. Constable Edward Patterson investigated.

Later Sunday afternoon another two cars collided as one was pulling out from the south curb of Water St. east of Parkhill Rd. Donald McMillan, 328 King St., said he noticed the car pulling out as he crossed Water St. going east. He said he blew his horn and applied his brakes but slid into the left side of the other car driven by Howard Harding, R.R. 10, Peterborough.

Harding said he had looked and saw no car approaching before he started out from the curb. Damage was done to fenders of both cars.

Constable John Conlin investigated.

Gandhi Aide Chief Link With Peiping

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12—(AP)—A one-time aide to Mahatma Gandhi, who hated violence, is the western world's chief link today with the Chinese Communists in moves to end the Korean war.

He is Sardar K. M. Panikkar, 65-year-old Indian diplomat, a suave and humorous scholar poet and statesman.

Now stationed as the Indian ambassador at Peiping, capital of Red China, Panikkar has been the main contact man with Mao Tse-tung for the non-Communist world since the start of the Korean crisis.

It was Panikkar who transmitted Maoe's replies to the United Nations' cease-fire proposals and drafted the on-the-scene reports on which Prime Minister Nehru has based Indian's persistent attempts to work out a compromise settlement.

Washington privately is unhappy over carrying on such important negotiation through the roundabout method of using Panikkar as a go-between. There is no American envoy on the scene.

May Color Reports

There is bound to be the question of how much Panikkar's personal views and sympathies color his reports from Peiping and thereby affect the policies of his government—and possibly the tenuous balance between peace and war.

There is no recorded evidence that Panikkar is a Communist or sympathizer, and friends say he is not a Socialist.

Panikkar, educated at Oxford, has the reputation of sharing the brilliance of Nehru, and has a long record of experience as a negotiator.

He was sent by Gandhi in 1924 to help settle a dispute between the Congress Party and Sikh leaders. He had a major role in the negotiations to fix the status of Princely States after India became independent, and served as prime minister of Bikaner just before going to Nanking in 1948.

Early in his career he was associated with Nationalist movements in Java and Indo-China.

Charge Infiltration

JERUSALEM, Feb. 12 (AP) — Israel accused Jordan authorities Sunday of organizing and promoting infiltration of Arabs across the Jordan frontier in violation of the Rhodes Armistice agreement. Israeli authorities complained formally to the United Nations-sponsored mixed armistice commission that an arrested Arab allegedly had in his possession a letter containing evidence that a Jordan cabinet minister ordered his infiltration.

Tellers End Strike

DUBLIN, Feb. 12 (Reuters) — Irish bank tellers voted Saturday to end their two-month strike. They struck for restoration of wage cuts made in 1941. They will return to work Monday, but the banks will not be open for the public until Thursday. The first three days will be spent clearing arrears of work, including the annual balance.

TWO BANDITS WALKED into a branch of the Banque Canadienne Nationale, in Montreal and made a clean get-away with $3,000 and a stolen kiss from Mrs. Larry Deveau (right), one of the customers at the time of the robbery. The bank manager, Fernand Herbert (left), said the bandits forced the bank staff and the customers into the cellar while they searched for the cash. En-route to the cellar one of the men demanded a kiss from Mrs. Deveau. Montreal police have so far been unable to locate the bandits.

Toronto Comedienne Gets Broadway Role

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 — (CF). —Barbara Hamilton, young Toronto comedienne, was signed on Sunday for a role in the revue "Razzle Dazzle" opening on Broadway February 19.

Fourteen members are in the cast of the variety show, which is in rehearsal.

Miss Hamilton, daughter of Henry Hamilton, Toronto businessman, took her first important professional role in "The Drunkard," which toured Canada and the United States in 1948 under the direction of Brian Doherty of Toronto. She later played in Doherty's productions of "Arsenic and Old Lace," and the revue, "One for the Road," which toured Montreal, Ottawa, and Toronto.

Blast At Norway

MOSCOW, Feb. 12 (AP) — Pravda accused Norway Sunday of violating assurances given the Russian government two years ago—when Norway joined the Atlantic Pact—that she would "not assist a policy with aggressive purposes." An editorial in the Communist party organ said a recent bill introduced in the Norwegian Storting (parliament) on Norway's participation in a United European army makes it clear that Norway is turning over her armed forces to United States command and permitting Norwegian territory to be used for aggression against Russia.

Recognize 2 Miracles

VATICAN CITY, Feb. 12 — (Reuters). — The Holy Congregation of Rites Sunday read a decree recognizing as valid two miracles attributed to Pope Pius X. The decree was the final step towards beatification and the elevation to sainthood of Pius X, said to have died from a broken heart after trying to save the world from war in 1914. He was 79. The two miracles were the curing of two nuns who had malignant growths. One is still alive.

Pageant Depicts Brighton's Story

BRIGHTON, England —(CP)— A pageant depicting nearly 2,000 years of Brighton's development, from the time it was a Roman encampment, will be staged as an attraction for visitors to the Festival of Britain next May.

Featuring the event will be a series of chariot-races in the tradition of ancient Rome, with a cast of more than 1,000 local people participating. Film stunt men are also being engaged to create a more authentic atmosphere of furious competition.

"The races will be realistic," said A. L. Gilmore, the pageantmaster. "It would never do to have the horses trotting sedately around the course. There must be plenty of dust and thundering hooves."

The riders, wearing Roman togas will race around the floodlit arena and the winner will be crowned with laurel leaves by "Julius Caesar" himself.

A number of other episodes in the history of the city will also be re-enacted, including the burning of Brighton in 1313 by French pirates and the marshalling of King Harold's men for the Battle of Hastings in 1066.

Drop 2 Suits

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 12 (AP) —Two paternity suits filed against actor Errol Flynn more than seven years ago have been dismissed for lack of prosecution. Both suits were filed in 1943 and contained almost identical demands that Flynn pay $1,750 a month for the support of a daughter born to 19-year-old Shirley Evans Nov. 13, 1940. Flynn denied fathering the child.

Strange School Attracts Many Students

NARAMATA, B.C. — (CP) — This town on Okanagan Lake is small but to United Church people and educationists, it means big things.

Last summer 70 young persons from all across Canada came here to learn Christian living at the two-year-old leadership training school.

Six young men who attended the first session have decided to become ministers. Five of the girls are working in Indian schools. Another is studying to go to Africa. Others have gone home better equipped to serve their churches and thir communities.

The Rev. Robert McLaren is principal of the school, which is open to all races and creeds. The board comes to $35 a month and it's free if you're broke.

"This can only be done," Mr. McLaren says, "because of the assistance we are given in our work.

"Orchardists donate fruit; farmers send along vegetables. They realize the worthwhileness of the school and want to assist in the work."

An Alberta coal company donates a car of coal each year. A. E. Grauer, president of the BC Electric Company, donated a bus.

More than 1,000 persons have visited the school since it opened.

"... and please exempt Larry Olivier from Z Reserve."

Need Ground Forces To Defend US—Dewey

NEW YORK Feb. 12 — (AP) — Governor Thomas E. Dewey said Sunday that anyone who thinks the United States can be defended by sea and air power without large ground forces "is ignoring every lesson of history."

"I think it would be the utmost of folly," the former Republican presidential candidate added on the NBC's "Meet the Press" television show.

"I thought," he said, "that everybody had learned that in Korea. We had absolutely undisputed command of the air, and yet we very nearly got driven out."

French Censors Okay Nudes But Crime Stuff Taboo

By CARL HARTMAN

PARIS, Feb. 12 (AP)—Movies with nudes are all right with French censors, but they won't stand for brass-knuckle crime and gangster stuff.

"We think it does less harm," said an information ministry official, "for children to see a nude woman than to see an efficiently-performed crime."

He recalled a recent French movie licenced for general showing despite a scene that shows the star actress stepping into a bathtub. The same picture has some bedroom and underwear scenes so warm they are practically fire hazards. The French find them cute, in an innocent sort of way.

The official mentioned another picture from which the censors insisted on cutting views of a murderer pushing the head of an unconscious victim into a gas oven.

18-Man Committee

French movie censorship is in the hands of an 18-man committee. It includes high-ranking government officials and representatives of the industry and the public. Information Minister Albert Gazier has to make the final judgment in tough cases. His rulings are subject to discussion in parliament and can be made a political issue.

Few movies are entirely prohibited.

The last American film to be flatly barred was called "Street Corner." The French thought it dealt too frankly with abortion.

The French generally dislike the idea of censorship. Cartoonists like to depict it in the form of a black-clad old maid called Anastasia, with a long pair of scissors and an even longer nose.

French churches regularly post the ratings they establish on the "moral value" of films being shown locally. They are more severe than the official censors and in many districts can make or break a movie.

THIS IS WHITE CANE WEEK

Sixth Nation-Wide Campaign For Courtesy Assistance To The Blind

It Is Up To YOU To Help The Blind!

THE WHITE CANE AS A SYMBOL

As the symbol of blindness, the White Cane signifies the desire of blind men and women for independence and social responsibility. On the street, with the White Cane to guide them, they can travel alone. They are free to come and go as they will. This freedom is conditional to some extent upon the courtesy of the sighted public. But it is freedom nonetheless. Which of us has not become confused in a strange district and asked a passerby to set us on the right road? We don't feel inferior in any way, and once we have got our bearing, we can go on our way. The same is true of the blind man.

The men and women who carry the White Cane are not beings set apart. They seek to enter every phase of ordinary life, finding their way with their White Canes, hoping that those who can see will regard them as the normal citizens that they are.

LISTEN FOR THE TAPPING CANE

- Listen for the Tapping Cane which is the blind man's polite request for assistance. Then "do as you would be done by" and lend a helping hand to the less fortunate.
- A little thought on your part will indicate the right course of action. Don't take things for granted. Always ask the blind man what assistance he needs. He is quite capable of telling you and will not be embarrassed by explaining exactly where he wants to go, what bus he wants to get on, etc.
- Go the whole way. If you are letting a blind man out of your car or have given him other assistance, be sure before leaving him that he knows exactly where he is and that he has his bearings so that he can start off on his own again with confidence and safety.
- If you are driving a car take a little extra time and give that sightless person with a white cane the right-of-way.

Courtesy and Assistance

The use of the White Cane is a practical method of assisting the blind to greater independence through the intelligent co-operation of the sighted public. If you wish to be courteous to those who are blind, assist them whenever possible. The following are a few suggestions:

DO allow a blind person to follow you when guiding him off or on a bus.

DO assist the blind person to locate entrances to homes, stores, etc.

DO remember that the steady tapping of a White Cane signifies that a blind person wishes your assistance.

DO ask a blind person where he wishes to go and be sure he has his bearings before you leave him.

DO remind the cyclist that his approach is silent and to allow the blind person to pass in front of him.

DO remember never to push or forcibly steer a blind person.

DON'T race your car motor while waiting for a traffic light when a blind person is crossing in front of you; as this may confuse him.

DON'T leave obstacles such as bicycles or children's toys on the sidewalk. They cannot be seen by a blind pedestrian and may cause serious accidents.

DON'T leave your car door open while parked. It may cause a serious accident to a pedestrian, and especially to the blind pedestrian.

DON'T back out of a driveway until you make sure the sidewalk is clear of pedestrians.

DON'T GRASP A BLIND PERSON BY THE ARM BUT ALWAYS ALLOW HIM TO TOUCH OR HOLD YOUR ARM FOR GUIDANCE.

Las Vegas Folk Enjoy Atomic Tests

By GARBER DAVIDSON

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Feb. 12 — (AP)— Take a town of 24,000 souls, shake it up with a few atomic explosions and what do you get—hysteria, resentment, fear? Not in Las Vegas. The people loved it.

The five atomic tests, concluded Feb. 6, on the Las Vegas bombing and gunnery range site 70 miles northwest of here, have put the town on the map in a big way.

Its citizens are convinced that publicity is the lifeblood of this southern Nevada tourist centre where the gambling halls and wedding chapels are on a 24-hour basis.

Best Advertising

Charles B. (Bert) Smith, a dealer at one of the casinos, summed it up: "Commercially it's the largest advertising feat that any city of this size could hope for. Money couldn't buy the advertising we've realized."

There are a few dissenters, but most of the views are optimistic.

"These tests certainly haven't hurt Las Vegas," said J. R. McQuilkin, managing director of the Las Vegas Chamber of Commerce. Hotel man reported better business than normal.

Some gamblers are brief and fatalistic about it all. Tom Ferguson, who whirls a carnival wheel, said: "I don't worry about nothin.' They ain't a thing on earth I can do about it."

Las Vegas is due for more publicity. The Atomic Energy Commission has announced that other tests will be conducted in the future at the range near here.

The railroad worker, Morrison reported, had shot himself three times in the chest, swallowed poison, cut his wrists with a razor, inhaled ether and wrapped a towel around his neck as a noose. He already had bought a cemetery lot.

Dr. Lotta Hitschmanova, executive director of the Unitarian Service Committee, shown with the display, says the exhibit may go on a coast-to-coast tour.

The report of the Women's Auxiliary was given by the president, Mrs. Townsend, who referred to the work meeting held at the home of the members and mentioned that consideration was being given to having separate meetings for parish as distinct from missionary work.

Farouk Holds Engagement Party

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 12 (AP)— The engagement of beautiful, 17-year-old Narriman Sadek to King Farouk and the King's 31st birthday were celebrated Sunday night at a brilliant reception for the king, the royal family and the cream of Cairo society. No wedding date was set.

News of the engagement was released by the palace Saturday night, when the foreign press was permitted to send it abroad. Egyptians learned of it from their newspapers Sunday morning.

The romance has been reported abroad to have blossomed when Farouk saw Miss Sadek shopping for an engagement ring with a young Egyptian economist for the United Nations.

The King divorced Queen Farida on Nov. 17, 1948.

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—(AP)— The United States has not abandoned hope of settling the Korean war by peaceful negotiation, Ernest A. Gross said Saturday. Gross, deputy U. Fire Damages Small Chapel

MONTREAL, Feb. 12—(CP)— Fire, started by a short circuit, Saturday night caused extensive damage to a small wooden chapel built by Brother Andre in 1904 on the slopes of the Mount Royal.

The chapel, containing belongings of the miracle-working Brother Andre, is situated alongside St. Joseph Oratory, famed Roman Catholice shrine.

The interior of the chapel was gutted and the roof caved in, but most of the brother's belongings were saved.

Throughout his life, Brother Andre was credited with working miracles through prayers and novenas to St. Joseph, and steps were taken last year to have him beatified—first step toward canonization as a saint.

Find Sentimental Touch In Valentines This Year

By The Canadian Press

This year's buyers of Valentine cards pick the sentimental kind, with just a touch of humor mixed into the "roses are red, violets are blue" routine.

A Canadian Press survey of preparations for Valentine's Day showed Canada's swains and sweethearts bent on expressing the old idea of true love, whether through gay cards, a box of candies or a bouquet.

Merchants said card designs and verses have been extended this year to include almost every family relationship, with special ones for wives and husbands, cousins, mothers-in-law, nephews and nieces and all the rest. There are even special ones for the boss.

Prices go as high as 50 cents. Some of the expensive ones are perfumed.

Florists reported brisk sale of Valentine bouquets. They said the ever-popular roses had a tight edge in popularity over daffodils, tulips and violets. Many buyers asked for potted plants.

One candy manufacturer brought out an elaborate heart-shaped box of sweets, trimmed with red silk. Others offered candy hearts at a more modest price. Most candy shops expected heavy last-minute demand especially from husbands.

Notice To Policyholders

All members are respectfully requested to be present.

Easy to Roll

PREVENT FIRES

Also in economical ½ POUND TINS

HOMEMADE ROLLS that really melt in your mouth, can add much to the stature the cook holds in her own household. It is one thing certain that these butterhorns will keep the menfolk very happy.

Homemade Rolls Add Cubits To Your Stature As A Cook

For those who do not intend to accept and pay the increased price of bread placidly, I have written a detailed account of the method for making Homemade Whole Wheat Bread, which you will read on Thursday of this week.

But today's stuff is for those gals who do not have to take the price rise quite so seriously, from combined economic and nutrition angles. The Baking of rolls and buns at home gives bread its glamor — its appeal to our menfolk.

Homemade Butterhorns

One-half cup butter, 1 cup scalded milk, ¼ cup sugar, 1 tablespoon salt, 1 package dry granular yeast or 1 cake compressed yeast, 2 eggs, 5 cups sifted bread flour approximately. To the hot milk add the butter, sugar and salt and allow to cool to lukewarm which is a little warmer than the temperature of your hand. To this add the crumbled yeast which has been dissolved as directed on package, substituting the water used on it for an equal quantity of milk (if the granular yeast is used). Add the slightly beaten eggs and and beat and mix well. Add the flour gradually to make a stiff dough, mixing until it is thoroughly blended and quite soft. To knead on board, put dough on floured board and knead in enough flour to make a dough that can be easily handled, then knead until it is satin smooth and squeaks. Place dough in large bowl which has been buttered and cover. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Divide into 4 parts and roll one part at a time ¼-inch thick. Cut in wedge-shaped pieces about 5 inches wide at the top. Roll each wedge up, starting with the wide end. Moisten point to seal it. Place on buttered baking sheet and brush with melted butter. Let rise in warm place at about 80 or 85 deg. Fahr. until light and doubled in bulk. This takes about 45 minutes for unchilled dough. (If the dough has been held in refrigerator it requires about 1½ hours for this rising of the shaped buns.) Bake at 425 deg. Fahr. for about 24 to 30 minutes. Time in oven depends on the thickness of the dough before rolling.

Clover Leaf or Twin Rolls

Using Butterhorn Dough above cut the dough into small uniform pieces about as big as a walnut. For clover leaf rolls make them a litle smaller. Dip the fingers into flour and form dough into smooth rounds. Place 2 or 3 together in well greased muffin tins. Brush top with melted shortening or butter and rise until very light. Bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 20 minutes.

✧ ✧ ✧

Knotted Rolls

Cut Butterhorn dough into uniform pieces. Stretch and roll these into single strand about ½ to ¾ inch in diameter. Knot into a single knot or lovers' knot. Let rise about 1 hr. at room temperature and brush with egg and milk and bake at 400 deg. Fahr. about 15 minutes.

These fancy rolls are attractive and suitable for a luncheon and induce children with poor appetites to eat more of them and consequently more butter.

British Ex-POW's Protest Invitation Orient Students to Complete Education

LONDON (CP).—A proposal by the British Council to invite Japanese students to complete their education in the United Kingdom, has aroused indignant protests from the Far East Prisoners of War Association. The plan calls for a contribution of £25 ($75) a month from the Council's funds to every student accepting.

The organization represents thousands of former servicemen, captured by the Japanese in the last war, mainly at Singapore and Hong Kong.

"We have been fighting to obtain some sort of compensation for the intolerable conditions we had to endure in the hands of the Japs," said Ronald Hastain, chairmon of the association. "So far the government has been unsympathetic. Now we are told it actually wants to help the Japanese. In the circumstances it seems strange that our claims should go unheeded."

A spokesman for the British Council said the financial outlay involved would be small as only a few students were being invited.

British Fathers Have Own Day

LONDON —(CP)— British fathers, the fellows who usually "shell out" for the many special annual events, are to have a day all to themselves as Canada has had for years.

An organization known as the Father's Day Association has decided something should be done to cheer up the "old man," by encouraging the giving of suitable gifts.

G. H. Redfern, secretary of the new association, admits the idea is primarily designed to boost trade. Subscribers, he said, were mainly manufacturers of articles fathers might welcome, such as pipes, pens and propelling pencils.

"There is no humbug about this association," Mr. Redfern said. "The idea is to devote one day each year to the interests and welfare of fathers. But I am not saying that we will all go to church on Father's Day."

Pop's Day will likely be the last Sunday in June.

Sorority Tea Tickets Gave Chance to Win Draw Prize

A unique feature of the delightful tea, held Saturday afternoon at the YWCA by the Beta Sigma Phi Sorority girls, was that each ticket holder had a chance to win an attractive pair of earrings. Only one guest was to be lucky of course but the anticipation was enjoyable.

At six o'clock the draw was made and Mrs. B. I. Burgess, Albertus Ave., announced winner of the coveted jewelry.

The winner of a patchwork quilt on which tickets were sold was also decided at this time. It goes to Miss June Skitch of 555 Walnut St.

Another draw prize displayed at the tea is a complete layette for a new baby which has a unique feature itself—the knitted bonnet and sweater will be made after the winner has been declared and she can choose the color. It includes a handy quilted bottle warmer, five embroidered nighties, a dozen diapers, shirts and bootees, all hand made by the members. The draw for this will be made at a Sorority meeting next month.

Valentine Decorations

Red hearts were prominent in the tea room and bazaar table decorations, placed on white backgrounds for Valentine effects. A charming arrangement of the early spring flowers was in a crystal bowl on the polished surface of the table with cream tapers in tall triple-armed silver candelabra giving the light.

Mrs. G. S. Cameron and Mrs. I. F. McRae, former and present social sponsors of the Sorority, were pouring tea at first and they were relieved by Mrs. M. J. Swanston and Mrs. Donald Anderson, the latter taking the place of Mrs. Maurice Holt who had been called out of the city unexpectedly.

Miss Jean Cox, tea room convener, was assisted in serving by Misses Joan Rahmel, Mary Bolton, Muriel Adams, Marilyn Munro, Ruth Kingan, Doreen Gilders, Norma Shaughnessy, Betty Fee, Mrs. R. G. Cochrane, Mrs. Ray Kearns and Mrs. M. Caccavella.

Mrs. Ruth Redmond played background piano music throughout the tea hours.

Mrs. Joseph Hiland, president of XI Iota Chapter, and Mrs. B. Rolfe, president of Alpha Theta Chapter, welcomed the large crowd of guests.

Mrs. Moira Whalon and Mrs. Q. C. Dantzer were taking the tickets and recording names for the door prize draw.

Sale Variety

The bazaar tables displayed a wide variety of novelties, aprons, children's sun dresses, knitting, home cooking and candy for sale. Mrs. James English was selling candy, Mrs. Eric Martin the knitting and novelties, Mrs. Ernest McWilliam are home baking, Mrs. Jack Dougherty and Miss Mary Clifford the aprons and dresses. There was also a "touch and take" table operated by Mrs. Robert White. Mrs. Clare Sullivan was in charge of the layette and quilt draw prizes and was selling tickets.

Co-conveners of the tea were Mrs. Donald Anderson and Miss Mary Bolton. Miss Jean Cox arranged the tea table and Misses Norma Shaughnessy and Doreen Gilders decorated the room.

Norman Earle of Ida; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Tufford, Miss Shirley Tufford, Mr. Francis Tufford, Mr. and Mrs. M. Irwin, Mr. Carmen Irwin, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Ford, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Tufford, Mr. and Mrs. George Tufford, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Austin, all of Port Hope, and Mr. James Tufford of London.

Firemen, Wives Entertained At Bridgenorth

Bridgenorth Fire Brigade went "all out" Friday evening to entertain the firemen and their wives at a gala banquet, served in the basement of the United Church. A full-course turkey dinner was thoroughly enjoyed by 40 guests. The tables were decorated in Valentine colors with several small hook and ladder trucks adding the appropriate touch.

Fire Chief A. Crowe spoke briefly, reviewing the accomplishments of Bridgenorth Brigade. He stated: "In the course of a year we have put up a modern fire hall, purchased two modern fire trucks and all equipment necessary. These have an approximate value of 20 to 25 thousand dollars with the debt to the taxpayers of merely $7,400. A total of $2,675 was raised by local effort, $1,400 of which was used for construction of the hall and the balance used on purchase of a chassis and construction of a second truck which is not yet quite complete."

Deputy Chief J. Smith extended a vote of thanks to the women of the WA who catered so lavishly for the banquet.

The evening finished with dancing in the Forester's Hall. Square dances were called by three experts who gave the crowd a good variety of changes.

How Much Say For Mother In Choosing Childs' Career?

DEAR MISS DIX: I believe that parents should guide their children in the choice of a career. I am determined that nothing shall interfere with my own plans for my daughter, to whom I have given the best of care and upbringing. Very few children really know what they want to do. For instance, my daughter at the age of 16 aspired to the stage because her best friend wanted to be an actress. Then later another friend enthused her about being an artist. Still another wanted her to be a reporter. Another a nurse. And each one in turn had a temporary influence upon her. So who is better suited to choose a career for a child, the mother who knows her child's every failing, every good point, or the child herself who hardly understands her own needs?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: A mother has a right to influence her child, but not to dominate her. She has a right to guide her child into the path she is best fitted to follow, but she has no right to force the child into it against her strong disinclination. Every child has a right to its own life and to live in its own way, provided it does no harm to anyone else, and no mother has the right to take this away from it and make it conform to her pattern.

Dorothy Dix

Should Know Child's Talents

I fully agree with you that parents should help their children to decide on their careers and that they are, or at least they should be, better fitted than anyone else to steer them in the right directions because they have had the children under observation ever since their birth and should know in what directions their bents lie.

But it is amazing how few parents are able to do this, and how many fathers and mothers can be with a child twenty years and never even notice whether it is deft with its fingers or awkward; whether it is good at figures or bad. In the generality of cases, unless a child has some overwhelming talent that knocks his parents over, they apparently never notice his individual traits of character.

It would be all to the good if the parents followed the child's lead in choosing its career for it, but the trouble comes when they want to make the child what they want him to be instead of what nature intended him to be. Mother doesn't always know best, because she isn't the girl and can't enter into her thoughts and desires. She is a different personality and what might suit her may not suit her daughter at all.

In the end children have to choose their own way of life, and all that mother can do is to stand on the sidelines and cheer them on.

DEAR MISS DIX: My wife and I were married ten years ago. At that time I had a good job, but about six months after our wedding I was taken with a sickness from which doctors have told me I will never recover. I was forced to give up my position. I have always managed to get some sort of work, but I live in constant dread of losing my job because of my health.

Through all of this my wife has fought shoulder to shoulder with me. She has goine out to work in order to help pay the doctors' bills. She is wonderful and I love her more today than I did when I married her. She is still beautiful and young, and I know that if she were not tied down to me she could find some husband who could support her as she should be cared for, or she could find a job where she could support herself in comfort.

Now comes the problem — should I divorce her so that she might live the rest of her life in happiness, or should I be selfish and keep her as my wife?

G.H.J.

ANSWER: I think you have little understanding of a woman's love if you think you would secure your wife's happiness by divorcing her so that she could marry a rich man. Women such as she is don't love men for what they can get out of them.

Valiant is the word for your wife and all the other wives who have felt it a privilege and not a burden to minister to sick husbands and who loved their husbands the more their husbands needed their love. Don't insult such a woman by even suggesting that she would turn her back on a suffering husband to go to one who could give her more money. You give her a rare and unselfish love such as few women know. Believe me, most women would rather have that than a sable coat.

DEAR MISS DIX: What do you think of girls wearing shorts?

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: I think that skirts are mighty kind to us females. If you are contemplating going in for shorts, get the opinion of your worst enemy on your legs before you try it.

Flin Flon Boasts Unique Law Firm, Husband and Wife

FLIN FLON, Man. —(CP)— Manitoba's only husband-and-wife law firm—the Wrights of Flin Flon—is something unique. Instead of marriage halting a professional career, it inspired it.

Molly Wright did not plan to read law. She was graduated from the University of Alberta with a bachelor of arts degree and in 1931 married Orson Wright. They came to Flin Flon the same year, Mrs. Wright intending only to be a good wife and homemaker.

During the Second World War, when stenographers were scarce and her husband busy, Mrs. Wright found herself spending more and more time in the office.

"Since I was in the office anyway," she says, "I thought I might as well study law."

So, in 1941, when her son Grant was five years old, she started reading law in the evenings. Each spring she travelled to Winnipeg to write examinations. The course was interrupted for a while by the birth of a daughter, Joy-Anne.

Admitted to Bar

In 1948 Mrs. Wright was admitted to the Manitoba bar. She joined her husband's firm and now specializes in tenant-and-landlord and domestic cases.

"My husband laughs at me for taking these cases so seriously, but I have found a great deal of satisfaction in being able to help my clients."

Molly and her family love the outdoors. They often travel to their summer home at Beaver Lake, 14 miles west of here in Saskatchewan. On the trips, the children are given a lot of leeway.

"We have tried to teach them to be self-reliant," she says, "and have trusted them when they were quite young to exercise self-judgment."

Wife Mainstay Of Eskimo Family

MONTREAL —(CP)— In the land of the Eskimo the wife is the mainstay of the family, Mrs. J. A. Bildfell has found.

Mrs. Bildfell spent two years on isolated Baffin Island where her husband was a government medical officer, and she told something of her experiences to a women's club in nearby LaPrairie.

"The Eskimo's chief concern is to stay alive," she said. "The husband is the hunter and the wife assumes the other family responsibilities." She has to be handy with a needle and thread, a good tanner of animal hides and the epitome of patience and understanding.

During her two years in the far north she suffered no real hardships, said Mrs. Bildfell, while on the other hand she and her husband learned unforgettable lessons from the people there and had nothing but good to say of her Eskimo acquaintances.

What's Right

You discover that your child has taken something belonging to another child.

WRONG: Rather than face the embarrassment of having to admit such a thing, try to cover up for him.

RIGHT: See that the child returns the article, realizing you need not feel embarrassed when you are teaching a child the right thing to do.

Ma's Ironing Clue To Her Character

LONDON — (Reuters) — A unique gadget called the "Ironing Recorder" has helped scientists prove that the way a woman irons her husband's shirts is a guide to her character.

The experts say quick, careless ironing with frequent change of direction means the lady is an erratic, slapdash person who dislikes household chores.

If she moves the iron jerkily and unevenly, she has an artistic, impulsive temperament — and would be better at a career than home-making.

And if she often goes over the same piece of cloth, she is easy-going but insecure. She prefers her husband to make the decisions of the family.

But luckily for most women's peace of mind, their character can't be exposed that way unless the "Ironing Recorder" is plugged into their irons.

That's not likely, either, because there's only one in Britain.

Five years ago today our brother was called,
To his eternal rest;

We miss him here so very much,
His presence oft seems nigh,
But we all hope in heaven to meet,
Where no one says good-bye.

"BUT DARLING"

We can get it for only $1,000 down, and we'll have our own home. It has three nice rooms, beautifully finished in plywood, it's insulated as is built on a lot 160' deep. The full price is $3,200, and it's near Parkhill and Armour Roads. Phone 8402.

WHAT'S THAT

You're looking for a three-bedroom home, nicely located, and you only have $1,500 cash. Well, you had better see the comfortable, insulated home we are ready to show you tonight. Located on the west end of London St., it has a fine living-room and dining-room, step-saving kitchen and a swell summer kitchen. Upstairs are the 3 bedrooms and 3-piece bath. The full price is $5,800. There's a fine lot and new garage. We really like this one. Phone 5345 or 8402.

A NEW PIN

Couldn't shine more brightly than the oak floors in this north-end home on George St. Spotlessly clean throughout. There's a large living-room, full size dining-room, smart kitchen with built-in sink and cupboards. Upstairs there are three big bedrooms and three-piece bath. The home is thoroughly insulated, has storms all round, has heavy wiring and garage, hot air heating. All this and other extras for $7,400. Let us show it to you. Phone 5345 or 8402.

LOVE THAT MAN

For giving us the listing on this modern Brick Bungalow. We've been deluged with enquiries for homes like this in this north-end location, so here you are. First, it is on a lot 80 x 280, the taxes are $70, there are two bedrooms, the smart kitchen has tiled floor, and the bathroom has built-in tub and shower. Hot air heating, oak floors, heavy wiring. This 4-year-old home is priced at $8,000. Immediate possession. Phone 8402 or 5345.

OH, SHUCKS!

I can't write glowing words about this one because it needs decorating, yep, paint and paper from top to bottom. But it is a good big four-bedroom home, and it has a nice kitchen with tile floor, built-in sink and cupboards. The living-room and dining-room are really big and one could quite easily have a ground floor apartment and rent the upstairs. It's brick and is near Water St. and Parkhill Rd. $8,000 will buy it. Phone 5345 or 8402.

THERE'LL BE PLENTY

Of action now around the old Civic Hospital since it has been sold, and maybe it will be a wise move to own this six-room Bungalow located near by. It has almost half an acre of ground on which to raise your vegetables or chickens. The home itself has wonderfully large rooms, modern kitchen and bathroom, lots of closets, oak floors, 7' high basement, hot air heat, heavy wiring. Taxes are only $77. The price, $8,500. Maybe this is it. Better phone 8402 or 5345.

IN THE STICKS

Well, not more than three-quarters of a mile from the north city limits. A beautiful spot, from the picture window in the huge living-room you get a wonderful view of the city. There are three big bedrooms, glorious kitchen with plenty of dining space, modern bathroom. There are two open fireplaces. The basement has extra 2-pc. washroom. Air conditioned heating by oil attached garage. The asking price is $11,900 and $4,000 cash will handle. Phone 5345 or 8402.

Bad Weather Spoils Defence Exercises

MONTREAL, Feb. 12 (CP). — The combined United States Air Force and the Royal Canadian Air Force defence exercise wound up Sunday with most of the action taking place in the American Eastern seaboard. Poor flying conditions, including blowing snow and low visibility washed out Montreal RCAF operations Thursday and Sunday. Air and ground activities were confined mostly to the daylight hours of Saturday. The test was designed by the USAF to test its air defences at key industrial centres in the eastern section of the USA and Canada.

84th Victim Dies After Train Wreck

NEW BRUNSWICK, NJ, Feb. 12 — (AP). — The 84th victim of the tragic Woodbridge, NJ, train wreck last Tuesday died on Sunday night in Middlesex General Hospital here. Coroner Robert Jamison said the death of Frank Vogel, 60, of East Keansburg, NJ, was due to a skull fracture suffered in the wreck of the Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train. Vogel had been on the critical list at the hospital since Tuesday night. Eighty-three persons previously had died in the train wreck, either instantly or by the next day, making it the worst rail disaster in the United States since 1918.

Joseph Sullivan

Funeral for the late Joseph Sullivan of Ennismore township, was held this morning from the Anglesey Funeral Home to St. Peter's Cathedral. Requiem mass was said by the Rev. Raymond Garvey, and pallbearers were Joseph and John D. Sullivan, Eugene Maloney, Joseph Morrisey, Edward Crough and Leo Scollard. Graveside prayers were said by the Rev. G. Weiss and burial was at St. Peter's Cemetery.

Mr. Sullivan died in hospital on Saturday following an illness of eight days. He was in his 75th year and was born in Ennismore, son of the late Patrick and Anna Sullivan. Before moving back to his township home eight years ago, he lived in Peterborough. He was employed for many years with the rural service system of both telephone and hydro. Mr. Sullivan was a member of St. Martin's Church, Ennismore, and of its Holy Name and Extension Societies. He leaves one sister, Miss Mary L. Sullivan and a brother, Lewis E., both of Ennismore township.

Actress Seeks Divorce

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 12 (AP). —Judy Garland will file suit soon in Los Angeles to divorce director Vincent Minnelli, says her lawyer. The Minnellis were married in 1945. Their daughter, Liza, was born in 1945. Miss Garland and orchestra leader Dave Rose were divorced in 1943.

To Build Minesweeper

KINGSTON, Feb. 12 (CP). — The Canadian Shipbuilding and Engineering Company said Saturday construction of a 160-foot minsweeper will begin here shortly. The 550-ton vessel will take a year to build and its construction will employ about 250 men.

New Envoy Arrives

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 — (CP) — Nickolaus Aristotle Anissas, newly-appointed Greek ambassador to Canada, and Mrs. Anissas arrived in Ottawa Sunday from New York.

LEAFS WIN OUT

Leafs trimmed Canadiens 9-5 in their peewee hockey fixture on Saturday in a good, clean meeting. Bob Shaw shone with three goals for the winners and an assist. Playford and Johnston had two apiece, with Oliver and Ashby getting the others. Canadiens, showing improvement every time out, made it a fight all the way, but Leafs had a little edge most of the distance.

Men And Women Are Said In Need Of Compassion

At no time in history have men and women been in greater need of compassion than they are today, Ralph Castle, Christian Science lecturer, told an audience in the Queen Mary School auditorium on Sunday afternoon.

"Compassion, as Christ Jesus displayed it," he said, "conveys ineffable tenderness. It is more than ordinary pity, kindliness, or mercy. It is a deep desire to do good to others, a feeling which preceded the actual physical healings. Today," said Mr. Castle, "this same sense of compassion toward our fellow beings is requisite to Christian Science healing. On page 367 of her textbook, 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' Mary Baker Eddy, the discoverer, founder, and leader of Christian Science, writes, 'The tender word and Christian encouragement of an invalid, pitiful patience with his fears and the removal of them, are better than hecatombs of gushing theories, stereotyped borrowed speeches, and the doling of arguments, which are but so many parodies on legitimate Christian Science, aflame with divine Love.' And on page 365 she states, 'If the Scientist reaches his patient through divine Love, the healing work will be accomplished at one visit, and the disease will vanish into its native nothingness like dew before the morning sunshine.' "

Its Sole Purpose

The theme of the lecture is definitely conveyed in its title, "Christian Science: Its Reinstatement of Primitive Christianity and Spiritual Healing," for Mr. Castle contended that the application of the teachings of Jesus in our daily lives is the sole purpose of Christian Science, and this, he said, of course includes healing the sick by spiritual means, or by prayer and regenerating the sinful.

The lecturer said he wished to devote the time at his disposal to discussing two of the Christly characteristics, or qualities of Jesus, in connection with his subject, namely, compassion, and Christ Jesus' realization of inseparability from God.

"In Christian Science," Mr. Castle explained, "the original distinction is retained which existed between the name Jesus and the word Christ. Jesus was a man's name and is still used in some countries. Christ was a title meaning the Anointed, or the Messiah. Originally, the Master was referred to as Jesus, the Christ, but gradually the article was dropped until he became commonly spoken of as Jesus Christ or Chist Jesus.

Concept of Perfect Man

"Jesus was actually God's representative on earth, doing nothing, as he said, in his own power or strength, but accomplishing all things—healing the sick, raising the dead, regenerating sinners, even bringing his own body back from the tomb—through the knowledge of man's at-one-ment with the Father, the divine Spirit, with which he was endowed without measure. On page 482 of 'Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures,' Mrs. Eddy writes: 'Jesus was the highest human concept of the perfect man. He was inseparable from Christ, the Messiah,—the divine idea of God outside the flesh.' Jesus was inseparable from Christ, because he knew through spiritual perception that he was inseparable. And herein lies an important factor in the teachings of Christian Science and in its healing efficacy.

"As human beings, we are apt to think we are definitely separated from the Christ, that is, from the true idea of God as demonstrated by Jesus, or we entertain serious doubts as to our inseparability from it. The great discovery which our leader, Mary Baker Eddy, made, through divine revelation and her consecrated study of the Scriptures—especially the teachings of Jesus—is that you and I, in reality, enjoy the same inseparability from Christ, Truth, as was realized by the Master."

"Archbishop William Temple of Canterbury is quoted as saying: 'It is not by contrivance and adjustment that we can unite the Church of God. It is only by coming closer to Him that we come nearer to one another.' Christian Scientists agree with the Archbishop's remarks, for contrivance and adjustment without spiritual inspiration and the recognition of divine guidance are but human footsteps too often taken at the instance of human will or opinion. At this stage of progress we must take the right human footsteps in order to obey the Master's command to go into all the world, preach the gospel, and heal the sick; but to do so we need to understand his teachings and his methods—in other words, the rules of the Science of his Christianity, the application of which resulted in the miracles, or mighty works, recorded in the New Testament."

TORONTO, Feb. 12—(CP) —New Liskeard's chubby John Barry Mainard had his record broken last week by little Miss Judy Blanche Kelly, who went John one better by being born with two lower teeth. Hospital authorities said the odds were 10,000-1 against a baby being born with even one tooth when John did just that! Then Judy capped his feat.

What To Expect School To Do For Child

LINDSAY, Feb. 12.—The role that school should play in the life of a child was discussed by F. B. Smitheram of the Peterborough Normal School in an address in Lindsay Friday night.

Mr. Smitheram spoke on the topic, "What do I expect the school to do for my child," at the addition-opening ceremonies of the King Albert School. The two-room addition was officially opened by His Worship, Mayor Chas. Lamb and dedicated by the Rev. G. W. Searle. The capacity audience of school officials, teachers, parents and children was welcomed by Mrs. Charles Endicott, president of the King Albert and Central Home and School Association. Master of ceremonies was W. S. Batterby, principal.

With the completion of the two-room addition, plus the building of another two rooms this summer, the King Albert School will become a complete school unit.

Three Basic Demands

In his address, Mr. Smitheram enumerated three basic demands that should be followed: (a) that schools regard every child as an immature being, (b) that the school shall have due regard for what might be termed the child's charter of rights and (c) that the school remember that the child's growth is an individual matter, different for every child.

"I want the child to understand better the environment in which he lives," Mr. Smitheram contended. "His earliest and basic contacts are with a physical world. For that reason I want his study of natural science to be a fundamental requirement."

Understand Reality

In addition to natural science, social studies must be included in the child's training in order that he may come to understand reality and make him better able to adjust himself to his fellows, explained the speaker. If this end is not achieved the school has failed in its responsibility.

The need for expression of ideas and the understanding of the ideas of others necessitates language study and the study of numbers.

Appreciation of the Beautiful

As a being of sensitivities, man's conception of good and evil depends entirely upon his appreciation of what is beautiful and what is ugly. Literature, art and music are taught to develop this appreciation in the child.

In his concluding remarks, Mr. Smitheram stated, the school will have accomplished its greatest achievement when it has trained the pupil to use the techniques of evaluating information to make more meaningful those elements of everyday experience which the child carries within him. Thus may the school unleash more abundantly that latent power whereby a society of individuals may become a true community."

The speaker was introduced by Inspector E. C. Anderson and thanked by Mrs. N. Ryckman vice-principal fo King Albert School.

3 Broadway Performances Then Curtains For 'Ti-Coq'

NEW YORK, Feb. 12 (CP and Special)—Gratien Gelinas' record-breaking Canadian play "Ti-Coq" closed Saturday night after three Broadway performances, a casualty of adverse notices.

"Ti-Coq," the story of a cocky little French Canadian soldier who yearned for a family and saw his fondest dream dashed, played in French and English to 250,000 Canadians and then had a successful fortnight's run in Chicago.

But most of the New York critics, who can make or break a play, damned it with faint praise and some were a little rougher.

Gelinas wanted to keep trying for another week but the show's financial backers were reached too late Saturday to make arrangements.

What had happened? How could the show, Ti-Coq, which had won warm affection of Canadians in French Montreal and English Toronto, which had built to sellout houses in Chicago after a clawing by the most influential critic there, Claudia Cassidy, come so suddenly to nothing? Were the laughter, applause and curtain calls of opening night a mockery?

Not Well Known

This would seem to be the picture.

It was Fridolin's wish to come quietly into New York. He wanted the critics to discover him, not the publicity men. Because of this, and because the show came into New York with only a week and a half's notice, few people in Manhattan knew much about this Canadian star with the funny name.

The Canadian colony in New York gave its support on opening night. But afterward those who had seen the play before were disturbed. The accents sounded so difficult in the over-large Broadhurst Theatre. Somebody said the Broadhurst was known as the theatre which never had a hit. They realized, too, that the second half of the play had slipped badly in performance. The spontaneity was gone.

And Fridolin himself had been "off." Tense with realization of the amount at stake, still bitter after the attack by the Chicago critic, he had to go and win a whole new audience, the most cynical as well as the most sentimental in the world. For Ti-Coq stands or falls on your affection for Ti-Coq, which is Fridolin. Otherwise it is revealed as a naive little folk tale.

Then came the business of waiting for the New York criticisms. On their reports would rest the judgment of Broadway on Canada's first venture there.

Atkinson of The Times came first, and Barnes of the Herald-Tribune. Both were just and not unkind, but the faults of performance and play were not overlooked in any affection for the star.

Richard Watts, Jr. of the Post regretted that he must be boorish. "The touching and amiable fellow" that Fridolin had presented in the first act had become for him "a complete bore" in the end. Like his morning-paper colleagues, Watts had nice things to say, and kind things and admiring things, but the final verdict was definitely against.

The two most favorable reports were those of William Hawkins of the World-Telegram and Sun and John McClain of the Journal-American, although Hawkins found parts of it "routine and tedious" and McClain didn't think Fridolin had written the drama best suited to his talents.

Most absurd review was John Chapman of the Daily News. Chapman likened Fridolin to Stan Laurel, Leo. G. Carroll, the young Katharine Hepburn, Maurice Chevalier, Bairnsfather's Old Bill and Baker's Sad Sack, compared his play to Abie's Irish Rose and the works of Channing Pollock and the speech of the players to Donald Ogden Stewart's little girl with her pronunciation of "Ou est la plume de ma tante?"

With no advance sale due to the quiet arrival of the show, Ti-Coq played to a scattered handful of people on Saturday afternoon. On the notice-board backstage was the notice to the actors announcing that Ti-Coq must close.

Normal Living For Blind Promoted By Recreation

Rehabilitation through Recreation is the theme of White Cane Week, February 11 to 17, as sponsored by The Canadian Council of the Blind and The Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Speaking on this subject, Mrs. Catherine Elson, president of the Amicus Social Club of the Blind, Regina, states:

"In the club itself the program of games, contests and dancing in which all the blind take part, has brought a new sense of release and freedom to many who had almost given up seeking pleasure in their former activities and drifted into a 'passive acceptance of having entertainment presented to them ready made'."

As rehabilitation the club stands first in the recreation field, Mrs. Elson thinks. She places bowling second. It makes Saturday afternoons 'red letter' days for many of the blind. Anyone passing along will hear the exultation in the voice that calls 'strike' and the groan that accompanies the word 'blow.'

A most valuable activity, she goes on to say, is the regular visiting of the blind in hospital by their sightless friends. Further advances have been made by the committee of the blind formed to study and plan activities in which those without sight can participate freely and easily.

Dancing, she states, has been rediscovered as a source of pleasure by many who felt that the loss of sight had brought with it the loss of the rhythm of music. Nowadays one-half of the social gatherings are given over largely to this form of organized recreation. Picnics provide another such outlet.

Recreational activities, Mrs. Elson concludes, are the great means of promoting normal living among the blind, both as a self-contained group and in their individual or group contacts with the sighted.

CCF Committee Backs Price Control Move

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 12 (CP).—The Provincial Women's Committee of the CCF Saturday reaffirmed its stand in favor of price and rent controls and excess profits tax. Resolution to this effect was approved by delegates from representative parts of Ontario, holding their quarterly meeting here. The resolution to be forwarded first to the London Local Council of Women and the London branch of the Canadian Association of Consumers, urges the Federal Government to "re-impose price controls, maintain rent controls, and institute an excess profits tax."

Report Titoism Plaguing Reds

NEW YORK, Feb. 12—(AP)—Titoism has provoked a raging fever in the body of European Communism during the last year. Despite vast and often bloody purges, the Tito rebellion is on the upsurge and Moscow is reacting with frenzied rage.

The Kremlin looks upon Titoism as a malignant disease. Such a disease can kill the unity that welded the European Communist front after the Second World War. If it becomes epidemic—and there are signs of this now—it can push Stalinism back to the borders of Russia.

The swift rate of Titoism's spread in the last 12 months split the ranks of the party in Italy. It dug deep into the German and French parties. Behind the iron curtain it aroused such an atmosphere of suspicion as to become a permanent centre of tension.

Titoism in essence means national Communism independent from the dictates of Moscow. It may go down in history as one of the most significant events of the 20th century.

Help In Search

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 12 (CP)—The weekend air search for a missing United States plane carried out by pilots of Centralia RCAF Station No. 420 City of London Squadron and 424 Squadron of Hamilton, was called off Sunday for the Canadians. RCAF units were requested to sweep the area along the north shore of Lake Erie by USAF officials of Michigan's Selfridge Field, near Detroit.

Cut Police Week

OTTAWA, Feb. 12 — (CP)—Decision to adopt a 5½-day week for all members of the Ottawa police department was announced Saturday by Magistrate Glenn Strike, chairman of the police commission. The reduction from a six-day, 48-hour week to 44 hours was announced after the commission conferred with the grievance committee of the Ottawa Police Association.

4 Firemen Hurt

SMITHERS, B.C., Feb. 12 (CP)—Four volunteer firemen, three of them brothers, were injured Sunday in a $100,000 fire and explosion at a garage in this northern British Columbia town. There was no water with which to battle the fire. All hydrants were frozen.

Driven Out By Fire

CAMPBELLTON, N.B., Feb. 12 (CP)—Three families, including five small children, were driven into 25-below-zero weather Sunday as fire destroyed their dwelling. Loss was estimated officially at $40,000.

Niagara Falls' Garden School Trains Experts

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont.—(CP)—While Jack Frost paints winter scenes at Niagara Falls, spring is on the way at a unique gardening school here.

Young men from many parts of Canada are preparing for springtime at the school of gardening operated by the Niagara Parks Commission. The handiwork of this school's graduates is admired at many different spots across the continent.

The school's graduates have gone to western provinces and down into the United States to plan and tend famous gardens, created from experience in the beautiful Niagara parks system which extends for 35 miles along the frontier.

A visitor admiring a perfect full-blown rose at the Empress Hotel gardens in Victoria, B.C., is seeing the handiwork of a Niagara graduate—James Marlow, head gardener there. Another graduate, William Bowne, is assistant at another British Columbia showplace, the Butchart Gardens on Vancouver Island.

Leonard Riley, who was trained at the school here, is forestry superintendent for the Ontario Department of Highways and John Byrne is with the Veterans Land Administration in the Maritimes, along with three other former students now horticultural supervisors.

Striking Contrast

The attractions of the ice-rimmed falls just now are in strong contrast to the profusion of hothouse flowers and plans in the parks commission greenhouses. The periodical flower shows which draw large crowds are partially the work of Alfred Payne, greenhouse foreman and a gardening school graduate.

At the school the 24 students live an outdoor life. They came from all over the Dominion. Maurice Chapman came from Peace River, Alta. William McLean from New Brunswick, Alfred Savage from Sarnia and Harvey Wightman from Auburn, Ont.

Winter is just as busy a time as summer for the school trainees. The students are continuously busy preparing for the summer displays by collecting seed, pruning and thinning, attending to hardwood and softwood cuttings, sowing seeds for the spring and summer flower shows.

J. Scott Offers Platform For Criticized Columnists

By JACK SCOTT

VANCOUVER—Riding to work in the bus one morning last week I chanced to overhear two gents in the seat ahead talking about a certain columnist.

One of these fellows, clearly a man with a mind of his own, came out with the opinion that the columnist was obviously a nasty little crumb, too big for his britches, misinformed, sour and with an inflated idea of his own importance.

The other man was somewhat more charitable. Sometimes he liked what the columnist had to say, he opined, and sometimes he didn't.

I shouldn't have been eavesdropping, of course, but the columnist they had under the microscope was me, and so I felt a kind of proprietary interest in the conversation.

Resists Temptation

Indeed, I had to resist a strong temptation to lean over the shoulder of the first critic and introduce myself.

"Been some terrible mistake here," I'd like to have said. "This surely can't be me you're talking about. I am not such a bad guy. Let us go and have a beer and straighten this thing out."

I didn't have the nerve to make the approach and so I thought I might get to him through this column. I do not mind anybody giving a blunt verdict on my opinions. That's part of the game. But when people in busses start working over your character (which they know nothing about) it seems time to speak up in a firm baritone.

The truth is that a guy writing his own personal stuff for a newspaper makes at least one enemy or critic every time he puts "30" to a piece of copy.

Feels Depressed

Unless he has the hide of an elderly alligator he's bound to feel depressed by the knowledge that he is a prune to a large section of his audience.

If I write about family life I invariably get letters reminding me that there are too many important issues to waste valuable space with domestic chit-chat. If I venture to tackle a more serious subject I'm told that people really want something in the lighter vein to take their minds off world affairs.

A column of personal opinion often suggests an inflated ego. A column of somebody else's opinion? Then you're accused of second-hand views.

People will criticize you if you devote your column to letters. And if you leave 'em out you get angry letters asking why you don't give the other fellow a chance to speak his piece.

Baffled By Reactions

It's strictly an audience participation show, this column writing business, and that's the way it ought to be, but I'm often baffled by people's reactions.

Hardly a week goes by, for example, that somebody doesn't cancel a subscription because of something in this space. You never grow callous about that. A dissatisfied customer is a cause for gloom in this business as it is in any other.

Still, this isn't an ordinary business. Yesterday's satisfied customer may be tomorrow's worst enemy. More than two hundred thousand words funnel through a column like this in a year, but the columnist is only as good as the last sentence.

Probably the real reason for the critics is the fact that the columnist writes so much in the first person. The "I" key is always the first to go and the overall effect is one of incredible vanity.

Ah, but that is precisely what the columnist gets paid to shovel. Let his retreat into a false modesty or the careful "we" and he loses not only his readership but his irritation values.

You Can't Win

It sometimes seems that you just can't win.

Perhaps columnists should take time out every so often to explain their peculiar stand to their readers. The columnist's platform, as I see it, would read something like this:

"Here is a column by a fellow who is being paid money to write about himself. This columnist does not expect to please everybody every day. There will be many, many days when he will be sure to please nobody at all, including himself.

"The opinions expressed by this fellow are his own, arrived at painfully in most cases. Many of these opinions will be wrong, the law of averages being what it is, but the columnist should not be expected to admit this. Those in the audience who are dismayed by these opinions are asked to tiptoe from the room and kindly refrain from slamming the door.

No Rude Noises

"The columnist will endeavor ti transmit his impressions of a great many things with as much fidelity as he possesses. Rude noises from the audience are not invited.

"Those customers who disagree with the columnist are respectfully urged to put their complaint into writing. These will be carefully, and even eagerly, considered.

The columnist is a reasonably clean-living, native-born citizen, who has never been in jail, helps elderly ladies across streets, passed his Boy Scout woodcraft tests, and in private life, is known as a timid, introspective man, no more sour or big for his britches than the next guy.

"The columnist hopes that his customers will remember that he is doing the best he can and that he needs the money."

Direct Controls May Be Necessary In Canada–Towers

OTTAWA, Fem. 13—(CP)—Direct controls may be necessary in Canada to help fight inflation and rising living costs resulting from increased defence activity. This is the highlight of the 1950 report of Graham F. Towers, Governor of the Bank of Canada. The 7,000-word report, made public today, has been sent to Finance Minister Abbott for tabling in the Commons. Mr. Towers said that fiscal and monetary measures may not be enough to provide stability in the Canadian economy. They may have to be backed up by controls.

(In the Commons on Monday night, Mr. Abbott rejected requests of Opposition parties for reimposition of price controls at this time. Mr. Abbott said he does not believe a system of overall price and wage controls would be desirable or effective at this time. The government would use controls to the extent needed when it felt they were necessary.)

Many Suggestions

Some persons, Mr. Towers said, have suggested that production should be increased as a means to provide for defence without curtailment of civilian needs. Some have pointed out the need for taxation which will keep the government on a pay-as-you-go basis, or perhaps in the early stages something more than that.

Others have emphasized the need for the maximum possible reduction in less-urgent expenditures — particularly non-essential capital expenditures — of public authorities and business. The desirability of increased personal savings as a means to combat inflation was frequently stressed.

"Finally," said Mr. Towers, "general price controls are often advocated as a means of keeping down prices; in some cases this suggestion has been linked with wage controls—but not in others.

Must Keep Balance

"In order to have an adjustment to a defence economy which will leave as much freedom as possible within the price and income structure but which will prevent any general upward spiral of prices and costs, it is necessary for current demand — other than for defence purposes —to be kept in approximate balance with the current output available to meet it....

"If defence expenditure became so great that it was humanly impossible to finance it on a pay-as-you-go basis, or if at an earlier stage financial measures designed to produce a fair allocation of the burden did not command public understanding and support, it might become necessary to make increasingly-general use of direct controls in order to back up fiscal and monetary measures, despite the dangers to economic efficiency and personal freedom inherent in such controls."

In seeking a solution to the problem the goal should be to "minimize any unfairness which might arise."

Red Cross Head For 10 Years Dr. Routley Dies

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP)—Dr. Frederick William Routley, who directed the Canadian Red Cross Society during the period of its greatest growth—1938 to 1948—died in hospital Monday. He was 70.

A leader in the field of public health service in Canada for more than a quarter of a century, Dr. Routley gave up a lucrative medical practice in Maple in 1921 to join the Red Cross.

He became national commissioner the year before the Second World War and guided the society through the ensuing years of strife during which the Canadian Red Cross distributed 50,000,000 articles of clothing to needy countries overseas, sent 15,000,000 prisoner-of-war parcels to Europe and spent $90,000,000 contributed by the people of Canada.

Dr. Routley, who represented the Canadian society on many world medical organizations, retired from the job of commissioner at the end of 1948 because he felt the job was for a "younger man." He was then 68.

Great Experience

In the announcement of his retirement, Dr. Routley said "It has been a satisfying experience watching the Red Cross grow into a great, powerful organization."

He continued as Canadian representative on such organizations as the League of Red Cross Societies, a body in which he had been medical director for a few months in 1926.

9th Man Dies Following Crash

SUDBURY, Feb. 13 (CP)—The death toll in last Friday's level-crossing crash at nearby Coniston reached nine today with the death in hospital of Enoch (Ernie) Cooper of Sudbury.

From the time of the crash, in which a CPR train plowed into a bus loaded with workers going home from the midnight shift at the Coniston smelter of the International Nickel Company, Cooper had been on the critically injured list. He suffered multiple cuts, bruises, crushed pelvis, head injuries and acute shock.

Of the nine victims four were killed outright, three other men died on the way to or in hospital the same day, and the eighth died Sunday in hospital.

Sudbury Father Dies From Severe Burns

SUDBURY, Feb. 13 (CP)—Jean Guy Mathieu, 24, burned in a fire that took the lives of three of his four children, died in hospital early today.

An oxygen tent rushed here from Ottawa Monday failed to save his life. He had 50 per cent of the skin burned from his body in a vain attempt to save his three children from the fire that destroyed their frame house near Coniston, about six miles east of here.

Mathieu had carried his youngest baby, 13-month-old Roger, from the flaming home before going back for the other children. His wife also escaped and she and her son are living with relatives in Sudbury. She is expecting another baby.

ACTH, cortisone and other new drugs were used in an effort to save Mathieu's life.

Flu Epidemic Reported In Montreal

Scattered Outbreaks Across Canada, Few Cases In Ontario

By The Canadian Press

Scattered outbreaks of influenza, apparently in a milder form that that prevalent in Britain, were reported today across Canada, a Canadian Press survey showed.

At the same time, in Eastern Canada, where the winter has been comparatively "open," health departments said many persons were suffering from colds. It was suggested that some persons who thought they had taken influenza had, in fact, only severe colds.

92 Die In Montreal

In Montreal city health officer Dr. Adelard Groulx said today that 92 persons have died in Montreal since the turn of the year "of causes which can be attributed to influenza."

He was definite in calling the prevalence of flu in Montreal at present "an epidemic."

"We have reached the term when incidence is highest," he said. "The next two weeks will tell us the progress of this epipemic."

Meantime one newspaper conducted a survey which showed a 20 per cent absenteeism from work in Montreal. Dr. Groulx said his information supported the results of the newspaper survey.

The health department's bureau of statistics said that 95 deaths were reported yesterday. Normal number of daily deaths in Montreal is 40 to 45.

"While not all of these deaths were due to the flu, the epidemic played a major part in bringing the figure up," the department said.

Few In Ontario

At Toronto eighteen influenza cases have been reported in Ontario this year, an Ontario health department spokesman said today. He said the cases are fewer than usual.

SaysCommunists Organized Strike

LONDON, Feb. 13 (Reuters)—Gerry McManus, former Canadian Seamen's Union leader, today said Communists organized the British dock strike in the summer of 1949.

In an article published in the official journal of the Transport and General Workers' Union, Mc. Manus gave the details of the strike organization.

McManus was secretary-treasurer of the CSU until he left the Canadian Communist party seven months ago. The 1949 British dock strike followed a strike of CSU members on Canadian ships which arrived in British ports.

This strike of the Canadian seamen, McManus wrote, was called "at the secret request of the British Communist party to create an artificial strike issue for the dock workers of London."

New Snow Avalanche Takes High Death Toll

GENEVA, Switzerland, Feb. 13 (AP).—New snow avalanches roared disastrously down Alpine mountainsides today for the second time in three weeks, killing at least 19 and possibly 22 persons in Switzerland and Italy.

Continuing snow falls, alternating with thaws, heightened the danger of more slides in the Swiss, Italian, Austrian, and French Alps where about 130 persons died under avalanches in late January.

Twelve and possibly 15 persons lost their lives in crunching avalanches which wrecked two villages in eastern Switzerland in the last 48 hours. Seven persons were believed killed and 27 were injured in avalanches or accidents due to the weather near Italy's frontier with France and Switzerland.

Girl With Cancer Valentine Holds Hearts of Nation

ATLANTA, Ga., Feb. 12 (AP)—Frail little "Miss Beautiful," the kid with cancer who whispered she would like to be a Valentine, is happily holding the hearts of a nation today.

It is a warm, snuggly feeling for 12-year-old Jacquelyn Marre. Over and over she murmurs, "Mother, why, oh why, is everybody so good to me?"

Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Marre, say Jacquelyn has insisted on sending a paper heart to everybody whose address she has.

This is an especially-nice Valentine season for Jacquelyn, because last year she was unconscious most of the time.

She had to undergo three major brain operations and it was after the second that the doctors declared the cancer incurable.

It was then, said her father, that "we took her out of the hospital and brought her home to be happy."

Life can be pretty dull when you have to spend 90 per cent of your time in bed, and this year Jacquelyn said it would make her mighty happy if she could be someone's Valentine.

Fighting men and firemen, circus folk and business men, housewives and newspaper people read of her plea and deluged Jacquelyn with Valentine greetings.

Jacquelyn received the title of "Miss Beautiful," by the way, from San Diego, Calif., newspaper photographers.

The game little girl, who was given but three months to live over a year ago, has had to stop listening to the news broadcasts, her father reported. "She gets too upset. Worries about eveything."

This is the child who once told her father, "If I had one last wish, it would be for world peace."

Fine Publisher, 2 Reporters $3,600 On Story

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (CP).—Publishers of the Ottawa Journal and two of its reporters today were fined a total of $3,600 for contempt of court in connection with a story dealing with the Sullivan manslaughter trial.

Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, in imposing the fine, said the story was "shocking" and if it were not for the good name of the Ottawa Journal, he would have all those responsible for the story committed to jail.

He referred to the story appearing on the front page of the newspaper Feb. 3 in which the two reporters said that they had learned that Mrs. Marion Sullivan, charged with manslaughter in the death of her lawyer-husband, would go to the witness box to tell in her own words the story of her husband's death, which had been "locked in secrecy" since he died in a Chateau Laurier bedroom Nov. 17.

The chief justice said the story implied that Mrs. Sullivan had some secret information to conceal. This implication would have an effect on the jury, some members of which might have access to the newspaper report and be influenced by it.

Make Apologies

Chief Justice McRuer imposed a fine of $3,000 on the Ottawa Journal Publishing Company and $300 each on reporters Ainslie Kerr and Ross Smith.

Grattan O'Leary, associate editor of the Journal, appearing in court, said the newspaper had no intent of being in contempt of court and apologized if it was so construed.

Both reporters also apologized.

Kerr said the information was given to him by sources assumed to be in proper knowledge and he did not have any idea at the time of writing the article of being in contempt of court. Smith said he had nothing to add.

Both counsel for the defence and the Crown stated they had given out no information which would cause the reporters to write such an article.

Commenting on the story, Chief Justice McRuer said:

"The story has placed the accused woman in a position where, if she did not give evidence, the jury might believe she was concealing something, that she had something to tell.

"The fact is, she did give her story. She told her story to the coroner, and in her statements to the police and, with minor variations, all of those statements were consistent with one another.

"This is obviously the sort of thing which could easily influence the jury, some members of which might not realize that an accused person is not bound to give testimony in his or her own defence.

"I cannot permit this serious matter to go unpunished. I am going to impose what I consider to be a very moderate fine in consideration of fines which have been imposed in England under similar circumstances."

Has Hiccups For 10 Days

MONTREAL, Feb. 13 (CP) — After 10 days of hiccupping about once every four seconds, relief has finally come to 54-year-old Joe Goldberg. Now he has to worry only about the flu, and even that is on the wane with him.

Neither Mr. Goldberg nor his family can understand why the hiccups suddenly stopped Monday around supper time. But at least they have stopped, and Mr. Goldberg hopes that this time it's for good.

Two Madoc Officials Fined $20,000 Each In Tax Case

BELLEVILLE, Feb. 13—(CP)—Two men today were fined $20,000 and costs each for conspiracy to defraud in an income tax evasion involving $56,000. Edward S. James of Belleville and Roy Taylor of Madoc, officials of the Canada Talc Company, Madoc, pleaded guilty Monday to conspiring to defraud the Federal Government of $56,499 between 1940 and 1947.

In magistrate's court Monday an income-tax investigator testified that the mining company made payments and cash transfers during the seven years of $119,150 to the account of J. S. Wallwork, Belleville, accountant for the company, who also faces a conspiracy charge.

Paid Back

The investigator said the moneys were then charged back against the company in the form of purchases and expense accounts, but of the amount, $116,000 was not spent. Then, by agreement, Mr. Wallwork paid two-thirds of this amount back to the other men and retained one-third for himself, the investigator said. This reduced the taxable income of the company by approximately $93,377 and resulted in a tax reduction of $56,496.

The $116,000 taken from the company was not shown in the personal incomes of the three men, the investigator added.

The company made a full adjustment of its income tax with the Federal Government before Monday's hearing. Mr. James and Mr. Taylor also paid back to the company the money transferred to Mr. Wallwork.

Thief Escapes In Chief's Car

CORNWALL, Reb. 13.—Township Police Chief R. L. Giroux's car was stolen here Monday. Before it was recovered three police forces had organized a dragnet, the thief was chased at high speeds along a highway and an OPP cruiser skidded on ice and crashed in a ditch. The thief was not captured.

According to Chief Giroux his car was taken from the front of his Pitt St. home. City, township and provincial police began a search for it and finally it was spotted on No. 2 Highway several miles east of here.

Constable M. L. Vallevand gave chase but lost the car when his own OPP cruiser skidded into a ditch. Other officers found the chief's stolen car abandoned on the highway further east. They believe the thief escaped by crossing the frozen St. Lawrence River on foot.

Observer Delegates Have Important Role

COLOMBO, Ceylon, Feb. 13—(Reuters) — Observer delegates from the United States and the International Bank are expected to play an important part in discussions at the third Commonwealth Conference on aid to south and southeast Asia which opened here today.

The bank and the United States are regarded as the main possible "outside" sources for the £1,868,000,000 ($5,330,400,000) scheme inaugurated at a meeting of Commonwealth foreign ministers here in January, 1950.

Commonwealth countries represented at the curernt conference are: Canada, Australia, Britain, Ceylon, India, New Zealand and Pakistan.

Observer delegations are present from Burma, Cambodia, Indonesia, Laos, the Philippines, Thailand, Vonam I Doates, and from the International Bank.

Shoots At Wife Given 10 Years

ST. CATHARINES, Feb. 13 — (CP)—Frank Kasparek, convicted Saturday of wilfully shooting at his wife with intent to maim and doing grievous bodily harm, today was sentenced to 10 years.

Defense counsel Stuart H. Fleming called a number of character witnesses who testified to Kasparek's reputation as a citizen, his honesty, and generosity. Among those testifying were N. J. M. Lockhart, former mayor and member of parliament; Dr. J. C. Ball, county jail physician; Thomas Church, secretary of the Canadian Legion; Wray Horton, justice of the peace; and Inspector J. S. Anderson of the city police.

Dr. Ball also testified that Kasparek was not in good health and was not fit for hard work.

In passing sentence, Mr. Justice Gale pointed out that shooting with itent to maim is of equal seriousness to attempted murder, and both have a maximum penalty of life imprisonment. The jury, in finding Kasparek guilty of "wilful shooting" with "intent to maim", rejected the suggestion that he was suffering from amnesia or mental confusion.

Resume Negotiations For Argentine Meat

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 13 (AP) —The Foreign Ministry announced today Britain and Argentina will resume negotiations on the purchase of Argentine meat. Seven months ago Britain refused to pay higher prices asked by this country and stopped imports.

It is believed here that the British public, whose meat ration recently was cut to an all-time low for 8d (nine cents) worth of fresh meat a week per person, will force the Labor Government to accept Argentina's price demands.

SAIGON, Indo-China, Feb. 13 (Reuters).—French troops supported by gunboats killed at least 80 rebels, captured another 100 and sank 200 sampans in raids on rebel strongholds about 55 miles south of Hanoi, army authorities announced today.

7 Enemy Divisions Mass West of Hoengsong In Attempt To Split MacArthur Forces, Cut Off Wonju Road

TOKYO, Feb. 13—(AP)—Chinese Communists shifted the direction of their massive attack in Central Korea today and headed down mountain corridors to split Allied lines between Wonju and Yoju. Gen. MacArthur visited the western front and warned on his return to Tokyo that the enemy still has plenty of manpower and supplies. The first Red onslaughts dented Allied lines as much as 18 miles and swept United Nations forces out of the road centre of Hoengsong, miles north of Wonju and 50 air miles east of Seoul.

But this apparently was only the eastern wing of a heavier attack.

Lead-off columns of at least seven Chinese divisions massed in the area west of Hoengsong and north of Chipyong struck southward Tuesday. They slipped past Chipyong, 19 miles west of Hoengsong, and headed down two mountain valleys toward the Wonju-Yongju road.

Other Chinese forces surrounded Chipyong and Tuesday night launched an attack on the town. Tanks or self-propelled guns pounded Chipyong from the south-west while artillery or mortars were firing from the north-east. Other attacks came from the north and east.

Mortar fire was falling inside Chipyong.

Heavy Air Attacks

The Chinese were moving in bands numbering up to 1,000 men. They ran into furious Allied air attacks.

Allied Air Force, Marine and Navy planes combined in low-level strikes aimed to break up the mounting threat to the main east-west road in Northern South Korea.

Once in possession of the road, the Reds would be in position to strike east or west behind Allied lines. They would menace the four or more divisions along the western front in the Seoul area, and 10th Corp units holding the central front line near Wonju.

Allied air power pounced on one band of 1,000 Reds moving down the westernmost of the two valleys near Sokking. Pilots estimated they killed 300.

Allied planes also hit two other groups—about 400 Reds 10 miles north-east of Yoju and another 100 skirting Chipyong.

Out of Trap

There was little ground fighting Tuesday compared with Monday's blazing battle around Hoengsong. American and South Korean troops had fought their way out of the trap sprung by a 100,000-man Red force and had

Find Escaped Patient At Pt. Hope Terminal

PORT HOPE, Feb. 13—(CP)—A mental patient who escaped from the Ontario Hospital at Whitby, 25 miles west of here, was picked up in the bus terminal here Monday night a few hours after being reported at large "armed with a knife".

Ashton Simpson, 45, was unarmed when police took him into custody. Port Hope is 40 miles east of Toronto.

Women Braver Than Men On Scaffold, Hangman Says

LONDON, Feb. 13 (Reuters)—Take it from a man in a position to know: Women go to the scaffold more bravely than men.

"I have never known a condemned woman to break down at the last moment," Britain's chief hangman told a government commission investigating capital punishment.

Albert Pierrepoint, 45, conducts executions as a part-time job. The rest of the time he runs quiet Manchester pub called "Help the Poor Struggler."

Called to give his views on the death penalty, Pierrepoint, whose evidence was published in a government paper Monday, said he believes hanging is "quick, certain and humane." He could not think of any improvement on the English method.

"I think it is the fastest and quickest in the world, bar nothing. It is quicker than shooting and cleaner."

Asked if there was anything particularly difficult or unpleasant in the execution of a woman he replied: "No. I think a woman is braver than a man and I have seen more executions than anybody living."

Officially Britain has no chief executioner. Responsibility for selecting a hangman when needed rests with local sheriffs. But Pierrepoint's fame has spread and invariably they choose him. He receives £10 (about $30) for every hanging plus his expenses.

Since Pierrepoint was called on to hang European war criminals he has had "assignments" in many parts of the continent.

"My job is sacred to me," he said. "Normally I refuse to talk about it. It is something I think should be kept secret."

Defence Council Sums Up Sullivan Case

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (CP) — Defence counsel Roydon Hughes today maintained that Mrs. Marion Sullivan was innocent of the charge of manslaughter.

Summing up his case, the defence counsel cautioned the 12-man Ontario Supreme Court jury against misinterpreting the Crown's charge that "blunt force" had been applied to the head of Francis J. Sullivan.

The Toronto woman is charged with having beaten her husband about the head and body in a Chateau Laurier bedroom Nov. 17 last.

Blunt force can be anything, he said. It can be any kind of force in which the body comes in contact with another object.

He recalled that even a Crown witness had maintained that Mr. Sullivan had died of natural causes through a brain haemorrhage.

As for the 60 injuries found on the body, Mr. Hughes said he was not going to try to suggest how those injuries were suffered, whether through falling on the bathroom floor or otherwise.

Says Bottle 'Out'

As medical evidence, the broken bottle which the Crown alleges is probably the weapon used to beat Mr. Sullivan "is out," Mr. Hughes said.

Evidence had been given that no blow had been struck sufficiently hard to break a bottle.

Pieces of a soda-water bottle were found in Mrs. Sullivan's luggage, and others in the hotel bedroom.

Mrs. Sullivan gathered up the glass and placed it in her bags because she was a "good housekeeper."

He recalled that Mrs. Sullivan had said in a statement to police that she discovered the body at 1:30 a.m., Nov. 18. She called for help at about 3:20 a.m.

Big 4 Deputies Meet March 10

PARIS, Feb. 13 (AP) — The big four deputies will meet in Paris between Mar. 10 and 15 to arrange for a meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union, a French government official said today.

This source said the deputies would set the terms, a place, and a date for the meeting.

Such a meeting would have as its main purpose the working out of an agenda for the Big Four conference.

The deputies, it was reported, will be special representatives named for the occasion.

The exchange of notes between the East and West on the proposed Big Four meeting began last Nov. 3, when the Soviet Union invited the Western powers to meet and discuss the future of Germany with accent on the demilitarization of that country.

$75,000 Fire Razes Camp Borden Canteen

CAMP BORDEN, Feb. 13 (CP) —A $75,000 fire Monday night destroyed the Sherman Club, men's canteen building of the Royal Canadian Armored Corps at this Central Ontario army base. All stock, fittings and furnishings were lost.

The fire broke out about an hour after the club was closed at 10:30 p.m. Officials said they had no idea how it started.

Don't Need Controls At Moment Abbott Tells MP's

OTTAWA, Feb. 13—(CP)—Reimposition of price controls at this time would be neither desirable nor effective, Finance Minister Abbott told the Commons Monday night. He rejected requests of Opposition parties for immediate action to halt the rise in the cost of living. Mr. Abbott said he does not believe that as yet a proportion of Canada's national production has gone into defence output to the extent that controls are necessary.

The Government, with experience in controls in the Second World War, knew the limitations an capabilities of controls, and would use them "to the extent" needed when it felt they were necessary.

Mr. Abbott outlined the government's views after George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, charged that government policies alone were responsible for the development of inflation.

Mr. Drew spoke in support of a CCF motion calling for a vote of non-confidence in the government because it has "failed" to reimpose price controls and pay subsidies where necessary. A vote on the motion may be taken today.

Welcomes Support

M. J. Coldwell, CCF leader, welcomed Mr. Drew's support but said he wished to remind the House that in the post-war years when the CCF party was urging the continuation of controls and subsidies the Progressive Conservatives voted against it.

Earlier, the debate centred on the manpower issue and was highlighted by a call from James Sinclair (L-Coast - Capilano), parliamentary assistant to Mr. Abbott, for compulsory military training in the reserve forces and the cadet corps.

Other speakers included E. D. Fulton (PC-Kamloops), J. L. Gibson (Ind.-Comox-Alberni), Clarie Gillis, (CCF-Cape Breton South), and Julian Ferguson (PC-Simcoe North).

Mr. Abbott said the government would not hesitate to put into force such controls—whether price controls or otherwise—that it deemed necessary to protect the Canadian economy.

The government would do "what it can" to halt inflation. But, "make no mistake about it, this isn't one of those things you can cure by passing a law."

Need Higher Production

The cure for inflation was increased production and curtailed expenditures.

Noting that Mr. Drew had said the government had taken "no single step" to fight inflation, Mr. Abbott outlined some of the government moves in that direction.

One major step was a reduction in govenrment expeditures to the point where the government's 1950 surplus would be "very close" to $400,000,000. That meant the government was taking more out of the spending spread than it was putting into it. The reductions in government expenditures since Korea had been "substantial."

"I intend," he said, "to budget this year for a fully-balanced budget."

Mr. Drew recalled that his party had before the House a motion calling for a vote of non-confidence in the government because is has "failed" to provide leadership; to raise the troops needed for defence and to carry out international obligations; and to deal with inflation and the high cost of living.

While his motion had not mentioned price controls or subsidies his party believed that both should be used to fight inflation. They should be used now to deal with the threat to the economy.

Would Cut Spending

The Progressive Conservative party also wanted substantial reduction of non-defence spending; increased production in every line not only to meet defence requirements but to fill the needs of the people; immigration to provide a larger population to bear the burdens of the defence effort; removal of anythig that discourages the building of new homes; and the use of government powers to deal with the credit of Canada.

Mr. Coldwell said the government's statement that controls will be imposed at some time is an invitation to some business men to boost their prices. This was done not only to make profits but also to make sure their prices were at the highest level when the controls were imposed.

Have Own Policies

Mr. Drew said Trade Minister Howe had suggested that it was not necessary for Canada to institute controls since the United States already had taken action. But Mr. Howe had forgotten that Canada had her own sovereignty and her own policies.

The inflationary pressures would become "infinitely greater" than they were today. The whole tendency would be for the cost of living to go still higher unless steps are taken to "bring it under restraint."

Mr. Coldwell said that in speaking of price controls he included rent controls. There already was a large measure of control on wages and on the prices of farm produce.

He called for imposition of an excess-profit tax and for a capital-gain tax on unearned income.

Provincial Lab In New City Hall

A net increase of $7,896.54 in the Eastwood Construction Co. contract for the building of the city hall was approved by the finance committee of the council Monday night in a motion by Aldermen James Gillespie and J. A. Dewart.

This expenditure relates chiefly to the allotment of accommodation for the provincial laboratory which was arranged subsequently to the letting of the main contract.

As recalled in the committee discussion there had been some intimation that the laboratory might be removed from Simcoe St. to Civic Hospital. Basement space was allotted in the City Hall to a well babies clinic of the Board of Health.

Want No Baby Carriages

Some comment about a clutter of baby carriages in a corridor was heard about the time that accommodation for the city's welfare office and plumbing inspector was proposed. Dr. R. A. Kelly, M.O.H., agreed to transfer of the clinic for babies; Dr. C. B. Waite, director of the provincial laboratory, was attracted to the space offered for it, and from those considerations the disposal of that part of the basement took final form.

Allocation is being made for the laboratory, and welfare and plumbing inspector's offices.

The Eastwood Construction Co. bid for extra work involved was $8,029.86, which is reduced by $133 for returned radiator cabinets. The net, $7,896.54, was estimated as reasonable by Mr. R Winter, the council's special adviser.

Worker Injured Loading Sand

Hit by a large lump of frozen sand, Evans McConkey, 29, Bridgenorth, suffered a fractured vertebrae Monday afternoon.

He was brought to Civic Hospital where his condition today was reported as satisfactory.

Mr. McConkey was working in a sand pit on the third line of Smith township. A large piece of frozen sand fell without warning from an overhanging ledge and hit him on the back.

It was not the first time that sand had fallen but always before there was a warning trickle first. This time there was no warning.

Mr. McConkey said he was working and the next thing he knew, he was lying on the ground.

He was taken in the truck to his employer Don MacKay in Bridgenorth by Ivan Sweeting who had been working with him. From there he was taken to a doctor and then to hospital.

Monroe Doctrine Aim For World

NEW YORK, Feb. 13 (AP). — Governor Thomas Dewey Monday night called for a world-wide Monroe Doctrine, with all-out war the penalty if Russia steps over the global line.

Inside the line, he suggested the free countries of the Atlantic pact, plus Greece, Turkey, Iran, Spain, Yugoslavia and the Moslem world from Egypt to China.

"Let us stop handing armies and navies over to the Russians" Dewey demanded in a Lincoln Day address. "The only way to stop it is to draw the line."

Dewey took sharp issue with Republicans who would limit aid to a disunited Europe.

He told the National Republican Club dinner here: "In all honesty I am compelled totally to reject the idea that Americans can live alone."

And the two-time Republican presidential candidate added:

"We cannot protect ourselves by withdrawing from the rest of the world. Operation withdrawal is operation suicide."

Dewey said the United States created a vacuum in Korea by taking the position that it would not be defended.

"There is grave doubt that Stalin would ever have launched the attack in Korea if he had known America would respond" he said. "We created a vacuum and dictators move into vacuums.

"Let us not repeat that blunder."

London Dockers Back At Work

LONDON, Feb. 13 (Reuters)—London dock strikers returned to work today, and for the first time in four days there was full working on ships.

More than 3,000 of the original 8,000 strikers decided at a mass meeting Monday to return to work, but to strike again next Tuesday when seven of their colleagues appear in court charged with conspiring to incite illegal strikes.

But thousands of strikers in the northwest ports of Liverpool and Birkenhead decided to stay out until their demands for 25 shillings ($3.50) a day in wages are met. They now receive 21 shillings, including a two-shilling increase awarded last week.

The dock strike originated in the northwest, in defiance of union officials, and affected only a few hundred London workers until last Thursday when the seven men were arrested.

Dr. F. W. Routley

Dr. Routley's Red Cross work was recognized by three foreign countries after the Second World War.

In 1947 he was awarded the Service Medal of the Greek Red Cross. Last July he received the French Cross of Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, and less than three months ago he was awarded one of the highest decorations of The Netherlands, the Commander's Cross of the Order of Orange Nassau.

Born In Lindsay

Dr. Routley was born in Lindsay where he received his early education. He was graduated in medicine from the University of Toronto in 1907 and took a post-graduate course in England.

The following year he set up practice in Maple. At the urgent request of officials of the Canadian Red Cross he gave up his private practice in 1921 to become director of the Red Cross Ontario division.

Under his leadership the division expanded rapidly and it was during his term that the outpost hospital service in isolated communities of Northern Ontario was organized.

He was a founder of the York County Medical Society and the first president of the Canadian Hospital Association from 1930 to 1934. He had been honorary secretary of the Ontario Hospital Association since 1924.

He is survived by his widow, the former Gertrude Fry; a daughter, Mrs. Arthur Kennedy; and four brothers, Frank, James, Al and Dr. Clarence Routley.

Funeral service will be held at 2:30 p.m. Thursday in the United Church at Maple with burial at the Maple Cemetery.

Engineer Drops Dead Train Stops Itself

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Feb. 13 (AP).—The engineer of a crowded Lackawanna Railroad commuter train dropped dead at his controls Monday night while the train was speeding through the Bergen Tunnel under Jersey City.

The train glided smoothly to a stop—thanks to the so-called "dead man's button" device in the cab. The automatic device stops a train when the engineer relaxes his hold on the throttle.

Engineer Joseph Barry was pronounced dead of a heart attack.

Need New Kind Of Pig Kennedy Declares

MILTON, Ont., Feb. 13 (CP)—Agriculture Minister Kennedy said Monday what farmers need is a new kind of pig.

"We should have sows that would produce two litters of 10 pigs each year, and produce offspring that would do the same," he said. "Then we would have pigs that would really show a profit."

Col. Kennedy was speaking to farmers, provincial government representatives and newspapermen who visited the Ontario government's first pig hatchery a few miles from here.

He said attempts to produce the more efficient sow were among the projects being carried on at the farm.

Churchill Says UK Defences In Grave Danger

LONDON, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Winston Churchill said Monday Britain is in grave danger after "the costly and dilatory mishandling of our defences" during the Labor Government's five years in office.

"The Socialist party have not got the capacity to give the people the leadership needed to preserve peace through strength," he said.

Churchill made these comments in a letter to Sir Walter Monckton, Conservative candidate in a by-election in Bristol Thursday.

The special election in the strongly-Conservative district was made necessary by the recent death of Oliver Stanley, member of the Conservative high command in parliament.

Last week, Labor party headquarters announced that Prime Minister Attlee would not send the Labor party candidate, Harold Lawrance, the party leader's customary letter of support just before the election. Lawrance, a Pacifist, had criticized the Labor Government's rearmament program.

Churchill said in his letter that the Attlee Government had acted with "hesitation and timidity . . . in the seven anxious months since the Communist aggression in Korea began".

This, he said, "reflects the deep division in their ranks which you can see for yourselves in West Bristol".

Fight Way Out

taken up new defensive positions.

Much of Tuesday was spent by both Allies and Communists in regrouping for new fighting.

The withdrawal from Hoengsong leaves Chipyong the northernmost Allied strongpoint on the central front.

For the first time Red tanks were reported moved in to bolster the Communist defences along the north shore of the Han River and inside Seoul.

Alied airmen claimed two tanks destroyed. Some of the tanks were British that had been abandoned in previous action.

South-east of the Han, savage local fights flared.

Local Campaign

MacArthur, who visited the front lines near Seoul on his flying trip to Korea, said U.N. forces are fighting the only kind of war they can: an aggressive local campaign.

"We are still engaged in a war of manoeuvre with the object of inflicting as heavy a punishment on the enemy as possible," MacArthur said. He added that any attempt to set up an allied line across Korea would "insure the destruction of our forces piecemeal."

The top commander said the future of allied forces in Korea "is largely dependent upon international considerations." He added:

"Talk of crossing the 38th parallel at the present stage of the campaign, except by scattered patrol action incidental to the tactical situation, is purely academic."

The Communists launched their big push on the central front after the allies had made sweeping gains all along the front in a "limited" offensive that began Jan. 25.

The massed Red forces sprang upon five Allied columns late Sunday night. The shrill blare of bugles and roll of drums signalled the onslaught. The Reds struck through snowy mountain passes and valleys with elements of three to six Chinese armies and two Red Korean corps.

Once again the Chinese were attempting to smash and encircle Allied forces with sheer masses of manpower.

Bitter Fighting

Confused, bitter fighting swirled all day and night Monday throughout the Hoengsong area. Finally two U.S. 2nd Division battalions and a South Korean regiment fought their way out of the Communist trap north of Hoengsong.

By 11 a.m. Tuesday (9 p.m. EST Monday), the hard-hit elements of Maj.-Gen. Edward M. Almond's 10th Corps had broken off ground contact with the attacking Reds. AP correspondent John Randolph said at 2 p.m. Tuesday (Monday midnight EST) that there was a lull, with both sides regrouping for renewed fighting.

Today's communique said Monday's report that the South Korean capital division had crossed Parallel 38 and taken Yangyang five miles inside Red Korea on the east coast was in error. It added that another report that the republican division had been forced back across the Parallel also was in error.

In the west, the U.S. 25th and 3rd Divisions consolidated their positions around the recaptured port of Inchon, Seoul's industrial suburb of Yongdungpo and the capital's big Kimpo airfield.

But the powerful Communist smash on the central front threatened the Allied position in the west. A break-through at Wonju once again would imperil the retreat route for western front divisions along the highway from Seoul to Taegu, and might force them to withdraw.

Between the Allied forces on the central and western fronts, U.S. 9th Corps artillerymen pumped shells into Red-held areas where the Communists were believed massing for another big-scale attack.

MacArthur, on another of his occasional visits to the battle front, stood Tuesday on the south bank of the Han River and watched Allied artillery and planes pound Red-occupied Seoul.

"The Eighth Army is doing as well as can be anticipated," the top commander told correspondents. He did not visit the central front and had no comment on the massive Red push in that area.

MacArthur landed at Suwon airfield, south of Seoul, at about noon. He flew back to Tokyo later in the day.

Hoengsong fell to the Reds Monday midnight in bitter hand-to-hand fighting. South Korean elements as much as eight miles north of Hoensong on their way to Parallel 38 were routed. Reinforcing American troops brought them back to battle.

A Communist column of 1,000 Reds was seen moving six miles southeast of Chipyong. Airmen dispersed the column. Chipyong is 19 miles west of Hoengsong.

Okinawa-based B-29s were rushed into the Korean battle during the day. They damaged bridges, roads and hit enemy supplies.

American, British, Australian and New Zealand troops around Yoju awaited an impending Red assault building on their right. Yoju is 17 miles west of Wonju.

Lt.-Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway, U.S. Eighth Army commander, may have anticipated the Red central front drive when he sent his tank-led forces into the Seoul area. He may be able to spring a trap of his own on the Reds if they succeed in getting far enough south.

Flu Epidemic

"There are a lot of colds about and a good deal of absenteeism in schools and industry," he added. "But the causative factor cannot be described as 'flu."

In Sydney, N.S., Schools Supervisor A. W. Woodill announced that 1,500 students and 24 teachers had taken ill. The outbreak downed 10 to 15 per cent of Halifax city employees and about 20 per cent of the city's teachers and students.

In the west a "large number" of influenza cases were reported around the Battlefords and Prince Albert in northern Saskatchewan. Before the outbreak passed its peak in the Battlefords, about 20 per cent of the population was said affected. In Prince Albert, many pupils were away from classes and business firms were shorthanded.

See Prices Easing On Toronto Exchange

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP). — Prices eased as the session progressed on the Toronto Stock Exchange today.

Papers paced the industrial list with a wide list of small declines and agricultures, foods, liquors, refining oils, and textiles showed a majority of losses. Utilities, constructions and banks were about balanced with gains and losses and steels, manufacturing companies and retail stores were firm.

Base metals declined with losses that ranged to 50 cents. Heading the group downward were Waite Amulet, International Nickel, Labrador, Noranda and Falconbridge. Consolidated Smelters, a feature Monday, bucked the trend and climbed $3 to $54.

Defence Council

That may not be the exact time said Mr. Hughes. It is likely Mrs. Sullivan erred in giving these estimates. A woman in her condition likely would be confused. It likely was a half-hour and not nearly two hours before help was called.

"Mrs. Sullivan is as innocent as you and I am until the Crown has proven its case against her.

"I ask you gentlemen of the jury to find Mrs. Sullivan not guilty and allow her to return to her family."

Unanswered Questions

Crown Attorney Raoul Mercier called on the jury to make one decision and one decision only—whether a crime had been committed and who had committed it.

He recalled Crown evidence that the hotel room had been found double-locked in the late afternoon and evening of Nov. 17.

It appeared odd that the people in the room did not want the room made up, he said.

Mr. Mercier outlined a number of questions which he said, would be for the jury to decide. Could not the large bruise found behind Mr. Sullivan's right ear have been struck by a bottle? Why was there glass in Mrs. Sullivan's luggage? Had Mr. Sullivan not been beaten would he not be alive today even though he suffered from a brain tumor? How did Mrs. Sullivan receive the bruises found on a breast, arm and leg in a routine search by a policewoman?

Mr. Mercier submitted that Mr. Sullivan did not die of natural causes, but by a beating which caused a brain tumor to bleed.

Students To Hear Norma Hughes

White Cane Week will be marked on Friday at PCVS when former student Miss Norma Hughes, Toronto, now of the Canadian Institute of the Blind, will be guest speaker at the senior assembly.

In spite of her handicap, Miss Hughes completed her education in PCVS with high academic standing. C. S. Browne, principal, recalled today that during the summer holidays Miss Hughes, with her mother's help, would change the text books for the next term into Braille form.

School records show that Miss Hughes never missed a day in her years at PCVS and was never late. Her academic record was: 92 and 92 per cent in Grade 9; 89 and 91 in Grade 10; 92 and 89 in Grade 11; 74 and 76 in Grade 12; 83 and 82 in Grade 13; 86 and 89 in Special Commercial. In middle school she received 10 firsts (over 75 per cent) in 10 subjects and in upper school seven first and two seconds (between 66 per cent and 75 per cent).

U.S. Consults Allies About 38th

Say Final Decision Yet To Be Made, But Plan Conference

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 — (AP)—The United States is consulting its UN allies on whether to drive beyond the Korean 38th parallel if their forces are able to do so.

A department spokesman announced this after Prime Minister Attlee told the British House of Commons that UN forces should be kept south of the former dividing line until there is full consultation with the UN.

Britain's stand has been that to push north of the old occupation boundary might compromise remaining chances for a peaceable settlement with Communist China U.S. officials are reported to be inclined to the same view, at least for the current stage of the fighting.

The State Department's announcement, made in response to reporters' questions, indicated a firm final decision has yet to be made. The question may come up for a new airing at a session today of ambassadors from U.N. countries which have forces in Korea. They meet periodically at the State Department for a battle briefing.

Academic Issue

The issue is largely academic in view of the new Chinese counterattack which halted the momentum of the Eighth Army's limited offensive. At the same time revised official information in Korea cast doubt on the reports that one South Korean patrol unit had actually probed to a point on the east coast some five miles north of the parallel.

The possible political importance of the 38th parallel in event of negotiations with the Chinese Communists is well recognized here. The U.S. last December indicated willingness to consider halting there. This was when a cease-fire proposal was submitted to Peiping which called for a 20-mile buffer zone with the U.N. forces at the border and the Chinese on the north side of the zone.

The administration only a few days ago was reportedly agreed on a policy in respecting the old dividing line for the time being. It was never made plain at the time whether this represented agreement with the other U.N. governments or was actually transmitted to Gen. Douglas MacArthur's headquarters.

Canadian Pianist Hit In London

LONDON, Feb. 13 (CP).—Ross Pratt, Winnipeg-born concert pianist, scored a resounding personal triumph Sunday night when he appeared as soloist with the London Symphony Orchestra.

Playing before a capacity crowd of 6,000 in Albert Hall, the Canadian was accorded a rousing ovation for his stirring rendition of Tchaikovsky's Concerto in B Flat Minor. He was recalled four times by his enthusiastic listeners. Even members of the orchestra joined in applauding the Winnipegger's fine technique and polished performance.

It was Pratt's first appearance as soloist in Albert Hall, where many of the world's leading artists have scored their greatest triumphs. The Canadian pianist, however, is no newcomer to London. He completed his musical studies at the Royal Academy of Music, mace his debut at historic Wigmore Hall and last year gave the first performance in England of the Richard Arnell Concerto with the Royal Philharmonic Orchestra.

Pratt at present is on the staff of London's Royal Academy of Music. He plans to leave for Canada in April for a three-month visit. Although the trip is meant to be a holiday, Pratt said he will travel as far west as Calgary with a few concerts en route.

Angus Richardson Superintendent

Angus Richardson, 58, a former Peterborough resident, has been appointed general superintendent of the Ontario Hydro Commission's $157,000,000 Niagara project. It was one of three appointments announced Monday by the HEPC.

Mr. Richardson was born in Peterborough and educated at PCVS. He graduated from the University of Toronto as a civil engineer.

Before his appointment to the Niagara project he worked on the Des Joachims development on the Otttawa River. He also worked for the HEPC at Barrett's Chute and Stewartville.

Three sisters are living in Peterborough: Mrs. Jack Gillespie, Homewood Ave.; Mrs. Ada Strong, London St.; and Miss Ethel Richardson, McDonnel St.

Cobourg Mayor From 1933-36 J. Delanty Dies

COBOURG, Feb. 13 (ENS) — One time mayor of Cobourg, Jack Delanty died yesterday at his home here in his 62nd year. He had been in poor health since last September and took a decided change for the worse a week ago. He was born and educated in Cobourg and attended St. Michael's College in Toronto. For many years he was associated with his brother and father in the monument trade, later going into the coal business. Due to ill health he retired last year.

Mr. Delanty was in municipal life for more than 25 years, serving as mayor from 1933 to 1936 and for many years in town council as councillor, deputy reeve and reeve. He was never defeated at the polls. Mr. Delanty was chairman of the Public Utilities Commission at the time of his death and had been on the commission since 1936.

Mr. Delanty was a member of St. Michael's Catholic Church, belonged to the Holy Name Society and is a past grand knight of the Knights of Columbus.

He is survived by his widow, who was Helen Kowen, two daughters, Joan and Sheila and two sons, James and Peter. Also surviving are his father, Patrick Delanty, two brothers, Joe in Cobourg and C. A. Delanty of Rochester and six sisters, Mrs. Bert Smith, Toronto, Mrs. Ray Slingerland, Toronto, Sister Collette at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, Mrs. Thomas Calnan of Baltimore, Mrs. James Dillon of Cobourg and Agnes at home. The funeral will be on Wednesday from St. Michael's Church to St. Michael's Cemetery.

To Swear In Dozen Deputy Game Officers

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 13. — (ENS)—Much closer control of fish and game laws will be possible in the Campbellford area in the future, after a meeting to be held Tuesday evening, when 10 and possibly 12 deputy game wardens will be sworn in.

This move has been sanctioned by the Department of Lands and Forests, and the men will operate under Conservation Officer Reg. McCulloch.

Mr. McCulloch, while doing an excellent job of overseeing in the area, finds it impossible to be everywhere at once, and his job is a tough one in summer when the area is alive with tourists. The swearing in of the additional men will make the job of checking on anglers and hunters considerably easier.

A list of the names of the deputy wardens will be published after the Tuesday evening meeting, so that the public will know who the new assistants are, and be ready to accept their authority.

UK Gardener BrightensRegina

REGINA (CP).—The difference between Canada's Prairies and the wooded estates of Scotland was obvious to Thomas Leslie when he arrived in Regina in 1912.

But when he retired at the end of January, he could take satisfaction in tree-lined streets, well-planned parks and beautiful gardens in Saskatchewan's capital.

As a 37-year employee of the Regina Parks Department, nearly 13 years as parks superintendent, Mr. Leslie had something to say about the development that occurred.

But while his retirement plans are uncertain, gardening won't fit in with anything that develops.

"Gardening is my profession," said Mr. Leslie, "and I have enough of it at work without bothering about it at home." Born in Woodside village near Edinburg in 1886, Mr. Leslie took up the family profession and worked about 10 years on two Scottish estates before coming to Canada.

Mission Band Attends Service At Roseneath

ROSENEATH, Feb. 13—(ENS) —Members of Roseneath Misson Band attended church in a body Sunday morning with their leader Mrs. Louis King, at Roseneath United Church.

This Mission Band has won the standard of recognition for five consecutive years among mission bands of Cobourg Presbytery.

A star of recognition for their banner was presented to Mrs. King by the Rev. R. C. White during the service and the members of the band contributed a vocal number with Mrs. King playing piano accompaniment.

NZ Recruits Dutch Settlers

WELLINGTON, N. Z. (CP).—Now that the flow of post-war migrants from Britain to New Zealand is becoming slower, the Dominion is turning its attention to recruiting new settlers in Europe. Several large drafts of migrants have been accepted from displaced persons' camps, including a proportion of older people whom other countries have declined to take.

The chief source of foreign settlers has become The Netherlands, where the government is anxious to find an outlet for its surplus population. Hundreds of Dutch people have migrated to the Dominion from Indonesia, where their prospects have become doubtful as a result of the changed regime. The Netherlands government has also arranged for drafts of Dutch soldiers demobilized in Indonesia to settle in New Zealand.

Under an agreement with the Netherlands a start has been made in bringing 2,000 settlers a year direct from Holland. They are mostly young single workers with experience in farming or other pursuits in which there is a labor shortage in New Zealand. Those who have arrived are proving good citizens.

Mathews of George Street United Church officiated and pallbearers were Charles Jewison, Fred Barnard, Reginald and Fred Perrin, Raymond Staples and Reginald Falls. Burial was at Little Lake Cemetery.

Believes Music Real Cure For Delinquency

VANCOUVER — (CP) — Albert Steinberg has a cure for juvenile delinquency—music.

Mr. Steinberg, 40-year-old Toronto-born concert master and assistant conductor of the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, says music leaves no time for pranks.

"Give me one hour of each day in the classroom with every child from six years and up and I can cut down juvenile delinquency by 90 per cent."

His plan, as outlined in a recent magazine article published by The Vancouver Sun, is simple.

"Simply by helping each child to take an active interest in good music you stimulate his imagination," he said.

Develops Instrument

By an "active interest" he means that the child should either learn to play some instrument, or absorb through listening enough of an understanding of good music to develop a discriminating ear.

"Music becomes an enriching and broadening force which, by the very soundness of its background, assists the young person towards good citizenship and responsibility."

Mr. Steinberg conducts the children's concerts of the Vancouver Sympathy where music is scaled to the taste and development of the child.

The Saturday concerts are played before overflow audiences of 3,000 children.

He finds that any child occupied in developing a taste for good music has no time to get into "real mischief."

Mr. Steinberg, who came to Vancouver five years ago, is a former concert master of the Toronto Philharmonic.

Erosion Menaces Resort In England

LYME REGIS, England (CP)—This popular Dorset holiday resort has 100 years to live.

That's an unofficial estimate of how long it will be before Lyme Regis slips into the sea. Coast erosion has increased to such an extent that one cottage which was 200 feet from the water now has only two feet to spare.

Cracks have appeared in houses and parts of the harbour road have sunk 12 feet. At one point the sea has crept up to within 40 feet of the main road.

Civic authorities are awaiting an engineer's report before appealing to London for protection under recently-passed coastal protection legislation.

Sub-Arctic Lake Called Canada's Fishing Empire

HAY RIVER, N.W.T., Feb. 13 (CP).—The 11,000-square-mile Great Slave Lake in Canada's sub-Arctic is called the inland fishing empire of the continent by some government men and fishermen who have plied their trade throughout the Dominion.

Large-scale fishing on the lake is comparatively new—it was first declared open to commercial fishing in 1944-45—yet today the annual yield is valued at between $2,000,000 and $2,500,000.

Ninety per cent of the allowable 9,000,000-pound catch each year finds an American market outlet, netting Canada hundreds of thousands of American dollars.

Major fishing operations on the lake, some 720 air miles north of Edmonton, began two years after it was opened to commercial fishing. Now nine fishing companies share in the annual catch.

They use airplaes, snowmobiles, truck and speedy railway express to transport the fish nearly 3,000 miles to market outlets, mostly at New York, Chicago and Detroit.

The lake's whitefish and trout are rated the best fresh-water fish of their kind found anywhere on the continent.

In the winter season—Dec. 1 to March 31—the fishermen travel 50 to 150 miles out on the lake from Hay River on the south shore. They set up camps mostly in caboose shacks, few of them ever coming to town in the four months. The temperature often is 50 below zero or colder and the wind cuts like a knife. But the money is good.

Roseneath Pair Wed 35 Yrs.

ROSENEATH, Feb. 13 (ENS)—Approximately 50 friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert McCracken on Friday evening in honor of their 35th wedding anniversary.

James L. Timlin read an address and Earl Braithwaite, on behalf of the gathering, presented Mr. and Mrs. McCracken with a pair of white wool blankets. Lunch was served at midnight.

Earlier, a son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Ray McCracken, who reside on the homestead, entertained Mr. and Mrs. McCracken and the immediate family at a dinner and presented them with an electric table lamp.

Mr. and Mrs. McCracken were married at St. George's rectory, Hastings, on February 9, 1916 by the Rev. Thomas McKim. The bride was Uletta Jane Robins, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Robins, Robins Landing, Rice Lake and the groom a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCracken of Alnwick township.

Returning from their honeymoon they took up residence on their farm in the north end of Alnwick township. They have two sons, Bernard McCracken of Peterborough and Ray McCracken on the homestead, also two grandchildren, Ronald and Judy McCracken.

Mr. and Mrs. McCracken are active members and regular attendants of St. James Anglican church. Mrs. McCracken was a former president and always an active member of the W. A., while Mr. McCracken has held the office of People's Warden of the church for a number of years. He also is the manager of the Alnwick Rural Telephone System, a former councillor and an active member of the Agricultural Society.

Scientific Kiln Dried Lumber

After saturation by steam, the controlled fans dry the lumber by a pre-determined schedule.

The Dry Kiln at Monaghan and Lansdowne

The kiln is a Moore Cross Circulation type, with a capacity of approximately 25,000 ft. The lumber to be dried is piled as shown on kiln trucks and by means of a transfer is introduced to the kiln. The kiln houses the lumber and it is saturated with steam and scientifically dried according to a pre-determined schedule.

The small building, elevated at the left end of the picture, houses the controls, fan motors and meters, etc., to obtain and control the proper drying schedule for the particular specie of lumber in the kiln.

The kiln dried lumber when removed from the kiln is then stored in covered sheds.

Crossing the 38th Again?

We hope that yesterday morning's reports that U.N. troops have crossed or been sent across the 38th parallel in Korea are unfounded — even if they were South Koreans. It was reported that South Koreans occupied a place called Yang-Yang, five miles north of the line. If they have, they should be withdrawn until U.N. and particularly the member-nations who have troops in Korea, Canada among them, have been consulted and give their approval. As Prime Minister Attlee told the House of Commons yesterday, the 38th parallel is not a military line. Is it political, a political if temporary demarcation between North and South Korea? Any decision to cross that line is primarily political, and General MacArthur, his field commander, or the Chiefs of Staff in Washington have not the qualifications, nor should have the authority, to decide whether or not U.N. troops should be sent across it.

* * *

Prime Minister Attlee has demanded that General MacArthur keep his troops south of the 38th parallel until there has been full consultation with the United Nations. Prime Minister St. Laurent has a right to press a similar demand. It was the crossing of the 38th parallel last autumn which brought China into the war. Chinese troops are still south of the parallel but there is some indication that they may not be kept there. If political recognition is given that parallel by both sides, abstinence from military action across it might follow, lives could be saved and the prospect of a negotiated settlement of the muddled affairs in Korea and Asia generally would be improved.

National Income Fourteen Billion

The Bureau of Statistics has reported that in 1950 Canada's income was $14,164,000,000, the highest ever. This is an important piece of news, because the national income is considered to be the best single indicator of economic conditions. By "national income" is meant the total of salaries and wages from farm, factory and business; rents; income from investments and the like, in the country; in fact, the income derived from all goods and services.

The present high figure indicates an unprecedented economic activity far surpassing that of even war years. During the war the net national income expanded from $3,940,000 in 1938 to $9,685,000,000 in 1944, an increase of 146 per cent. Since 1944 the national income has been rising spectacularly, and the latest increase is nearly a billion dollars higher than the previous peak of 1949. The national income has risen because factories are producing more goods and employing more people, the international trade has risen (to $8,700,000,000) and more people have more money to buy more goods.

Despite the new high cost of living, Canadians are living better than they have ever done before, for the great sum which the national income is now estimated to be does not go into the pockets of a few; it is shared by all, and, indeed, the hourly wage rate reached an index of 220, based on the 1926 rate being 100. In other words, wages rates were more than twice as high last year as they were in 1926. They were twice as high as they were in 1938.

The Failure of Ti-Coq

The first Canadian play, acted by Canadians, with Canadian music and setting has opened and closed in New York. Ti-Coq was a failure on Broadway. High hopes were entertained for it, and if it had been successful it would have given new strength to our growing Canadian theatre. But it has failed. What does this mean to Canadians who are anxious to see Canada take an honourable place in the world of the arts?

It does not diminish the very striking success of Ti-Coq in French and English Canada. The play delighted Canadian audiences in both languages, because it was about our own country and our own people. We understood the topical jokes, the intellectual climate and the moral background of the play. It was ours, and we liked it.

Were we stupid to like it? Has its value to us been diminished because two or three New York audiences did not like it? The question does not take long to answer: we shall never have anything that is really Canadian if we undertake every artistic work with one eye on New York. And we are made of poor stuff if we allow the New York judgement to shake our faith in Ti-Coq. Many good plays have failed on Broadway, as well as many bad ones. This is a time for us to stand firmly beside a Canadian work of art which we pronounced good before New York saw it.

It may be that the failure of Ti-Coq in New York will be a good thing for the Canadian theatre. Fridolin has made himself a wealthy man with this play in Canada; let others follow his example if they can. Let them forget about Broadway for a while, and concentrate on Canada, which needs to keep its brains and its artists at home, and is beginning to reward them, if not magnificently, at least a little better than before. New York is not the world, and it is not in New York that the Canadian theatre will grow strong, and will provide for this country the refreshment of spirit, and the perspective on Canadian life and feeling, which only the theatre can give. If the arts in Canada are to be strong, they will have to derive their particular strength from Canadian approbation, and we must see that such approbation is forthcoming when it is deserved.

Hobbema For The National Gallery

The Government of the Netherlands has presented the Government of Canada with a landscape by the great Dutch artist Hobbema; it has requested that this picture be hung in the Parliament Buildings. A news report says that the walls of the Parliament Buildings are already crowded with portraits of men who have made some contribution to Canadian history. The Ottawa Journal comments that many of these men were of small consequence, and that it is a strange thing if some of the pictures cannot be removed to make room for a painting of real artistic value.

We do not agree with this point of view. Admittedly many of the pictures now hanging in the Parliament Buildings are poor things as works of art, and the men represented are forgotten by all but a few. Nevertheless we would not call them "cultural rubbish" as the Journal does. It is easy for a country to sweep all its history, major and minor, into the cellar. But the least of these portraits has some connection with Canada, and the finest painting by Hobbema has not. Therefore we suggest that the Government tell the Government of the Netherlands, in the fairest terms, that our Parliament Building is not a suitable place for the treasure which they offer, and that we would greatly prefer it if they would allow us to give it an honoured position in our National Gallery. We think that the Netherlands Government would see the point at once.

Meyndert Hobbema was one of the greatest of Dutch painters, and an interesting fellow. Born in 1638, he gave up painting when he was thirty, for at that time he got a government job, measuring the contents of wine casks; the last forty years of his life he passed as a civil servant. He painted less than 200 pictures altogether.

It would be a wonderful thing to have a Hobbema in Ottawa to show our hordes of civil servants that a Government job can be the grave of real ability, and that they should save themselves while there is still time.

Popular Names

Mr. J. W. Leaver is an Englishman of whom we know nothing except that he has one curious hobby: each year he keeps an account of the births which are announced in the London Times, and at the end of the year he presents that newspaper with a record of the names most frequently given to children. Here are his figures for 1950:

Boys		Girls
John	207	Ann (68 or Anne (108)	171
David	108	Mary	137
Richard	104	Elizabeth	121
Michael	99	Jane	109
Peter	95	Margaret	78
Charles	84	Susan	77
James	82	Caroline	47
Anthony	75	Sarah	46
Christopher	72	Jennifer	34
Andrew	65	Frances	30

It is interesting to see that Biblical names retain the popularity which they have enjoyed for centuries; there are six Biblical names on the boys' list and four in the girls' list; Mr. Leaver reports that the name Nicholas just missed inclusion among the popular boys' names.

These two lists are admirable, if unadventurous. They show that the regrettable habit of naming children after politicians or film-stars has not advanced too far. We may wonder where Thomas and Henry have gone to; we may be surprised that Joan and Marjorie have disappeared. It seems that there are about fifty names which are really popular, and that although two or three may drop out of favour for a few years at a time, they remain in fairly constant use over the centuries.

Landslide In World Power

By SEBASTIAN HAFFNER

WASHINGTON, February 10.

THE isolationist counter-offensive against President Truman's foreign and defence policies, launched two months ago and carried forward with varying degrees of emphasis by ex-President Hoover, ex-Ambassador Kennedy, and Senators Taft and Wherry, never reached the point where it would have had a real chance of success. Last week, under the triple impact of the Pleven visit, the British rearmament programme, and particularly General Eisenhower's report, it collapsed. Detailed Congressional scrutiny will continue, and by British standards it will be tough and prolonged, but in Washington it is now taken as settled that the President's three-year programme is substantially accepted by Congress and nation. This programme can be summed up in five points:

1.—Steady increase of the American forces in Europe, with no top limit fixed.

2.—A programme of military aid to America's allies which from this summer (the American Budget year starts on July 1) will far surpass the amount of Marshall Aid which it may replace.

3.—Two-and-a-quarter years universal military service in America, on top of the present draft.

4.—A military three-year Budget of 140 billion dollars for the three years July, 1950, to June, 1953, by which date American industrial remobilization will be complete.

5.—Indefinite maintenance of the state of military preparedness thus attained.

IT is perhaps not yet generally realized that this programme, already launched and now assured of being carried through, will mean the greatest shift in world power seen in this century. Under her present programme America will, within the next two-and-a-half years, become stronger than all the rest of the world, friendly, neutral, and unfriendly.

Just to get the proportions right, let us make a few comparisons. American outlay on defence in the three years, 1950-53, will be five times the British annual national income. American military aid to her allies in one year will be larger than the British Budget. The mere addition to American steel-making capacity during these three years will be larger than the entire British steel-making capacity.

IN the current year America's defence effort will be eight times the revised British one, which in turn will be larger than that of all the other Atlantic Treaty nations combined. The combined effort of the non-American Atlantic Treaty nations alone is supposed, with American military aid, to approach, if not quite to equal, the Russian one during this year. America's own effort will be more than four times as large.

Now that America has made up her mind to undertake this effort, there is, within human judgement, nothing that can prevent its realization. Certainly not a "preventive war" on the part of Russia: that could merely accelerate it. For, incredible as it may sound, this effort does not represent the full war-time stretch of the American economy. According to authoritative calculation, it represents about one-third of a full war effort. Moreover, while it will mean controls, probably some inflation, and certain (by British standards rather mild) austerities for the American civilian during the next two years, the President's economic advisers predict that by 1953 rising productivity will have caught up with it, and that from 1954 onward the continuous rise in American civilian living standards will be resumed over and above the present level, while the mobilization effort is maintained indefinitely.

IT is impossible within the scope of one article even to discuss all the consequences of this partial transformation of America's power-potential into actual power. Let us note a few which come to mind immediately:—

1.—At the moment Russia still holds a definite military superiority throughout the Continental land-mass embracing Europe and Asia. This state of affairs is expected to end in about eighteen months from now. Russia might accordingly be tempted to strike within these eighteen months, but this temptation is balanced by the certainty that even the greatest possible conquests of additional territories and resources could not prevent Russia from being overwhelmingly and decisively out-produced within the next three years. By committing aggression in 1951, Russia would make certain of being reduced by 1954 to the status of Germany and Japan in 1945.

2.—By refraining from aggression, Russia can undoubtedly preserve her status as an independent Power. But nothing can now preserve her 1945-1950 world position as America's equal in power. The idea of a balance of power, and of a division of the world between the "Big Two," belonged to the period when Russia was armed and America disarmed. It no longer corresponds to the new realities. Russia—provided she does not prefer suicide—will inevitably during the next two or three years have to take her place among the other second-class Powers, Britain, France, Germany, China, India and Japan. This means very great adjustments in her foreign policy, especially the scrapping of her expansion beyond her legal frontiers.

3.—All international "Third Force" ideas pass into limbo. If all the rest of the world combined can no longer balance American power, obviously one part of that rest cannot hold the balance between America and the other part.

4.—The questions of German and Japanese rearmament, or the reception of Spain into the Atlantic Alliance, have already lost the urgency and importance they seemed to have three or four months ago. German and Japanese rearmament could not yield substantial results before 1953. By that time the balance of power will in any case have swung heavily against Russia. In concentrating on the prevention of German rearmament, the Russians are already barking up the wrong tree.

5.—The role of Britain and France, and the other Atlantic Treaty partners of America, will be vital during the next eighteen months, but will inevitably decline in importance thereafter as America becomes strong enough to take on allcomers single-handed. If we want the mere treaty relationship transformed into a permanent Confederacy, so that the Atlantic Community rather than America alone can become the focal centre of one world, the time to work for it is now, in the next eighteen months.

6.—The rise of American power to overwhelming supremacy is bound to increase the importance of the United Nations, for the simple reason that America believes in the United Nations and bases her foreign policy on this.

✧ ✧ ✧

AMERICA does not want to dominate the world; she does want the United Nations to dominate the world. She does want to see the Charter respected and obeyed as world law, all nations acting in its spirit, and trespassers punished and forced back. This is what President Truman meant by the second part of his statement last Wednesday, when he defined the basic aims of American foreign policy in these words: "To see that the people in the world have the things that are necessary to make life worth while, and that they live by the moral code in which we believe."

THIS may be idealism, and idealism as such may be a weak force in international politics. But idealism backed by overwhelming power must be taken seriously. The Charter may well become the Magna Carta of the second-class Powers and the small nations in a world where, for the first time in history, there will be one Power stronger than all the rest together.

All this may sound Utopian. It is a sober description of the foreseeable reality of three years hence. If we desire to stand the pace, we had better face facts and think hard.

Letter To The Editor

CRITICAL OF BUS SERVICE

Sir: No doubt you receive many letters complaining about the bus service we have in this city; well here is another one. Personally I think it is time something was done about it, especially the service we are now getting on the George St. route. There are three schedules a bus can operate on: 1. On schedule. 2. Ahead of schedule. 3. Behind schedule. Nine times out of ten it is the latter two which apply in this case.

It is all well and good for the City Council to authorize an increase in fares in favour of the bus company, but why do they not investigate the situation and find out what kind of service the people are getting for their money? Not only did I have to pay more for my tickets last week, but to add insult to injury, was late two mornings for work, which resulted in lost wages on account of buses running late.

It is quite apparent even to a blind man what causes the delays in the schedule.

When you cram forty or more people in a bus, and one of them has to get off at a certain stop, six or seven other people have to get off also and then get back on again. It all takes time, in fact twice as much as it normally would. It seems to be quite legal to herd forty or more people in a bus with a normal capacity of about twenty-five, but just try to ride overcrowded in a car and see what happens.

Listed below are a few questions which I would like to have answered publicly or otherwise by the bus company management.

1. Why between five and five-thirty in the evening are there three or four buses headed for the garage when one or two of them could be re-routed down George St. each carrying a normal load, instead of the regular bus being overcrowded and leaving people standing on the street corners?

2. Why is there a special bus around 7.30 a.m. Monday through Friday and none on Saturday, when the load capacity is just as heavy if not heavier?

3. Why are some of the drivers so discourteous?

4. Why in general can we not have a bus service worthy of a city the size of Peterborough, instead of the one-horse outfit we have at present.

I remain,

A SOUTH END TAXPAYER.

NEEDS PRACTICE

The hillbilly brought his overgrown son into a country school at the beginning of the term and said to the teacher:

"This here boy's arter larnin'. Whuits yore bill o' fare "

The teacher said: "I teach arithmetic, algebra, geometry and trigonometry."

"That last one'll do," said the mountaineer. "Load him down with triggernometry. He needs it. He's the only pore shot in the fambly."

TOO MUCH

The boxer was sitting at home with a bruised head after being badly beaten, while his son was doing his homework.

"Tommy," said his wife, "don't count up to ten any more—it makes Daddy's head ache.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And the Lord said unto Samuel, How long wilt thou mourn for Saul, seeing I have rejected him from reigning over Israel? fill thine horn with oil, and go, I will send thee to Jesse the Beth-lehemite: for I have provided me a king among his sons.... And Samuel did that which the Lord spake, and came to Beth-lehem. And the elders of the town trembled at his coming, and said, Comest thou peaceably? And he said, Peaceably: I am come to sacrifice unto the Lord: sanctify yourselves, and come with me to the sacrifice. And he sanctified Jesse and his sons, and called them to the sacrifice.

And it came to pass, when they were come, that he looked on Eliab, and said, Surely the Lord's anointed is before him. But the Lord said unto Samuel, Look not on his countenance, or on the height of his stature; because I have refused him: for the Lord seeth not as man seeth: for man looketh on the outward appearance, but the Lord looketh on the heart....

Again, Jesse made seven of his sons to pass before Samuel. And Samuel said unto Jesse, The Lord hath not chosen these. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Are here all thy children? And he said, There remaineth yet the youngest, and, behold, he keepeth the sheep. And Samuel said unto Jesse, Send and fetch him: for we will not sit down till he come hither. And he sent, and brought him in. Now he was ruddy, and withal of a beautiful countenance, and goodly to look to. And the Lord said, Arise, anoint him; for this is he.

Then Samuel took the horn of oil, and anointed him in the midst of his brethren: and the Spirit of the Lord came upon David from that day forward. (I Sam. 16: 1, 4-7, 10-13.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Give unto the Lord the glory due unto his name; worship the Lord in the beauty of holiness. (Ps. 29: 2.)

✧ ✧ ✧

Let thy work appear unto thy servants, and thy glory unto their children. And let the beauty of the Lord our God be upon us: and establish thou the work of our hands upon us: yea, the work of our hands establish thou it. (Ps. 90: 16, 17.)

O Canada

(The Middlesex Chronicle, Hounslow, Middlesex, England)

Mr. Alan Havard, a former Middlesex Chronicle reporter just off the ship after two years of journalism in Canada, tells me that in spite of the high wages there he found it more difficult to live because of the high prices.

"You have to keep putting money aside in case you become ill," he said. "After overworking I went to the doctor for a tonic and felt worse than ever when I heard his fee. In hospital you have to pay for every bandage you use. Ontario is not the best province, though; I believe they live better in Alberta."

Mr. Harvard was impressed with the architecture, however. "The timber houses have double walls and windows to keep out the extremes of temperature," he explained. "The oil company fills up every few weeks and a thermostat maintains an even heat. In the summer you switch over to air-conditioning. But otherwise it is a primitive country," he added. A car was a necessity because public transport was bad.

Mr. Havard's parents have also returned and his father has resumed his job as linotype operator on The Middlesex Chronicle.

"The twopence you save on your meat ration will hardly pay the tax we're going to charge you on these rabbits, my friend!"

Months of Planning Needed For Presentation of Play

Final preparations have now been completed for the presentation of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" by the Peterborough Little Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday. Such an undertaking involves several months of planning, construction and rehearsal. Contrary to a widespread belief it is not the learning of lines and the rehearsals of the actors which demand the longest hours of work; for a costume play, demanding elaborate scenery, the designing and building and sewing departments are those which work longest and latest.

For this production of "Twelfth Night" the musical preparations have also required many hours of preparation and rehearsal. The musical score was arranged last October, and the Coventry Singers have been preparing it at their regular rehearsals ever since.

Recent rehearsals of the play have been devoted to welding these separate parts into a unity. To make the actors comfortable and at home in their costume, to accustom them to the scenery in which they will work, to bring the music and the play together in such a way that there are no hitches or breaks in the continuity of the actions — this is the most difficult part of preparing a production for the stage. It is here, if ever, tempers will be tried. The Little Theatre, however, is a fully co-operative effort, and there have been no storms at rehearsal.

The response of the public to the announcements that the play would be performed have been encouraging, and large numbers of seats have been sold for each performance. There are, however, seats still to be obtained for all three nights, and as this production represents a unique community effort it is hoped that they may be filled.

The present generation of Canadians has not had many opportunities to see the plays of Shakespeare on the stage. The tours of the Memorial Theatre Company from Stratford-on-Avon are things of the past, and the outdoor company of Sir Philip Ben Greet ceased to travel when he died. The young people of today, then, must see Shakespeare performed by amateurs if they are to see it at all. The Peterborough production of "Twelfth Night," upon which great care has been expended, will not, the Little Theatre feels, fall below the level of their expectations.

Shot At Bisley, Lions Hear Col. James Boa

Target shooting is a lot of fun, Col. James Boa of the ammunition division of Canadian Industries Limited told members of the Peterborough Lions Club on Monday night.

But the shooting has to be fun for the shooter, he said, because target shooting just isn't a spectator sport.

Col. Boa has been a member of three Canadian Bisley teams which shot in England. He went there in 1920, 1935 and 1949. Altogether, he qualified for the team 17 times. In 1948, he won the Governor-General's Trophy, considered the top award for Canadian riflemen.

He had a lot of fun winning that, "but the biggest thrill I got there was in beating my own son, who came second," Col Boa said.

Briefly, he traced the development of the breech-loading rifle, First came the needle gun of the middle 1800's. It was a gun with a long, needle-like firing pin. This was followed by breech-loading rifles which shot pin-fire ammunition, and eventually the rim-fire and centre-fire cartridge which superseded the pin-fire cartridge.

.22 Rifles Dangerous

Col Boa said that boys learning to shoot should be taught the danger of .22 calibre shells. He said the makers of .22 ammunition wern't joking when they labelled each box, saying the ammunition was dangerous within one mile.

First, boys should be taught how dangerous a gun is, he said. Then they should be taught how to handle a rifle, and after this, they should enter competitive shooting.

After his talk, Col. Boa showed films of western Canada duck shooting and the manufacture of rim-fire, centre-fire and shotgun shells.

He was introduced by Geddes Harper, and thanked by Douglas Anderson.

Man Wants Salary Increase Wishes Wife Would Ask

By JACK SCOTT

VANCOUVER, Feb. -3. — The Doc and I were sitting in front of a fire of beachwood that burnt green and raw sienna, discussing Life and The Times, when Joe Whalley dropped in for a visit.

Joe is a quiet mousey kind of guy, about 40, I'd say, who lives in our block and comes by for the occasional beer. I've never really understood what Joe does. He talks about invoices and loading pool cars and stuff like that I don't understand.

I poured him a beer and Joe slouched in his chair looking intently into the fire for a minute or two.

"You'll get round shoulders carrying the world around like that, Joe," the Doc said finally. "What's the problem? Martha pregnant again?"

A Raise

Joe laughed in his introspective way and took a sip of his beer. I suppose it isn't really serious at all, but it's getting me down," he said. "Tomorrow I have to ask my boss for a raise in pay."

"Well," the Doc said gravely, "Junior and I were just discussing our chances of survival in an atomic war, but every man has his own problem. And what's the trouble with asking for a raise?"

"Trouble is, I dread it," Joe said, as if he were glad to talk about it to someone. "If it weren't that Martha was after me all the time I'd never think of it. I need the raise of course. Feel I have it coming to me. But I'm just no good at that kind of thing. Fact is, I'm scared stiff."

The Doc lit his pipe.

"Another guy who never learned to sell himself," he said thoughtfully. "The world is full of them."

"Oh, oh," I said. "You'd better duck, Joe. I feel some advice coming from the old goat."

"I'd welcome any advice at all," Joe said.

Worked Up Speech

The Doc worked awhile getting his pipe going while Joe waited eagerly for him to begin the lesson.

"First of all, you've been trying to work out a little speech in your mind, haven't you?"

"Yes, I have," Joe confessed "I thought I'd . . ."

"Forget it," the Doc interrupted. "The boss isn't interested in your qualifications as an after-dinner speaker. In my day I had many men working under me. Nothing antogonized me more than the raconteur type who came to me with a pat little memorized speech. Right away I began to suspect his sincerity."

"You don't know this boss," Joe put in miserably.

"All bosses are hated," the Doc said, "and in most cases they don't deserve it. What you've got to remember is that the boss is buying your services just as he'd buy liquid paste or paper towels for the washroom. He's out to get the most for the least money. If he isn't, he doesn't stay boss very long."

"So," the Doc went on. "Don't give him any song and dance about why you need the raise. He's not interested in the hungry mouths you have to feed or any True Confession Hour. All he's interested in is what you're giving him for his money. Chances are he knows that already. He probably knows, too, that you're worth more than you get."

"Oh, he knows all right," Joe said with some bitterness.

"You see, to him it's just another business problem," the Doc went on. "To you it's a very personal situation. So you have to meet him on his own ground. Not yours. No appealing to his sympath yor anything like that. You have something to sell. He needs it. Now you want a higher price for it. That's the kind of straight talk a boss understands, it's the only kind he understands."

"It sound very sensible when you put it that way," Joe conceded.

"Now, about the money," the Doc went on. "You were going to ask him for a raise and let him decide on how much, weren't you?"

"Well, yes . . ."

"Don't," the Doc said sharply. "It's a fatal mistake. You have to set a value on yourself, just as if you were a hunk of merchandise. You know what you think you're worth to the firm, don't you?"

"Yes."

"Add 25 per cent to the total. That's what you ask for."

"But . . ."

"It's very simple," the Doc said. "If you ask for peanuts then you're judged as peanuts. Nothing that was ever sold cheap was ever valued. My father used to say, 'Ask for the moon and compromise for a star'."

Joe had listened to all this intently. Now he put his glass of beer on the floor and stood up. "Let's see how this will work out," he said eagerly.

'Sure thing," the Doc said.

Joe pretended to open a door and walk into an office. He faced the Doc and gave a short little speech. It had a quiet,, man-to-man dignity and was altogether persuasive. He grinned when it was over. The Doc grinned, too.

"Sure fire," the Doc said.

Joe slumped back in his chair. "It'd be so much simpler if Martha could do it," he said.

Port Hopers Down IOOF In Speedy Junior Joust

Port Hope Panthers, hotter than red pepper in the Gulf Stream, jolted Oddfellows 6-3 last night at Port Hope in a fast, hard-fought junior "B" hockey struggle, the last meeting of the season between the two clubs.

Panthers ended the season-long jinx the Kingdon boys have held over them in winning five of six games played and, though failing to earn a play-off spot, had the satisfaction of trimming each team in the league at least once. They advance now into junior "C" playoffs.

Early Lead

Oddfellows took an early lead in the first as the three lamplighters combined nicely with West potting from Morrow and Wyatt on a close-in quick drive. Medhurst equalized four minutes later, on a penalty shot earned as an IOOF player fell on the puck at the goal mouth.

Panthers worked hard in the second to hold Links but the top snipers who are running a dead-heat with the crack Campbell, Downey, Medhurst line for scoring honors as a unit, clicked again as Bob Wyatt flicked a double pass to the goal mouth from West and Morrow into the open side. (These top lines have each officially accumulated 94 scoring points with one game each left to play.)

Proved Costly

A penalty to Bigford seconds later, proved costly as the Hopers swarmed around Wasson to rifle home three quick tallies as Freeman, Lawless and Campbell each found the range on ganging attacks with Goody, Doug. Fisher, Flesch, Downey and Hansen each lending a hand. Referee Crombie got a round roasting for his ruling. Play was fast and rugged and Dean Wasson hoisted Hansen high in the air then Goody sent Brian Robinson flying as bodies flew and slid and the furious pace continued.

Panthers outscored Links in the final frame and earned a margin in play over the route though Oddfellows gave it all they had in a fine effort to salvage a much-desired victory. Panthers had it when they needed it and richly deserved this lone victory over the Kingdon squad. Stewart scored on a play with Brian Robinson and Clapper but Coon Medhurst made it six late in the frame from Campbell and Hansen to put his team safe.

Brian Robinson was outstanding last night with Ab Buckton while the entire team, minus Army Armstrong and Lefty Doris dug hard but Panthers were hot last night led by the Campbell line with seven points.

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 13 — (ENS)—The Norwood TVL squad is two points richer as a result of a protest meeting held in the Campbellford council chambers on Sunday afternoon.

The board handed down the decision to the protesting team after giving careful consideration to both sides.

Art Duncan, president of the TVL, Hector MacArthur, vice-president; Bill Regan, second vice-president, and Herb Rankin, secretary, made up the panel.

City Carpetball

The league schedule for the week of February 19 is: Fire Hall No. 9 vs. Legion No. 5; Quakers No. 4 vs. SOE No. 2; Legion No. 3 vs. St. Luke's No. 1; St. George's No. 10 vs. LOL No 2, and Glens No. 6 vs. Legion No. 7.

As the season play is rapidly drawing to a close, please turn in cups and trophies so they may be made ready for presentation to this year's winners.

Legion No. 5 were guests of the Quakermen. The first game saw the "Old Sweats" held scoreless except for four frames when they collected deuces in those ends to lose 13-8. The second game went to the Full-O-Pep team by scoring a 6 and 4 end along with some singles, thus finishing ahead 16-6.

The washrack was the scene of the battle between SOE and the Orangemen. The first game was King Billie until the 7th end, but a big 6 scored by the Sons put them right back into the fight and they went on to capture the majority of the frames left — to win the game 14-6. The second game saw the Sons come from behind in the 3rd and again in the 7th frames to tie it up and then went on to make it two straight by an 8-6 score. Where was the White Charger?

The Glens, playing at the Legion against St. Georges, were trailing going into the 7th frame and then tied it up at 5-all and the Southends only scored one more single while the Glens captured the rest and the game 12-6. The Glens packed most of their shots into the first seven ends to defeat the Southends 13-9, even though St. George's won four straight ends. Two games were not reported: No. 7 vs. No. 1, and No. 9 vs. No. 3.

Results of the first round's second heat of the Gracie's Memorial Doubles are: D. Nicholas and Gimblett Sr. eliminated Page and Parsons two straight by scores of 9-4 and 15-2. Honour and Metcalfe were defeated two straight by Harrison and Whitehead 7-4 and 8-7. The second game was tied going into the last end and No. 12 team scored the single necessary for a win.

The final series played that evening was between Price and Sims vs. Rusaw and Douglas and it went the limit of three games. The first one went to Price and Sims by a score of 8-7 by reason of piling up a lead in the early ends. The second game was Rusaw and Douglas by a 7-2 score, and the last one went to them also by a score of 11-4 when they grabbed off a 3 and 4 end. Both Varty and Rumary vs. James and Foster defaulted their games. Must have been too cold out that night.

Speaking of cold weather—who were those bowlers, late Wednesday night, pushing the Cadillac down Aylmer St.—and after they had been offered a ride home?

The doubles schedule for Wednesday, February 14, is Amyotte and Clapham vs. Bromley and Ralston, also Read and Garrette vs. Smelt and Gracie at 7.00 p.m. sharp. Fulbrook and Brand vs. D. Pilling and Schweier at 9:00 p.m. Palmer and Leether have a bye into the second round.

For Wednesday, February 21, second round of the doubles: No. 23 vs. No. 12; No. 2 vs. winners of No. 17 and No. 18, at 7.00 p.m. sharp, and winner of Nos. 19 and 20 vs. winners of Nos. 21 and 22; No. 7 vs. No. 9 at 9.00 p.m.

The game between St. George's and SOE in the second round of the President's Cup has not been reported.

Lap-Dog Killer

DUNDEE, South Africa (CP)—F. Wellman told a meeting of farmers here that a pekinese has been known to kill a sheep. "The so-called lap-dog attacks like a jackal, worrying and harrying a sheep, not like a dog, which jumps and bites," he said.

SENIOR PAIR CHAMPS—Jane Kirby and Donald Tobin of Ottawa Minto Club took the senior pairs title at the Canadian figure-skating championships in Vancouver.

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

Queen's Combines of Kingston play the Petes at 8.30 tomorrow night in Civic Arena, the only OHA senior "B" game here this week. And the final appearance of the Combines this semester on local ice. They're an up-and-down bunch, occasionally coming up with a rough performance to down better clubs, while at other times they can't get untracked. They may or may not give the Petes a real battle this time, who knows? The loop leaders aren't too far in front now, and they'll be trying to grab off a verdict Wednesday eve. It might prove an interesting enough senior "B" struggle.

This schedule winds up in a little less than two weeks, running from Oct. 30 to Feb. 26, apart from group playoffs. Certainly the longest puck season by far ever witnessed in Peter's borough. Artificial ice is the answer. Both our clubs are away Friday, the Eagles at Nylons (that'll be a toughie) and the Petes having a softer touch at Gananoque. The Gans return to Peterborough next Monday. Petes play Eagles here a week tomorrow in the big one. After that, each local team has but one more home game ere it's time for the playoffs. Yes, time is running out on them as they battle for final standing positions.

Ice Carnival A-Comin'

Trojan Athletic Club is lining up a big ice carnival for this coming Saturday p.m. at eight in the Turner Park rink down south. Skating, broomball, mocassin dance to music, refreshments, prizes and fun. The money raised is for boys' work and this club has done a lot of good work in recent years, especially through athletics for the younger lads. Carnivals are lots of fun, and we recall some of the dandies they staged years ago over at the Mark St. rink. Some whopping ones, too, at the Brock with hundreds of gailey-costumed girls and fellows wheeling around to the strains of "Beautiful Ohio" or some other catchy waltz.

London, Ont., scribe says: "Rumors are going around informed hockey circles that a well-backed move is underway to have the junior age limit raised a year. Right now, a junior must be under 20 on Nov. 1 of the playing season. Hockey is the only sport we know of with the 'under 20' rule. Baseball and football call for a junior to be under 21. As there is a definite shortage of good junior talent, the extra year of eligibility would be a great help to most teams. It won't stop too many younger players from advancing to 'A' company for many of the stars of this season will be moving into pro hockey." We like the idea, even if it did probably originate with the NHL master minds.

Port Hope Pulls Upset

The scrappy Port Hope Panthers finally did it, downing the IOOF-ers 6-3 on the Hopers' surface last night in their last OHA junior "B" meeting of the year. First win for Panthers o'er Bun Kingdon's crew this semester. The Ports now trek into "C" playdowns while Oddfellows end their schedule here Friday 'gainst Lindsay, with playoffs starting next week. B. Robinson and Buckton were best for the Links last eve, the team being minus Armstrong and Doris. Coach Bernie Hodgetts of the Port Hope team wished the Peterborough squad luck in group playoffs and said it was the cleanest team in the league. A nice compliment.

Eagles came through neatly in Kingston last p.m. to defeat Queen's 8-4 and move up to half a game behind the Petes. Latter have 41 points, Eagles 40, Nylons 31, Belleville 24 and Queen's 10. The Gans, who meet the Petes twice this week-end, are an intermediate "A" entry. It's a cinch of course that Petes, Eagles, Nylons and Belleville will be the group semi-finals, but it's not certain yet in what positions they will finish the schedule on Feb. 26. Owing to the death of Mike Roden's mother, the reports out of Kingston on the Eagles-Queen's game weren't too satisfactory, some of the raft of penalties (17 in all) being omitted when Mike's sports stand-in failed to keep track of such goings-on. However, the scoring summary is right and Eagles did win a nice one to threaten the Petes' hold on the top rung.

Brintons Triumph

CAMPBELLFORD, Feb. 13 — (ENS) — Peterborough Brintons continued their winning streak by defeating Campbellford here Monday night by a 4 to 1 count. A large crowd was on hand, and both Campbellford and Peterborough fans were there in more than usual numbers.

Peterborough led the scoring by putting one past Laverne at 2.35 in the first period, but Campbellford got one just at the close of the frame to tie it up. That goal turned out to be the only one the locals could put past Byers. McIndoo scored two for the visitors, and Lawson and Eakins stood out during the play. Quite a few penalties were handed out to both sides, mostly for boarding.

Campbellford missed a couple of good scoring opportunities, but Byers in the Peterborough nets was practically unbeatable.

Hastings Edges Keene

KEENE, Feb. 13 (ENS).—In a possible EPHL playoff rehearsal here last night, Hastings edged Keene 8-7 in a fine fast fray on heavy ice. A fair-sized crowd watched the well-matched teams turn in on all the way in clean travelling. Heafield went in cold in goal and turned in a nifty effort, as did the first line for the homesters. Hastings looked good throughout.

R'Rourke, Oliver and Edwards got the Hastings goals in the first period, as L. Sellaby, Musgrave, G. Sellaby and Stock scored for Keene. Cowie had two assists, Manbeck and G. Sellaby having one each. O'Rourke took over in the middle heat to score four goals, three in a row. Thomas twice aiding and Cobbledick once. L. Sellaby and Cowie scored for Keene, the latter, Stock and G. Sellaby having an assist each. Stock for Keene got the only goal in the third.

Fido Given The Gate Geese New Guardians

"They're better protectors than any dog we ever had," says Hoehn.

Eagles Creep Close To Top With Victory Over Queen's

KINGSTON, Feb. 13.—Peterborough Eagles flew in 30 minutes late for last night's OHA senior "B" game in the Harty Arena and then continued to fly at a low altitude against the Queen's Combines until the last period when they scored five goals and erected an 8 to 4 victory. The result gave the Eagles an almost unbreakable clutch on second place and set the stage for the rapid and official elimination of the Gaels from playoff contention.

It was a rough battle with most of the penalties being served in a hard-hitting third period when the Eagles' superiority in ability and stamina was amply demonstrated.

A Small Crowd

Owing to the lowly position occupied by the Combines and wretched weather conditions the attendance was small, the unofficial estimate being 300 fans. The Eagles were very business-like in action but the Combines were just as effective and diligent until the last period when the roof fell in and engulfed them.

In a fast and cleanly played first period the teams split a pair of goals and when the penalties began to flow in the middle session the Eagles just managed to get a 2 to 1 edge in goals. They also widened their lead early in the last session only to have Don Murray reply for the Combines. But the visitors would not be denied and they held a wide margin in territorial play and in scoring over the rest of the route.

The teams:

Eagles: Goal, Nicholls, defence Lalonde and Munroe, centre Rochetta; wings Vitarelli and Crowley. Alternates: Hill, Stewart, D. Mortimer, Greenlaw, Milne, Coombs, F. Mortimer and Montgomery.

Queens: Goal, Boivan, defence Wagar and Graves, centre D. Murray, wings Dunn and White. Alternates: Bender, Latimer, Ohlke, Hay, Klym, and Sweetman.

Summary:

First Period:

Eagles, Rochetta (Vitarelli) 9.10
Queen's, D. Murray (Bender) .. 13.20
No penalties.

2nd Period.

Eagles, Milne (F. Mortimer) 12.15
Queens, Wagar (D. Murray) 18.05
Eagles, Milne (Hill) 18.45
Penalties, Graves, Milne (Misconduct), Evans, Montgomery, Bender.

3rd Period.

Eagles, Stewart (F. Mortimer) 2.15
Queens D. Murray 3.30
Eagles, Rochetta (D. Mortimer) 5.17
Eagles, Vitarelli 9.20
Eagles, Milne 14.10
Queens, Wagar (White) 17.00
Eagles, Stewart (Milne) 19.07
Penalties: Montgomery, Evans 2, Mortimer, Hay, Latimer, Bender, Ohlke, Sweetman.

Layton To Wrestle Davis-Henning At The Brock Tonight

Something rare in wrestling history will feature tonight's mat card at the Brock Arena. Lord Athol Layton, the handsome, big, spectacular British star, will alone oppose the two-man team of Lee Henning and Wee Willie Davis. This pair will be governed by tag team rules, which means that only one member of that team will be allowed in the ring at one time. However Henning and Davis will be able to relieve one another and substituting when in difficulty. It will be one of Layton's severest tests.

In the semi-final, the Masked Marvel will oppose George Scott. The Mask is furious about not being in the main event tonight. Pat Flanagan will oppose Kaye Bell in the first bout.

Howe And Abel Leaders In NHL Scoring

MONTREAL, Feb. 13 (CP). — Four Detroit victories against two for Toronto last week have put the Red Wings well ahead of the pack again in the National Hockey League.

When they started their four-game series last week, Wings were only three points up on Leafs. But Toronto dropped one and won two for 69 points compared to Wings' 76.

Detroit's winning ways showed up in the individual scoring race too. Their stars Gordie Howe and Sid Abel are one, two in individual standings, Howe with 29 goals, 36 assists and 65 points while Abel has 20 goals, 30 assists and 50 points.

A three-way tie developed for third place between Montreal's Rocket Richard, Detroit's Ted Lindsay and Toronto's Max Bentley. All have 47 points, although Richard remains top goal-scorer in the league with 32.

Boston's Jack Gelineau got the only shutout during the week, his fourth of the season. Detroit's Terry Sawchuk still is tops in that department with seven, followed by Canadians' Gerry McNeil with six.

Toronto netminders Turk Broda and Al Rollins combined for the best goal-tending average 2.08 against Sawchuk's 2.11.

Toronto and Boston's Bill Ezinicki shared the worst penalty record, Leafs with 649 minutes and Wild Bill with 115 in the cooler.

Curling News

By HERB MARTIN

This article is not written for the purpose of criticism nor is it meant to censure anyone — rather the opposite. Our object is to bring before many of the curlers, old and new, some of the reasons why rules are necessary in playing this grand old game of curling.

This club belongs to the Ontario Curling Association. We pay quite a tax for that privilege. They have recently issued a new rule book covering every phase of curling and such competitions as the Men's Tankard, Ladies' Tankard, British Consols, Seniors and Colts, are played under the rules laid down by the Ontario Curling Association. Such being the case, is it not fair to assume that we, as a member of the association, should follow and play the game the same way as others do, so we would be on an even footing and not at a disadvantage regarding the rules?

As we sit in on No. 8 night after night and watch schedule games being played, it is surprising just how many of the simplest of rules are being ignored.

Playing a game with three men aside, illegal sweeping, illegal delivering of a stone, leads, seconds and vices all standing behind the rings when the opponent is playing, running across the ice just as a player is about to deliver his stone, coming 10 or 15 minutes late thereby holding up seven other players. These may seem rather trivial to some, and yet, are they?

Can you imagine a game of hockey commencing with one side short-handed? Can you see two golfers playing an important match, ignoring rules? Can you see baseball teams taking the diamond and playing the game just as they want to? Of course you would not subscribe to that. Then in all fairness, why should not curling be played according to all the rules laid down in the book? We belong to the school of thought that believes in playing the game properly, or as an alternative throw the rule book out the window and play the game wide open.

Just think it over, boys, and let's know if you agree with us or not.

Curling is a science—a study of a lifetime—
In which you may exhaust yourself but never your subject.

Randolph Turpin, British middleweight champion and a contender for the world title, has gained the nod as the man who did the most for boxing in Britain during 1950.

The dusky 22-year-old "Thunderbolt" won recognition as the country's boxer-of-the-year by heading the annual poll conducted by Boxing News, a London weekly. He topped his nearest rival, Jack Gardner, British and Empire heavyweight champion, by more than 2,000 votes.

Gardner, however, also was honored by the selectors by sharing with Johnny Williams, of Rugby, an award to the fighters giving the best ring performance during the year.

Race track operator William P. Kyne, who also promotes boxing, says he has offered Joe Louis a fight in San Francisco in April. He said he would like to sign Rex Layne of Lewiston, Utah, as an opponent for the former heavyweight champion.

Louis, who started training for his 10-round bout with Andy Walker, San Francisco, here Feb. 23, has told Kyne he would be agreeable to a bout with Layne.

The Biscayne Bay Yacht Club of Miami has issued an embarrassed correction on the winner of Saturday's Lipton Cup race off Miami Beach—the 32-foot sloop Larry won it instead of the 45-foot yawl Revenoc.

Until race chairman Hardy Matheson made the announcement, everyone thought Jacobo Cabassa's Larry was 11th. Matheson explained the Miami boat was not allowed 16 minutes 40 seconds she was entitled to under racing rules.

Dan Chappell, Miami attorney and horse owner has resigned as president of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association.

Robert Reid of Columbus, Ohio, serving as general counsel for the horseman, was named to succeed Chappell to fill out the term which expires in July.

The resignation was submitted Sunday at the group's annual one day convention.

Del Ennis, whose slugging was an important factor in Philadelphia Phillies winning the National League pennant last year, came to terms Monday with owner Bob Carpenter.

As usual, neither the Phillies' front office nor Ennis would disclose salary terms. But it is generally believed the hard-hitting outfielder received a raise. Last season he collected around $20,000.

Willie Logan of Saint John won the Canadian indoor speed skating title at the Montreal Forum 17 years ago tonight. He won the 220, 440, and 800 yards events, and the three-mile, for a point total of 140, twice as many as his nearest rival, Leo Freisinger of Chicago.

Demarco Still Leads

NEW YORK, Feb. 13—(AP)—Led by veteran Ab Demarco, Buffalo Bisons continue to dominate the American Hockey League's individual scoring parade. Demarco leads the field in scoring with 83 points on 30 goals and 53 assists. Demarco's linemate, Grant (Nobby) Warwick, is second with 71.

Billy Flick Top OHA Scorer

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP). — Billy Flick of the last-place Kitchener Flying Dutchmen leads the Ontario Hockey Association major series scoring race, according to statistics released Monday night.

Flick, who was tied for first place two weeks ago and two points in the lead last week, now has a score of 50 points, four points more than second place Mickey Roth, also a Kitchener man.

In the circuit's third spot is Johnny Conick, who was injured a week ago and is out for the season. Conick has 44 points and is closely followed by Murray Comfort with 43 points. In fifth place is Dinny Flanagan with 40 points.

Top goalie in the major league is Phil Hughes of Toronto St. Michael's with a percentage of 3.0 on 81 goals scored-against in 27 games. Ed Rafferty of Marlboros is next with 94 goals in 27 games and an average of 3.48.

Lou Jankowski of the sixth-place Oshawa Generals is pacing the OHA Junior A race with 91 points. Close on his heels is Ken Laufman of Guelph who has 90 points. The third spot is taken by Alex Delvecchio of Oshawa with 85 points and in fourth place is Erwin Grosse of Windsor with 70 points.

Leading goal tender in the Junior A league is Don Lockhart of Marlboros. He has allowed 89 goals in 29 games for an average of 3.08 and is followed by Glen Hall of Windsor who shows a 3.14 average from 132 goals in 41 games.

Harrison Captures Texas Open From Ford

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 13 (AP). E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, who has been following the tournament trail 17 years, won the Texas open Monday from Doug Ford of Briar Cliff, N. Y., a freshman to championship golf.

Harrison, the old Arkansas traveller registered from St. Andrews, Ill., and winner of the 1949 Canadian open, beat Ford by a stroke in an 18-hole play-off necessitated when they tied for first place Monday with 72-hole scores of 265.

Harrison had a four-under-par 67 over the 6,400-yard Breckenridge Park course.

Harrison took $2,000 first money while Ford received $1,400.

Favor Robinson Take Lamotta

CHICAGO, Feb. 13 — (AP) — Heavily favored in his five previous scraps with Jake Lamotta, Sugar Ray Robinson again is being backed from 3 to 1 to 4 to 1 to share the Bronx Bull's middleweight belt Wednesday night.

The welterweight champion, in the peak of condition, and Lamotta battle the scales in the official weigh-in Wednesday.

Sugar expects to tip 154 pounds his top weight, and Jake is confident he will make the 160 limit. He carried 176 a month ago before starting drills for his rival.

If Lamotta is over 160, he will be given two hours in which to make weight. If he fails, he will forfeit his middleweight title to Robinson right on the spot and the 15-round bout in Chicago Stadium will be little more than an exhibition.

Hutton Helps England Out Of Trouble Again

MELBOURNE, Australia, Feb. 13—(Reuters)—The redoubtable Len Hutton got England out of trouble again today when he scored 128 runs in a cricket contest against Victoria.

He was abetted by bowler Trevor Bailey who scored a surprising 107 not out. The pair put together 196 for the sixth wicket.

After batting all day, the touring team had scored 391 runs for six wickets in reply to Victoria's first-innings total of 441.

Workmen's Compensation Sparks Legislature Debate

TORONTO, Feb. 13 (CP). — The Ontario Legislature, for the first time this session, left some unfinished business Monday when it adjourned without a vote on the principle of a government bill to amend the Workmen's Compensation Act.

The House resumed the throne speech debate today.

Joseph B. Salsberg (Lab.-Prog. Toronto St. Andrew) asked that dividends on stocks and bonds of public utilities companies be limited to three per cent of face value.

In a motion tabled in the Ontario Legislature Monday, he proposed that rates should be reduced by government order if there is a surplus after payment of interest, dividends and provision for capital replacement.

The Communist member said that the Consumer's Gas Company of Toronto, by a private Ontario law of 1887, had to pay dividends of 10 per cent on its capital stock.

Strong Criticism

The Workmen's Compensation Act amendment, based on the royal commission report of Mr. Justice W. D. Roach, raised strong opposition criticism. Speakers for the CCF, Liberal and Labor-Progressive parties attacked Premier Frost's government for not including more of the report's recommendations in the bill.

A motion by Mr. Salsberg that the long-dormant Legislature committee on labor be convened to study the bill was defeated in an oral vote. The committee has not been called since 1944.

The government bill proposed: to reduce from seven to five days the waiting period for compensation payments; increase the maximum annual wage on which payments are based from $3,000 to $4,000; boost payments to widows of fatally-injured workmen from $100 to $200; increase funeral grants from $125 to $200, and alter the methods of payment by employers.

Would Include More

L. K. F. Fell (CCF, Toronto Parkdale) urged that the standing committee on labor be called and instructed to revise the bill to include more of the Roach Report's recommendations. Only three of 16 important recommendations were included in the bill, he said.

His motion was ruled out of order by Speaker M. C. Davies, who found that it would involve extra expediture. Legislature rules allow only the government to propose money bills.

Premier Frost said the Labor Committee would become "a sounding board that would create division and doubt among our people." The government would not rush the bill through final readings, but would wait until it received briefs submitted by several groups.

Eamon Park (CCF, Toronto Dovercourt) and opposition leader E. B. Joliffe attacked the government for failing to implement the Roach Report's recommendations for labor representation on accident prevention boards.

Nearly $400,000 was paid in 1949 to accident prevention boards directed by employers, Mr. ark said, but the government had no statutory control over them.

It was "quite obvious," Mr. Park said, that Labor Minister Daley preferred to listen to the views of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association on accident prevention than to Mr. Justice Roach, who recommended labor representation on the board.

Employers Interested

"Employers in general are as much interested in accident prevention work as the workers are," Labor Minister Daley replied.

Premier Frost said that although the government was not bound by any commission report, the present bill was "really a substantial compliance", with the Roach Report. "There isn't a line in this bill that we want to change."

The premier said some of the recommendations might not be carried out for some time, but the government would not delegate its policy-making responsibility to the Labor Committee.

Mr. Salsburg said omissions in the bill were "shocking." It had recommended "only the minimum of improvement."

J. G. Brown (L, Waterloo N.) said the bill should help disabled workmen whose compensation is based on lower wages and lower payment rates in effect when they were disabled. He urged recognition of industrial diseases for compensation payments.

Not Practical

The Labor Minister said that Mr. Justice Roach had made some recommendations which were "theoretically sound" but were not practical for legislation.

The legislation also approved in principle bills to:

Increase provincial assistance to privately-operated training schools and require more municipal support of training schools.

Amend the Change of Name Act to bring it in line with the Federal Citizenship Act and with laws regarding bankruptcy.

Settle county council representation on municipal school boards and allow joint public and high school boards only where public and high school districts coincide.

Provide for absorption of continuation assets in a high school area.

Court Dismisses Traffic Charge

A charge of careless driving against Wilfred Perry, 73 Pine St., was dismissed in court Monday after an accident Dec. 30 in which his car hit another car stopped at the stop sign at Park and Romaine Sts.

Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum testified that a tire mark left by the Perry car showed that he had been cutting the corner in making a left turn from going north on Park St. into Romaine St. At one point the car was six feet from the southwest corner of the intersection.

Thomas Ephgrave, 854 George St., driver of the stopped car, said he had pulled up about one car length back from the intersection. He saw a car coming from the south and looked to check on traffic coming from the north. His wife shouted and he looked back to see the Perry car almost in front of him. He said his car was pulled four feet to one side by the other car in the crash.

Bare Of Ice

He said most of Park St. was bare of ice, but about two feet along the edge and all of Romaine St. was ice. He said the Perry car put on its brakes on the ice about 10 feet from his car and skidded into him doing about $25 damage to his car.

Perry said a short time before the accident he had driven around the same corner and had nearly skidded on the ice into a car parked on the north side of Romaine St.

When he went to make the same turn again, he purposely cut the turn short to avoid the car if it were parked there again. He did not see the Ephgrave car parked there. The only reason he could give that he did not see the other car was that its headlights might have been directly behind his side view mirror.

Appeal Frees Feeley Of Jail Term

Crown's Case Failed To Prove Offence; Conviction Quashed

A two-month jail term to Geoffrey (Gip) Feeley, convicted January 10 by Magistrate W. R. Philp on a charge of bootlegging, has been quashed by Judge Sheldon L. Smoke.

A similar appeal by Kenneth Thompson, a taxidriver for Feeley, was dismissed. And he has yet to serve his two-month sentence.

Judge Smoke's written judgment on Feeley pointed out a lack of both direct and circumstantial evidence.

Referring to the evidence as a whole, he said: "I am of the opinion that the Crown has failed to prove that the offence of offering to sell was committed and accordingly I am of the opinion that the appeal should be allowed, but without costs."

Feeley was charged after the arrest of Thompson on November 3 by Provincial Constable Jack McKendry. Constable McKendry said he watched Michael O'Brien of Wallace's Point phone Feeley's Cabs and order beer.

Produced Case

Thompson arrived in one of Feeley's cabs and produced a case of 24 pints. Constable McKendry saw another man, Jack Lane, produce $10 as though in payment, and at this point he arrested Thompson.

Judge Smoke ruled that onus of proof rested on the Crown and that the main point to be decided was whether or not there had been an actual offer for sale.

He claimed there was no direct evidence of any offer being made. And on "circumstantial grounds" the evidence would need to not only point directly to the guilt of the accused but also it could not be inconsistent with any other rational conclusion.

Refused To Consider

Judge Smoke refused to consider Thompson's admission that there was a quantity of beer on hand that weekend, and that it was "for sale". Thompson could not give evidence on Feeley's intentions.

The tendering of the $10 by Lane was not sufficient circumstantial evidence, either, the Judge ruled. Thompson (considered Feeley's agent according to the charge) had not accepted the money. And it had not eliminated the possibility of some other arrangement.

Thompson might well have seen the $10, refused it, and said that Lane or the O'Brien party could replace it with a similar case at some other time.

Judge Smoke also criticized the wording of the charge.

GETTING THE TREATMENT, "And its alright, too," said William Thompson of 736 St. Mary's St., as he receives a heat application from Civic Hospital's newly-appointed physiotherapist, Mrs. Elizabeth Seymour-Rouse. Arriving in Peterborough 2 weeks ago from Monaghan, County Monaghan, Eire, Mrs. Seymour-Rouse was delighted to hear the train conductor call "Cavan" as she approached the city. That, and other Irish place names, made her feel less strange. She trained in Devonshire Royal Hospital, England, and was later employed at Crumpsal Hospital, Manchester. (Examiner Staff Photo)

Aldermen Seek Information On Highway Route

If the ultimate route of the new provincial highway from Newcastle into Peterborough is to traverse the industrial property bought by the city, the council would like to know as soon as possible.

When in Toronto recently, City Engineer A. E. Chalmers called at the Department of Highways. This highway entrance was mentioned. John Miller, Deputy Minister, said there was nothing urgent about settling the route. So far there is nothing definite even about either of the two ways of approach to Peterborough which were published several weeks ago.

Finance committee felt last night that this matter was of importance to Peterborough if the route was to be laid across the industrial area west of Erskine Ave. and south of Lansdowne St.

Something more definite is desired if the Department can indicate it at this stage. Mayor Swanston was asked to arrange a meeting with Mr. Miller. "It might help them to make up their minds," it was said.

Car, Truck Collide Hope Farmer Hurt

PORT HOPE—A Hope township farmer was rushed to Port Hope hospital Monday after a car and a truck collided east of Newtonville.

Arthur Walker, the injured man, suffered concussion, and his condition was said to be "not serious."

Walker was driving his car west on Highway 2 when he was in collision with a truck driven by Stewart Leask of Taunton.

Leask said he didn't know what happened until he found himself in a ditch.

Walker's sedan was a total wreck and the truck, though badly damaged, is repairable.

Meeting of City Council Feature of Jaycee Dinner

Meeting of the council Monday, Feb. 19 will be in the Kawartha Room of the Empress Hotel, as the main feature of a dinner program by the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The dinner is scheduled for 6 to 7. Council meeting begins at 7.30. Any citizens having business with the council on this occasion are entitled to be present during that period; likewise the diligent ladies of the study club in civics.

The Jaycees agenda was accepted by the finance committee of the council Monday night in a motion by Ald. A. B. Burrows and Mayor Swanston.

It was intimated that a stretch of the council meeting will be broadcast. Arrangements are in the hands of the Junior Chamber.

Radio station CHEX may do a series of council meetings instead of the panel discussions of last year. It was reported Monday night that this public relations feature of the radio station is available to the council. Arrangements were left with City Clerk Outram.

Ald. P. J. Anglesey remarked that reaction to a broadcast of a council meeting a year ago were to the effect "that it was pretty dry stuff."

"I understand that the panel discussions were quite widely listened to," Ald. Anglesey said. "If some of the committee meetings could be broadcast they might be more interesting to the public."

Mr. Outram suggested that a council broadcast might begin with the committee reports, followed by the bylaws, a routine that has been accelerated this year, and probably wind up with any general business.

Walter Dinesen On Library Board

Walter Dinesen, 232 Carlisle Ave., was appointed representative of Peterborough and District Labor Council on the Public Library Board by the finance committee of the council Monday night. He was chosen from five members of the Labor body whose names were proposed from its membership.

Comment in the finance committee expressed a wish to nominate a man who was most interested in the public service of the library.

Mr. Denisen was proposed in a motion by Alderman Anglesey and Mayor Swanston.

"The man from Ashburnham ought to be all right," was the expression of Mayor Swanston when Mr. Denisen was mentioned for the post.

Not Acceptable To CCL

Mr. Dinesen replaces Albert E. Borland who for 15 years was a member of the Library Board and a former chairman. Mr. Borland, a member of the United Postal Clerks Association and a TLC affiliate, was not acceptable to the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL).

At the time of Mr. Borland's appointment the Peterborough Allied Labor Council held sway in labor matters. This council included CCL, TLC and Independent unions but in the past year the CCL unions withdrew and formed the Peterborough and District Labor Council. Mr. Borland's original appointment to the Library Board was as a representative of labor.

Smith Man Faces 16 Charges

Passed Eight Cheques Said Worthless; Bail Set At $1500

Sixteen charges, eight of forgery and eight of false pretences, were laid in police court today against Marvin Armstrong, 35, Smith township. He was remanded on $1,500 bail on one charge to Feb. 20 and the rest were adjourned to the same date.

Police charge that Armstrong obtained $147 in cash, merchandise and gasoline by passing eight worthless cheques to stores and service stations throughout the district.

The offences he is charged with extend back as far as October, but most are said to have taken place in January.

Each cheque was signed with the name Mabel Armstrong and made out to M. Armstrong. On each cheque he faces two charges, one of forgery and one of false pretences. Police charge that he forged the cheques and then offered them as genuine cheques, obtaining money and goods for them.

The Cheques

Police say that on Oct. 28 he obtained $7 in cash and $3 in gasoline from A. W. Gilders in Smith township; that on Dec. 19 he got $5 worth of cash and merchandise from W. T. Junkin in Harvey township; that Jan. 11 he received $12 in merchandise and cash from the Kawartha Garage north of the city; that Jan. 16 he obtained $15 in cash and $5 in gasoline from Leslie Golloher in Asphodel township; also Jan. 16 he received $25 in cash and merchandise from John Loughton in Norwood; Jan. 22, $25 from J. Archer in merchandise in cash and goods in Lakefield; and Jan. 23 in Burleigh township $23 in cash and $2 worth of gasoline from R. H. Tranter.

Two minor traffic charges against Armstrong were dismissed in police court today. The crown offered no evidence in the charge of having no red light on a load on his truck overhanging the rear of the truck more than five feet.

Charge Dismissed

On a charge of not having his name on the side of the truck Traffic Officer Gordon Trennum gave evidence. He said Dec. 18 he investigated a minor accident in connection with a truck on Queen St.

On the truck was printed the name Tyson Brothers, Glen Alda. A check with the Department of Highways revealed that the truck was registered in the name of Mrs. Mabel Armstrong.

The magistrate said there was no evidence to say that Armstrong was driving the truck at the time.

ALFRED BARBER

Labor Council Re-elects Alfred Barber

Alfred Barber Monday night was acclaimed to his second successive term of office as president of the Peterborough and District Labor Council (CCL).

Mr. Barber is a maintenance mechanic at Canada Packers and he has been president of Local 210, United Packinghouse Workers of America (CIO-CCL), seven times—the last five years in succession.

William Whibbs, Local 524, International Union of Electrical Workers, was returned as vice-president defeating Dave Hatherly and Orville Martin, both of Local 599, IUE.

Elect New Secretary

Biggest change on the top executive is the new secretary. Dave Hatherly, Local 599, defeated Lorne Bebee, Local 293, edging him on the second ballot.

Following is the 1951 slate of officers: Alfred Barber, president; William Whibbs, vice-president; Dave Hatherly, secretary; W. E. Thomas, Local 210, UPWA, treasurer; Thomas Anderson, Local 210, UPWA, floor guard; and Irvin Yeo, Local 524, IUE, three-year trustee.

Two other trustees—William Gunn, Local 293, UPWA, and Ed Humphrey, Local 434, UPWA, were not up for election.

Seek New Quarters

A committee of five, headed by President Barber, was appointed to investigate the renting of the old Masonic hall (across from the police station on Water Street) as a CCL labor hall.

President Barber explained that it has a seating capacity of 550 and has six or eight rooms that could be converted into offices and storerooms. It would have to be redecorated and renovated, and a 10-year lease taken out.

Suburban Roads Cost City $18,000

City's contribution for the building of roads outside its borders will be $18,000 this year. That sum is set by the city council. It is a nest egg for the Suburban Area Commission.

The city is required to pay the same amount as the county. This year their combined appropriation will be $36,000. Department of Highways pays the equivalent, on the dollar-for-dollar basis. That makes a total of $72,000 to the credit of the Suburban Area Commission for their 1951 program of road building and maintenance.

Members of the Commission are J. Albert Middleton, Jeremiah Mahoney, and Floyd Curtis, the latter representing the city.

County's payment last year was $14,000, and the city paid $15,000, according to information at the Court House today.

Port Hope Line Be Required For Peterborough Shippers When Seaway Is Completed

Transport Commission To Hear Request For Continuance Of Railway Line, City Will Send Deputation To Meeting

Peterborough will be represented by members of the city council and Chamber of Commerce at a district meeting in Port Hope Thursday night to renew appeal to the Board of Railway Transport Commissioners for the continuance of operation of the C.N.R. service between Peterborough and Port Hope.

The Transport Commissioners are coming to Port Hope Tuesday, Feb. 27 to hear the petition from municipalities of this district for the further suspension of an existing order authorizing the closing of the line between Millbrook and Port Hope.

St. Lawrence Seaway

A letter received by the finance committee of the council Monday night from the Board of Trade of Port Hope cites as a new and vital argument in favor of the old railway, the accumulating assurance of the early undertaking of the construction of the St. Lawrence Seaway.

The prospect of attaining port status on the Seaway, which has been much in the news of late, is emphasized by the Port Hope Board as all the more practical reason for retaining the railway communication from the north through Peterborough.

Asset To City

"It would be an asset to this city when the Seaway is completed," Mayor Swanston said. "We can't afford to lose any of our railway connections, and we all know that the connections we now have at Port Hope, especially in the passenger service, are not good. It won't cost much to leave the railway where it is, but it would cost a great deal if it had to be put down again."

Mayor Swanston said that the Chamber of Commerce had arranged to attend the meeting Thursday night.

"Couldn't the manufacturers committee represent us?" Ald. J. A. Dewart suggested.

Its chairman, Ald. E. C. Braund is out of the city, apparently taking his bumps in a curling bonspiel.

Mayor to Send Delegation

Mayor Swanston was authorized to send a delegation from the council in a motion by Aldermen Burrows and Graham.

Contention of the CNR has been for years that business between Peterborough and Port Hope causes only annual deficits. Early in the war the national company got an order from the Board of Transport to close the southern section of the line, and lift the rails. Action was formally deferred in consideration of wartime traffic.

It is also feared here that removal of the outlet via Port Hope could have an adverse effect on local freight rates. Peterborough has argued that CNR has diverted freight traffic almost entirely by way of Belleville.

Ald. T. D. Miller presided Monday night with the following members present: Aldermen Norman Graham, A. B. Burrows, H. T. Rehill, J. E. Gillespie, P. J. Anglesey, H. F. Waddell, J. A. Dewart, Dr. H. N. Young and Mayor M. J. Swanston.

Altered Cheque, Youth Gets Year In Reformatory

A 16-year-old youth who pleaded guilty to changing the amount of a cheque was sentenced to one year in reformatory by Magistrate W. R. Philp, K.C. in police court today.

Laverne Woodbeck, who was working in the bush in Belmont township, was charged with forgery for making the change.

He said he had been given a cheque for $10 by his boss, Roy Young. But there was $20 owing him for two weeks' work, he said. He changed the amount to agree with what was owing him.

"It has every appearance of a rather clumsy attempt," the magistrate said.

Constable Donald Erskine of the OPP testified that the youth cashed the cheque for $20 in Ross Barnes' store north of Havelock.

On Probation

Crown Attorney John A. Bradshaw K.C. read a letter from a probation officer in Weston stating that on Jan. 16 Woodbeck was placed on one year's suspended sentence on a charge of false pretences in connection with a cheque of $21.56.

Woodbeck said his father was dead and his mother was in a hospital in Kingston. He left school three years ago and has been working in various jobs since.

The crown suggested a year's sentence to give Woodbeck a chance to learn a trade.

The magistrate said Woodbeck apparently had not had much help in this world except for what he could do for himself. He said he would have a good chance to learn a trade in reformatory.

Leduc Oil-Field Celebrates Fourth Birthday

LEDUC, Alta., Feb. 13 (CP).—One of Canada's lustiest industrial babies, Leduc oil field, today celebrates its fourth birthday. But unlike most four-year-olds, Leduc will be more interested in growing and earning than any ceremony or birthday cake.

The official ceremony marking its birth, February 13, 1947, saw 500 dignitaries mustered in a wind-swept farm field for the kick-off of production at a wildcat well that hit pay dirt in a Devonian limestone reef, 5,000 feet below the surface.

The anniversary finds 545 wells producing oil in an area 14 miles long and eight miles wide, straddling the North Saskatchewan River seven miles west of here. A new model town—Devon—has blossomed with the oil derricks to house the workers and their families. A $4,000,000 gas-processing plant has been built to separate marketable gas from the "wet" gas which brings up the oil.

In its four-year life, Leduc has produced more than 24,300,000 barrels of crude. Posted field price is $3.05 a barrel. Production, curtailed now by market limitations, is expected to rise sharply when Alberta oil starts moving across the Great Lakes next spring. All winter oil has been flowing through the interprovincial pipe line from Edmonton to Superior, Wis., for storage until spring break-up.

30% Increase Seen

With the opening of the Eastern market, oil officials estimate that Alberta production will rise as much as 30 per cent. The spectacular growth of the Deduc field itself has been overshadowed by the big oil boom it touched off and by, the discovery of its big sister field at Redwater, 45 miles the other side of Edmonton.

Redwater has more wells, bigger output, greater reserves and more costly leases. But Leduc provided the spark that started it all.

The field has given a share of riches to some "little" oil men who took a chance on overlooked and doubtful land, and it has brought some heartbreaks.

Among the 670 wells completed in a 10-mile radius there have been 100 dry wells.

Some venturesome drillers struck it rich. Biggest find was at Golden Spike, where Imperial Oil brought in Canada's biggest well at 10,000 barrels a day.

To the north are new pools at Stoney Plain and Acheson; northeast there is oil at Whitemud. In the last year numerous independent companies have struck out southward and made new discoveries.

As the field enters its fifth year, more than 40 drilling rigs are at work, aiming to boost still further a reserve of oil estimated in the Leduc field alone at about 375,000,000 barrels.

He tabled the figures in the legislature in reply to a question from C. H. Millard (CCF—York West). He said the revenue was $40,603,755 in 1950 and $39,744,-269 in 1949.

Risk Of War Great-Pearson

MONTREAL, Feb. 13 (CP) — External Affairs Minister Pearson Monday told the Canadian Lumbermen's Association that the risk of war "is now very great."

In a solemn appraisal of the world situation, he said, "I do not accept the thesis that war is inevitable, but at the same time draw attention to the fact that the Soviet Union may adopt tactics short of war which may have damaging effects upon our way of life."

Mr. Pearson warned:

"We must be ready for the possibility that an overt attack may not come for many years but that, meanwhile, we and other countries in the free world will be subjected to great tensions and provocations and exertions. We do not know enough about the present intentions of those who direct the policies of the Soviet Union to determine which type of challenge—the direct or indirect —is more likely."

Senate Studies Move To Reform Upper Chamber

OTTAWA, Feb. 13—(CP)—The future of Canada's 102-member Senate—for years a subject for debate—has come home. The Senators themselves may decide the issue.

Senator Wishart Robertson, government leader, has initiated a move for Senators to say what steps they think should be taken to reform the Upper Chamber, once described by Sir John A. Macdonald as th House of "sober second thought."

Senator Robertson introduced a motion Monday for appointment of a special committee to study methods "to enable the Senate to make its maximum contribution to the welfare of the Canadian people." In elaborating, he made four suggestions:

1. That future Senators retire at 75 years of age on a contributory pension plan. At present they are appointed by the government of the day for life.

2. That two-thirds of the membership be appointed for terms up to the 75-year age limit to retain the present semi-judicial and politically-independent character of the House. The remainder could be appointed for five-year terms with the right of reappointment, thus bringing fresh thinking into the Chamber. Average age of Senators is 68.

Would Widen Make-Up

3. That the political make-up be widened to include minority schools of political thought. At present there are 80 Liberals, 11 Progressive Conservatives and 11 vacancies. Political parties such as the CCF and Social Credit have no representation.

4. That the Senate choose a House leader distinct from the government leader, responsible for handling government legislation in the Upper House. At present the government leader, more or less by tradition, also acts as House leader.

Senator Robertson said his motion had not been prompted by any member of the government, though the government did not object to the suggestion. He invited the widest discussion.

Paris Fad To Dye Doggie To Match Gown

By EDDY GILMORE.

PARIS, Feb. 13 (AP).—Man's best friend has been turned into an ornament of fickle female fashion.

At a Paris fashion show a model in a mauve cocktail dress toddled in dragging a poodle dyed purple to match her gown. The dog originally was white.

The nice thing about having canines to match your ensembles fashion experts say, is in the variety of the thing. Dogs are not limiting and confining like hats or handbags, which means, now that fashion has got around to painting pups, that more and different ensembles can be worn.

If the only dog you have around your house is brown this dosen't mean you are limited to wearing that old brown tweed, or the new green skirt because, while Brownie might clash with a purple gown, you can change his color easier than you can the gown.

Of course, this new trend does not concern itself with how Brownie might feel about his dye-baths, nor does it take into consideration the howls of protest that are bound to chorus from dog lovers the world over.

Under the present plan milady can dye her dog every day if she wants to. Or, for those with a great deal of worldly goods, an entire dress kennel could be set up, filled with dogs of every hue and size varied in one that even Paris couldn't dream up a color that you couldn't find a dog to match.

To the small credit of the human race it should be reported that the dog at the Paris fashion show got more attention and considerably more sympathy than did the dress in question. There were sighs and ahs. Folks were sorry for the pooch.

All through his life... NICKEL

Since the discovery of Canada's Nickel deposits, hundreds of uses and vast markets have been developed for Nickel through a planned program of research. So Nickel is now one of our most important exports to the United States and other countries. As a result millions of U.S. dollars come to Canada, which the Nickel industry uses to pay wages, taxes, freight, and to purchase lumber, machinery and supplies.

In the laundry where baby's diapers are washed, Nickel alloy equipment eliminates rust and verdigris stains because it is rust-proof and corrosion-resistant. It does not develop jagged edges, so prevents tearing of the wash.

Much of the equipment used in the plants where cod liver oil, medicines and toiletries are processed, is made of Nickel alloys to maintain the purity of the product.

To commemorate the 200th anniversary of Cronstedt's discovery of Nickel in 1751, the Royal Canadian Mint has this year issued a new five-cent coin. This coin, like previous five-cent pieces, is made of pure Nickel.

Women Workers Return to Job In War Plants

By ADELAIDE KERR

EAST HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) —Twenty-five hundred women are back in overalls on assembly lines here, producing aircraft engines for defence.

The Pratt and Whitney Aircraft Division of the United Aircraft Corporation has more than doubled the number of its women factory workers since fighting started in Korea.

Reports to the U.S. Department of Labor show Winnie the Welder is not back in defence production in any significant numbers, but Pratt and Whitney, those engines power some of Uncle Sam's most deadly bombers and jet fighters, has built up a production corps of women in anticipation of future needs. The firm has added about 1,500 women to the 967 who were on its factory force before Korea while taking on about 500 men. Its production force was increased from 12,500 to 14,500.

"During the Second World War, Pratt and Whitney Aircraft employed 12,000 women in its Connecticut plant," says William P. Gwinn, general manager. "We found them to be good employees and good craftswomen."

Women work on lathes, drill presses, welding units, gear grinding machines. They handle parts worked to tolerances as fine as a watch. They are trusted with the operation of extremely costly machines. The bosses say they beat men all hollow on certain repetitive jobs, such as bench work, assembly work and wiring.

Equality Basis

The factory now has a woman assistant to the personnel manager and a woman doctor.

Women factory workers at P. and W. get the same treatment as men, including a paycheck of equal size. This marks some changes since the early 40s.

When women first went into the factory, they got special rest time. They got 10 cents an hour less pay.

"But it soon became apparent that women could take it and that they were going to do the same work as men," said one official. "So they got the same pay—and no special privileges."

Something else has changed. Eight or nine years ago, there used to be something about the bend of a woman's back as she worked in a factory that told you she flinched from your stare and was half sick with fright that her fumbling fingers might ruin a costly machine.

Today, handling her machine with deft competence, she neither sees nor cares about your stare—if you are so old-fashioned as to stare at a woman in pants working in a factory. She has her cap on the back of her head, her gloves are grimy and she wears her faded overalls as familiarly as though they were her kitchen apron.

Bavarian City Revives Famous Music Festival

By ROBERT PETTY

BAYREUTH, GERMANY, — (Reuters) — The Bayreuth music festival is to be revived this summer by Richard Wagner's grandsons, with two United States singers in leading roles.

Astrid Varnay and George London of the New York Metropolitan Opera have been engaged to give an American touch to the festival.

Two Wagner grandsons—Wieland, 33, and Wolfgang, 31—are talking of casting a third American, Robert Charlebois, 280-pound tenor from Minneapolis in the leading role of Siegfried for the 1953 festival.

Bayreuth's 1951 festival, due to last from July 7 until Aug. 19, will offer the full traditional program of Wagnerian operas, including "The Ring of Nibelungen," "Tristan and Isolde," and "Die Meistersinger."

Choose Conductors

Hans Knappertsbusch, German conductor, and Herbert Von Karajan, conductor of the Vienna symphony, will do the conducting. Wilhelm Furtwaengler may appear also.

The festival will mark the 75th anniversary of the great grey stone opera house which Wagner built to perpetuate his works based on Teutonic folklore.

The festival is being resurrected against a background of dreary family wrangling and huge financial obstacles.

Friend of Hitler

Fifty-three-year-old Winifred Wagner, mother of Wieland and Wolfgang, took over the festival from her husband, Siegfried, after his death in 1930. A member of the Nazi party in 1920 and a close friend of Hitler, she was divested of any connection with the festival by a German denazification court in 1946.

The mother became estranged from her children. A daughter, Friedlind, emigrated to the United States and wrote a book, "Heritage of Fire" excoriating her mother. In the United States, she organized the Friedlind Wagner opera companyy.

Confronted with an empty cash-box, Wieland and Wolfgang attempted to finance the Bayreuth revival in part through the sale of some of Richard Wagner's manuscripts. Their plans were foiled by Friedlind who refused her consent. Eventually, the Wagners raised most of the money needed through grants from public funds and contributions from wealthy industrialists. About a million marks (roughly $232,000) will be spent on the revival.

The Wagner grandsons are generally conceded to have removed all Nazi taint from the festival, which is being backed by all classes of Germans as well as by the occupation powers.

Apart from the two New York Metropolitan singers, the Wagners will rely mainly on young German and Austrian talent, dearth of which is hardly less acute than the shortage of money to finance the spectacle.

Waitresses Lose Low Necklines

NEW YORK—(CP)—Waitresses at a mid-town hotel restaurant had no complaints when the management decided they should wear plunging-neckline outfits on the job. Nor, apparently, had the male patrons. Business improved and the average tip went up 20 per cent.

Nevertheless, after a month's trial, up went the necklines again. The reason: too many women were being antagonized.

The restaurateur explained:

"Women don't like to go with men to a restaurant where the waitresses are dressed too sexy. It takes the 'play' away from them."

FEMININE TOUCH—Attractive touch was given to the 1951 International Dog Derby at Ottawa by Mrs. A. D. Fitzgerald, of Goose Bay, Labrador, and these two husky pups. Mrs. Fitzgerald came down with the dogs and her husband from the U.S. air base at Goose Bay to take part in the Derby.

Tame Elk Adopts Family, Dog Best Friend

FRANKLIN, Man. (CP) — The Walter MacDonald family here has been adopted by a young elk.

It happened when Dick MacDonald, 14, stepped outside the farmhouse last October. The scraggly animal came up and started nuzzling him.

It turned out that neighborhood people had smuggled the elk when a baby from Riding Mountain National Park, 40 miles north of Franklin.

They bottle-raised it and when they left the district the young animal was turned out to fend for itself.

Now one of the elk's best friends on the MacDonald place is Wendy, a big, playful Labrador pup.

Great Friends

The elk and pup made up a new and exciting game. Each would tear around the house full tilt, meeting again half-way. There would be excited barking from the pup and near-hysterical trumpetings from the playful young elk.

The game guardian at Neepawa decided that to return the tame animal to the national park would mean its certain death at the hands of some hunter. He asked the MacDonalds to hold on to it until after the hunting season.

The young elk spends the night curled in the straw that covers the MacDonalds' plumbing. During the daytime it follows whoever has chores to do around the place.

Preventive Steps Urged in Battle To Protect Sight

OTTAWA — (CP) — Canada has more than 17,000 known blind and of this number 10,517 draw pensions.

The health department says the number of blind pensioners has increased since last year by 950. This figure includes 171 in Newfoundland and two in the Yukon.

In its annual report the department says more blindness could be prevented if the public were kept better informed. Adequate preventive treatment facilities also are lacking, particularly in rural areas.

In the provinces where the percentage of persons on blind pension is highest the greatest increases occur chiefly in rural areas where living conditions are poor and educational standards low.

Poor Marriages

"Too many of the blind in these areas are the issue of first-cousin marriages," says the report, "thus perpetuating hereditary diseases . . ."

The percentage of blind pensioners is highest in the Maritimes and in Quebec and is fairly constant "at a considerably lower level" in the rest of Canada.

In the report the department points to a shortage of oculists in Canada.

Since oculists tend to congregate in the larger centres proper eye care cannot be obtained in most rural areas," it says.

Need Eye Hospitals

In addition there are no eye hospitals.

"It is considered that at least two hospitals are needed where difficult eye cases could be treated and an adequate number of oculists trained," the report continues. "The present eye treatment facilities and the number of practising oculists would be entirely inadequate to meet the needs of any comprehensive health insurance scheme."

Canada's non-pensionable blind are not eligible because they are under 21 years of age; because they have incomes sufficiently high to exclude them; or because they have not lived in Canada for the 20 years necessary.

The maximum basic pension for a blind person is $40 a month. A single blind pensioner is permitted a maximum of $720 annually in pension and other income. If a man is blind but has a sighted wife the two are permitted $1,200 between them. Two blind persons who qualify under the pension are permitted $1,320 pension and income.

In British Columbia and Alberta the blind pensioner, under certain conditions, is paid an additional bonus of $10 a month. In Saskatchewan, the only other province to pay a bonus, the pensioner receives an additional $2.50.

Art, Medicine Combined In New Course

TORONTO —(CP)— Art and medicine may appear to have little in common, but at the University of Toronto they are being combined in an unusual manner.

Unique in Canada is a course in art as applied to medicine in which students are prepared for the job of reproducing on canvas or in sketches objects and techniques important in the field of medicine.

The sketches and paintings they produce after they graduate will be used in a varied number of ways. They will illustrate medical text books, work in visual education departments of medical schools, in research institutes, hospitals, clinics, public health departments and pharmaceutical houses.

Eight Students

There are eight students in the course at present—seven of them women. Five will be graduated this year. Minimum entrance requirement is Grade 13 with some training in art, but the majority of students have their bachelor's degree or have been graduated from art college.

Value of their work may be illustrated by the problem of recording aspects of operations. Where a photograph would be cluttered up with gauze bandages and instruments, the drawing or painting can be used to capture only the necessary features.

To do this, the students must get a thorough knowledge of anatomy, histology and pathology. They take the same course in these subjects as medical students and write the same examinations.

They attend university for three years before they are qualified to handle the task of recording many of the finer sides of the medical profession.

Quebecers Plan World Tour By Automobile

NEW DELHI — (AP) — An engineer and a doctor are here from Canada on a one-year round-the-world tour in an automobile, "just to see the sights."

Engineer Jacques Hebert and Dr. Jean Phaneuf explained that, finding themselves jobless, they decided to go around the world instead of just around Montreal. They left home June 24, 1950, and have been on the move ever since.

The Montrealers motored to San Francisco and sailed to Tokyo, Hong Kong, and Saigon. There they took to the road again for Singapore along terrorist-infested forest routes, "but nothing happened to us and we received nothing but kindness wherever we went." A ship took them across the Bay of Bengal to Madras and they drove the length of the Indian sub-continent. They will go through Pakistan, Iran, Iraq, Syria, Turkey, Austria, Switzerland and France before sailing again to Canada.

For Hebert, this is a third trip. Last time, he toured round North and South America.

"The world looks peaceful and people are very kind," Hebert said, adding that "such round-the-world trips enlarge one's outlook and add to his experience."

The two have not met politicians or statesmen in any of the countries visited "because politics is not in our line."

Vancouver Has 99-Seat Theatre

VANCOUVER— (CP)— A 99-seat legitimate theatre opened in Vancouver's east end last month.

It represents the life-long ambition of Sydney Risk of Vancouver.

In 1946, Risk formed the "Everyman Theatre" but it was only last month that the group moved into its own playhouse.

He hopes that in three years the company will be established as a full-time professional group.

Risk has an MA in drama from Cornell University and for six summers directed the Banff School of Fine Arts.

Of Scottish parentage, Risk acted in various companies in Britain before the war. After war broke out he taught at the University of Alberta and later came to the University of British Columbia to teach dramatics.

His group won the regional drama festival last year.

What's Right

Compliments always embarrass you and you never know just what to say when you receive one.

WRONG: Deny the compliment so as to appear modest.

RIGHT: Accept the compliment with a pleased "Thank you." That is all that is called for.

IT WAS CHILLY, TOO, when the couple—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bolton of Burleigh Falls—were married back in 1901. They celebrated their golden wedding anniversary on Saturday, in weather similar to the recent cold snap. On Feb. 10, 1901, they had to go to Young's Point, where they were married, by sleigh instead of cutter.

Weather of Golden Wedding Recalls Chilly Wedding Day

For one Burleigh Falls couple the recent cold snap brought back happy memories of 50 years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bolton celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Saturday under weather conditions nearly identical with those of their wedding day. They recalled that the temperature dipped low and the snow was so deep that a sleigh had to be used instead of a cutter to take them to Young's Point.

There in St. Aidan's Anglican Church they were married by the Rev. Walter Creswick on February 10, 1901. By Saturday, February 10, 1951, the marriage certificate had so many folds their children presented them with a new copy in a gold frame as one of the gifts.

A lumberman, Mr. Bolton cleared his present land and built their home on the present house's site when they first went there years ago. Since then their home has changed much from the log cabin style.

Saturday the Bolton family, four of the seven children still living, 14 grandchildren and one great-grandchild, and the Rev. and Mrs. F. J. Fife, St. Aidan's Church, attended the golden wedding celebrations at the Bolton home in Burleigh Falls. There after toasts to the couple by Thomas Gordon for the children and Donald Parks for the grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Bolton were presented with gold blankets, sheets, and pillowcases.

Mr. Bolton enjoyed a second thrill Saturday when he had his photograph taken by a Peterborough studio. Not since his wedding day had he had his photo taken at a studio.

During the 50 years of marriage the Boltons raised 10 children; seven still living. They are: Mrs. Thomas Gordon (Elizabeth) of Buckhorn, George at home, Mrs. Jack Ireland (Mathilda) of Buckhorn, Donald of Peterborough, and Thomas, Samuel and Mrs. Gerald Graham (Gertrude), all of Porcupine. The three deceased are Walter, Alice and William. The three in Porcupine could not attend the celebration.

Polish Undergrounder Says Communism Not New Idea

First and foremost rule of the organization which was described to the University Women's Club at the meeting Monday evening is being maintained in this report—keeping secret the speaker's name.

Though the Polish underground is no longer functioning, this group of thinking women found the subject the most vital of their program so far. The informant was an officer of the underground army and knew well his topic.

"Only Russians could think that they can bring Communism into Poland," he declared. "To the Poles it is not a new idea, but the old Russian imperialism they have known before and which represents only a low standard of living and slavery."

That the Russian plan from the outset was to make Poland a puppet state was shown clearly in his picture of the Polish uprising in August, 1944.

A quotation from orders issued from headquarters in Britain, the underground army revealed the complete faith in Russian support which was given as expected during the short time the uprising was reported "going successfully."

"Suddenly, Russian guns were silent, Russian planes emptied from the air, the army did not make a move. Poles could scarcely believe what they saw," he said. The resistance in Warsaw continued for days, the Polish underground army and the civilians fighting with whatever offensive weapons they could find, and their own fists. The Germans gave these people full rights of combatants when they surrendered, and a German report which the speaker read gave the Poles credit for holding back thousands of well-equipped enemies and for keeping themselves a well-organized army.

Organization Efficient

Detail of the underground organization was most interesting. It was under four branches—administrative, military, political and civilian resistance—each with similarly well-organized departments of government. It worked so efficiently that 60,000 Gestapo agents in Poland, backed by a German army, were never able to crush it.

Throughout the conflict the Poles were always confident of an Allied victory. In the midst of war, the underground issued bonds, redeemable afterward with interest. Though Polish schools were closed by the Germans, 50,000 children were educated in the Warsaw district alone, and 15,000 Poles were graduated from high school by the underground's system.

Operators of underground radio stations in Poland had to be the best possible. By a rigid course of instruction given in England the volunteers became not only expert operators, but gangster-type commandos. Of such mind also were men of the underground when dealing with the enemy, and they were authorized to pass sentences of death for infamy or attempting active aid to the Germans. "No appeal from the sentences were allowed, so there were no collaborators in Poland."

Closing statement of this speaker was most effective: "Russians were in Warsaw before and were driven out. History usually repeats itself."

Club President Mrs. J. E. Watters presided for a business meeting preceding the address. Introduction of the speaker was made by program convener Mrs. J. R. Henderson and appreciation expressed by Mrs. C. S. Thompson.

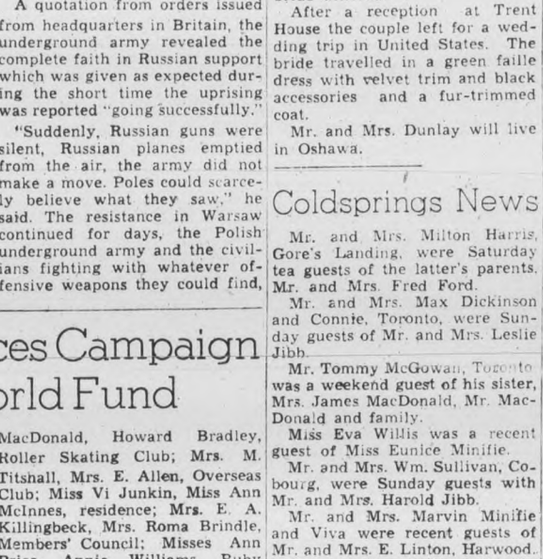
YW Commences Campaign For $920 to World Fund

The anual campaign for the World Service Fund of the YWCA commenced in Peterborough Y on Monday with the objective for this Association set at $920, an increase over last year.

Representatives from the clubs, departments and committees of the Y, numbering 38, were given effective suggestions for encouraging donations from their associates by Miss Jean Campbell from National headquarters, Toronto, who is secretary of the fund.

It is hoped to again raise $30,000 from Canada, and the speaker explained in detail a chart which indicates how each dollar of this amount will be spent. Less than two per cent, or $480, goes for administration costs.

The Canadian donation provides $5,000 for support of the World's YWCA. The largest amount being sent to any country is a similar amount to Sierra Leone, West Africa, for salary and expenses of a trained Canadian who has been sent to develop an Association already established for 15 years. Other contributions vary in amount with the contribution being made by Canadians in Trinidad, India, Japan, Burma, Lebanon, Germany, Ceylon, Madagascar. A small amount is set aside in an emergency fund and 23 per cent. of the total is unallocated—to provide for extension of services and scholarships.



Miss Campbell urged the campaign leaders to put forth the thought that "World service is a bridge between nations"—a construction much needed at this time.

Mrs. H. T. Rehill is chairman for the campaign in Peterborough. She announced the closing date will be in the last week of April. Board president Mrs. T. J. Carley spoke briefly asking support from all branches of the association.

A delicious buffet supper, prepared by YWCA dietitian Miss Gwen Reed, was enjoyed before the meeting.

Those present and the group represented were: Misses Nancy Howell and Ann Lewis, Friday Night Supper Club; Misses Hazel Wilson, Helen Edmison, Jean Hammond, '38 Club; Misses Kay Calladine, Joy Blakely, Kappa Gamma Club; Miss Ella Down, Twenty Plus Club; Messrs. Bob MacDonald, Howard Bradley, Roller Skating Club; Mrs. M. Titshall, Mrs. E. Allen, Overseas Club; Miss Vi Junkin, Miss Ann McInnes, residence; Mrs. E. A. Killingbeck, Mrs. Roma Brindle, Members' Council; Misses Ann Price, Annie Williams, Ruby Leach, Mrs. S. McBride, Mrs. M. Banks, gym; Mrs. W. Perks, Mrs. R. M. Matthews, Miss Audrey Hustwitt, swimming; Mrs. John Lewis, Miss C. Littlefield, health education committee; Mrs. T. J. Carley, Mrs. H. T. Rehill, Miss L. Davidson, Mrs. Hugh Waddell, board; Mrs. S.2Zakos, ballet; Miss Gwen Reed, drama; Mrs. C. K. Hurst, program committee; Miss L. Brownscombe, Mrs. John Campbell, Miss Marion Foster, staff.

Each representative was given a supply of handy envelopes for collections.

GRETA GARBO, one of the most famous stars in the history of films and now a well-known Hollywood recluse, is seen above as she signed for her citizenship certificate in the Federal Court of Los Angeles after taking the final oath that made her a citizen of the United States. The taciturn Swede, heavily veiled, hurried away without comment as soon as the formalities were completed.

DOROTHY DIX

Bachelors Not Unchivalrous If They Turn Down Proposal

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a man in my early thirties. About a month ago I met a girl who insists upon my marrying her. I like her, but am not in love with her. I have no reason at all to marry, as I have a comfortable home and feel I would not be happy married, as I don't like any strings tied to me. If I am in one woman's company very long I get bored. Do you think I should marry this girl?

A. W.

ANSWER: Certainly not, if you don't want to do so. It is her privilege to ask you, but it is equally your privilege to refuse.

Nothing is more inexplicable than the attitude of men toward the woman who does her courting openly, instead of stealthily. As long as a woman sticks to the feminine tradition of pretending that she's the pursued instead of the pursuer, and of cajoling and coaxing and sometimes actually shanghaiing a man to the altar, he feels safe and enjoys her wooing. Apparently he never suspects her intentions, and when finally she drags a proposal out of him and cries out: "This is so sudden! I never dreamed you thought that way about me," he believes her.

It Frightens Him

But let a woman come out flat-footed and frankly tell a man that she loves him and wants to marry him, and he becomes paralyzed with terror. He feels that his doom is sealed and that nothing short of a miracle can save him from having to marry her. Which, of course, is all nonsense.

Of course, it is not to be denied that when a woman makes up her mind that she wants to marry a man and sets out to get him, she is mighty persistent and very likely to get him. Nor is it to be denied that men are much more easily flattered by being made love to than women are; but all the same, any man with an inch of backbone should be able to protect his bachelor freedom if he really wants to do it. Anyway, the time has come when women are tired of sitting on the sidelines and sucking their thumbs and waiting for the men they want to happen to notice them. Also, they are weary of taking what they can get instead of getting what they want and from now on they are going to take the initiative in courtship and pop the question to the men they desire for husbands.

So men had better begin learning how to say "no" gracefully to the maidens who ask for their hearts and hands, and learn how to soften the blow by telling the disappointed ladies that they will be brothers to them.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: A young girl is boarding with me who is a photographer's model. She is sweet in disposition, but she is the wildest, most irresponsible girl I have ever known. Stays out until 5 or 6 o'clock in the morning and never comes home sober. Last Sunday morning it was after 7 when she finally showed up so drunk that I had to put her to bed myself. When she sobered up I told her bluntly if she were my daughter, I would put her across my lap and give her such a spanking that she would be afraid ever to look at another cocktail. Of course, I didn't mean it literally, but she took me up on it and told me that she wished I would adopt her for a couple of months and see if I could paddle a little sense into her. She insists on my spanking her. I can't picture myself taking a full grown woman across my knee and paddling her like a young child. So we have decided to put the question up to you.

MRS. ARTHUR M.

ANSWER: Certainly if a girl knew every time she came home intoxicated she was due to have a painful session with a strong-armed and determined mother, she would stick to tomato juice instead of old-fashioneds and cultivate a taste for ginger ale instead of highballs.

But the mothers who were capable of using force if necessary to make their children behave and walk in the strait and narrow way do not have to spank them when they are grown. They did their spanking while their children were babies, so it was not needed when they were grown.

I do not believe that corporal punishment will change a grown girl such as the one you describe. She knows that she is throwing away her youth and beauty and that she is headed for the gutter. If that bitter knowledge doesn't save her, nothing will.

✧ ✧ ✧

DEAR MISS DIX: Doesn't it take money to make a marriage work? I'm not foolish enough to believe that love alone can suffice, that staying home every day, economizing, counting every penny makes for happiness.

JERRY

✧ ✧ ✧

ANSWER: That depends altogether on what the couple is accustomed to having. What would seem riches to one would be grinding poverty to another. I agree with you that a marriage is very likely to go on the rocks if a young couple must deny themselves even the common comforts of life. And there are always the unexpected expenses, such as sickness, for which one must provide. But you don't need riches.

Plan Big Program To Spur Buying British Fashions

LONDON — (CP) — Big plans have been made for the London "Fashion Fortnight" from May 30 to June 13, when buyers from all over the world will be given a comprehensive view of the latest developments in the British fashion industry.

Thousands of invitation cards have been sent to overseas buyers in 68 countries. These have been followed by personal letters in various languages drawing attention to the successs of last year's events and to plans to make this year's show worthy of the British Festival year of 1951.

Different section are assigned to tailored coats and suits, rayon fashion fabrics, fashionable rainwear, jersey fashion parade, dresses and millinery.

There will also be an exhibition of contemporary British costume jewellery at the design and research centre of the gold, silver and jewellery industries.

Exhibitions of silk fashion fabrics and children's wear are also planned.

Welcome Visitors

Among the attractions London offers to the buyer from overseas are the displays of the large stores and small specialty shops. A buyer likes to look around the shops whether on business or peronal trips. To know what a buyer chooses for his or her own personal use is a valuable guide to the tastes of the overseas markets.

Consequently a careful record is to be attempted of personal purchases by the visitors. This record will be kept at most of the combined events and at the close of the fortnight it is hoped that a summary of its contents will prove of great benefit to the British exporters, not only in fashion but many other fields.

The dates have been chosen to coincide with the height of the London social season. Besides the main Festival of Britain, the Derby and Royal Ascot turf meetings come at that time and the first test cricket match will start at Nottingham June 9. The international lawn tennis championships at Wimbledon come later.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Restocking Fruit Cellar With Winter Mincemeat

My apples needed attention so I suppose yours do too.

The results of this attention were six quarts of mincemeat. It was so comforting to be putting jars back on the fruit cellar shelves instead of always taking them off, that I stood back and beamed at my handiwork.

To further facilitate fast preparation of dinners I made up a bagful of pastry—that is the flour and shortening and salt mixed to a fine crumble. This I put into a plastic refrigerator bag and then in an outside bag lined with waxed paper. Two and one-half cups of this mix, with enough ice water added to make it soft enough to roll out, make enough pastry for a two-crust pie for my family.

About two hours before dinner time all I do is assemble the mincemeat and pastry into a substantial mince pie for dessert. Potatoes or squash or some other vegetable usually bake along with it in the oven. Sometimes I extend myself a little more and make a half dozen mincemeat tarts for Pete to add to his lunches.

Emem's Winter Mincemeat (fruity—no meat)

All of the bruised and spotted apples sorted from two bushels, when trimmed and pared and put through coarse knife of grinder, amounted to 18 cups. I mixed them in the preserving kettle with 2 pounds seedless raisins, ½ lb. finely chopped suet (this is not essential), 2 lbs. brown sugar (you may want to increase this to 2½ or 3 lbs.) 1 tablespoon each salt, cinnamon, 1 teaspoon each cloves and nutmeg. I had about 1 pint of leftover fruit juices to use up—these were peach and cherry juices, so I added them. Other fruit juices or cider may be added. I added juice and grated rind of 1 lemon. If you are partial to mincemeat with meat in it add some. I have one recipe that calls for 1 boiled, skinned ground beef tongue. One pound of stewed and stoned and strained prunes make a good addition.

Mix all ingredients and stir over very low heat for about an hour. If you cannot stir it all of the time, put an asbestos pad under the kettle, for this will burn very readily. Have ready sterilized 1 or 2-quart jars. Fill brimming full with mincemeat using sterilized rubbers and tops and rings to seal. These jars need careful washing when they are cool.

Mincemeat (with meat—smaller quantity)

One pound chuck beef, 2 lbs. tart apples, cored and ground, 2½ cups each raisins and currants, ¼ lb. each chopped citron peel and finely chopped suet, 2 teaspoons salt, 1 tablespoon each nutmeg, powdered cloves and cinnamon, 1 cup each strong coffee or cider, and liquid from boiling meat, 2 or 3 cups sugar. Cook meat until tender in water to barely cover. Cool in cooking liquor. Put through food chopper. Reserve 1 cup of liquid. Add prepared fruits to ground apples and meat and suet. Add remaining ingredients. Simmer for about 1 hour stirring frequently. Pour into sterile jars and seal. This makes a little more than 5 pints.

Mincemeat Hermits

Three-quarters cup shortening, 1½ cups brown sugar, 3 beaten eggs, 2½ cups sifted cake flour, ½ teaspoon each cinnamon, nutmeg, salt, ¾ teaspoon baking soda, 1 cup mincemeat or raisins, 1 cup chopped walnuts. Cream shortening and sugar together, then beat in eggs, and sift in sifted dry ingredients, stir, then add mincemeat and nuts. Drop on oiled sheet from teaspoon and bake at 375 deg. Fahr.

Ferguson Buys Sanitary Ice

Graham Ferguson of Toronto is a man who knows Ontario, judging from his past business-travelling experience with an adding machine company.

Four months ago he looked into the possibility of purchasing a city ice manufacturing concern, not only because it looked like an attractive proposition, but that he liked the friendliness of Peterborough businessmen. An ardent hunter and fisherman, Mr. Ferguson saw in Peterborough, the hub of the Kawarthas, an ideal place to settle, away from the press of large cities.

Within the last few days he has negotiated successfully for the Sanitary Ice Company business and is busy making plans for its future and looking forward to more enjoyable living for his wife and three children.

He thought the city of Chatham might run a very close second to Peterborough in citizenship pride, friendliness and ideal living conditions but following these two centres, he could not say truthfully that there were any others in their class in Ontario.

Found Guilty Of Drunk Driving Given 7 Days

Found guilty of a charge of drunk driving, Leo Turpin, Havelock, was sentenced in police court today to seven days in county jail.

Provincial Constable Donald Erskine testified he saw a collision between Turpin's car and another car on Highway 7 in Havelock shortly after midnight Feb. 3.

He asked Turpin what had happened and Turpin told him the other car did not have its lights on. He asked accused to get out. He said Turpin smelled strongly of liquor and was very unsteady on his feet.

He said Turpin had a passenger with him in the front seat. When Chief Constable Ray Bell of Havelock came to the scene, the provincial constable went on.

Unsteady On Feet

Chief Bell said when he arrived Turpin was outside the car. He was unsteady on his feet and the chief asked him to help take measurements of the road to test him. He said when Turpin stooped over to pick up the tape after holding the tape to make one measurement, he couldn't keep his balance and was unable to grasp the tape.

The constable told him to walk across the street to a garage to wait for him. Turpin walked into the path of a car and was almost hit.

"He appeared to be blind," said the chief. "He couldn't see anything."

Later in the police station Turpin was unable to read the time correctly.

Turpin said he had gone to Marmora with a friend, James Hall. In a hotel there they had five glasses of beer each between 9.30 and 11.30 p.m. He then drove home and dropped Hall off at his home.

No Collision

He said there was no collision because there were no marks on his car. He did not remember seeing Constable Erskine at the scene.

Hall said after getting out of the car he did not go into the house directly. He saw the two cars collide about 60 or 70 yards down the street from his boarding house. He then went down to the accident.

He also said he did not see the provincial constable.

Lorne Faulkner, Turpin's son-in-law, said when Turpin arrived home he was sober.

Magistrate W. R. Philp, KC, said the case seemed to be one in which people thought as long as a man was able to stand he wasn't considered drunk.

Rain, Fog Paralyze Brockville Traffic

BROCKVILLE, Feb. 13—(CP)—The warm weather and its accompanying rain and fog which swept into this eastern Ontario area late Monday has nearly paralyzed road traffic throughout the district.

The fog which closed down shortly before five p.m. forced both city and highway traffic to move at a snail's pace. Many district hockey games were cancelled and even the Brockville division of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve, which trains each Monday evening in Kingston, was forced to call off proceedings.

A rain which began to fall shortly after midnight cleared the fog somewhat, but made the already icy streets more slippery. City bus service was cancelled today until driving conditions improved.

10,000 Tons Rubber On Way To Red China

LONDON, Feb. 13—(Reuters)—A government spokesman admitted in the House of Commons Monday night that two boatloads of rubber totalling 10,000 tons are on their way to Communist China from the British port of Singapore.

The statement was made by Colonial Undersecretary Thomas Cook, who said it was assumed the rubber was of a low quality.

The statement came in reply to a question asked by a Conservative member.

Cook added that "there are restrictions on the export of rubber, but a close watch is kept on the cumulative totals of exports to individual countries".

2nd Council Member Asked For Commission

Finance committee recommended Monday night for endorsation by the city council a Fort William resolution asking the Ontario government to permit appointment of an elected member of municipal council to the police commission, in addition to present representation by the mayor.

Mayor Swanston remarked that Peterborough was "very fortunate" in the membership of its commission, "but conditions might be different elsewhere".

The motion by Aldermen Anglesey and Burrows was adopted as a recommendation to the council.

Mr. McKay was introduced by Don Irving and thanked by Harry Race. Past president Ted Edwards was presented with an Optimist merit badge.

Reds Seeking Old Treasure As Tibet Loot

NEW DELHI — (AP). — If and when Communist China subdues the stubborn monks of Tibet it may be able to tap a centuries-old war chest of incalculable riches.

This is the famous "Treasury of the Sons of Heaven," in which supporters of Lamaism from a large part of Asia have poured their contributions for hundreds of years.

Today this vast wealth is sealed in a special storehouse within the forbidding walls of Lhasa's fortress-like Potala Palace.

A special branch of the Tibetan Department of Finance was established decades ago to guard this treasury.

Their agents receive—or collect—donations from all parts of the Lamaist world—Tibet, Kashmir, Sikkim, Mongolia, China, and elsewhere.

Incalculable amounts of gold and silver, precious stones, silks, valuable skins, and rich works of art have poured into the vaults of Potala Palace atop the Tibetan capital's highest hill.

In times of emergency the Dalai Lamas or their regents have dipped lightly into these great treasures. But those who know Tibet believe only the top has been skimmed off to pay for unexpected wars or to relieve national disasters.

Well Guarded

Even the heads of Tibet's government have little knowledge of their special treasury's real value, experts on Tibet say. Current income, in a land where one man in every three is a monk devoted to pouring financial tributes into Lhasa, is sufficient to meet the needs of Tibet's government.

Visitors to Tibet's capital say only a handful of the most trusted lamas are permitted to approach the storehouse of the great treasury. These men are responsible for receiving, listing and guarding contributions.

Lhasa gets an occasional view of a few of the gold and silver ornaments from the well-guarded vaults. Reports reaching New Delhi say these were last seen on November 17, during the investiture of the present Dalai Lama.

Experts on Tibet and China here believe the Communist regime will first attempt control of the treasury through fifth column workers, to avoid arousing the religious frenzy of the guardian lamas. If this fails, they believe, the Communists will use force.

Teachers vs. Students In PCVS Hockey Game

PCVS students and teachers will meet Thursday at 4 p.m. in the Civic Arena in the first annual hockey game. Already this year the teachers have handed reverses to the students in the basketball and volleyball fixtures.

A strong student publicity campaign in the school assemblies has helped to sell 700 tickets and others have been ordered to fill the demand. About 1,000 of the 1,200 students are expected to attend.

Opposition for the teachers will be provided by the boys of Technical Grade 12 and the girls of Household Arts Grade 12. Each team plans to use three ladies. For the teachers, Miss H. S. Wilson, Miss Doreen Pemberton and Miss Eva Scott will line up with Allan MacQuarrie, Howard Moebus, Jack Cullis, J. M. Prideaux, James McNabb, Harry Collingwood and Zolton Temesy. Several of the teachers have good records with senior college hockey teams.

Don't Expect West Germans To Have Army Before 1952

By BRACK CURRY.

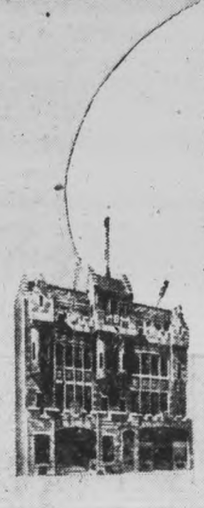
FRANKFORT, Feb. 13 (AP).—Allied occupation officials estimate there will be no West German soldiers before mid-1952 at the earliest.

Events in Europe have compelled a drastic slowdown of the Atlantic pact countries' timetable for incorporating Germans in the international army they are building.

For one thing, officials expect that a full year will be needed to reach a settlement with the West German Government on its demand for political equality. Such a settlement, the Germans have made clear, must precede any rearming of their citizens. Thus present negotiations between former German generals and high allied officers seem fated to be merely exploratory.

The biggest immediate barrier to putting allied-German relations on a new basis is the prospect of a Big Four conference which might air the entire problem of Germany. With Russia bitterly opposing any rearmament of West Germany decisions at such a conference could make hash out of armament plans already made.

Inadequate Size



The current inadequate size of western defence forces still is another factor discouraging military recruitment in the Bonn Republic. The British and the French Governments already agree that building up a western army from present Atlantic pact signers should have top priority on the rearmament schedule. Germany's contribution should come later. This view now has the endorsement also of the Atlantic military commander, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, after his tour of the continent.

Strong pressure from France and Britain against a speed-up in German rearmament is matched here by a reluctance of the Germans themselves to go back to soldiering.

"COME ON IN, SON, AND meet the manager!"

When you take over the farm, one of these days, you'll want to talk to him. You can discuss your affairs in a friendly way, as I have done. And you'll find he knows a lot.

He knows we farmers need bank credit—sometimes to put in a crop, sometimes to take off a harvest. If we need market information, he can get it for us.

Remember when we electrified the farm? Our bank manager made me the loan. He's backed us up that way for years, helping us to improve our stock, increase production.

And that's what our bank manager is there for—to help you and me to manage. He's a good man to know.

Says Young Love Deserves Break In Films

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 13 (AP).—Young love deserves a break on the screen, says John Derek, the heartthrob of the milkshake set.

The actor complains that the over-age Romeos get smooching by the bushel in movies, while the young actors get only a peck.

"Just let me make love to a young girl on the screen and I can make it look better than any of the older actors. This isn't bragging; it's just that young love is so much more exciting and real."

The latter could be grounds for a great debate but we won't go into it here. Let's go back to Derek's complain. He remarked that he has been unable to display his romantic abilities on the screen. In four out of five pictures, he has been portrayed as a killer. (He's at it again in "The Secret.") In his other film he devoted his time largely to playing football.

Current Trend

This illustrates the current trend of Hollywood thought. The producers are inclined to present the picture of young people devoting all their time either to strenuous sports or murder, mayhem and other forms of delinquency.

"They seem to have forgotten that young people make love, too," Derek said.

"In one of my pictures, I was supposed to play a young man. But when I read the dialogue, it was written for a man of about 35. It sounded silly for me to be saying those words and I knew I would be hit by the critics because of it.

"That made me realize that young people are no longer represented in the making of pictures. The writer, the producer and the director, all had forgotten how young people talk and acted."

Take It Away

The older actors not only take the stories away from the younger ones, Derek said, but the actresses, too.

"It's easier for a young girl to get roles than for a boy," he said, "because the male role in a picture more often requires the bigger name. The result is that younger girls appear with older men and then seem too mature to play opposite someone young.

Copyright Board Has Fixed Fees

OTTAWA, Feb. 13 (CP) — The Copyright Appeal Board has fixed the fees to be paid by radio stations and places of entertainment for use this year of musical works in the repertoire of the Composers Authors and Publishers Association of Canada, it was disclosed Monday.

The three-man board, headed by Mr. Justice J. T. Thorson of the Exchequer Court, left the fees much as they were in 1910. Objections to the fees were considered by the board following public hearings last month.

Radio stations will pay CAPAC $304,942 compared with $292,718 in 1950. The CBC will pay $152,421 and a similar amount will be paid by private stations as a group. The fee is fixed at a rate of 14 cents for each licensed radio-receiving set in Canada. The CBC pays seven cents and the private stations as a group a similar amount.

The private stations also will pay a total of $43,548 to broadcast music incorporated for use of its musical works. The fee is fixed at the rate of two cents for each licensed radio-receiving set. The total, as in the case of CAPAC, increases as the number of licensed sets increases.

Decide Skier Who Falls Can't Collect

QUEBEC, Feb. 13 (CP). — A superior court judge ruled Monday that a ski resort cannot be held responsible for accidents on its trails if these are made available free of charge.

Mr. Justice Oscar Boulanger handed down this decision in the case of Marc Dancose, a Quebec civil engineer who sought $9,589 damages from Manoir St. Castin Inc., at Lake Beauport, because he fractured a leg on a ski trail there and had to remain in hospital for six months.

Dancose claimed that the hotel was responsible because it sought clients and should have taken necessary precaution to protect its guests. Evidence was that Dancose fractured a leg in a spill when his skis struck small stones under a thin layer of snow.

The hotel argued that the accident was the result of negligence on the part of Dancose.

Mr. Justice Boulanger said the Manoir placed trails at the disposal of any skier without charge. It was not concerned with the maintenance or patrol of the trails. Belevolent groups made up of skiers usually did this work in ski centres, he said.

If a skier chose a dangerous hill to get a bigger thrill he was doing it at his own risk, the court ruling said.

City Requires Well-Trained St. John Ambulance Unit

The need for a strong well-equipped and well-trained St. John Ambulance organization in Peterborough was the keynote of an address by George H. Craig, president of the Ontario Council of St. John Ambulance at the Rotary luncheon meeting Monday.

Mr. Craig has been associated with this organization since 1946. At that time he was elected to the Ontario executive council of St. John Ambulance and in 1949 became its president.

"The St. John Ambulance is the greatest agency in time of disaster," contended the speaker. "With the present critical world situation every municipality should support this organization to the full. Even if atomic bombs are not dropped, large centres such as your city will have to contend with the dangers accompanying sabotage."

Instituted 900 Years Ago.

In an outline of the history and work of St. John Ambulance, Mr. Craig stated that this organization is the oldest humanitarian agency in the world. It was instituted 900 years ago during the Crusades beginning with the Order of the Knights of St. John and the Order of the Knights of Malta.

In 1895 the organization came to Canada and the Commandary of the Order of St. John was established in Toronto. A head office was set up in Ottawa in 1933 as a centre for the national organization.

Divided Into Three Parts

"The St. John Ambulance is divided into three parts," explained the speaker. "The official name of the order itself is the Venerable Order of the Knights of St. John of Jerusalem. This is the only order of chivalry in the Commonwealth over which the government has no control."

The most important part of the organization, the speaker stated, is the St. John Ambulance Brigade. Its workers give voluntarily of their time, energy and knowledge, where and when it is needed.

The St. John Ambulance Association completes this organization. It is the administrative section and in conjunction with the brigade personnel raises money and formulates policy.

"In peacetime, this organization trains more than 16,000 people in first aid," Mr. Craig explained. "This training is given not only in industry, but also in such institutions as schools and civic and provincial police bodies."

Valuable Work at CNE

Commenting on some of the highlights of the organization's activities, the speaker stated that 4,000 cases were treated by St. John's personnel at the Canadian National Exhibition last year. Disasters such as the Winnipeg flood and the Noronic fire also revealed the capabilities of the St. John Ambulance personnel during disasters.

In his concluding remarks, the speaker asked the Rotarians' support for a committee known as the Peterborough Branch of the St. John Ambulance recently organized under the chairmanship of G. H. Munro.

The speaker was introduced by J. A. Dewart and thanked by Don Clarke.

The following guests were introduced by Ernie Young: Miss Florence Vickers, Bill Osborne, Lloyd Moffat, Winnipeg; Tom Lister, Harry Pounder, Jack Rogers and the Rev. W. J. Gilling.

Royal Children Welcome Mummy Home

LONDON, Feb. 13—(Reuters)—Mummy came home Monday for Britain's Royal children, Prince Charles, 2, and Princess Anne, 6 months, who have spent the last 3½ months with grannie and grandpa—the King and Queen.

Princess Elizabeth — mummy to the Royal tots—has been a "navy wife" in Malta since last fall with her sailor husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, stationed there in the Royal Navy.

Her 3½-month separation from her family was the longest yet. Newspapers have reported that she is "perturbed" by criticisms in French papers, reprinted in London, that she is a "bad mother."

She landed at London Airport from Malta one-half hour after her children arrived in the Royal train which brought the King and Queen from Sandringham House. Prince Charles gleefully ran into his mother's outstretched arms as she walked in the door of Clarence House, their London home.

3 Killed, One Badly Injured When Train Plows Into Car

SMASHED SUPPORTS OF THE TRESTLE are plainly visible (left) after a Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train plunged off the weakened trestle Tuesday at Woodbridge, NJ. At right, blood-covered victim stares unseeing through broken car window as stretcher is passed through an open car window. The tragedy claimed 83 lives and 500 others were injured. The engineer admitted approaching the temporary trestle at twice the authorized speed of 25 mph., but the cause of the accident has not yet been established. The new track was swung 50 feet from the old one to clear the way for a new highway under construction.

Work On Saturday Or Lose Jobs Army Tells Railmen

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8. (AP)—The United States Army served notice on striking railway men today that they will be dismissed unless they report for work by 4 p.m. EST, Saturday, or can prove they were physically unable to work. At the same time, the Army placed in effect hourly wage increases effective as of last Oct. 1, for men who have had no increase since September, 1948. Army Secretary Frank Pace, Jr., announced the order shortly after President Truman had instructed that the Army take necessary action for full operation of the railroads. Truman told a press conference striking railroad workers had run out on an agreement like a bunch of Russians.

The Army said the wage increase would be of an interim nature pending final setlement of the dispute between railroad management and unions over wages and working conditions.

The wage boosts provide 12½ cents an hour more for yardmen and five cents an hour additional for employees in road service.

Recommend Legislation

The army order said the army will recommend Congressional legislation to assure resumption and continuance of normal rail service if the unions and the operators fail to settle their differences "within a reasonable time."

The army order is based upon authority received from Truman last Aug. 25. The army took technical control of the principal railroads at that time to end a strike.

The army order said the work stoppages which began in December and broke out again Jan. 30 are "the unlawful actions of a relatively small group."

Pending at this time are contempt-of-court actions against the Brotherhood of Trainmen, based on allegation the union has disregarded court orders against a strike.

Truman volunteered his remarks on the rails situation.

He opened his conference by reading a prepared statement which said he had been "gravely concerned, about the interference with essential military and civilian railroad transportation".

Intolerable Act

"It is bad enough in other times; it is intolerable in an emergency".

He paid tribute to "the vast majority of railroad workers who have stuck to their jobs in spite of their grievances" and to "the strikers who returned to work when advised of the dangers of the tieup".

However, Truman added, "there are still some ill-advised or irresponsible men who are disregarding the emergency needs of their country".

Heavy Snowfall In W. Ontario Ties Up Traffic

By The Canadian Press

A snowstorm whipping southeastward off Lake Huron and Georgian Bay today continued to make highway travel difficult in the western portion of Southern Ontario, especially in the London and Stratford areas.

Provincial highways in those sections were reported "heavy," with a high wind causing drifting in the wake of the plows, while many roads in rural areas were blocked.

Elsewhere in the province, the weather was clear and cold. Moderation was forecast for southern areas by late Friday or early Saturday, with the outlook for continuing cold in the north east and west.

A few hours after the storm started late Wednesday, railway plows went into action in the Stratford district for the first time in more than a year. At times through the evening, highway plows halted when the swirling snow prevented operators from seeing their way.

Deep Drifts

Eight inches of dry, powdery snow fell in the Stratford area. The wind speedily swept it into deep drifts. At the same time, the temperature dropped to about zero.

School buses serving the Stratford Collegiate Institute completed only part of their regular runs Wednesday night. Drivers set out today, but expected to make partial trips again. Many rural students spent last night in the city.

Provincial and county snowplows resumed their battle with the drifts at dawn.

All rural mail carriers started out on their routes today, but few expected to reach all the homes on their usual rounds.

Traffic tie-ups on No. 4 Highway kept a busload of Westminster Hospital patients from London from seeing a hockey game in Stratford. The bus in which they set out from London broke down. Then, on their way again, they found their way blocked by a transport truck that was sprawled across the highway.

Becomes Snow

Weather observers at Malton, near Toronto, said the north-west wind was picking up moisture from open stretches of Lake Huron and Georgian Bay and carrying it to heights at which it became chilled and fell as snow.

The storm today did not extend to the Niagara Peninsula or to the Board Rejects Railway Appeal

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP).—The Board of Transport Commissioners today dismissed an application of the Canadian railways to have the Supreme Court of Canada review the circumstances under which the board granted a 20-per-cent increase in commuters fares in 1950.

The railways, through the Canadian Passenger Association, applied for leave to have the Supreme Court consider whether the increase was sufficient to cover out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the railways in transporting suburban train travellers.

The board declined to grant this leave, considering that this expense had been covered by a judgment issued when the increase was granted in October, 1950.

Lunar Occultation Of Venus Observed

TORONTO, Feb. 8, (CP).—That "big diamond" many western Ontario residents saw hanging on the moon Wednesday night wasn't a chunk of the earth blown skyhigh by atom bomb tests.

Dunlap observatory said the unusually big star was a "lunar occultation of Venus" caused when the moon came between the earth and Venus at 5:39 p.m. Immediately before this Venus looked particularly bright and very near.

The observatory spokesman said lunar occultations were fairly rare and that another could not be expected this year or next with Venus. It might happen with several other bright stars, however.

Denies Fall Caused Injuries

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP) — Dr. Max Klotz today stated that few, if any, of the more than 60 injuries found on the body of Francis J. Sullivan could have been suffered in a fall.

The Ottawa pathologist continued to give testimony for the Crown in the Ontario Supreme Court trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan, 48-year-old Toronto woman, charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of her 52-year-old lawyer husband.

Describing the many bruises and abrasions found on the body, Dr. Klotz stated:

"The wide distribution of the injuries and the large number of them causes me to wonder whether any of them could have been self-inflicted."

Continuing, Dr. Klotz said he believed it probable that injuries to Mr. Sullivan's head were mainly responsible for fatal haemorrhaging in the left cerebellar hemisphere.

Plant Explosion Kills 9, Injures 40

ST. PAUL, Minn., Feb. 8 (AP) —Nine men, and possibly more, were killed today by an explosion that roared through the minerals building of the Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Company.

More than two score other persons were injured, some of them critically.

Bodies of six victims were brought from the scene to the Ramsay county morgue. Three other victims were dead on arrival at Ancker (City) Hospital.

It was reported that three more bodies had been removed from the wreckage. Whether they were among those at the morgue could not be checked definitely.

Cause of the explosion was not determined.

An early report from the Ramsey county coroner's office gave the number of dead as 15. This report said there were "eight dead in hospitals and six or seven more bodies that we can't get out."

A supervisor said there were 60 men in the six-storey building when the blast came as the shifts of workmen were being changed. Several workmen said they had heard there was a gas leak in the basement just before the explosion.

The company manufactures, besides "Scotch tape," industrial abrasives and undercoating materials for automboiles.

Bodies Mangled

Bodies of some of the dead were described as "mangled."

An emergency infirmary was set up in the nearby general offices of the firm to treat those with lesser hurts. Those more seriously injured were taken to Ancker (city) and private hospitals.

Two hours after the blast Ancker Hospital reported its supply of blood for transfusions was exhausted and emergency calls for donors were made.

Fire that broke out was quickly brought under control and extinguished by most of St. Paul's firefighting equipment called to the scene.

The blast broke several thousand windows. The explosion was felt two miles away.

FACE SCALDED

A three-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fergus Cuddahee of Lindsay was treated for a scalded face yesterday after she pulled a hose from a washing-machine.

Shell Blast Kills Five Workers

ST. PAUL L'ERMITE, Que., Feb. 8—(CP)—Five munitions workers died here in the first fatal accident at the Crown Arsenals Ltd., plant in seven years but, plant officials said today, work was resumed an hour later by the expressed wish of employees themselves.

The explosion occurred about 2 p.m. Wednesday when a 5.5-inch shell went off in a small wooden shop.

Edouard Vezina, 61 Angelbert Fortin, 47; Alfred Krem, 38, whose home is at Vancouver and who was working as an inspector; Norbert Desrochers and Norman Charbonneau, 25.

J. D. Chisholm, manager of the plant, told reporters:

"We are very proud of the people who work here. After the explosion we asked them whether they wished to resume work. They went right back".

The plant manager said it will be difficult to establish the exact cause of the explosion which rocked this community about 15 miles east of Montreal proper. An official investigation by government experts is under way.

"We have never had an accident of this particular type in any shell-filling plant in Canada and during the war and since we have filled millions of shells", said Mr. Chisholm.

Reinforcements To Leave Soon

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP). — Posting of the first Canadian army reinforcements to Korea is imminent, it was learned Wednesday.

The reinforcements, a small group of 40 to 50 infantrymen from the special force at Fort Lewis, Wash., are slated to join the 2nd Battalion of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry after flying across the Pacific.

Arrangements have been made to keep a flow of reinforcements going to Korea while the Patricias are in action. The battalion is expected to go into action soon.

The first group of new men will be used to fill gaps that have occurred in the battalion since it reached Korea a few months ago and began intensive training.

Bandit Holds Up Bank Escapes With $1,474

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP). — A lone gunman held up the Peel and St. Catharine Street branch of the Bank of Nova Scotia today and escaped with $1,474.

Witnesses said the bandit was unmasked, but had his face "painted up" and wore a handlebar moustache.

Bank officials said the loot included $495 in mutilated bills which were to be turned back to Bank of Canada for destruction.

Teller Robert B. Plante told police that the man shoved a revolver through the wicket and held out a paper bag, demanding "all your money."

US Tanks Shelling Seoul Red Resistance Crumbling

TOKYO, Feb. 8. (AP)—US tanks shelled Seoul's blackened ruins today and howitzers, wheeling into easy range, plastered Chinese positions north of the frozen Han River tonight. Puerto Rican infantrymen seized a commanding height only 4½ miles south of the former Korean Republic capital. The entire Allied line advanced another mile or more toward Seoul. The eighth Army said:

"Destruction of Communist forces in the pocket south of the Han in the Western sector, the objective of the current phase of the limited offensive, is proceeding and may sum up as a sizeable victory in terms of enemy losses.

"No further implications should be attached to the present situation."

Cool Appraisal

"That was a cool military appraisal of a two-week series of armored punches and bayonet charges that have rid the snow crusted ridges and valleys of thousands of Chinese on Seoul's approaches.

The Eighth Army has estimated more than 57,000 Red casualties most of them in the western sector. Now the Chinese had their quilted backs to the Han.

Red resistance was crumbling. In some sectors there was no opposition.

U.S. 25th Division tanks shelled Seoul at noon Thursday. Howitzers of the veteran American 3rd Division rolled into position after nightfall and sent shells screaming over the Han into Chinese positions. The 3rd Division was identified on the 25th Division's right flank, southeast of Seoul.

A field dispatch reporting the artillery barrage was heavily censored.

The Chinese Communists had their quilted backs to the iced-up Han River by the fire-gutted city. A staff officer said they may try to make a stand, but that it appeared likely they would pull out to the north bank.

Red resistance in the west was crumbling. It was stiffer on the French Count To Be Deported

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP) — The federal government is expected to announce shortly the denial of the appeal of French Count Jacques de Bernonville against deportation for illegal entry into Canada, a highly placed source said here today.

The case has been hanging fire more than a year and dates back to 1947 when the 52-year-old French nobleman entered Canada illegally under an assumed name from the United States.

This application failed and he was ordered deported almost a year ago but lodged an appeal which has been under consideration by the immigration department.

It was learned here that the decision on de Bernonville which is expected to be announced is based on the fact that the peoples' court, which originally sentenced him now has been abolished.

Hint Cease-Fire

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (CP) — There is speculation in Ottawa that an undeclared military ceasefire might develop in Korea if the United Nations troops do not cross the 38th parallel and Communists refrain from further offensives.

Observers say this could have a decidedly favorable effect on diplomatic negotiations through relaxation of the present tension.

The observers speculated on the possible developments as a result of the northward advance of the UN forces, now within 17 miles of the 38th parallel, the old line dividing north and south Korea.

They said the unified command of the UN, though it has authority to cross the parallel, might order the forces not to cross. However, it was understood here that so far there had been no discussion on this point.

Workers Remove Last Of Wreckage

WOODBRIDGE, N.J., Feb. 8 (AP — Railroad workers today dug into newly-fallen snow—frozen solid by biting cold—to remove the remaining wreckage of the Pennsylvania commuter train crackup as authorities expressed belief all victims had been found.

Police Chief George Keating said the death toll from Tuesday night's disaster—the third major rail wreck in the New York metropolitan area within a year—probably will remain at 83. Eleven persons still in hospital are in critical condition.

He said there had been no reports of anyone missing and added that workers did not expect to find any more bodies as they dragged away the debris.

Meanwhile, separate investigations into the cause of the derailment of the crowded express were slated by the Interstate Commerce Commission and Middlesex county authorities.

38th Parallel Grave Matter Pearson Warns

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP)—External Affairs Minister Pearson said today that the question of United Nations forces again crossing the 38th Parallel in Korea, if and when they reach it, should be treated "with care."

He declined to state what Canada's position might be in the event the 38th Parallel was reached by UN forces, but said it was his understanding that UN forces have authority to cross the Parallel under a resolution previously endorsed by the UN.

He told a press conference he hoped that the collective measures committee of the United Nations would "proceed very carefully" before making any recommendations regarding sanctions against Red China.

Canada's position was that the committee should hold up any recommendations until all avenues of negotiations through the good offices committee of the UN had been exhausted.

Costly Contribution

Mr. Pearson, who said he expected to remain in Ottawa for some time, made these other points:

1. Canada's contribution to the Colombo plan for the rehabilitation of Southeast Asia will run into "millions of dollars" and the United States also probably will shoulder a portion of the plan.

2. Canada and the United States will send observers to a Paris conference Feb. 12 to consider formation of a European army. Germany also will attend.

3. The possibility of Canadian-U.S. agreement on the St. Lawrence seaway project seemed nearer than for some time with introduction of a favorable resolution by 23 senators in the U.S. Congress.

4. Canada has considered the possibility of aid to Yugoslavia but "we can't spread ourselves too thin—Canada is going to be doing an awful lot in the next year."

Inspect 421 Squadron

ODIHAM, Hampshire, Feb. 8—(CP)—Britain's Air Minister Arthur Henderson and Dana Wilgress, Canadian high commissioner, flew to this RAF station today to inspect members of 421 (Red Indian) RCAF fighter squadron.

UN Troops Fight 2 Battles Feed Starving Civilians

ON THE WESTERN FRONT, Korea, Feb. 8 (AP)—Only a few miles behind the front lines where United Nations soldiers are battling Communists, the Allied army takes time out each day to fight another enemy—hunger.

Korean civilians, flocking back to their homes as fast as the UN troops free them from Reds, are being fed by an American army detachment.

The detachment, headed by Maj. R. T. Shugart, is located in Yoginaye, a ramshackle Korean village about five miles east of Suwon.

"Civilians come from miles around to get rice from us," Shugart said. "We are feeding 10,000 of them right now and the number increases daily."

The milling lines of these hungry victims of war begin forming each day at dawn. Until dusk they file by tables where their names are checked. Then they are handed enough rice for two days.

"We give the adults a pound and the children a half pound," said Shugart.

The rice is trucked in each day from Chonan, 20 miles to the south, where the army is operating a rice milling plant to process the food staple of the orient.

Whole families wait patiently in the lengthy queues, bundled up against the chill winds.

Many of these pitiful, helpless people have returned in the wake of advancing Allies only to find their homes reduced to rubble and their rice fields pock-marked with the debris of war.

3 Casualties Reported From Toronto

One Other Woman In Hospital, Crash Near Manilla

MANILLA, Feb. 8. (Special) —Three Toronto persons were killed and another injured today in a level-crossing collision near here. Manilla is 16 miles west of Lindsay.

Police said the four were on their way to a funeral when their automobile was struck by a Canadian National Railways Lindsay-to-Midland train hauled by a Diesel electric locomotive.

The dead were tentatively identified by police as Newton Gostlin, 77; Tim Strachan, 75, and Mrs. Strachan, 73.

The injured person, Mrs. Carrie Gostlin, 75, was taken to hospital at Lindsay, with bruises and shock. Police said she was in the front seat with her husband, believed to have been the driver.

Hit At Intersection

The train was made up of a locomotive and combined baggage car and passenger coach. It struck the eastbound car at the intersection of Highway 7 and carried it along on its cowcatcher for about 100 feet.

The body of one man was found tossed out of the wrecked vehicle and lying beside the tracks. And the bodies of a man and a woman were found in the back seat.

The cowcatcher of the train was damaged but none of the train crew was injured.

Trunk Torn Off

G. F. Nixon, Manilla garage operator, said "the trunk was torn right off the car. Apparently the car had almost made it across the tracks when the train hit."

H. McCabe, driver of the locomotive, said he applied his brakes when he saw the car approaching the crossing. He said the operator of the car apparently saw the train a split second before the crash and tried to swing around in front of the engine.

The car was hurled through a fence and landed about 100 to 125 feet down the tracks.

Won't Apply Sanctions Yet

LAKE SUCCESS, N.Y., Feb 8 —(CP)—The chances of the United Nations adopting or applying sanctions against Communist China appear small.

The United States has not abandoned its original proposal for a study of possible economic and diplomatic sanctions, but is not pressing for an immediate meeting of the 14-member collective measures committee, of which Canada is a member.

The group may meet next week, informed sources say, when all members have designated their representatives. Canada will be represented by R. G. Riddell, head of the permanent Canadian delegation.

Secretary-General Trygve Lie is expected to have all the names by next week to call them into the meeting provided for in the American resolution adopted last week by the General Assembly which branded Communist China an aggressor in Korea.

The Canadian view is understood to be that the Collective Measures Committee can act as a brake rather than a spark to any rash sanctions moves.

Expect Wreck Claims Total $75,000,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP) — Claims and lawsuits totalling $75,000,000 probably will be filed against the Pennsylvania Railroad as a result of Tuesday night's disastrous train wreck at Woodbridge, NJ, in which 83 were killed.

The eventual pay-off is expected to amount to an estimated $15,000,000 to $20,000,000, most of it borne by the railroad itself.

Legal circles here said that part of the money would be paid by Lloyd's of London but that the bulk of it would come from the Pennsylvania Railroad since, like most public carriers, it is self-insuring.

The amount of the policy with the London insurance house was not disclosed.

Believe Mao May Become Tito Of Asiatic World

BELGRADE, Feb. 8 (Reuters) —Yugoslav Communists believe that Mao Tse-tung, leader of Communist China, may one day become the Tito of the Far East.

Already, they believe, Soviet Russia and Communist China do not always see eye to eye.

Foreign Minister Edward Kardelj, in a recent speech to the Yugoslav People's Assembly, spoke of a "germ of controversy" having manifested itself "in the struggle between Russia and China for influence and hegemony in Asia."

The Yugoslav line of thought is manifest in an analysis of events in the Far East published in the semi-official Yugoslav Review of International Affairs.

The Review argued that Russia deliberately set out to stir up trouble between China and the rest of the world and to obstruct her entry into the United Nations because she had become uneasy about her great neighbor.

For the same reason she decided upon a more-active policy in the Far East to reassert her influence there.

Kardelj said Russia chose precisely the moment—at the end of 1949—when it appeared that the Peiping government might be generally recognized and admitted into the UN to put her spoke in the wheel.

The Russian UN delegate "put the question of the unconditional recognition of the new government in the form of an ultimatum," he wrote.

"This ultimatum and the boycott which followed its rejection could only have the effect of making it practically impossible for the United States government immediately to give recognition to the Peiping government."

No Radical Change In Education Premier Frost Hints

TORONTO, Feb. 8. (CP)—Major proposal of the Royal Commission on Education dealing with the revision of the school system into three levels with a resulting curb of separate school jursidiction will not likely be implemented. This was hinted by Premier Frost in the Legislature, Wednesday. Leading off the Throne Speech debate for the government, he set out the policy for dealing with the 300 recommendations on the much debated Hope report.

The Legislature, he said, should consider "broad subjects" on which commission members reached agreement. But no radical change was needed to improve education in the province and the government felt itself "in no way bound" by the commission's recommendations.

Avoid Disagreement

He suggested no action on education policies where commissioners had shown "sharp disagreement."

Government policies had made great improvement in education, Mr. Frost said, and nothing indicated "that a radical change now would enable us to do better than we are now doing and will continue to do."

The Premier said that many of the commission's recommendations, however, are worthy of consideration, although they may not be implemented for some time because there is a limit to the citizens' tax-paying capacity.

"As I have said, in some points the report is unanimous. I should like to deal with these two phases and I shall first say something about the parts of the report which are not unanimous. "Among the commissioners there was very sharp disagreement extending in some cases to a number of points of view. There was lack of unanimity. In this Assembly there would no doubt be the same lack of unanimity. This would also be true of the reactions among our four and one-half million peple. It has been said that Ontario, with its wide territorial expanse and different points of view, is and has been difficult to govern. This is quite true.

No Improvement

"There is certainly nothing to indicate that a radical change now would enable us to do better than we are now doing and will continue to do. In the last half dozen years we can say with surety that we have made the greatest and most forward changes in education in all of our history. These changes include huge alterations to our grant systems, raising the grants from about $8,000,000 to over $42,500,000 this year. There have been changes in the curriculum, in the position of our teachers, in the accommodation of our pupils, in furthering the great cause of equality of opportunity.

"In doing all of these great reforms we have not created division among our people. We have been walking on the same side of the street and proceeding with amity in the certain knowledge that we have been making the greatest progress in our history. I am sure that this must make us all realize that the way of experience which we have been following and under which we have made such spectacular progress in recent years is the path to follow.

"Concerning those parts of the report which are very extensive and upon which there is unanimous agreement on the part of the commission, there are subjects which deserve the utmost consideration. Indeed, we should not permit those things in the report upon which there are disagreements to obscure the very broad subjects upon which there are agreements."

Shotgun Charge Strikes Boy 17

BRONTE, Feb. 8—Jack MacDonald, 17, was still alive Wednesday night after taking the full blast of a 12 gauge shotgun in the abdomen.

Taken to Hamilton General Hospital, the boy underwent an operation. His condition was reported critical. At least 30 pellets lodged in his abdomen.

MacDonald was out hunting fox and rabbit with two uncles and three friends in a field a mile north of the Queen Elizabeth Highway.

He was climbing over a stump fence when the shotgun caught on a twig and discharged. Bronte Fire Chief Freeman Bray ran for a doctor while the other hunters gave first aid.

The boy's uncles, Norman and Douglas MacDonald, wrapped him up in a blanket and watched for Bray to return with a doctor and an ambulance.

Under questioning, he referred to the background for the "sick call" walk-out of switchmen which started Jan. 30. He said an agreement was signed.

Act Like Russians

The management didn't run out on the agreement. Then referring to those who did, he said:

They acted like a bunch of Russians. They went back on their signatures.

This presumably was a reference to the refusal of the railroad unions to approve an agreement that their leaders initialled at the White House last December. The agreement was a proposed settlement of their long dispute with the carriers over wages and working conditions.

Oliver Ready To Answer Frost Charges

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP). — Farquhar Oliver, leader of the Legislature's 13-man Liberal group, is scheduled to enter the throne speech debate today to answer charges made by Premier Frost.

The Premier, in a strongly-worded speech Wednesday, criticized recent statements on education by Liberal spokesmen, and attacked the forestry policies of the Liberal administration which went out of office in 1943.

Mr. Oliver may also voice a motion of non-confidence in the government, to add to the motion of censure made by CCF opposition leader E. B. Jolliffe in Wednesday's throne speech debate.

Mr. Jolliffe's motion—an amendment to the reply to the throne speech—said the government had failed to meet municipal tax needs, promise improved farm marketing legislation, disclose a remedy for the "breakdown" of the Dominion-Provincial housing program or halt waste of natural resources.

Bad Management

Premier Frost echoed charges made Tuesday by J. G. White (PC-Kenora) that the former Liberal government had permitted wide export of unprocessed pulpwood from northern Ontario. His government intended to protect forests but faced the problem of "100 years of good and bad forest management—mostly bad."

The Premier said present Liberal policy varied on the question of the Hope education report. The provincial Liberal platform had promised to implement it but the Liberal member for Brant, former Premier Harry Nixon, wanted his party to disclaim responsibility for it.

Mr. Frost said his administration had reduced debt per capita from $123 under the Liberal government to $112 at present. Hydro resources had been increased from 2,000,000 to 3,750,000 horsepower since the war.

Denies Charge

The premier denied Mr. Jolliffe's charge that the throne speech contained no promise of legislation to help the farm population. The government planned wide improvements in both rural telephone and hydro service, he said.

Mr. Jolliffe criticized "belated" action by the Ontario government to assume federal rent controls, scheduled to expire April 30. The housing program, inaugurated a year ago with federal, provincial and municipal co-operation, was "rapidly approaching breakdown." New home building was far behind the required 53,000 new units annually.

Ontario had "failed miserably" in building hospitals in post-war years when material supplies were good, the CCF leader said. He also criticized the government for having Dana Porter hold the cabinet posts of Attorney-General and Education Minister.

Mr. Jolliffe urged action to develop St. Lawrence river power projects and said that if the development were not made by 1956 or 1957 industrial expansion might be "checked at the most critical point."

The government had failed to realize that inflation affected municipal government income, which depended on taxes on property, far more than it hurt provincial government income. He urged a provincial-municipal conference to reach a new agreement on taxation.

On High Level

Premier Frost told the legislature that administration of justice was on a high level in the province and he deplored some of the recent criticism against law-enforcement agencies.

"We very carefully scrutinized the situation in Windsor," he said, referring to last year's investigation of law enforcement in the Border City.

The investigation showed that some people were "complacent" but that "nothing was fundamentally wrong," the premier added. "Basically it was not dishonest."

Correspondence outlining the efforts of provincial and federal governments to control illegal bookmaking syndicates by striking at their communications systems was tabled in the legislature by Premier Frost.

Copy of one letter, by federal Justice Minister Garson, referred to discussions by the Ontario Attorney-General's Department, his own department and officials of the Bell Telephone Company and the two Canadian telegraph companies.

Mr. Frost said an answer was being sought to the question of how police could stop illegal use of communications facilities without implying interference with freedom of communications.

Watch Construction

The premier also told the legislature that his government would not proceed with the construction of liquor outlets at the expense of building material needed for housing.

Replying to a question by W. H. Temple (CCF—Toronto High Park), the premier said applications for new liquor licences will be closely scrutinized in view of steel and other shortages.

"I have asked Judge Robb of the Liquor Licence Board to grant no licences for buildings that require construction or alteration that would, in a substantial sense, take materials needed for housing purposes," Mr. Frost said.

POWER OF THE SUN

Although the thermometer still stood at eight below at noon, water was dripping to the sidewalk below from icicle-fringed eves on buildings on the north side of Charlotte St.

U.S. Tank

central and east-central fronts—but there, too, the Allied Chinese-killing drive ground forward. Warships and planes supported the advance.

Tanks of Task Force Dolvin rumbled over mined roads to within four miles of Seoul and shelled the city at noon Thursday. The fronts of the tanks had been painted to resemble fierce tigers to frighten the superstitious Chinese Communist peasant soldiers.

After pumping shells into Seoul, Task Force Dolvin pulled back for the night. The forces behind them had moved up to within 5½ miles of the dead city.

AP Correspondent Jim Becker, with the armored column, said Lt.-Col. Tom Dolvin, leader of the task force named for him, stood on a summit during the plunge northward, and observed: "If it wasn't so hazy you could probably see Seoul today from where we are standing."

Nearest Approach

It was the nearest ground approach to Seoul by the Allies since they abandoned the city Jan. 4. Most of the capital's 1,500,000 population has fled, and the city now is regarded as of no military significance.

Task force Dolvin was one of three punching at Chinese south of the Han. Also pressing hard on the Reds were ground troops of Britain, Greece, Turkey, France, Puerto Rico and South Korea.

They hammered the enemy at a dozen places along a 75-mile front stretching inland from the Yellow Sea, in the west, to Changpyong in the east-central sector.

On the left flank of Task Force Dolvin and west of the main road to Seoul, Puerto Rican infantrymen advanced 2½ miles without opposition. They occupied three important hills littered with abandoned Chinese equipment.

Almost Wiped Out

AP Correspondent Stan Swinton said a staff officer estimated the Chinese 149th Division in the Puerto Rican sector had only 1,800 effective troops remaining of an original force of 10,000.

It was this staff officer who said the Reds most likely would retreat north of the Han.

The Eighth Army estimated Red casualties Wednesday at more than 4,700, of whom 2,674 were on the western front. It brought to more than 57,000 total enemy causualties claimed since the Allied "limited" offensive began Jan. 25.

In the west, the push was slowed mostly by mine-fields. Correspondent Swinton said the Reds had planted new mines during the night in holes left by mines carefully dug up Wednesday by Allied engineers.

The Chinese also were using Russian-made hand grenades and bangalore torpedoes in a futile effort to stop the tanks.

Heavier Resistance

On the central front, the Allied sweep north of Hoengsong encountered heavier resistance. AP correspondent John Randolph reported Korean Reds nonetheless were driven back five miles Wednesday and Wednesday night. Some of the battles continued into Thursday.

South Korean troops smashed eight miles northwest of Hoengsong toward Hongchon, some 50 air miles east of Seoul. Other South Korean elements captured Changpyong, 12 miles northeast of newly-won Pyongchang. Changpyong is 25 miles east of Hoengsong, and in the east-central sector. The allied advances in these sectors have carried to within 20 air miles of the 38th Parallel, old boundary between North and South Korea.

The U.S. battleship Missouri shelled Kangnung with 16-inch guns Wednesday and left the town a smoking ruin. Other Allied fleet units pounded Red lines ahead of the task forces on the western front.

Aerial reconnaissance showed that the Chinese were trying to build up for a stand somewhere across the rugged peninsula. The Far East air forces reported spotting 1,350 vehicles on North Korean highways Wednesday night.

Expect New Censure Vote On Meat Shortage, Third Attack In Week

Report Outcry Over New Ration Causing Attlee Government Anxiety; Steel Industry Taken Over By February 15

LONDON, Feb. 8. (AP)—The Conservatives, seizing on the unpopularity of Britain's almost-meatless larder, today sought a parliamentary censure vote on the Labor Government's handling of the present critical meat shortage. It was the third attack against Prime Minister Attlee's government in a week. Winston Churchill's Conservatives failed by 10 votes on Wednesday night in an attempt to overthrow the Cabinet on the issue of steel nationalization. Last week Labor withstood a Tory attack on the current coal shortage.

Conservative strategy apparently is based on a belief that if the government, holding office by only a slim majority, can be unseated and new elections held, the temper of the electorate will favor a Conservative victory.

Attlee's Socialists, confident after victory on the steel nationalization ballot, predicted they also would win on the meat issue.

Causing Concern

However the national outcry over the fresh meat ration, sharply cut recently to eightpence (about 10 cents) a week a person, is causing admitted concern at Labor Party headquarters.

For weeks Britain's newspapers have lashed the government for failure to provide enough meat. Housewives and butchers have staged demonstrations and petitioned the government.

Supplies from Argentina — Britain's chief meat source — tapered off last June. The two countries have been haggling ever since over prices.

The independent Times, in an editorial typical of the national clamor, said: "The ministers would be more than foolish if they merely tried yet again to justify the inexcusable miscalculations which have brought the meat ration to the lowest level yet endured in this country."

Labor mustered 308 votes in the House of Commons Wednesday to the opposition's 298 on the steel nationalization issue. It was the third time in 11 months that the thin Labor majority squeezed out a narrow triumph on the long-debated issue.

By the vote, the Conservatives apparently lost their last chance to block the measure in parliament. Some 92 iron and steel firms are due to pass into government hands Feb. 15.

Gelinas Hoping Broadway To Like Play

By JOHN TRACY

NEW YORK, Feb. 8—(CP)—Gratien Gelinas, Canada's top theatrical star who has brought his "Ti-Coq" to New York, looks on the play's opening Friday night as "a terrible responsibility".

Between rehearsals, the little French - Canadian actor - author stopped to tell of his hopes and ambitions in the theatre.

"It will not only be my first appearance on Broadway," he said, "but it will be the first time a whole Canadian company has played her. It is an honor but also a terrible responsibility, for many in Canada have placed their hopes in us.

"Even if the thing goes big, I'll never forget where I came from and I'll be back there as soon as I can. But if Broadway does not accept it, I hope that Canadians who have liked the play wil not think they have been fooled".

Successful Run

Gelinas brings his play — its name means "Little Rooster" — to Broadway after a successful fortnight's run in Chicago, where it had its American opening.

The New York opening will play to $6 tops in the 1,100-seat Broadhurst Theatre, where Arthur Milne's adaptation of Ibsen's play, "Enemy of the People" has just closed.

The playhouse is smaller than Toronto's 1,500-seat Royal Alexandra, where "Ti-Coq" ran for a week in January. But it lacks the cosiness of Montreal's Theatre Gesu where the French version opened nearly three years ago and kept the 900 seats filled for more than 200 performances.

DR. VLADO CLEMENTIS, former Czech foreign minister, shown here with his wife when they sailed from New York, Dec. 7, 1949, may have fled from his homeland to avoid arrest. Prague diplomats speculated, that he may have left Czechoslovakia on hearing that his highly-placed protector was in disfavor with ruling circles. He resigned as foreign minister in March, 1950, and some two months later was accused of "bourgeois nationalism" and enmity towards the Soviet Union dating back to the Stalin-Hitler pact in 1939.

Two Youths Held As Car Thieves

COBOURG, Feb. 8—(ENS)—Two alleged Mimico car thieves were rounded up in short order late Wednesday afternoon in Port Hope as a result of the successful combination of the efforts of a Port Hope garageman and the police. While on traffic duty at a funeral near Port Hope, Provincial Constable Cy Meadows of Cobourg noticed a car proceeding east bearing a license number which had only been listed two hours before as stolen. He jumped in the police car and took after it but the car had too great a start and he lost it in Port Hope. However he had in the meantime radioed the detachment at Cobourg and provincial police cars soon had the town's traffic outlets bottled up.

The two in the fleeing car decided to abandon it in Port Hope and swinging up McCaul street skidded to a stop at Bert Carcaud's garage. Suspicious of their hurry, Mr. Carcaud grabbed one of the occupants when he got out. The other one got away but was spotted on the run by Constable Don Woods of the Port Hope police dept. as he passed the constable's dwelling. Woods promptly got his man and the pair were taken to the police station. The driver was a 15-year-old Mimico juvenile and his companion gave his name as Donald Welch, age 19, Mimico.

Permanent Fire Department Taking Form In Cobourg

COBOURG, Feb. 8 — (ENS) — The volunteer system of a fire department for Cobourg, which has been in effect since the earliest days of the town, will be replaced by a permanent fire department, if present plans of the Fire, Water and Light committee materialize. Already under consideration is a proposed rural-urban fire fighting hook-up, which if it goes through, will require another fire pumper. In view of the growth of the town in the past 10 years, there has been a growing feeling that Cobourg should have a full-time fire chief and re-organization of the fire department with some of the firemen on the permanent staff. Accordingly the town will advertise for a full-time fire chief and will ask for tenders for a class "A" fire pumper.

Religious Prejudice And Nicholls Hospital Sale

When the Council discussed the sale of the Nicholls Hospital property it faced a problem which was not simply one of business. One of the bidders for it was the Roman Catholic Diocese of Peterborough; the other, by a coincidence, was a Protestant group desirous of establishing a school. It was inevitable that under these circumstances Peterborough people should think again of a prejudice of long standing, associated with that hospital and its founder; and we think that it was entirely proper and wise that one of the aldermen should ask that if there were any trace of that historic prejudice in the Council's decision to sell to the Protestant group, it should be frankly stated.

* * *

We are convinced, however, that the Council's decision was made upon no grounds save those of good business. Although the lower bid was accepted, the conditions attaching to the higher bid appear to have lessened its actual value. We can find no evidence that the Council was moved by any desire save that of making a sound business deal. We feel that it is important that this should be made clear, for it would be a sad corollary of this sale if the final disposition of Nicholls Hospital strengthened the antagonism between Catholic and Protestant which the hospital itself once occasioned.

* * *

It is not possible to live for long in Peterborough without hearing many legends about its great benefactor, Mrs. Charlotte Nicholls. Many of these legend are without foundation in fact. So far as we have been able to discover, the story of bitter prejudice which she is said to have nourished against the Roman Catholic part of the population has very little truth to back it up. The history of Nicholls Hospital, and the foundation of St. Joseph's Hospital, is a long story, and we do not intend to rehearse it here; it may be found in our files by anyone who wants to know it. It is enough to say that we do not think that Mrs. Nicholls was so powerfully prejudiced as were some of those whose task it was to administer her estate; it is not difficult to attribute the prejudices of the living to the dead.

* * *

Nicholls Hospital is no more, and the Peterborough of Mrs. Nicholls' day has ceased to exist. This is now a city too big for village quarrels and the nourishment of nineteenth century hatreds. We have two hospitals, both of which we need, and which work together in the warmest amity. There is no prejudice in either one against physicians or patients of any faith. We suggest with all the strength of which we are capable that the time has come to forget any prejudice which may have been associated with either hospital, and to concentrate upon the greatly improved tolerance and common sense of our own time.

Fit Peterborough Men

At the time of writing, some 75 men, prospective city and district recruits for the Royal Canadian Navy, have been interviewed locally by a recruiting staff in town for three days. These men are going through the preliminary stages of volunteering for naval service. It is a good number to have turned up in two and a half days, from an inland city and district. More remarkable is the health of the men thus far tested. Not one has yet been found medically unfit for service. Admittedly only nineteen of the seventy have had, at the time of writing, their complete medical examination, but it is a good showing so far.

What Remedy For Over-Population?

In a letter which appears elsewhere on this page a reader comments upon some remarks which we made in these columns on Tuesday, in which we suggested that the world's future course might include some form of selective breeding. Any such suggestion is bound to be offensive to great numbers of people, who consider that selective breeding is theologically indefensible, or that it is democratically indefensible. Indeed, we feel that there is unlikely to be any strong move toward selective breeding for a century or two, if indeed it ever comes at all.

So far as we can judge, however, something of the sort must come if world chaos is to be avoided. As we pointed out before, the world has at least doubled its population in the past 150 years, and it has managed to keep its supplies of food in line with this increase. But it cannot be argued that there is enough for everybody in the world at present, and as the population mounts the record of privation will mount with it. We in Canada are very lucky in our country, which is underpopulated and produces a surplus of food, but countries like ours are few. Over-population is a great problem in Asia, and is soon to become a desperate problem in Europe. It takes little imagination to foresee the outcome of such a situation. It must be remarked also that careless and prodigal use of the soil in the Western world has decreased the productivity of many of our populated areas, although science is coming to the rescue as fast as it can.

It is possible for the world to have too many people. Can anything be done to forestall such a situation—anything, that is, short of great wars and plagues? A program of selective breeding might do so, though we cannot of course give any final answer to such a problem.

Highly developed and intelligent peoples dominate lesser peoples; this is observable at all times in history. If the world becomes over-populated it will be the better-bred races—in the true sense—who will come best out of the situation. But how this better breeding is to be achieved under present democratic regimes cannot be foretold now. Perhaps the character of democracy will change, as it has done before.

"Lightnings In The Splendour Of The Moon"

An American pilot named Captain Charles Blair flew on January 31 from New York to London in seven hours and 48 minutes. His average speed over the 3,500 miles was about 450 miles an hour. The plane is named Excalibur the Third. How startled must have been the early morning stars as this gasoline-propelled brand hurtled through the night seven miles above the earth it had left! When Sir Bedivere finally threw King Arthur's Excalibur into the lake, as Tennyson says,

"The great brand
Made lightnings in the splendour of the moon,
And flashing round and round, and whirled in an arch
Shot like a streamer of the northern morn
Seen where the moving isles of winter shock
By night, with noises of the northern sea.

The fiery brand which early Wednesday morning shot like a streamer across the northern sea was no bejewelled sword; it is a "flying gas tank," which has been modified from standard Mustangs to hold 865 gallons of gasoline. But the Arthurian magic touches even the engine; it is a Rolls-Royce Merlin.

If the flight had been made from London to New York, and not west to east against the sun's path, and if the wind conditions had been the same, the pilot would have arrived, New York time, only two hours and 48 minutes after he left London's clocks, since there is a five-hour difference between Greenwich time and Eastern Standard. He could, for instance, have left a London breakfast of kippers and tea at seven and been in New York for a breakfast of doughnuts and coffee at 9:48. How time flies these days!

We Confess To A Background Of Bias

In an article about lying recently published in Saturday Night Dr. W. E. Blatz, the well-known Toronto child-tamer lists four types of falsehood in common use; one of these is the "psychological lie," and, in the opinion of the learned Blatz, newspaper editorials may be classified under this heading. The reason? Because editorials are written from a background of bias and prejudice.

If Dr. Blatz hopes to astonish or anger us by such a statement he does not understand our intellectual composition as well as he thinks he does. Of course we write from a background of prejudice and bias; we have never pretended to do anything else. Our method of work is simple: when a problem in the public realm seems to us to call for comment we do some thinking and reading about it; we read whatever we can lay our hands on, for or against it, and we try to get opinions from people who are well informed on the problem, if any are nearby. And in the end we discover that we have formed a bias toward one side of the question or the other, and we have acquired an intellectual prejudice against the side which we judge to be the mistaken one. Then we write whatever we have to say. That is our prejudice and our bias.

What does Dr. Blatz do? How does he make up his mind? And, even more interesting, how does he change it—for he has changed it a few times during the last twenty years, during which we have watched his work with interest? We suspect that he does exactly what we have described above—he tries to find out whatever he can about a subject, and then makes up his mind in favour of the point of view which seems best to him.

It is as unwise to suggest that all newspaper editors are liars as it would be to suggest that all psychologists are quacks.

An Austrian has been jailed for kissing a girl so hard that she became unconscious. This is unfair, for she may have been an impressionable girl who keeled over at the first mild peck.

Too Much Talking

by IVOR BROWN

DEMOCRACY, we know, thrives on discussion as babies on milk. But it is possible to overfeed the baby and I am beginning to wonder whether we are not overworking our ears. Is there not in progress a flight from the voice?

✧ ✧ ✧

FOR nearly a quarter of a century films, in whose flickering presence we used to sink quietly to rest, have been squawking and screaming at us. The car with amplifier bellows at our once tranquil homes in election times or at any time to announce some saleable gobds. Railway stations resound with megaphonic information which is usually so badly amplified that, half-deafened, we have to ask a porter in the end.

✧ ✧ ✧

ABOVE all, the wireless set is the greatest chatterbox of all time. It is true you need not yourself turn it on if you do not want to, and so invite its wisdom and its wise-cracks, its entertainment and its eloquence. But somebody else in the household will; or, if not in your home or flat, then next door, upstairs, or downstairs. Even in illness our eardrums are continually assaulted with this tattoo of palaver and with volleys of vocalism. I recently spent a week in a hospital, and never would silence have been more golden. But silence there was not. Just speech and song, speech and song.

✧ ✧ ✧

THE B.B.C. does not wish us to be all-day and all-night listeners. We should make our selections and have our silences. But we do not; or at least others do not. So there we are listening to Focus on this, Forum on that, Quiz, Query and Argument, word without end. However well done, it is, none the less, a form of din. A little of this may be excellent, but quite a little is enough for my aural feast.

✧ ✧ ✧

BUT there are certain signs that people are wearying of all this chin-wag. In November a silent film—one of those old, forgotten, far-off things—was put, rather nervously, into the West End of London. Wasn't this too old-world, too hush-hush? It was Chaplin's "City Lights", a revival, a return to supposedly dead yesterdays. In February it is still there, drawing five crowded houses a day and Chaplin "silents" are reshown, following this lead, all over the place.

✧ ✧ ✧

I FIND it a delicious change to be looking and not listening. I felt the same when I saw the magnificently presented panorama of "King Solomon's Mines". This has not much to do with Rider Haggard's original on which it only claims to be "based"; but it is a wonderful picture in colour of a journey through floods and deserts and amid all the monsters, reptiles and stampeding livestock that you ever heard of or Africa ever possessed. There is very little dialogue and what there is does not matter. Mostly Stewart Granger and Deborah Kerr are just struggling through infinite wilderness with no time or energy left for small talk about the torments and perils of their astonishing excursion. Both keep their admirable looks and their old-fashioned virtue. Both are frequently speechless. Result, enormous and delighted crowds.

✧ ✧ ✧

AGAIN, ballet, which used to be the joy of the precious few, in both senses of the world precious, has become the delight of vast multitudes. No silence here, of course, but music in richness and abundance. But no prattling, no debate. The human ear is spared the human voice. Nobody gets up to tell you all about it. And I am sure that there is a deep satisfaction obtained from the mobile mutes upon the painted stage. We are so surfeited with discussion and declamation that to sit back and let the spectacle enchant is a great relief.

✧ ✧ ✧

I AM sure that Miss Fonteyn, Miss Shearer and their colleagues can be highly and intelligently articulate. But do we want them to abandon pirouette for palaver and suddenly start a Forum on Footwork for our intellectual information?

✧ ✧ ✧

THE enormous vogue of ice shows in which dialogue is a trivial element, is another sign of the times. Pantomime on ice, in which the emphasis is all on the grace and speed of motion and on the enchanting view of mass-glissades, is drawing gigantic crowds in London. And the circus, though certainly made noisy by the powerful brass of its orchestra, is not a conversational diversion. The clown's jests are physical, his drollery is dumb-show. Though I do not myself regard circus-clowns as wildly funny, I find the toss and tumble of this ringcraft a happy change from the yapping and scrapping of the cross-talk comics on the air.

✧ ✧ ✧

"AND nation shall speak peace unto nation". Usually it speaks nothing of the kind. The air is super-charged with animosity as well as with argument. Silence, at least, is not a conveyor of abuse. Its blessings have been overlooked in the mad flurry of inventive science. Perhaps those blessings are already being rediscovered. I would like to think so.

Unfrocked

(Times and Tide, London)

In the Normandy village of Saint-Georges there was a rebellion the other day which could be the cloud no bigger than a man's hand. Tax-men called to investigate a report that a farmer was committing the unforgivable sin of making apple-brandy from apples which he had grown.

The church bells rang to warn the neighborhood. Two hundred farmers turned out to deal with the representatives of the state. They did not use violence. They merely stripped them naked and chased them away. Authority minus its trousers is not impressive!

All France chuckled over the episode. Some day we shall take the trousers off Authority and in the gust of ensuing laughter realize the freedom which we once loved, but have lost awhile.

NOT TOO DEADLY

Letters To The Editor

A BALLAD OF ASPHODEL TAXES

Down the street yelling Hello!
Drives Rendle with the new Fargo;
Grinning happily as a boy
Who has received a brand new toy.

There stands Tommy at his gate,
Thinks things have got in a terrible state;
Then to his old pal Fred he said—
While scratching his poor old bald head:

"The Council has been on a spending spree,
We'll soon end up in poverty;
It's up to me the taxpayers to tell
What's been happening in Asphodel.

My taxes, boys, they are too high,
But I'm sure I know the reason why;
For now gas bills we have to meet
To give Rendle a free ride on his seat.

You know we have a great big truck
As useless as a baby duck;
Fifteen thousand cost our grader
And our side roads will not take her".

Says Jim, "This letter I will ignore,
I'll leave it to the other four".
Walter, Jim and Bruce Graham,
They all say we'll do the same.

Then up there stands our brave Max Scott;
He proved himself Tommy's stumbling block;
"Give me pen and paper, Ruth my dear,
A letter in the Examiner will appear.

I know that my taxes too are high,
But we are out to get that fly;
We thought to buy a truck would be best,
To put an end to that warble pest.

When our roads are snow-piled high
It sure looks good to see that truck fly by;
Our maintainer looks just right,
Grading anywhere day or night.

These statements, friends, are matters of fact,
Information from me you'll never lack,
Our township, boys, is out of debt,
And few can say that you can bet".

Tommy he sits there having fun galore,
He's got the Council in a great uproar;
And we the people read the paper each day
To see what more these men will say.

A TAXPAYER.

CRITIC OF THE BUS FARE INCREASE

Sir: According to a report published in your paper a few days ago, it would seem that our City Council are going to allow the local bus company to increase the prices of their tickets. Before they do so I think they should consider the following points as to whether we, the citizens of Peterborough, are receiving the service that we should from a company such as this where they have a monopoly on the business.

1. They may be endangering the lives of the passengers that they carry every day—due to overloading.

2. They do not adhere to the time schedules which they have published in the paper. (Only last week I waited 18 minutes on a route where the buses were supposed to be running every ten minutes.) (After I got on the bus I looked out the back window and the bus that was supposed to follow 10 minutes later was only two blocks behind.) This is caused mainly because some drivers leave the centre of the town late and drive their route slowly and the next bus leaves early and drives the same route at a high rate of speed, thus disrupting the time schedule.

3. They should teach their drivers courtesy and kindness to the old people especially.

4. They should put on a five minute service or at least extra buses during the rush hours. Frequently I have had to wait while two or three buses went by loaded.

5. The drivers should ensure that everybody is off before starting up. Several times I have seen elderly people carried on to the next stop due to the fact that they were not able to jump up in time before the driver figured he should start off.

6. Some drivers drive at an excessive speed and hog the road. (Ask a lot of car drivers in the city.)

7. Other than to take the money for tickets etc., the drivers should not be allowed to engage in long conversations with passengers as they cannot pay proper attention to their driving while talking.

8. For the sake of the safety of their passengers there should be a maximum rule of not more than five passengers standing.

If it is necessary to do so the Company should put on more buses to take care of the extra people that may be left behind. I am sure that this policy would pay as I personally know several people that would rather walk a mile up town rather than wait five or ten minutes on a bus and then be squashed like a sardine when they do get on.

I am a regular rider on the buses and feel that at the present rate (I pay something like $100 per year in fares), we are not getting the service we should.

Some of the drivers are very good and are not guilty of the offences listed above but others are terrible and should not be allowed to drive a public conveyance.

As a remedy, I think that the present City Council should put up their cars for a month and ride the buses several times a day to different parts of the city at the public expense and then at that time decide if a raise in rates should be approved. I think there would be some improvements before the month was out.

Sincerely,
A BUS-RIDER AND TAXPAYER.

WHERE IS THE JUNK YARD?

Sir: In looking at the Feb. 1 edition of the Examiner I was interested in the police court case of Nick Peconi where he sought to open up a used car lot at Downer's Corners. In the evidence it was mentioned that a junk yard operated in the vicinity.

I do not know of any junk yard which can be so classified and licensed operating at Downer's Corners. I might also add that Mr. Peconi also failed to mention that a beauty parlour and barber shop are also situated in the vicinity.

DOWNER'S CORNER'S CITIZEN.

HOW CAN IT BE DONE?

Sir: In your editorial "Children—For or Against" you conclude by suggesting a campaign for selective breeding.

Though I am in accordance with your suggestion it appears impossible for this to be put into practice. Adolf Hitler instituted sterilization in Germany; but in a democracy how would you prevent the sub-normal from breeding if they did not consent to sterilization?

Requesting you to enlarge on this subject.

Yours truly,
VIRGO.

Bible Message

(From the Authorized Version)

And when Jesus was come into Peter's house, he saw his wife's mother laid, and sick of a fever. And he touched her hand, and the fever left her: and she arose, and ministered unto them.

When the even was come, they brought unto him many that were possessed with devils: and he cast out the spirits with his word, and healed all that were sick. (Matt. 8: 14-16.)

✧ ✧ ✧

When Jesus came into the coasts of Caesarea Philippi, he asked his disciples, saying, Whom do men say that I the Son of man am? And they said, Some say that thou art John the Baptist: some, Elias; and others, Jeremias, or one of the prophets.

He saith unto them, But whom say ye that I am? And Simon Peter answered and said, Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God.

And Jesus answered and said unto him, Blessed art thou, Simon Bar-jona: for flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee, but my Father which is in heaven

And I say also unto thee, That thou art Peter, and upon this rock I will build my church; and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it. (Matt. 16: 13-18.)

THE IMPORTANT THING

Mr. Forsythe was vividly distressed as he staggered into the clubhouse. "What's the matter?" asked a member sympathetically.

"I've just killed my wife," said Forsythe.

"Good Heavens! How did you do that?"

"I was over on the practice tee and didn't see her coming up behind me. I took a back swing and hit her on the head. She dropped dead."

"That's tough," said the other member. "What club were you using?"

DiMaggio, Kell End Holdout, Sign Contracts

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP). — Joe Dimaggio, the million-dollar centre-fielder of the New York Yankees, and George Kell, brilliant third-baseman for Detroit Tigers, have signed their 1951 contracts, but many of baseball's stars remain out of the fold.

Dimaggio Wednesday accepted his third straight $100,000 contract via telephone from his San Francisco home. Kell, after turning down two proposals, came into the fold at Detroit for an estimated $40,000, a $7,000 raise over his 1950 salary. Kell is the highest-paid Tiger player.

The capitulation of Dimaggio leaves only Ted Williams of Boston Red Sox and Stan Musial of St. Louis Cardinals among the upper-bracket players unsigned. Ralph Kiner of Pittsburgh is working on the last half of a two-year contract calling for $65,000 a season. Williams is expected to sign at the same terms he worked under last year, a reported $125,000. Musial is said to be angling for $100,000.

Other stars in the gilt-edge brackets who have not signed include Johnny Sain of Boston, Preacher Roe of Brooklyn, Andy Pafko of Chicago, Larry Jansen of New York, Del Ennis of Philadelphia, Wally Westlake of Pittsburgh and Howie Pollet of St. Louis in the National.

In the American League, such stars as Dom Dimaggio of Boston, Bob Lemon of Cleveland, Hal Newhouser of Detroit, Yogi Berra of New York, Ferris Fain of Philadelphia, Ned Garver of St. Louis and Eddie Yost of Washington have not signed.

The Cardinals continue to encounter difficulties lining up their veteran crew. Ted Wilks, portly relief pitcher who pitched only 24 innings last year, balked at signing a conditional contract calling for $1.

Louis Pleased With 10-Round Ring Decision

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 8 (AP). — Joe Louis, obviously pleased with his 10-round decision over Cuban heavyweight Omelio Agramonte, leaves for San Francisco today to fight Andy Walker in what he hopes is the last stepping stone to a title fight.

The 36-year-old brown bomber, lacking the viciousness that earned him the world's championship over a decade ago, failed to stop the elusive Cuban with a knockout blow, but finished 10 active three-minute rounds in good physical condition. Louis weighed 209; Agramonte 187.

His disappointment of not kayoing the Cuban was offset by the fact he was able to turn on full steam in the final round and still feel fresh.

Agramonte, figured to hit the canvas in four rounds or less, gave the ex-champion a surprisingly-good fight and managed to hang on as Louis pounded him in the fourth and 10th rounds in knockout attempts.

Ready For Kill

In the fourth Louis came out for the kill. He hit the dancing Cuban with rights and lefts and in mid-round the Cuban staggered under a vicious left to the head. When it appeared Louis had his victim, the bell ended the round and Agramonte came out in the fifth to strike back hard.

Louis tried again for the knockout in the eighth. His short jabs to the Cuban's mouth drew blood and Agramonte's right eye began to swell.

It was then that Agramonte took up his retreating tactics, running from Louis and when cornered, throwing his arms about the brown bomber until separated by the referee.

Louis fully intended to kavo the Cuban in the 10th but was hamstrung by Agramonte's clinch methods.

Later in the dressing room, Louis, admitting that his timing was a little off, insisted he was "just about ready" to meet champion Ezzard Charles in a title match.

IOOF Puckists Tie For Top With Win Over Port Hope

Bun Kingdon's flying Oddfellows came through again in fine style last night at Civic Arena defeating Port Hope Panthers 5-3 in a hard and fast junior "B" hockey struggle.

It was the fourth win in five starts since January 22 for the colorful local squad who are now perched atop the league with 27 points, tied with Lindsay. The latter have a game in hand with three to play, prior to play-offs and a possible first-place tie looms in the offing. Kinsmen meet Links here Friday, February 16 in the final struggle.

Scored First

Panthers opened the scoring last night early in the first frame as Flesch drilled a high hard one from the attacking blue line that zinged past Wasson through a maze of home help. Links fought hard to hold the Hodgett crew, and began to outplay them in the latter half of the period and fired home three doozies from the sticks of forwards Lefty Doris, Ray Douglas and Ab Buckton with Dean Wasson and big Jim Shearer drawing assists on a pair.

Play increased in tempo in a fiery second with both teams giving their utmost and play roughened up considerably. Oddfellows' defence with Dean Wasson outstanding, and ably supported by Shearer, Bigford and Clapper, handed out a few heftier body checks than Panthers could show as the fur flew. Brian Robinson notched his 14th goal and Dean West his 19th with Morrow and Wyatt assisting to outscore the lakeshore boys in this chapter with Pillsworth from Flesch the only Hope tally.

A Hot Third

Ray Douglas and Bernie Flesch livened a red-hot final frame with some fisticuffs while five others drew minors as the hectic battle drew to a close with play fairly even. Wilcox scored the lone tally on another long screened shot at 12:20. It was a good game from a spectator's standpoint with every man on both teams giving his level best. Both goalies performed in excellent style, too.

Port Hope: Goal, Ashton; defence, Hansen, Harnden; centre, Wilcox; wings, Freeman, McKeen; alts., Campbell, Medhurst, Downey, Pillsworth, J. Fisher, Lawless, Goody, Flesch.

IOOF, Goal, R. Wasson; defence, D. Wasson, Bigford; centre, West, wings, Morrow, Wyatt; alts., Stewart, Floyd, Douglas, Doris, Clapper, Shearer, Buckton, B. Robinson.

TCS Cagers No Match For Ridley Opponents

PORT HOPE, Feb. 8—Trinity College School basketball team was no match for Ridley College Firsts Wednesday afternoon as the visitors romped to an easy 84-36 win in an exhibition game. Jim Rowe, with 26 points, and Fred Richardson with 23, were the main cogs in the smooth-running Ridley machine. For TCS big Hugh Walker, with 14 points, and Charlie Ryley with 10, were the standouts.

Ridley took the lead early in the game and were never headed. The score at the end of the first quarter was 22-9. At the half the visitors had lengthened this to 39-23. In the last quarter Ridley scored 25 points to only five by TCS.

Queen Alex: Morris, R. Whitton, W. Whitton, Brown, Jackson, Macklin, Druce, McClennan, Hewitt, Alton.

CANADA'S FINEST CIGARETTE

SPORTS SHOW WINDOW

By CEC. PERDUE, Sports Editor

Let's look at the local basketball situation for this week. Two tilts were run off betwixt SPS and PCVS "B" teams last e'en in the Collegiate. The intermediate Marines are off to Port Hope this p.m., and we feel rather sorry for the Ports. PCVS girls go to Cobourg tonight, too. A flock of Friday frays. Two girls' jousts at the YW, starting at eight. Three boys' senior "A" scraps at Oshawa, bantam, junior and senior. Three Lindsay "B" boys' teams tangle with Collegiate crews that eve in the Collegiate here, while St. Peter's seniors are at DeLaSalle. Saturday sees the Marines away to open OABA playdowns, as Bruins are at East York.

* * * * * * *

Hey, girls and boys, it's free! We mean the OHA senior "B" tussle betwixt Queen's Combines of Kingston and the local Eagles at 8.30 tomorrow night in Civic Arena. All femmes and fellows of school age, whether accompanied by parents or not, can walk in free to this game. Don McGillis Sr., sponsor of the Eagles, will pay the shot for them all—a mighty generous gesture. Eagles expect to take this tilt and they'd better, as Nylons are breathing down their necks in the race for second position which Eagles presently hold. It might prove an interesting enough scrap, too.

* * * * * * *

Try That Back-Hander

As pointed out in the Hockey Handbook, just released by Sports College, the average puckist neglects his backhand shooting. Tennis and badminton players of course realize the importance of this phase, and some star hockeyists do, too, but many others just don't bother practicing it. How often have you seen a player in front of the net taking a passout but unable to get his shot away as a defenceman drapes over him? But you've also seen some of the smarter cookies swinging part way around and backhanding the burnt biscuit into the oven, haven't you? If often pays off, as all goalies know to their sorrow.

* * * * * * *

The foregoing para is put in there simply to remind young hockey players that there's always room for improvement. If you want to be a success at the game—or at anything else, for that matter—keep working at it every spare minute. Learn the fundamentals first, and then start polishing up. You just can't get too much practice, not only for conditioning but for all-around improvement. Rocket Richard didn't just happen to be one of the greatest, he works at it like a rookie in his spare time. That's why he seemingly scores goals when practically standing on his head after a thumping bodycheck. There's no royal road to learning—it's constant hard work.

* * * * * * *

IOOF-ers Take Ports

While Belleville were edging Oshawa Bees last p.m., the local IOOF-ers downed Port Hope Panthers 5-3 in a tidy OHA junior "B" joust here. That leaves the Rockets, Oddfellows and Lindsay Kin all bunched up like bananas at the top of the pile as they come thundering down the stretch to mix metaphors. The keen contest at Civic was a bit rough the last half, sparked by a fight between Ray Douglas and Bernie Flesch. Goals for the Kingdon crew were by Doris, Douglas, Buckton, Brian Robinson and West, while an assist each went to Wasson, Shearer, Buckton, Douglas, Doris, Morrow and Wyatt. When the scoring is well spread around like that, it shows depth in a team. Oddfellows' next game is Monday in Port Hope.

* * * * * * *

Latest AHL bulletin arrived this morn, and shows Ab DeMarco of Buffalo still leading in scoring with 80 points in 47 games. George (Red) Sullivan of Hershey is fifth with 63 in 49 games, and has served 34 minutes in penalties this season. Don Ashbee has 52 points and 44 minutes in the penance pew. Hershey is second to Buffalo in the eastern standing, Cleveland leading the western division. Establishment of overtime play in the AHL this year has cut the tied games in half. Joe Lund, Finnish-born defenceman for Cleveland, is considered the handiest guy in the loop with his fists, we're informed, in case you're interested. John McCormack of the Leafs is wearing Pittsburg livery whilst honey-mooning.

Major Club Owners To Pick Commissioner

CINCINNATI, Feb. 8 (AP)—Major league club owners were called Wednesday to meet March 12 in Miami, Fla., to select a commissioner of baseball.

A. B. Chandler, the present commissioner whose contract was not renewed last Dec. 12, issued the call at the request of Will Harridge and Ford Frick, presidents of the American and National leagues, respectively.

Chandler's seven-year term, for which he is being paid $65,000 annually, expires April 30, 1952.

He still plans to be a candidate to succeed himself, despite the setback late last December.

Winter Sport

PORT ARTHUR (CP).—A new winter sport may be in the making—shooting wolves from airplanes on the ice-covered lakes of northwestern Ontario. Reg. Windsor, Ontario government wild-life inspector here, and other officials are considering the plan.

Cage Playoffs Arranged For February

One Peterborough team, the Marines, will enter Ontario playdowns in basketball this weekend and next weekend the high school teams and Clappers' Bruins start down the playoff trail.

The Gord McIntyre-coached Marines, local entry in the lakeshore league, has been officially selected as the team to enter the intermediate "B" playdowns with the Eastern Ontario winner. The first game will be Saturday either in Brockville or Belleville in a two-game points-to-count series. The return game will be February 17 in the YMCA gym.

Next week Clapper Bruins will begin their playoffs in intermediate "A" with the Hamilton and district winner. This team will be one of three. Latvians, St. Anthony's or the Mormons. The return game of that points-to-count series will be in Peterborough on February 24. Last year the local team, then the Marines, went to Ontario finals.

High School Playoff

The lakeshore district high schools also begin their playoffs in the semi-final series in a week's time. The district was divided into four this year and each must declare winners in the senior, junior and bantam brackets by February 16.

The group, including Whitby, Uxbridge and Port Perry, will meet the winner of Cobourg, Port Hope and Bowmanville on February 16 in the eastern league's home town. The return game of this series will be on February 23.

Before February 16, the lakeshore "A" league which includes Oshawa Central, Oshawa CVI and PCVS will have to declare a senior winner. PCVS meets OCVI Friday night in Oshawa to complete this schedule, and a win for the senior Garnet and Grey is likely. This will mean a senior sudden-death playoff between Central and PCVS.

PCVS teams in the junior and bantam "A" seem destined for at least semi-final playoffs, undefeated to date. If all PCVS teams win this grouping, they will meet the winner of the PCVS "B", St. Peter's High and Lindsay group, Lindsay likely in all three, on February 16 in Lindsay and returning to PCVS for the return game on February 23.

The lakeshore finals will be played on March 2 and 9, the final COSSA games in Toronto on March 17.

TCS Seconds Keep Unbeaten Record

NEWMARKET, Feb. 8.—Taking command with a three-goal third period drive Trinity College Schools Seconds kept alive their unbeaten record by defeating Pickering College here Wednesday afternoon, 6-1, in a Prep School exhibition hockey contest.

Defenceman Dick Bonnycastle and winger Brian Mowery paced TCS with two goals each, Bob Church and Bob Arnold shooting in singles. Don Sears with Bob King supplying the pass, connected for the Pickering College tally.

In another game Pickering College Thirds were nosed out, 3-2, by TCS, while Pickering College Preps defeated Bradford, 6-1.

Flyers Bowl Over Hornets In 5-1 Win

By The Associated Press.

The St. Louis Flyers, rolling along at a rapid clip, still are in last place in the American Hockey League's western division. But they won't be for long at the rate they're travelling.

Only two games separate the Flyers from second place after they bowled over the Pittsburgh Hornets Wednesday night at St. Louis 5-1. It was the sixth straight home victory, and seventh in their last eight starts.

Indianapolis, idle Wednesday night, and Pittsburgh are tied for second place, with the Cincinnati Mohawks in third place, a game ahead of St. Louis. Cincinnati snapped a five-game losing streak, pouring in four goals in the opening period, and blasted the leading Cleveland Barons, 5-3.

Leafs Blast Habs 3-1 As Wings Wallop Chicago

By MEL SUFRIN.
Canadian Press Staff Writer.

The form players had a field day in the National Hockey League Wednesday.

All six teams were in action and the results went according to a pattern clearly outlined in previous games this season.

The league-leading Detroit Red Wings once again made life miserable for Harry Lumley, who used to tend goal for them until traded to Chicago Black Hawks this season. They buried Lumley under a barrage of goals as they blasted the last-place Hawks 11-3 for the highest-scoring game of the season.

In Toronto, the second-place Maple Leafs maintained their mastery over Montreal, handing the third-place Canadiens a 3-1 setback, their ninth in 11 games at the hands of the Leafs this season.

In Boston, it was another old story as the fifth-place New York Rangers and the fourth-place Bruins, two teams with the most tie games to their credit this season, wound up in a 2-2 deadlock.

Rocket Didn't Click

About the only thing that might be described as unusual was the fact that Maurice (Rocket) Richard failed to score a goal.

Toronto's Sid Smith was given the job of shadowing the league-leading goal-scorer and did an effective job. What's more he got two of Toronto's three goals to the delight of 14,083 fans in Maple Leaf Gardens.

The forward line of Smith, Teeder Kennedy and Tod Sloan looked after the Toronto scoring. Sloan got the first Toronto goal before Normand Dussault tallied for Montreal in the first period. Kennedy assisted on Sloan's first-period goal and the one by Smith in the third.

No Penalties

In Detroit, 10,182 fans saw the teams stick strictly to hockey, even if it was rather one-sided. Referee George Gravel didn't hand out a single penalty in the high-scoring affair.

Gordie Howe, pace-setter in the league scoring race, accounted for two goals and assisted on another, while defenceman Red Kelly, rookie Glen Skov and Gaye Stewart got two each. Jimmy Peters Bob Goldham. Ted Lindsay got the others. Roy Conacher, Ray Powell and Ernie Dickens scored for the Hawks.

Lumley, with virtually no defence in front of him, made 41 saves in a futile effort to stem the Detroit scoring tide. Terry Sawchuk in the Detroit nets had a comparatively easy time, handling 25 shots successfully.

The 6,602 Boston fans were the smallest crowd there of the season. It was the sixth tie in 12 games between the two teams this year.

Alex Kaleta and Pentti Lund, the latter saving the tie with his goal late in the third period, scored for New York. Veteran Woody Dumart and Johnny Peirson got the Boston goals.

Only one game is scheduled for tonight, the Red Wings visiting Chicago.

Irish, Tigers Deadlocked, Wild Scramble

By The Canadian Press

As usual when Toronto St. Michael's and Hamilton Tigers meet, extra-curricular activities played a prominent part in Wednesday night's Ontario Hockey Association major game.

The final score was 4-4 but the game was livened by a wild scramble involving players, police and patrons.

In the third period one fan was ejected from the rink for grabbing the stick of Gord Hannigan and refusing to let go. Two policemen stepped in before things broke loose.

Jack Meldrum scored three goals for St. Mike's, whose first-place margin was narrowed to five points. Bill McCracken got the fourth. Murray Comfort, Harvey Fraser, Tom Smelle and Ab Conick scored for the Tigers.

The Bengals were without centre Johnny Conick, who will be sidelined for five weeks with an injured shoulder.

St. Mike's iced minus Peanuts O'Flaherty.

Battle Weather

Elsewhere fans battled the weather to get to games. In Waterloo, Dutchmen lost another home fixture, this time to Toronto Marlboros. Marlies rammed in four goals in the third period to triumph 5-2 in the OHA Jr. "A" event.

Al Buchanan with a pair, and Bob Hassard, Jack MacKenzie and Ed Staniewicz delivered for Toronto, and Billy Klick and Dick Behling got through for the last-place Dutchmen.

In the single Junior A game, the fourth-place Guelph Biltmores scored a 6-4 victory over eighth-place Stratford Kroehlers in Stratford.

Ed Laufman of the Bilts moved into the league point leadership with a pair of goals.

Chuck Henderson with two, and Andy Bathgate and Herb Dickenson with one each were the other Guelph scorers. Gord Myles got two and Larry Lemenchik and Ray Ross one each for the Kroehlers.

Last Night's Stars

By The Canadian Press.

Gordie Howe, Gaye Stewart, Red Kelly and rookie Glen Skov, all of Detroit, whose two goals apiece set Wings up for an 11-3 trouncing of Chicago.

Sid Smith, of Toronto, who tallied twice as Leafs defeated Montreal 3-1.

Pentti Lund of New York whose last-minute goal in the final frame salvaged a 2-2 tie for Rangers with Boston.

New Drug Helps

NEW YORK, Feb 8 — (AP)— The American Heart Association reported Wednesday night that a new drug known as tromexan has been found superior in the control of blood clotting disorders, including coronary thrombosis. Atomic research at the Los Alamos Scientific Laboratory shows tromexan "has a quqicker, more transient effect and less apparent side effects" than any drug previously available, the association said.

May Shorten NHL Schedule

DETROIT, Feb. 8 (AP)—President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League disclosed Wednesday night that the league's board of governors, worried by a decline in attendance, is considering shortening the 70-game schedule.

Campbell here for a Detroit-Chicago game Wednesday night, said a late survey showed Chicago is down 25 per cent over last year's turnout while Boston and New York each have declines of 15 per cent and Detroit eight per cent.

"We are not convinced that the 70-game season is the perfect answer for the schedule and we are still trying to find a solution," Campbell declared. Any action would not affect this year's schedule.

Campbell added that a full study is being made to find reasons for the box office decline. He said some critics feel the 70-game season should be shortened by 10 games.

Campbell headed for Chicago where he will confer Thursday with Bill Tobin, owner of Chicago Black Hawks. Subject of the discussion will be the conduct of Coach Ebbie Goodfellow in Saturday's game at Toronto.

Referee Hugh McLean was reported to have been roughed up by some of the Chicago players and Campbell is conducting a personal investigation.

Singer Takes Whirl At Baseball

NEW YORK, Feb. 8 (AP)—If Roy Sievers takes a stance at the plate in Burbank, Calif., next month and a big blonde woman shuffles up and tells him to do it this way, Roy needn't get huffy.

That'll be Helen Traubel, the Wagnerian soprano, and she'll have a perfect right to say her piece.

She's part owner of Sievers and all other St. Louis Brownies, who'll be at the Burbank camp working kinks out of rusty joints.

"I'm going to visit the camp in March," the Metropolitan Opera star said today, "and I'm going to watch the team in training. It'll be loads of fun."

Miss Traubel bought a part interest in the Browns, a team she used to root for as a girl, last fall. She did it "mostly to satisfy a sentimental urge."

She's never been sorry, she insists.

"I still am very optimistic about the Browns. I'm sure before long we'll be up there in the first division. And I think it will prove a good investment."

Miss Traubel wants to see her Browns in spring training because her husband and business manager, William Bass, puts a firm foot down on her attending many games.

"I jump up and down and yell something fierce," she said. "Bill is afraid I'll hurt my voice."

Glourourim Farm Forum

COLDSPRINGS, Feb. 8 (ENS) —The regular meeting of the Glourourim Farm Forum was held on Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. West, with an attendance of thirty.

After listening to the farm forum broadcast, the topic under discussion was "Should farm production be controlled?" It was generally felt that nature usually takes over control of produce. After the discussion, progressive euchre was played and lunch served.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Cornelius.

Russians Attack Said Unlikely

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP) — A Montreal senator said Wednesday the prospects of a direct Russian attack in Western Europe seemed unlikely but warned the Soviet might try to goad satellites into overrunning the dissident Communist state of Yugoslavia.

Senator A. K. Hugessen (L—Quebec), 59-year-old son of a British peer, told the Senate the free nations should make clear that an attack on Yugoslavia would mean war with the west.

Speaking in the throne-speech debate, he defended the Far Eastern policy of the United States with regard to Korea as "right and courageous" and deplored certain public figures and publications, particularly in the U.S., which had been critical.

He did not think Russia would launch an all-out attack in Europe in the near future for several reasons. She feared the atom bomb. She was inclined to think democracy would collapse if she waited long enough, though it must seem strange that the democracies were getting stronger instead of weaker.

There was the question of how far the Kremlin could push the weary people of the Soviets in an aggressive war. Russian policy seemed to be to use, not her own forces, but those of satellites in aggressive military moves.

Nail Shortage In Ont. With No Hope Of Early Relief

Peterborough along with the majority of other centres in Ontario is suffering a current nail shortage. Local hardware retailers questioned this morning stated that this nail shortage has been existent since early last fall and no hope of relief.

The present supply of nails in the city is far below the demand and orders are piling up. However one hardware retailer stated that the situation is not so serious that building should be stopped or even slowed down.

One store has received shipments totalling 56 kegs since October, whereas another has only been able to get 10 kegs.

Despite the shortage the retailers report that the price of nails has remained steady.

Farmer's Forum Against Control

HAVELOCK, Feb. 8 (ENS)— The Trent River West Farm Forum decided that as farmers they did not want government control of agriculture production.

Meeting Monday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Simpson, they expressed the views that controlled production might easily result in a shortage of food for Canada.

If weather, diseases, insects, shortage of farm help were abnormal in any one year, the crop, already cut back by controls, would be insufficient for the country. The result would be that agricultural Canada would have to import foods.

The forum members were just as suspicious of price controls of all essential commodities. If they were imposed, they should be set on a "fair" basis and accompanied by control of wages.

They believed that farmers did not get fair treatment in World War II price controls. They were afraid of getting same sort of deal again.

The forum submitted the following question to the National Forum as a topic for discussion: "Why was 1939 chosen to base the cost of living on as at that time farm prices were lower in proportion than those of other goods and services."

A social time spent in the enjoyment of euchre followed the discussion period.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. Simpson assisted by Mrs. Harl Miles.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Barrie.

Mrs. Earl Waldie was in charge of the program period and Grant Waldie in charge of recreation. Readings were given by Mrs. F. G. Lewis and Mrs. Earl Waldie.

Lunch was served by the hostess.

10 Per Cent Increase Given School Caretaker

LAKEFIELD, Feb. 8 —(ENS)— The February meeting of the Lakefield Public School Board was held on Monday evening with chairman A. G. Buchanan, trustees Mrs. H. W. Wilford, Mrs. Reg Doubt, Stanley Richardson, Charles Hunter and Dr. Reg Campbell present.

It was decided to give the school caretaker a 10 per cent raise in salary as requested.

At a special meeting held previously a 10 per cent increase had been given the teaching staff for 1951 based on the present salary schedule.

The board discussed the necessity of having supervision at noon at the school, as a number of children took their lunch. Mrs. Buchanan contacted Principal E. G. Sloan and Mr. Sloan stated he will discuss this with the staff.

Stanley Richardson was authorized to see about new valves, etc., required for pipes in the basement, and also to enquire about cost of changing the principal's room.

Farm Livestock Prices Decidely Firm

Demand for sheep is increasing sharply, but supply of available stock is low, as reported in the weekly survey of the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Prices of sheep, swine and cattle, even horses, are decidedly firm. On the other side of the sheet is a scarcity of seed grain that is causing concern.

Prince Edward County says: "The rise in the local hog prices has forced the market for weanlings from $12 to $16, depending on age. One farmer receiving more than $200 for two sows for slaughter.

Dufferin says young pigs are selling around $13. Grade cows in Grey reached an all time high of $375; sheep are close to the $50 mark (a Peterborough man reported even up to $70 and $75), feed is plentiful.

Grain and pasture fields are carpeted with protective snow. More than 13 inches fell on the level in sections of weste n Ontario.

Brant County reports young boars and bred sows are in active demand at $100 each. Also "Farmers are ordering the largest quantity of fertilizer for winter delivery in the history of this county."

Middlesex: "Live stock is selling at high prices with good loads of beef cattle bringing over $30 per cwt. Many grade cows at auction sales bring over $300. and young pigs are up around $15 each. Seed grain is being shipped in large quantities to the United States."

These county glimpses reflect far sounder farm conditions than were visualized at this time last year.

Even Muskoka says farmers are culling their low producing milk cows which are bringing prices ranging from $275 to $350.

A Northumberland heifer weighing more than 1,800 lbs. recently sold at auction for $450 "which is something of a record in these parts." Horses are a bit better and a promising calf brings $25.

Interest in weekly auctions is reported from three eastern counties.

Harvey Appeals On Assessment

Judge S. L. Smoke has upheld two decisions of the Harvey Court of Revision on assessment appeals. On another he reduced the assessment. All three appeals were made by Wallace Sheafer of Buckhorn.

One appeal was against an assessment of $150 on 160 acres of "wild land," Lot 18, Concession 7. Previously the assessment was $75. Judge Smoke confirmed the Court of Revision's finding.

The second appeal was over part of Lot 10, Concession 8. It is a parcel of land with a cottage on it. The cottage was formerly inhabited. Previous assessment was $25 on the land and $25 on the building. This was raised to $75 on the land and $250 on the building. Both valuations were confirmed.

The third appeal was on a parcel of land, Lot 9, Concession 8, that has an old cheese factory standing on it.

Nelson Windover, Harvey assessor, raised the assessment on the land from $25 to $150. And the assessment on the one-storey wooden-frame building from $100 to $400.

Judge Smoke upheld the valuation on the land, but reduced that on the factory to $200. He reduced it because it is now vacant and because of comparable assessment on similar buildings.

W. B. Gordon was counsel for Mr. Sheafer and Stewart G. Sparling, county assessor, represented Harvey.

Gerald A. Armstrong

The funeral of Gerald Arnold Armstrong, 34, of R.R. 3, Frankford, Ontario, and formerly of Peterborough, who died Saturday following a lengthy illness, was held Monday from the Rowe funeral home, Frankford.

The service was conducted by the Rev. Roy McEachern, of Frankford.

Mr. Armstrong was born in Smith township, son of Arnold Armstrong and the late Grace Harrison. He resided in Peterborough for 12 years before moving to Frankford. Mr. Armstrong was a garage mechanic by trade and was a member of the United Church.

He leaves his widow, the former Anne Maloney; one daughter, Patsy Ann, nine years old, and one son, Arnold, two years old; two sisters, Mrs. George McDonald (Sarah) of Frankford, and Mrs. Roscoe Gunter (Hazel) of Trenton.

The pallbearers were: Jack Armstrong, Bruce Armstrong, George McDonald, Stewart Foster, Roscoe Gunter, Harold Wheeler. Burial was in Frankford cemetery.

OMEMEE, Feb. 8 —(ENS)— Founder's Day was celebrated with a birthday cake and candles at the Omemee Home and School meeting Monday evening. Mrs. R. Clifford outlined the history of the Association since it was organized under the name of "Parent-Teacher Association" and stated that the purpose of the celebration was to honor all founders national and local. Lunch was served by Mrs. Wilfred Wilson, Mrs. R. Brocks, Mrs. J. Morrison, Mrs. H. Bent, Mrs. R. James, Mrs. J. B. Hough, Miss Jessie Lamb and Miss Doris Jones with Mrs. G. N. Earle and Mrs. S. CCF Renews Price Control Demand

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (CP). — The CCF Party put a growing demand for reimposed price controls before the Commons Wednesday in the form of a motion of non-confidence.

The motion, criticizing the government on the specific issue of living costs, was introduced by W. H. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) and quickly won support from the other CCF members, Stanley Knowles (Winnipeg North Centre) and R. R. Knight (Saskatoon).

It was the second CCF non-confidence motion thus far in the week-long Throne-Speech debate. The first, defeated on a voice vote, criticized the government for supporting the United States resolution calling on the United Nations to denounce Red China as an aggressor in Korea.

Raps Action

While the CCF group plumped for price controls, a front-rank Progressive Conservative, Howard Green (Vancouver-Quadra), criticized the government's handing of the Korean crisis as "one of the most disgraceful episodes in Canada's history."

He called for dispatch of the entire 10,000-man special force training now at Fort Lewis, Wash. to Korea to help end the fighting there. Canada also should press for the development of a Pacific defence organization.

Other speakers included Raymond Bruneau (L-Prescott), Arthur Laing (L-Vancouver South) and Auguste Maltais (L-Charlevoix).

In the Commons, Mr. Green suggested Canada had not yet pulled her weight in the Korean War with the statement that "there has been very little in the events of the last six months about which Canadians can be proud."

One of the trained battalions of the regular army should have been sent to Korea at the outset of that conflict. Canada had missed an opportunity to stand beside the US, the country upon which she would have to depend if she were attacked.

While the CCF members called for controls, Mr. Laing said he believes that reimposition of full and complete controls "could well be the end of free enterprise in Canada."

Youth Ministry

Mr. Bruneau suggested the payment of a pension to the disabled and the establishment of a "youth" ministry which would constitute a vocational guidance school for youngsters with ability but without the money for training.

Mr. Maltais called for the adoption of a national flag and said Canada must play her part in the international crisis.

Mr. Green urged:

1—Canada send the 10,000-man special force now training in Fort Lewis, Wash., to Korea to help end the fighting there.

2—Canada press for a Pacific defence pact, similar to the North Atlantic Treaty.

3—Action to strengthen the reserve army.

4—Steps to inaugurate a contributory old-age pensions system.

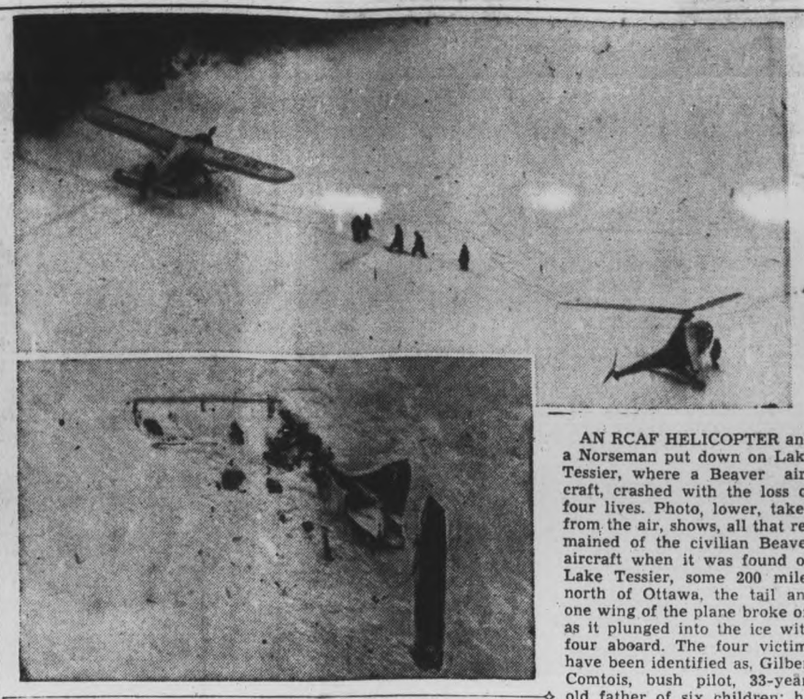
5—Prompt action to deal with the cost of living and inflation.

Mr. Green said he sometimes considers the rising cost of living and inflation as serious as the war situation. The government's statement that it would ask for stand-by legislation to impose controls, if necessary, had simply had the effect of driving prices higher.

Hope To Halt Prices

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—Economic Stabilizer Eric Johnston said Wednesday the cost of living in the United States probably will rise for "a few months" but can be halted by the middle of the summer. He told a press conference that how long the mid-summer price line can be held will depend on whether the country achieves a balanced budget, tightens credit controls, and increases production.

Approve Naval Bill



WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—A $2,740,092,000 program for building up the United States' Navy's fighting power won the unanimous approval Wednesday of a Senate Armed Services Sub-Committee. Senator Harry Byrd (Dem. Va.), chairman of the group, said the legislation providing for the vast naval construction and conversion effort should be ready for expected Senate passage next week.

LONDON, Ont., Feb. 8 (CP).—Educators from many parts of Ontario will gather at the University of Western Ontario Saturday April 14 for a university-sponsored guidance conference. The conference will be attended by secondary school inspectors, principals and guidance officers. University faculty members will also be present.

Suspend Union Work

LAKE SUCCESS, Feb. 8 (AP).—Free Trade Unions told the United Nations in a document made public Wednesday that the Russian slave pattern and abolition of genuine trade union activity have been forced on countries living under Soviet control. The International Confederation of Free Trade Unions, a world group which represents the CIO, the AFL, and other unions in UN consultations, made the survey. It said its information is based on reliable sources, "mostly of Soviet origin."

Actors Organize Christian Group

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 8 (AP) — This week a different kind of banquet was held in Hollywood.

Cocktails weren't served. No awards were given. In fact, nothing occurred that would evoke headlines in the newspapers.

The event was the second annual banquet of the Hollywood Christian Group.

It was founded in July, 1949, by "certain Christian entertainers" with the purpose "to provide Christian fellowship for artists of the entertainment world and to unite them in witness to those of their profession who lack a vital relationship with the Lord Jesus Christ."

The group is non-sectarian and inter-denominational, meeting every Monday night for religious discussions. Those directing the group's affairs "are understood to adopt a scriptural attitude toward intoxication, profanity or immorality." Founders included Jane Russell, Connie Haines, Porter Hall and Colleen Townsend.

Greeted By Rogers

Guests were greeted by cowboy star Roy Rogers, who introduced Hall. The character actor offered a prayer in which he asked "God's help to avoid the pitfalls we face in our profession."

After dinner, Ronald Reagan opened the program. Although not a member of the group, he expressed his interest, citing that "a generation ago, actors couldn't be buried in the churchyard." He scored publicity which he said made actors appear "crazy, immoral and not like the rest of the world."

Rogers added that it's too bad "people never hear the good things about actors." His quartette sang "Steal Away" and then he and wife Dale Evans joined them in "It Is No Secret What God Can Do."

Singing star Connie Haines then sang "I'd Rather Have Jesus Than Anything."

Guests at the event included Marie Wilson, Gordon MacRae, Irene Dunne, Chill Wills, Scott Brady, Peggy Dow and other film industry officials.

One of the group's founders, Jane Russell, explained a purpose of the event: "Every other group, including the Communists, is organized, so why shouldn't we?"

CanadaNeeds 125Churches Meeting Told

United Church Plans Year's Campaign To Raise $1,000,000

The United Church of Canada needs 125 new churches in this country, the Rev. J. C. Torrance told approximately 65 ministers and laymen at the morning session of the Peterborough County Presbytery meeting held in Mark St. United Church Thursday.

Mr. Torrance is home missions secretary for Eastern Ontario.

The speaker went on to explain that the majority of these new churches were needed in the cities and larger towns because of the rapidly increasing urban population.

Money for these churches will be collected through a fund-raising campaign for $1,000,000 which Mr. Torrance announced will begin this month and will be carried out during the remainder of the year.

The Rev. Bob Morris, assistant secretary of the missionary committee, reported the church had almost reached its 1950 $3,000,000 objective to be used for missionory activities.

$55,000 Short

The church is only $55,000 short of its objective and all returns are not in. He explained that with the completion of these returns, it was expected that the objective would be obtained.

The Rev. M. J. Aiken of St. Andrew's Church and chairman of the local missionary committee, reported that the Peterborough Presbytery had given $33,000 to the fund—an increase of approximately $4,000 over the 1949 total.

The Rev. T. G. Husser of Millbrook United Church and chairman of the Christian education committee, asked for the support of the Presbytery for a proposed new summer camp for teen-age boys and girls at Coe Hill.

Mr. Husser was authorized to go ahead with plans for the camp which will be financed by the Presbytery.

Group Insurance Plan

The pension fund committee proposed a group insurance plan for ministers which was approved by the Presbytery and will be put into operation immediately.

Arrangements were made for visits to all the churches in the Presbytery during this year.

Mrs. A. E. Metcalfe of Hastings brought greetings to the Presbytery from the Women's Missionary Society and Mrs. Carmen Bell of Fairview brought greetings from the Women's Association.

Rev. Aiken was chairman. The next meeting will be held in Bethany on April 24.

Church Filled To Capacity For Funeral Of Late Rector

The bereavement of the community of Peterborough by the death of the Rev. William E. Kibblewhite, rector of All Saints' Anglican Church, was manifested at the funeral in his memory Wednesday afternoon. Half an hour prior to the processional from the vestry, every available seat in the church was occupied, and by that time even standing room in the vestibule was crowded.

That hushed congregation was eloquent evidence of the esteemed place which Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite had attained during the comparatively brief three years of his pastorate at All Saints. And it was particularly a silent and mourning expression of the affection of his parishioners. The young rector, so suddenly taken from them by untimely death, was greatly loved by his people. Tears were in many eyes during the service.

Bishop of Toronto in Charge

The Bishop of Toronto, Right Reverend A R. Beverley, was assisted in the simple requiem rite of the Anglican Church by Ven. Archdeacon W. P. Robertson of St. John's, Rev. Canon J. D. Paterson of Toronto, a former rector of All Saints, and Rural Dean Rev. Walter J. Gilling of St. Luke's Church.

Attending members of the Anglican clergy of the district included, Ven. Archdeacon C. W. Balfour, assistant at St. John's Church, Peterborough, Rev. L. J. Delaney, Lakefield; Rev. Canon C. R. Spencer, Port Hope; Rev. Canon F. J. Fife, Young's Point; Rev. John McKibbon, Campbellford; Rev. F. Pooley, Omemee; and Rev. H. Hesketh, Lindsay, Rural Dean of Victoria.

Major C. Everitt, president, and members of the Peterborough Ministerial Association attended. The opening processional included Boy Scouts and Cubs of All Saints, senior Scout Officers, Girl Guides, the surpliced choir, visiting clergy and the assistants in the service, preceding Bishop Beverley.

The pall-bearers were: E. J. Searight, T. Percy Hooper, J. L. McKeever, Dr. G. R. Penhall, T. L. Griffin and V. A. Hill.

Brief Tribute Paid

Archdeacon Robertson said in a brief address to the congregation that the death of Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite shocked and stunned his friends. It was like the news of a life lost in a wreck. Only in that way could one think of such an untimely death.

"We have no rosewater philosophy to explain such things. We bring our sorrows beneath the shadow of the Cross. It is only there that we find not an explanation but a guarantee of our faith and our courage to go on. It tells us that God Himself has entered into the mystery of it all.

"We are thinking today of a man who possessed such God-given charm of character that in the brief three years of his ministry here he entered not only into the hearts of the people of All Saints, but of all who met him and knew him."

Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite's last Sunday on earth was Quinquagesima, Archdeacon Robertson said. Its collect from Corinthians 1, chapter 1, set forth St. Paul's great precept of love. "Charity suffereth long and is kind; charity envieth not, vaunteth not, is not puffed up...."

"It is not fulsome or unreal to say that we could see a fair sample of that indefinable quality in William Kibblewhite.

"He had served only three years in Peterborough, and the public life of Christ was only three years.

"We live in deeds not in years, in thoughts not in breaths, in feelings not in figures. He most lives who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

Archdeacon Robertson expressed sympathy to the bereaved family, and said that "our sympathy is a pale reflection of the sympathy of God."

The body of Rev. Mr. Kibblewhite was removed late Wednesday afternoon to Wycliffe College, Toronto, resting there until 10 a.m. today, when it was taken to the Church of the Messiah for a service at 12:30 p.m., conducted by Rev. W. R. Sproule, rector of that church. Interment took place at Mount Pleasant Cemetery, Toronto. Major Everitt and Rev. H. G. Douglas represented the Ministerial Association at the rites in Toronto.

$55,000 Account For Education

With everything else, the cost of education has also gone up as somewhat magnified by the $55,000 account, compared with $23,000 two years ago, received by the Peterborough Suburban High School Area board, from Peterborough Board of Education.

Several of the members are said to have been jolted by the amount, but another acknowledged that he had estimated it within $2,000 of the actual levy.

John Kitney remarked to the Examiner that the grant from the Ontario government will substantially reduce that liability to the Peterborough Board of Education.

The account rendered is for the education of suburban pupils at the Collegiate Institute and Vocational School.

Special Music For "Twelfth Night"

A feature of unusual importance in the Peterborough Little Theatre's production of Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night" on February 15, 16, and 17, will be the musical accompaniment. It is evident from his plays that Shakespeare was unusually fond of music. Not only does he introduce many songs into his plays, but he also makes many references to music. It is logical that when his plays are performed, this musical enthusiasm on the part of the great playwright should be kept in mind.

Using Coventry Singers

No Shakespearean play is more musical in its quality than "Twelfth Night," and for its forthcoming production the Little Theatre has asked Mr. John Hooper to prepare a musical accompaniment. He has done so, using the Coventry Singers, of which he is conductor, and a piano duet, supplied by Miss Musa Cox and Mrs. Mary Baker.

For the material of this musical score Mr. Hooper has turned to music of Shakespeare's own day—the music of Dowland, Weelkes and the great composers of the madrigal school. Some popular Elizabethan tunes are introduced also—"Peg-a-Ramsey" and "Hey Robin." A theme which occurs at several points in the play is the lovely old Irish air "Caleno Custure Me," to which Shakespeare makes reference in several plays.

"Twelfth Night" contains many songs on its own account. "O Mistress Mine" is a love-song of particular beauty, and "Come away, death," is one of Shakespeare's finest lyrics. The play concludes with "When that I was," a gay jig-tune. All of these songs are entrusted to the actor who plays the part of Feste, the clown, in the play; in the Little Theatre production this role is undertaken by Mr. Lloyd Hale.

Music will Bridge Gaps

The production has been designed to move as quickly as possible from start to finish, without unnecessary pauses for shifting scenery. There must, however, be some break between one scene and another, and music will be used to bridge these gaps—sometimes a few seconds of music, and sometimes more.

The audiences at "Twelfth Night" are assured not only of the play itself, which is one of Shakespeare's finest, but also of a first-rate concert of Elizabethan music. The rapidity with which the seats are being sold at the Public Library suggests that a great many people are looking forward keenly to both play and music.

Constable Implicates Three Men

Young Undercover Gives Evidence Of Bets In Club

Working as an undercover man, Constable John Wesley Miller of the provincial police anti-gambling squad, said in police court Wednesday that three men, Ronald Horton, Neil Harrington and Edward Alberico, took bets from him at the Modern Recreation club room on Charlotte between Nov. 27 and Jan. 13.

Part of the crown's case was heard Wednesday and the rest of the trial was put over to Feb. 14.

Principle witness in the crown's case is the 22-year-old young-looking constable.

The first time he went into the Recreation club he said was Nov. 27, more than two weeks after he had come to Peterborough and started his investigation of seven premises.

Referring constantly to his notes he related a number of times he went into the club. On his first visit he saw a card game in progress. After about three hours he left.

Nov. 30 he went back and took part in the card game going on. Again on Dec. 1 he entered and stayed for only a few minutes after seeing another card game in progress. He played in many games during his visits.

Two on Blue Abbey

In the afternoon of Dec. 2 he re-entered and heard Horton take a message over the phone, write something down and then dial a number on the phone. Into the phone he said "Two and two on Blue Abbey. Jim just phoned." After playing cards for an hour or so the constable left.

About 11.30 a.m. Dec. 9 he entered the street door at the foot of the stairs which leads to the club room and several offices. Coming down the stairs was Alberico. He handed Alberico $2 and asked him to put "one and one on Hill Prince, Hollywood Park."

Alberico put the money in his pocket and "asked me to call him later to make sure he had it." Later the same day he checked with Alberico at the club room to see if he had the name right, and he had. He then heard Alberico answer the phone and write something down on a piece of paper.

The morning of Dec. 16 when he entered the club room, he saw Alberico there and handed him $2 to bet on Besita at Tropical.

Evidence given of other visits involved the three men.

When he was in the club room Dec. 29 he saw Harrington sitting at one of the tables with a sheet of paper ruled into three columns. Harrington was checking the names on it against racing results section of the night final of the Toronto Telegram.

Harrington answered the phone on Jan. 6, wrote about 20 names and figures down on a sheet. Some of the names and figures were "Lockline, two and two, Bank's Club, 10 straight, Deer Slayer, $2 and Dasha." Harrington then phoned and gave the names and figures. He checked the names with the racing form and then burned the slips of paper on which he had written in an ash tray.

"Ma a Real Bettor"

After receiving and transmitting a phone call on Jan. 8, Horton said "Ma was a real bettor." Harrington answered "If I could pick winners like she could, I would put this place out of business in a day."

This brought laughter from the crowded court room and the three accused men. Horton seemed to enjoy it the most.

Jan. 9 the constable received a $10 bill whose serial number they noted.

About 2.55 p.m. on January 13 the other officers raided the room and Constable Miller's corporal took over.

W. B. Gordon, defending Alberico, cross questioned Constable Miller and then T. J. Carley, KC, defending Horton and Harrington, began his cross-questioning, but had not progressed far when court was adjourned.

GROOM'S BIRTHDAY and 50th wedding anniversary were celebrated together by Mr. and Mrs. John J. Heaslip of Bailieboro on Wednesday. More than 100 relatives and friends called on them.—(Examiner Staff Photo)

Honeymoon Trip In Buggy As Weather 25 Below Zero

Mr. and Mrs. John J. Heaslip of Bailieboro celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary Wednesday, and more than 100 relatives and friends from the surrounding district paid their respects during the afternoon and evening receptions. There was a family dinner party held at six o'clock.

John Heaslip and Addie Alberta Tippett were married at the manse of the Presbyterian Church in South Monaghan by the Rev. Mr. Catanagh. Ronald Reynolds was groomsman and Annetta Tippett, sister of the bride, maid-of-honor. The weather was 25 degrees below zero that day, they recalled, but there was no snow and the honeymoon trip to Millbrok was made in horse and buggy.

Moved To Bailieboro

After a few years of farming in Hope Township, they moved to Bailieboro in 1924. Mr. Heaslip was foreman on township and county roads for 11 years and retired from this work due to ill-health.

There are four children in the family, two daughters, Mrs. William Bamsey (Ila) of Port Hope and Mrs. Jack Dew (Audrey) of Peterborough, and two sons, Alvin K. Heaslip of Port Hope and J. Melville of South Monahan. Five grandchildren and two great-grandchildren make up four generations of the family.

Fred Tippett of Rainy River and Mrs. Laura Yates of St. Catharines, sister and brother of Mrs. Heaslip, and Mrs. Pearl Hill, Mr. Heaslip's sister from Toronto, were present at the gathering.

Many handsome gifts were presented to the popular couple: A studio couch, a gold-colored blanket, gold jewellery, a gold-colored teapot, a pen and pencil set, flowers and money, from relatives, friends and neighbors. A telegram of congratulation came from nieces and nephews in Western Canada.

Mr. Heaslip was also celebrating his 75th birthday on this day and a large birthday cake was made in his honor by a friend.

An anniversary cake which centred the tea table was made by their daughters. It was flanked with gold tapers and silver tea services at each end of the table were presided over by Mrs. Annie Robinson, Mrs. George Fletcher, Mrs. Pearl Hill, and Mrs. Clarence Smith. Serving the refreshments were Mrs. William Bamsey, Mrs. John Dew, Mrs. Melville Heaslip, Mrs. Alvin Heaslip, Mrs. Donald Keeler, and Mrs. Laura Yates.

The guest book was attended by Miss Clara Seens and Mrs. James Fair and Mrs. Dawson Rutherford attended the door.

Measles Cases Total 433 "Not Epidemic"

Measles cases totalled 433 or 8 times the cases in 1950 up to noon Wednesday since January 1. During January Dr. R. A. Kelly reported 223 cases in the city. Since then the measles cases have nearly reached January's figure with 210 cases reported to the department of health.

Dr. Kelly said the daily report for the past week was: Friday, February 2, 65 cases reported; Monday, February 5, 88 cases; Tuesday, February 6, 42 cases; to noon Wednesday, 15 cases.

Dr. Kelly repeated his assurance given last week that the number of cases is not considered at an epidemic stage but "as an anticipated outbreak."

Dr. Kelly expects fewer cases this year than in 1948, the last serious outbreak when 1,440 cases were reported. The outbreak before that was in 1943. He explained that the period between the 1948 outbreak and the present is much shorter than the period between the previous two. Therefore, the number of children immune is greater.

Traffic Light Static Stymies PUC Plans

Complaints of radio interference stymied plans of the Peterborough Public Utilities Commission to put traffic lights into operation at Monaghan Road and Charlotte Street.

Manager Ross Dobbin reported today that the lights had been installed, but when they were turned on, irate householders telephoned complaints that their radios would not work properly.

As a result a special apparatus will have to be installed, and this corner will be without traffic lights for three months.

Year's Hospital Deficit $144,000? Hopes Not

"Does that mean the hospital deficit is likely to be $144,000 this year?" asked Ald. E. C. Braund.

"I hope not," Mayor Swanston replied.

"Well, it sounds like it," Ald. Braund said.

Reference was to the request from Board of Governors for monthly payment of $12,000 to Civic Hospital until their budget has been submitted to the council for this year's tax levy.

Judge Smoke Dismisses LCA Appeal

Two Major Arguments Of Defence Fail; Costs Fixed At $25

Judge S. L. Smoke today dismissed the appeal of Kenneth Thompson, convicted November 23 of offering liquor for sale. Dismissal was made in a three-page written judgment.

The two major arguments raised by defence counsel W. J. Arthur Fair, were that there was no evidence of an offer for sale, and that it had not been proved that the case taken from the accused contained liquor.

Judge Smoke said: "At the time I intimated that I was satisfied that the evidence did indicate there had been an offer for sale."

Judge May Infer

On the other point, the judge referred to a section of the Liquor Control Act, which states that the justice trying the case may infer that "the liquor in question is intoxicating from the fact that a witness describes it as intoxicating, or by a name which is commonly applied to an intoxicating liquor."

He mentioned several parts of the evidence in which police officers and other witnesses referred to th liquor as "beer."

Judge Smoke fixed costs at $25 or an additional 10 days in default of payment.

Thompson, a taxi-driver fo. Geoffrey Feeley, was convicted before Magistrate W. R. Philp and sentenced to two months in jail.

Only 12 Below Don't Argue!

Bus men and letter carriers are only some of the neighbors who are going to be disappointed by the official temperature for today. According to their readings about town the thermometers were down to 17 below zero, and one man came upon an 18-below mark.

One of the mail men noticed that the mercury on Dr. Herbert Young's verandah was still at 11 below around 9 a.m.

So, James Harrison would have to do a lot of explaining about a mere 12 below.

On the other hand the main streeters can hardly object too strongly. The Harrison government record can't be wrong winter and summer. The down towners say in summer that the suburban knoll at the filtration plant is a cool spot and is considerably off the beam from Charlotte and George heat. If you grant that, there should also be agreement that in winter there should be a sharper edge to the wind there than by the time it gets into the centre of the city.

Anyway, the official register for today is 12 degrees below, as shown in another column.

Professor Picked To Write King Biography

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 (CP) — A distinguished Canadian university professor — Dr. R. MacGregor Dawson—has been selected to write the biography of Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King.

His literary executors today announced that Dr. Dawson, professor of political science at the University of Toronto, will begin the mountainous writing task next June and likely will complete it about 1954.

Funds to finance the writing of the biography will be available through a Rockefeller Foundation grant.

The late prime minister began his work after his retirement Nov. 15, 1948. It was far from complete when Mr. King died at 75 on July 22, 1950.

Blow Up House

CAIRO, Feb. 8 — (AP).—The Arab News Agency said Wednesday night nine persons were killed when Jews blew up the house of the mayor of the Arab village ot Sharafat near the truce line south of Jerusalem. Eight persons were injured and one is missing, the agency added. In Tel Aviv the newspaper Maariv said the raid was apparently in retaliation for borders incidents near divided Jerusalem in which two Jews were reported killed.

RED PLEA FOR MERCY—Capture Communist soldiers kneel in a muddy rice paddy and plead for mercy. The Reds were captured by Puerto Rican troops and were obviously afraid of being shot. They didn't calm down, even though an interpreter assured them their lives would not be taken.

Say Wet Snow Cuts Power Montreal Industries Idle

MONTREAL, Feb. 8 (CP). — The electric jugular vein of this metropolis was severed by weather action shortly before noon Wednesday and for about half an hour the industrial life of the city came to a standstill.

A spokesman for the Shawinigan Water and Power Company explained that an unusual concentration of wet snow caused the 100,000-volt transmission lines from Shawinigan Falls to disconnect automatically.

This break caused an extra load on other stations so that the power cut-out became general.

In the downtown area a mild form of panic and bewilderment was noticeable as elevators came to a stop between floors and tram cars stopped where they were on the tracks.

The delays meant that some people missed trains because they could not check out of hotels on schedule. In department stores and other business establishments business was carried on by candle light.

The power cut-off caught thousands of Montrealers at church attending Ash Wednesday Lenten services which went on uninterrupted by the light of altar candles.

As tram cars stalled, downtown traffic backed up bumper to bumper. Hospitals switched quickly to emergency power facilities.

In thousands of homes lunches went unprepared since the shut-off came at 11:20 a.m., and lasted until 11:50 a.m. Radio stations went off the air and news wires, which generally rattle out high-speed wordage 24 hours a day, were stilled.

Traffic lights went out and extra traffic police got to important intersections to direct what little traffic there was moving.

Jury Acquits Transport Driver

CORNWALL, Feb. 8 (CP) —A general sessions jury Wednesday acquitted Ross Ellis, 22, Toronto transport driver who had testified his mind "went blank" just before a fatal accident, of a charge of dangerous driving.

The Crown claimed Ellis had crowded another transport off the highway near Aultsville 18 miles west of here. James Godfrey, 29, of Ajax, Ont., was pinned in the cab of his truck after it left the road and burned to death in the flaming wreckage.

The oldest scientific society in Britain, the Royal Society, was founded in 1654.

Rescue 6 Seamen

PRINCE RUPERT, BC, Feb. 8 —(CP). — Six seamen were snatched from a gale-lashed beach Wednesday night when their fishing vessel, impaled on a reef, was breaking up under a howling north-east wind. The 57-foot Takla, one of the largest vessels of the British Columbia fishing fleet, crashed on to the reef last night off Lucy Island, 10 miles north of here.

Baked Fish with Lemon
Scalloped Potatoes Squash
Green Salad with French Dressing
Muffins
Peppermint Stick Ice Cream
Small Cakes Beverage

And my favourite recipe for Baked Fish with Lemon: Rub Sunkist lemon juice over fish to be baked, covering the inside as well as outside. Salt and stuff or not as desired. Put in well-greased pan, dot with butter and bake at moderate temperature until done (about 12 minutes to the pound). Serve garnished with parsley and Sunkist lemon wedges or quarters. These should be large enough, and plentiful enough, to provide ample juice for flavour.

Salt and pepper

Cut up and brown onions in a stew pan with a little dripping. Cut up meat etc. and add to onions and seasoning; cover well with Bovril Cube dissolved in hot water. Stew for two hours or until tender. Mix curry powder and flour with a little water to form a smooth paste and add to stew. Mix thoroughly and allow to simmer for ten to fifteen minutes. Serve curry very hot with boiled rice.

Say 60 Injuries Found On Sullivan Body

OTTAWA, Feb. 8 — (CP). — The body of Francis J. Sullivan, 52-year-old Toronto lawyer found dead in a downtown hotel room early November 18 last, was covered with at least 60 injuries, Dr. Max Klotz testified in court on Wednesday.

Key Crown witness, the Ottawa pathologist gave evidence in the Ontario Supreme Court trial of Mrs. Marion Sullivan, 48-year-old Toronto woman on a charge of manslaughter arising out of the death of her husband.

These injuries, which varied from two black eyes and blows to the back of the head to scratches about the face, arms, and trunk, were "unquestionably the result of repeated applications of blunt force," said Dr. Klotz, who had performed an autopsy on the body.

"Were they caused by 60 different applications of force " asked Chief Justice J. C. McRuer, who, along with a 12-man jury, is hearing the case.

"I cannot say, my Lord," Dr. Klotz replied. "But the injuries would indicate that such force had been applied."

Earlier, the court heard Mrs. Phyllis J. Neale, night-duty matron at the Carleton County Jail, testify that as far as she knew, Mrs Sullivan did not suffer a fall from her prison cot in the week she was under arrest.

Noticed Bruises

The accused was charged with murder after nine hours of questioning on Nov. 18. A preliminary hearing reduced the charge to manslaughter. When Mrs. Sullivan was formally placed under arrest, a police woman noticed five bruises on her body, including three marks which appeared to be scratches on her left breast.

Mrs. Neale said that when she asked Mrs. Sullivan on Nov. 22 how these were caused, Mrs. Sullivan stated they were the result of a fall from her prison cot. The matron said that as far as she knew, this had not occurred.

Another matron, Mrs. Bernice Moore, told of accompanying Mrs. Sullivan from the jail cells down a flight of stairs to the jail kitchen on Nov. 21. She recalled that Mrs. Sullivan stumbled and slumped down on the stairs, remarking: "It is so easy to be injured."

Blood On Towels

Another Crown witness, Verda Vincent of Toronto, Ontario Medico-legal laboratory analyst, said she examined towels and bed linen taken from the hotel bedroom and found stains of human blood on two hand towels, a large bath towel, a bed mat, a bed sheet and a strip of hotel carpet.

Detailing each of the injuries, Dr. Klotz said some of them indicated that the force used had a sharp edge. Others indicated that the force was blunt in shape.

The bruises on the chest and arms suggested to him that "the force which produced these was considerable and had a crushing element to produce the haemorrhage beneath the skin."

The eye injuries indicated "the application of blunt force to the area." A clot of blood was found in the left ear canal. When washed out, no injury could be located. Dr. Koltz believed the blood might have run from injuries on the face.

Son Wed To Chinese Girl Peer Urges Mao Negotiate

MANCHESTER, England, Feb. 8 — (CP). — A Labor peer whose son married a Chinese girl addressed an open letter Wednesday to Communist China's Mao Tse-tung urging a negotiated settlement of differences between China and the West.

The appeal came from Lord Linosay of Birker, principal of University College of North Staffordshire, and its wording probably sums up how the majority of British people feel about China.

'We are very reluctant indeed to be involved in a quarrel with China," Lord Lindsay said in a 2,000-word letter pulished by the Manchester Guardian. "There is a very general feeling among the people of all political parties that the People's Government is the real government of China and has a clear claim in justice to the seat on the United Nations; and a very general feeling that China has a just claim to a free hand in Formosa."

But, Lord Lindsay said, the Chinese Government's attitude and propaganda toward Britain betrayed a doctrinairism which might have come from Russia itself.

The peer, whose son, Michael, married in 1941 the daughter of a Chinese colonel, quoted Mao Tse-tung as having said Communism's fundamental duty is to manage policy wisely from a clear knowledge.

This encouraged moderates in Britain to believe that disputes with China could be settled by peaceful negotiation and even that China might help bridge the gulf between Russia and the West.

Judgment Reserved On Decertification

TORONTO, Feb. 8 (CP) — Judgment was reserved Wednesday on the Canadian Labor Relations Board's recent decertification of the Canadian Seamen's Union as bargaining agent for employees of Branch Lines Ltd., of Sorel, Que.

J. J. Robinette, counsel for the board, said at a court hearing the CSU exists only to advance Communist and Russian interests. The board had been right in ruling that the organization was no longer a trade union.

No court can legally revoke any decision or order made by the board, he said.

Demand Ships Back

WASHINGTON, Feb. 8 (AP)—The United States Wednesday formally demanded that Russia immediately return 672 lend-lease naval and merchant ships sent to her aid in the Second World War. The State Department said a note demanding this was handed to Soviet Ambassador Alexander S. Panyushkin at Wednesday's lend-lease talks. Russian representatives have refused to discuss return of the 672 ships, officials said. The Soviets insist Russia wants to buy the vessels, which include 87 merchant ships.

Picture Banned

ALBANY, NY, Feb. 8 (AP).—Police stopped the showing of the Italian film, "Bitter Rice," a half-hour after it began an engagement at the Ritz Theatre Wednesday. Chief Philip Coffey said he banned the picture on the grounds it was "improper and objectionable." He did not expand on the statement, but it was reported that the action stemmed from objections by the Legion of Decency of the Roman Catholic Church.

Protest To China

LONDON, Feb. 8 — (AP). — Britain announced Wednesday a protest to Communist China against the expulsion of a British consul on charges of spying. The expelled official, George Fox Holmes, Consul-General at Tihwa in Sinkiang Province, reached the British Crown Colony of Hong Kong last month.

MARY MOORE SAYS:

Try This – Poaching The Fish First Before Its Final Treatment

Much as we all like fillets of sole, salmon, halibut, pickerel and brook trout we are going to high-hat them today in favor of the useful "fillet of fish"—which in nine cases out of ten is common haddock. (The tenth case is full of cod my fish dealer facetiously adds.)

You are going to so thoroughly enjoy the different ways of serving them that you will wish Lent lasted longer. That's a voluntary thing anyway.

The "chef de Cuisine" of the Ritz Carlton claims that the average housewife cooks her fish too quickly and too long. That means that she usually fries them, and too long at that.

Fish is a delicate subject and responds admirably to careful treatment.

High heat is indicated only when fish is baked or broiled and then only for a specified number of minutes.

Are you willing to change your fish cooking ways and copy the master fish chefs by poaching the fish first, before giving it last-minute character treatment?

To Poach a Fish Fillet

(This is what I mean when I refer to "poaching" later on in the column.)

Place fillets flat in a long pan (I use my small roaster) and cover them to half of their thickness with either cold water or cold vegetable stock such as that saved from boiled carrots or beans or peas or asparagus or corn. Add juice of half lemon and 1 slice of raw onion. Bring to boiling point. Reduce heat as much as possible and simmer for 8 or 10 minutes (never longer) according to the thickness of the fillets.

Fillets with Simple Sauce

Lift the fillets to a hot platter. Boil the stock down to 2/3 or 1 cup. Meanwhile rub to a soft smooth paste 3 tablespoons butter, and slowly add the boiled down stock to it, beating all of the time. If the butter is placed in the cooking liquor and allowed to melt of its own accord, the result is far from satisfactory. Taste the sauce. If it does not contain enough lemon juice add it. It may need salt and white pepper—also some chopped parsley. Pour over the boiling hot fish and serve at once.

Broiled Haddock Fillets

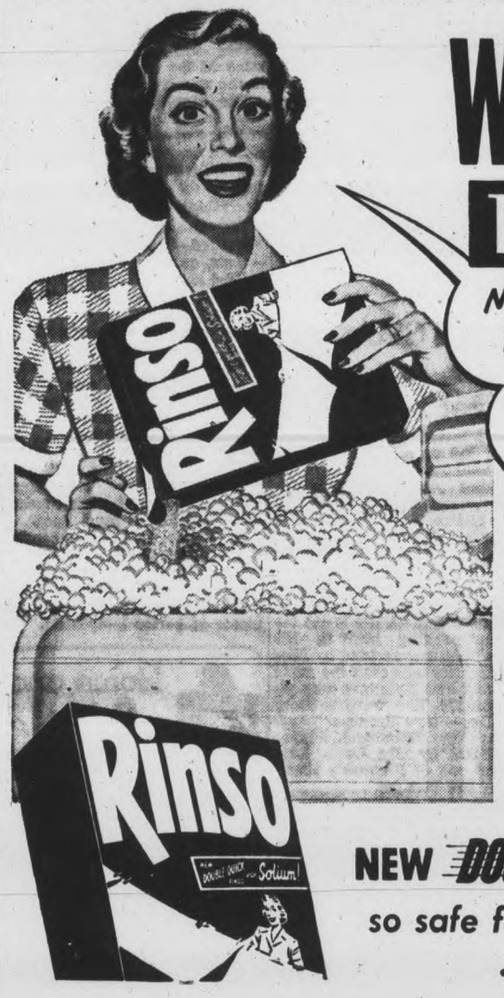
Dip two haddock fillets in flour, then completely cover them with cooking oil, and place on searing hot broiler rack in searing hot broiling oven. Cook until brown. They do not require turning if oven is hot enough. But if you are timid about their doneness place each fillet on a strip of aluminum household foil or parchment paper to facilitate turning. Broiling requires only 10 or 12 minutes too. Any more and your fish begins to dry out and lose flavor. Serve with parsley-lemon butter made by rubbing butter to a smooth paste then creaming into it lemon juice and finely chopped parsley.

Baked Haddock Fillets

Dip two haddock fillets in flour, then coat with oil and cook on flat pan 10 minutes in red hot oven. This is magically improved if coated with a half and half mixture of butter and anchovy paste mixed well together. Boiled potatoes are the usual accompaniment.

Haddock Fillets Duglere

To the poaching liquid (as described above under "poaching") add 1 cup canned tomatoes and 1 large onion chopped. Boil down the liquid to 2/3 or 1 cup and add 1 tablespoon finely chopped parsley. Cream 3 tablespoons butter until a very soft paste, and cream into it 1 tablespoon lemon juice, then slowly the Duglere sauce. Pour sauce over poached fillets on broiler rack. Pass under very hot broiler for about 3 minutes. Serve at once. This is ideal in households that boast an oven plank or an oven dish that fits into a silver ring.



Stuffed and Baked Fillets

This is for the dinners where there are guests.

Two large haddock fillets are needed; place one on piece of parchment paper in bottom of pan, skin side down. Cover with dressing made of 1½ cup breadcrumbs, 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine, ½ cup warm whole milk, 1 tablespoon minced sour pickle, shake of pepper, ½ teaspoon salt and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Cover with second fillet skin side up, and bake at 450 deg. Fahr. for about 30 minutes—possibly 25 minutes if fillets are thinnish. Baste often with melted butter. Serve covered with sauce in pan and pass hot drawn butter sauce. Drawn butter sauce is made like a cream sauce, but using water and lemon juice instead of milk.

Aikenhead and Mrs. Russell, a member of the United Church of Canada, by Miss Connie Wagar. Similarities and differences between the United Church in Canada and the United Church of Christ in Japan were tracted.

Following this dialogue ,a nimpromptu panel of experts played "Twenty Questions" based on material taken from the study.

The president read a timely article "New Years in the Mission Circle" and the business session followed. Members planned to attend in a body the Day of Prayer service on Friday. An invitation to attend their tea and annual meeting was received from the V. O. N. It was announced that this Circle has won the Presbyterial Bookshelf for 1950, for which much credit is due Miss Shirley Potts, literature secretary. Mite boxes were distributed by secretary, Miss May Welch.

Next meeting will be held Monday, March 5 at the home of Mrs. G. Samson, 315 Reid Street.

Korean Influence In Latest Paris Fashions

By EDDY GILMORE.

PARIS, Feb. 8 (AP).—Schiaparelli Wednesday took the raps off her new creations in clothes and showed the eager onlookers an exotic fresh batch of openchested, bare-backed beauty.

Her clothes must be beautiful, for you find yourself looking at them almost as much as you look at her models. That, friends, is the acid test.

After two hours of solid staring one is able to report a subtle but startling development in the clothes that are destined this spring and summer to adorn some of the finest female forms in the world.

The development—which perhaps Schiaparelli herself may be unaware of—is the effect of the Korean war on the new frocks and frills and the lush hats and gadgets that go with them.

Everything Quilted

They are, for instance:

Quilted—like Chinese uniforms—coats, quilted jackets and even quilted skirts.

Coolie hats and hats that look like pagodas.

One piece of cloth resembling a rice paddy in design.

While this wasn't necessarily Schiaparelli's fault, one of the gorgeous models had a hair-do that looked like nothing so much as congealed bird nest soup.

Other startling aspects of the show were: glassless sunglasses.

Sun glasses that have four-inch-long lashes, for what reason only Schiaparelli must know.

A gown whose front consists of simply a bow. Persimmon-colored pieces of ribbon that tie on milady's legs just below the knees and dangle down like misplaced pieces of parlor lampshade.

Home and School Association News

PCVS MEETING

Executive of PCVS Home and School Association was very gratified at the result of a second meeting of teachers and parents of grade nine students held Wednesday evening. All parents of students in forms 9A and 9C were called to attend and about 50 per cent responded, with half of that number being fathers.

President Mr. J. H. Moebus was chairman and introduced the teachers, Misses Hicks, Thompson, Begley, Johnston, Gerrard and Burgess and Messrs. Gardiner, Prideaux, Collingwood, Curtis and Dr. Ray.

The subjects taught are English, French, art, cooking, mathematics, geography, music, sewing, history, physical training and health. Each teacher spoke on the subject he teaches explaining his method and the amount and type of homework he expects. Also the help he desires from parents and how the students can be taught to concentrate.

Mr. Moebus briefly outlined the various courses available after grade nine. However, these will be dealt with fully at a meeting to be held in March.

In a question period following, parents aired their problems, which were dealt with by the teachers, and they also drew into a closer circle as it was made clear they could get better results by a united effort on some problems common to all homes of young students.

Mrs. Fred Dobson convened a group of mothers and executive members who served tea to the parents in the library afterward, bringing them also into social contact with each other.

A further meeting of this type is scheduled for February 28.

Valentine Tea Southend School

A delightful Valentine Tea, held Wednesday afternoon by the Confederation Home and School Association, entertained about 75 ladies of the district.

Hearts and cupids and other samples of young children's work were decorating the kindergarten room of the school where the tea tables were set. The central table was like a large Valentine itself with hearts on the white linen cloth and a centrepiece of red and white carnations flanked with white tapers in silver holders. The individual tables were each centred with a novelty red and white figure of snowman proportions and gumdrops, made by Mrs. R. Pearson.

Mrs. Jack Nicholls, wife of the principal, and Mrs. Jack Stuart, past president of the association, poured tea for the first hour, and Miss Garbutt and Miss Johnston of the teaching staff for the second hour.

Mrs. O. Brown, Mrs. M. E. Wright and Mrs. J. Wineberg were serving, assisted by teachers Miss Day, Mrs. Morrow, Miss Wortman, Miss Newman, Miss Lytle and Miss Dawson.

Mrs. G. Kiff, general convener of the tea, and her assistants, Mrs. W. Hall, Mrs. K. Pilkington and Mrs. C. Porter were replenishing plates and tea pots.

At attractively decorated tables in the hall, Mrs. E. Poole and Mrs. D. Wood were selling home baked articles and Mrs. H. Sutton and Mrs. Cy. Whatley were selling home-made candy.

President Mrs. C. Thompson and vice-president Mrs. L. Monk received the guests and Mrs. M. Szafranski was taking tickets. Mrs. King was the pianist during the tea hours.

Of Interest to Women

DOROTHY DIX

No Chance For Happiness Too Many Material Ties

DEAR MISS DIX: I am a business woman of 29. Have a good position and love my work. I suppose every woman should look forward to marrying, but the thought of it leaves me with a sense of a complete loss of freedom. A man I like but do not love has asked me to marry him and I do not know what to do. He has to support his mother. My mother is dependent upon me also and I have enjoyed our nice little apartment and providing her with comforts and pleasures that she has never had before. The man is opposed to a woman working after marriage. Another complication is that there was a man I loved horribly. I had to give him up because he was a drunkard, but I still miss him and still think of him. Do you think my marriage with the first man would work out happily?

READER

Dorothy Dix

ANSWER: I certainly cannot see how any marriage that was so handicapped a ours to this man would be cou possibly be successful. There are innumerable reasons why you should not marry him and not one reason in its favor.

To begin with, you are not only not in love with this man, but you are in love with another man. That alone would be a sufficient bar to your union. It takes a lot of love to enable a woman to be a good wife, because even the best of husbands have faults and ways and little peculiarities that she has to put up with and to which she has to adjust herself.

You Won't Forget

Furthermore, don't delude yourself into thinking that marrying one man will make you forget another. It will not. Marriage does not extinguish the fire of an old passion. It merely fans it into a fiercer flame.

Besides, the woman who prefers office work to home work and who looks upon marriage as slavery should stay single. Nature intended her for a girl bachelor instead of a wife. A woman should regard her home as a heaven, not a jail.

Then the financial side of the situation is to be considered. All of you would have to pinch and scrimp and do without all the little luxuries to which you are accustomed, and unless you are four angels that would get uopn your nerves and you would quarrel like cats and dogs. Particularly would the man resent having to support your mother and that would not add to the peace of the situation.

The only thing that would justify such a reckless marriage would be your being so madly in love with him that you would throw caution to the winds. As you have not this excuse for it, don't make such a foolhardy marriage.

DEAR MISS DIX: A girl of 17, living next door to me, left home not very long ago. A boy she had been keeping company with also disappeared about the same time. Last week they both returned and the girl's parents refused to take her in. She is about to become a mother and I feel so sorry for her. She told me on her word of honor that she and the boy were married, but as she is only 17 and he 19 I can't really believe her. The girl's mother has always been very cruel to her. I am an elderly woman with no children and would like to take this couple into my home and grandmother their baby if I were certain that they had been married. How can I find out? MRS. E. C.

ANSWER: If they have been married they must have a marriage certificate, or at any rate be able to tell you where they took out the marriage license, and you can write to the marriage license clerk and find out.

But even if they have not been married, don't let that keep you from holding out a helping hand to these poor, foolish children.

If you take these forlorn young creatures into your home, you can save them. You can give the girl the mothering that she has never had and that doubtless would have saved her from the folly of running off with the boy before they were old enough to marry or had anything to marry on. You can feed the boy, get him a job, give him back his self-respect and start him on the way of meeting the responsibilities he has taken on too young shoulders. And if, as you suspect, this couple are not married, you can have them married and save a little child from having to go through the world with the brand on it.

DEAR DOROTHY DIX: During our marriage my husband spent his evenings away from home, played cards, spent a lot of money on drinks and did not try to make a success of our marriage, so I divorced him. Now he wants to me remarry him, tells me he has learned his lesson. I have a fair job and can support my children and myself, but at the same time I would like them to have a father. Would you take a chance on trying him again?

M. M.

ANSWER: Depends on whether you still care for him and how much faith you can put in his promises of reform and what chances you think you have of being happy with him. Many second marriages are great successes, for both the husband and the wife have found out that divorce did not automatically end all of their troubles. And when distance has given them a little perspective on their marriage, they wonder how they could have let such trifles break up their home. Also, they do some soul-searching that makes them see their own faults and shortcomings as well as those of the party of the other part.

Bank Letter Stresses Soil Conservation

By FORBES RHUDE
Canadian Press Business Editor

One good turnip may provide as much nutrition as two poor ones, remarks the current monthly letter of the Royal Bank of Canada in a discussion of farming and food.

We have become so accustomed, says the letter, to thinking of increasing our food production as merely a matter of opening up new land that it is somewhat shocking to realize that the world supply of new land is just about exhausted. The letter adds in part:

We must think, in these days, how to make two blades of grass grow on land where only one grew before. If we can grow the same number of good turnips as poor ones we have thereby doubled our crop of food.

Must Preserve Soil

Soil, plants, animals and men are dependent upon one another. If the human race is to survive, we must concern ourselves with seeing to it that the soil is preserved and conserved. It must be protected from washing away or blowing away, and it must be enriched so that it has the proper nutrient qualities for our plants.

A run-down soil grows rundown food. Every crop takes away part of every mineral from the soil.

To produce food of the highest quality to feed today's hungry population is far from the subsistence husbandry of other days.

There must be no sub-marginal thinking about the problems involved, or we shall end up with sub-marginal living. History suggests that a decline in soil fertility is always accompanied by a corresponding decline in the vigor of the people who dwell upon it. Freedom has never flourished in a hungry and impoverished land.

CONSTRUCTON RECORD

A record in construction of Canadian hydro-electric power plants was set in 1950, when 1,037,275 horsepower was added.

Teachers Said Often Cause Of Juvenile Delinquency

"Juvenile delinquency is a reaction to something. There is something behind it — a broken home or clash in the schools or in the community with its many harmful agencies. In one of these there is something that is causing us to label many of today's children as juvenile delinquents."

Inspector of Separate Schools J. Doyle, speaking on "Juvenile Delinquency in Modern Society," gave a thought-provoking address to members of St. Peter's subdivision of the Catholic Women's League at their monthly meeting held on Tuesday night in St. Mary's School, with the president, Mrs. S. J. Houlihan, in the chair.

In the home there are often religious, racial and economic clashes between parents; there is divorce; there are conditions which force both parents to work and neglect their offspring; and there are beverage rooms: "one of the chief agents for broken homes today. The home should be a place where there is love and security.

Saracastic Teachers

"In the school many teachers are the cause of juvenile delinquency. Often they refuse to recognize the child's sense of unsureness and insecurity and use sarcasm and ridicule in such a way as to encourage truancy. Some teachers want to get rid of a problem child and so, in becoming a truant, the child finds an escape from the teacher's personality. The school should be a place of learning, but also a place where a child learns how to live and gain social stability".

The inspector said that a model scholar might become in time anti-social, and that a student who stood higher in class might not advance as far in life as a student in a lower place who might plod along and gain more success later. He warned that parents should not pay so much attention to report-card ratings as to induce neurotic tendencies in their children by their demands. As cited the case of the mother whose child, coming second in class, was reprimanded for not being first.

"Today, in proper school training, more emphasis is laid on the child's advance in character, in its emotional stability and its ability to live and co-operate with others."

Community Hazards

In considering the community, the third element in the trio of contributory causes of juvenile delinquency, Inspector Doyle referred to the destruction and injury caused by juvenile gangs, mainly in larger centres. "We cannot condone this," he said, "but the newspapers eggagerate it. This makes others want to emulate the actions of the leaders whom they regard as heroes. If we could take this aggressive leadership and orientate it to a higher standard many of these boys might become future leaders in the community."

Decrying the "terrible influence exercised by magazines and newspapers, who," he declared, "are in bondage to advertisers," in the manner in which they depict womanhood, the speaker asserted: "Five hundred years ago, the first product of the printing press was a woodcut of the Blessed Virgin. Today, in advertisements of even a bar of soap or a bottle of Coca-Cola, you find a woman of indecency and immodesty, appealing to the lower appetites of men for big profits. Comic books, also, depict crime heroes whom the children try to imitate. There is need today for a crusade for good literature, in which the women of America should rise up and demand a recognition of their dignity."

Radio And T.V.

Of the radio, the speaker remarked: "It is all for advertising. A few hundred years ago in what has been called the Dark Ages, the ordinary people knew something about Shakespeare. Now, about all they listen to is Jack Benny or some light play."

Television, he said, is already causing children to stay up late at nights, to become nervous and to neglect their homework. Its emphasis also seems to be on crime, divorce and kindred subjects.

In a world in which there is a general lack of security, a world of depression and unrest, the youth of today is inclined to say: "What is the use?" There will be another war and we will be in uniform soon. We might as well get what we can out of life now."

"There is a responsibility incumbent upon us all to try to preserve the Christian democracy with which we are familiar, by our votes and by doing more to bring about social reforms to cure the causes of these evils."

The speaker was heartily thanked by the president. In the brief business session which followed, it was decided to have a Retreat in April, also to inaugurate another series of small home bridge parties in February and draw for prizes at the March meeting.

Norwood Lions Give Kiddies Party

NORWOOD, Feb. 8—(ENS)—The Lions Club entertained the children of the community at a Valentine party held in the waiting-room on Monday evening. Hearts and cupids decorated the room for the occasion.

Each member of the club had at least one young guest, which they introduced to the group.

Dinner was served by the south and north-east groups of the Lady Lions under the direction of Mrs. Percy Hamilton, the president, and Mrs. Stewart Snelgrove, group leader.

Following the dinner there were games with prizes for the children, and a sing-song in which they all joined. Wilfred Elson showed pictures. Each child received chocolate bars, boxes of popcorn, scribblers and pencils, and little baskets of Valentine candies.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

Here and There In Sport

By The Canadian Press

Conn Smythe, president of the Maple Leaf Gardens, Wednesday night squelched what he described as "one of the most amazing rumors of a hockey trade" he has ever heard.

Reached in Florida where he is on vacation, Smythe said there is nothing at all to a story prevalent here Wednesday that Toronto goalie Al Rollins, defenceman Bill Barilko and forward Ray Timgren would be traded to Chicago Black Hawks for goalie Harry Lumley.

"Why that's amazing," said Smythe. "I don't know how such a rumor could get started. None of those players have ever been mentioned by Tobin in talking to me. I wouldn't trade Al Rollins for Harry Lumley—and there's nobody that I know of that can take Ray Timgren's place."

A trust fund of $15,843 has been set up for the survivors of the late Sonny Boy West, the Washington Negro lightweight boxer who died after a fight in New York just before Christmas.

Most of the money, $12,304, came from a benefit bout here Jan. 4.

West died 22 hours after he was knocked out by Percy Bassett of Philadelphia.

Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn vice-president in charge of minor league operations, announced Wednesday signing of Bill Harris of Toronto as a full time scout for the Ontario area.

Harris, active in amateur and semi-pro ball at Toronto, has worked for the Dodgers on a part time basis for several years.

Fifty-nine of the original 73 entries remained in the Grand National Steeplechase scheduled for Aintree, Liverpool, on April 7 after the first acceptance stage Wednesday.

The second and final acceptance for the race of four miles and 896 yards is March 20.

Kitchener Westmount Golf Club will be the scene of the Ontario open golf championship during the week of June 18, it was learned here Wednesday.

The event, which offers a purse of $1,500, is expected to attract a field of outstanding Canadian and U. S. golfers.

Canada's Lethbridge Maple Leafs, playing in top form, Wednesday trounced the Young Sprinters Club of Neuchate, Switzerland, 15-0. Five goals were scored in each period.

A crowd of 3,000 watched the one-sided game in which the Canadians showed overwhelming superiority all along the line.

At Providence, R. I., Ike Williams, world lightweight boxing champion, and Beau Jack, former title holder, will clash in a 10-rounder March 5, it was announced Wednesday by promoter Manny Almeida.

PCVS Hoopsters Take Doubleheader Over St. Peter's

St. Peter's High cage teams, the juniors and bantams, completed their lakeshore schedule Wednesday at PCVS by dropping a doubleheader to the Garnet and Grey "B" juniors and bantams. The junior score was 24-20 and the bantam 17-13.

Boorman led the PCVS offensive in the first quarter of the junior game with four points as PCVS went up 12-6. St. Peter's returned in the second with a steady passing attack and held the Collegians scoreless while they drifted in seven points to take the half lead 12-12. Cupoli, Legros and Galvin featured in the scoring.

PCVS rallied in the third, scoring five points, by Boorman, Corbett and Mather, to St. Peter's four by Cupoli, Galvin and Kirkley, for a 17-all three-quarter score. Boorman sent in seven points for PCVS in the fourth for the win. Boorman's 13 points were tops for the game and Galvin led SPS with four baskets.

An Early Lead

Baskets by Kingston and Keeting sent PCVS up 6-3 at the quarter in the bantam game, Killen and Quinlan scoring the SPS points. The teams repeated their scores in the second and PCVS went up 12-6 at the half. Stevens with two baskets and Keeting one counting for PCVS, and O'Rourke and Quinlan scorers for SPS.

St. Peter's edged PCVS in the third 4-2 on baskets by O'Rourke and Killen, Kingston netting the lone basket for PCVS. Both teams dropped in three points in the last quarter. SPS points by O'Rourke and Killen, PCVS points by Jackson and Keeting. O'Rourke of SPS, Keeting and Kingston of PCVS, each had six points for the high-scoring honors.
